Arsonist Maintains Silence; Police Watch Suspects

By Linda Cicoira

The arsonist(s) who has burned nearly 80 properties in Accomack in recent months has not contacted police.

“We’ve had no contact with this arsonist,” Sheriff Todd Godwin said this week when asked about rumors. “We’ve had no phone calls, no communication, no letters. He’s not contacted any of us,” the sheriff added, referring to all law-enforcement officers.

“We’ve never seen a letter,” State Police First Sgt. Jean Paul N. Koushel agreed in a separate phone conversation. “We’re working very hard,” he added.

Several Accomack officials also said they have not been contacted by anyone claiming to be the arsonist.

State Police Sgt. Michelle Anaya wrote in a press release, “Please be advised that NO arrest has been made on the Eastern Shore in reference to the arson cases … once an arrest has been made, Virginia State Police will provide everyone with the information when it occurs.”

The State Police is the lead agency in the probe.

“We have looked at several suspects,” stated Godwin. “We have not questioned any one.”

The deliberately set fires that started in November continued this week in what are referred to as “abandoned” structures, a term used by police to cover any residence that is not occupied.

Resources dedicated to “other crimes are not being deterred on the Shore” because of the increase in the number of police officers brought in to assist with the arson investigations, said Anaya. “Manpower has been brought in from across the state to assist in the arson investigation and those troopers/agents who are assigned to the Shore continue on regular patrol,” she said. “Also, all other troopers assigned to this arson assignment still are vigilant in conducting traffic stops and making criminal arrests when crimes/violations are committed in their presence.”

The most recent fire determined to be arson were:
• at about 1:10 a.m. Tuesday on Metompkin Road just south of Nelsonia Road in Gargatha, destroying a shed overgrown with trees;
• just after 1 a.m. Sunday on Bullbeggar Road, involving an abandoned residential structure;
• about 10:40 p.m., on the 1500 block of Metompkin Road in Mappsville, involving an “inhabitable house.”

Jimmy Rowley, public information officer for Parksley Fire Department, said offers of assistance from fellow companies have come from Pennsylvania to North Carolina. And Shore residents and others have brought mostly water and Gatorade to the stations.

The arson tip line is (757) 655-1437. A $25,000 reward is being offered for information that leads to conviction.
Supervisors Prod Planning Commission to Move on Comprehensive Plan

By Ron West

During a joint session with the Northampton County Planning Commission Monday, county supervisors quizzed the commissioners on the status of the Comprehensive Plan and when it might be handed off to them for review.

Michael Ward, vice chairman of the Planning Commission, provided a timeline for the process and noted that progress has been hindered by the data and sheer magnitude of the plan they are charged with updating.

Supervisor Larry Trala questioned why it has taken so long to review the document. “It took three years for the Planning Commission to produce the last version of the Comprehensive Plan five years ago,” he said. “Why has it taken two years just to revise it now?”

Ward said he is less than satisfied with the plan as it currently stands, noting that the county schools are one reason why young people are not moving to the county. He noted that the previous commission members who put the original plan together are no longer on the Planning Commission.

Trala contended that the county is not moving forward and the Planning Commission has had a lot to do with that. “We need more by right opportunities for commercial businesses,” Trala stressed. He added that the county needs to take a closer look at zoning regulations and the planning department to find ways to encourage development in the county. “We must look differently at things than we have in the past.”

Supervisor Oliver Bennett added that it is obvious that not everyone in the county wants to see it grow. “We need to bring everyone together to get the county to grow,” he insisted.

Commissioner Dixon Leatherbury added that his colleagues and he had to go through the older plan page by page to thin out the wordy document.

Supervisor Larry LeMond was more critical of the previous plan noting, “The old Comprehensive Plan basically shut the county down. We need to take a hard look at what we can do to fix the economy of the county and to open it up a bit.”

Board Chairman Willie Randall pointed out that the old plan did not provide a framework to help the economy. “We need to work toward economic growth to attract businesses to the county,” he said. “We have folks who need jobs. We need some development. Clearly we need to change some of the Zoning Ordinance and attract businesses.”

Randall added that the Comprehensive Plan Advisory Committee (C-PAC) had given them a good place to start. “The Planning Commission needs to give the Board of Supervisors what it needs to promote economic development.”

Commissioner Mary Miller noted that the Planning Commission was required by statute to work from the old plan. She added that the lack of adequate transportation is one hindrance to county residents obtaining or getting to a job, and the lack of affordable housing and health care contributes to economic problems for many residents.

While Bennett noted that Star Transit claims an increase in ridership, Miller said there is a lack of opportunity for public transportation to Eastern Shore Community College for residents wishing to attend evening classes.

Randall stated that jobs and education are the focus of the entire review process. “With more education, it will help improve the job skills of area workers and thus improve the chances that companies will want to locate in the county, thus creating more jobs for county residents,” he said.

Randall added, “Economic development is still the biggest problem for the county. You can’t have better schools without broadening the tax base to bring in the money needed for improvements.”

LeMond, who has been pressing for economic growth, noted that the county needs a wastewater system to give new Economic Development Director Charles McSwain something to work with when trying to attract new businesses. Later in the session, McSwain told the supervisors that the (Continued on Page 6)
Bloxom VFC Asks for Help

By Linda Cicoira

With nearly 80 arsons reported in recent months in Accomack, it’s the perfect time to ask officials for help with fire and rescue costs.

And that’s what Bloxom Volunteer Fire Company and residents from that area did Monday night at a public hearing for the proposed $52 million FY2013-14 county budget.

“It’s hard for most volunteers because they have to work two or three jobs just to maintain their lives,” said Bloxom Assistant Chief Richard Taylor. “Help us out,” he urged the Accomack Board of Supervisors. “Staff our station with a 24-hour person.”

He said morale improved when a temporary paid worker was available at night. “It makes it a lot better for us.”

“It takes a lot of time and support from those volunteers,” said James T. (Snooky) Bagwell, a 50-plus-year veteran of the department. “They can’t do it all the time. … They (the firefighters and rescuers) can’t go (to all the calls) when they have to get up for work” the next morning.

“It’s needed,” said Jim Keelan, another volunteer. “It’s a matter of life and death. The arsonist is really taxing us. Ambulances are running hard. … I hope to God they catch the arsonist.”

Keelan said the volunteers don’t just give their precious time. They also spend their own money to get the job done. He lives five miles from the station and answered 200 calls two years ago. “That’s 200 gallons of gas,” Keelan added. “That’s a lot of money just out of my pocket.”

He explained that firefighters have at least 200 hours of training and emergency medical technicians (EMTs) have at least 175. It costs the company $2,000 to put a uniform on a volunteer. Keelan said a fire engine costs an average of $500,000.

Bloxom Fire Captain Tommy Bagwell also asked for assistance. He works 40 to 60 hours a week for a private ambulance service and said the arsonist is keeping him from seeing his children “get in bed some nights. We are tired. We are worn out. And we are heavily stressed.”

Winter Cullen of Painter praised Bloxom rescue volunteers for saving his wife’s life and helping him get fast help after a traffic accident in Nelsonia eight years ago. “Two ambulances were there in minutes, not hours,” Cullen said. They cut his wife out of the car and took the couple to the hospital. His leg was broken in four places. Cullen’s wife had 37 fractures.

Seth Stewart of Turkey Run Road in Bloxom said he was at Royal Farms in Nelsonia Sunday when his vehicle caught fire next to the gas pumps. He said Bloxom Fire Company quickly came to his assistance.

“We are blessed to have a fire company like that,” said Stewart. “Royal Farms did not blow up, thankfully. They (the firefighters) even cleaned up burn remains. They told me it was good that this happened on a weekend” when more volunteers are available.

Cherrix told police he was not a drug dealer, but would help someone find crack cocaine, if asked. The case was continued until June 3 so a presentence report can be completed. Cherrix was remanded to jail.

county needs to find a way to fund a wastewater system in at least part of the county. Without a wastewater system, McSwain noted, it will be difficult to attract commercial interests. “With such a system, it would provide a means to show the state, as well as investors, that Northampton County was truly open for business,” he said.

The Planning Commission hopes to have the reviewed Comprehensive Plan ready for a public hearing in late summer or early fall, after which it will go to the supervisors for their decision.

Director Jeff Flourney, director of Eastern Shore 911, asked the supervisors to approve $136,000 in local funding to help update the dispatch system in Accomack. Accomack County is being asked to put in $276,000 to allow simulating calls throughout both counties. Such a system, Flourney noted, would speed up the dispatching of calls, as well as prevent the need for a dispatcher to separately dispatch a call over multiple transmission towers.

Northampton County Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Director Holly Carpenter supported the request, noting that it would help with EMS calls, especially once the hospital moves to Onley.

County Administrator Katie Nunez and Finance Director Leslie Lewis reviewed the proposed county budget, line by line, pointing out to the supervisors items that are not level funded from this year’s budget.

In the only other business, the board reviewed a request by the Town of Eastville for $3,000 to help defray the costs of advertising and materials used to promote tourism as well as the powwow that will be held at Indiantown Park May 25-26. The powwow will be part of a celebration of the Gingaskin Indian Reservation that existed, east of Eastville from 1640-1813. The board voted unanimously to support the request.

Cape Charles Looks To Reduce Cats, Increase Funding

By Ron West

At its meeting this week, Cape Charles Town Council considered the town’s ever-growing feral cat population. Hugh Sharkey of “Spay the Shore,” a non-profit volunteer organization offered an alternative to euthanizing abandoned stray and feral cats. Sharkey’s solution is to have each feral cat spayed and vaccinated for rabies, and then mark their ears, before releasing the cat. He estimated that by handling the problem in this manner, the feral cat population would be cleared up in 6 to 10 years.

Cape Charles Town Manager Heather Arcos introduced several individuals from organizations seeking funding by the town in its FY 2014 budget. Funding was sought for Cape Charles Museum, Eastern Shore Tourism Commission, Cape Charles Business Association and Cape Charles Arts Enter. All requests are being taken under advisement.

Cape Charles Treasurer Kim Coates told Town Council that the town has incurred about $141,000 in legal expenses over the past several months. The town has been exonerated in two lawsuits regarding the former Cape Charles School and has another suit pending regarding the public restrooms proposed for the town park. That suit is scheduled to be heard in Northampton Circuit Court April 15.

Arcos reported that the town has been approved for a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to help purchase a replacement police vehicle. The funds will supplement proceeds from the insurance claim of the vehicle that was involved in an accident in 2012.

Donations Welcome for First-Responders

In the wake of dozens of arsons across Accomack County, the county Department of Public Safety reports that offerings of assistance have been received from across Virginia, along with Maryland and Delaware.

In related news, an account has been opened at Shore Bank by Accomack County officials for donations to help the many volunteers who are dedicating their time and efforts to fight the fires and for others assisting with the search for the arsonist. All donations are tax-deductible. It is anticipated that contributions ultimately will be distributed by the Board of Supervisors after advice from the Accomack County Fire and Rescue Commission.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may drop off donations at any Shore Bank branch location or mail them to Shore Bank, c/o Accomack Firefighter’s Assistance Fund, P.O. Box 920, Onley, VA 23418.

Donors also may contact Billie Jean Miles at the Accomack County Department of Public Safety at 789-3610 or 824-4274 for assistance.

Additionally, drop-off locations have been established for the donation of items to help restock the fire departments with supplies, such as coffee, hot chocolate, creamer, sugar, sweeteners, coffee cups, bottled water, sport drinks, protein and granola bars, paper products, cleaning supplies, etc.

WWII Gun Barrel Will Be on the Move Monday to Local Refuge

After seeing much action in the Pacific Theatre during World War II, a 68-foot World War II gun barrel will be moved Monday on an over-sized flatbed trailer to the Eastern Shore of Virginia National Wildlife Refuge near Cape Charles.

With the help of several vendors, the barrel will be transported from the Bay Coast Rail Yard in Cape Charles to the refuge. It will depart the rail yard at approximately 9:30 a.m. and will be visible for about two hours as it makes the trip through Cape Charles and south on Lankford Highway. Because of the size and weight of the gun barrel, the truck will be traveling slowly along the 12-mile route.

Once at the refuge, the barrel will be on permanent display.

The 16”/50 Caliber Mark VII gun barrel (#393) was on the USS Missouri at the time of the signing of the Japanese surrender on Sept. 2, 1945. The barrel weighs 120 tons and is similar to the barrel which was in the World War II bunker when the refuge was Fort John Custis.

The barrel’s journey to the Eastern Shore of Virginia began one year ago, when it left St. Julien’s Creek Navy Yard, was loaded on a rail car in Little Creek and transported to Cape Charles on the Bay Coast Rail Barge. It arrived in Cape Charles on April 3, 2012.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony is planned for May 25 at 2 p.m. to celebrate the return of this piece of history to the Eastern Shore of Virginia National Wildlife Refuge. The public is invited.

Bloxom Woman Wins $100,000 in Cash 5 Lottery Drawing

Donna Mears of Bloxom was so surprised when she discovered she had matched all five numbers in the Virginia Lottery’s Cash 5 game, she had to call her daughter to double-check the numbers.

“I wanted to make sure I wasn’t hallucinating,” she said.

Mears won the $100,000 top prize in the March 20 Cash 5 day drawing. She bought the winning ticket at Royal Farms in Parksley. She used Easy Pick and let the computer randomly select the numbers on her ticket. Those winning numbers were 7-11-16-20-21.

“I couldn’t breathe,” she told lottery officials. “It’s just unbelievable!”

Scholarship information and applications can be obtained by contacting Scholarship Chairman Steve Bowers at 787-4208.

Caitlin Elizabeth Photography is offering a $500 scholarship for local high-school juniors.

The program, which will award one senior on Virginia’s Eastern Shore with a $500 scholarship, is designed to encourage academic excellence, community involvement, and confidence.

Applicants must be current high-school juniors involved in their community and school, highly motivated with an energetic personality.

The deadline to apply is April 30. More specific information, including the application and program outline, can be found online at www.caitlinelizabethphotography.com/senior-rep-program-info/

Each year, the Eastern Shore chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution awards a scholarship to a graduating Accomack County senior who plans to study history or government in college.

Applications, available in the guidance offices of the high schools, should be submitted by April 19.

The award is made in the spring when the winner is invited to a dinner meeting of the chapter, and recognition is made at the school during the awards program.

For more information, click “scholarship” on the DAR website, www.DAR.org

Sponsored by the Historic Main Street Merchants’ Association, it is divided into categories for kindergarten through Grade 2, Grades 3-5, Grades 6-8, and Grades 9-12.

All entries must be an original drawing of a migratory bird that can be seen at Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge.

According to Refuge Manager Lou Hinds, first-, second- and third-place winners in each category will receive cash prizes from the merchants’ association.

Entries should be mailed or delivered to Comfort Suites, 4195 Main St., Chincoteague, VA 23336 on or before April 15. The artwork will be on display at various businesses on Chincoteague prior to the celebration on May 11. DIFFICULTY THIS WEEK: ★ ★

* Moderate  ★★ Challenging  ★★★ HOO BOY!

© 2013 King Features Synd., Inc.
My March madness is getting whipped in the office pool for the NCAA basketball tournament. All offices have an office pool, don’t they? But not the Eastern Shore Post office before this year. Of course, that’s understandable since they never had a sportswriter before me.

So, I felt it was my duty to inaugurate the Post employees and start an office pool. I suggested $1 per entry, thinking I didn’t want to take advantage of these novices.

But, no, Troy suggested $5. I agreed, thinking that would be just more money for me to collect.

So, after the first week, I am fourth in the standings. Did I mention there are only five of us in the office? You got it. Everybody in the office fared better than I did except Linda, who professes to know nothing about basketball and made out her bracket not understanding those numbers beside the teams representing the seedings.

Her theory was, “I have a friend living near Louisville, so I think I will pick Louisville.”

Why couldn’t she have a friend living near Boise? The truth is I am only marginally ahead of her and in danger of dropping to last place.

Angie is in the lead after Week One. Our esteemed editor, Cheryl (let’s see how she edits this paragraph), is in second place.

Troy, who actually knows something about basketball, is barely ahead of me.

I tried to pick some trendy upsets. And this tournament has some upsets, just not the ones I picked.

I always pick with my head and not my heart. Big mistake. Never have liked Georgetown. Never will. But I picked them to go to the Final Four. And they do an El Foldo and lose to Florida Gulf Coast, apparently the VCU of this tournament. Only VCU, which went to the Final Four two years ago and was picked by me to get to the Elite Eight this season, gets blown out in its second game.

Florida Gulf Coast? Whoever heard of them? But right now I would pick them to beat the Miami Heat.

In the West Regional, I missed six of the eight games. Could have done better flipping a coin or throwing darts at the bracket. Won’t do much better next week since my brackets have matchups of teams that are like I am — home watching TV.

There’s a whole bunch of us who would like to strangle Phil right now.

Talking about that groundhog, Punxsutawney Phil, who emerged from his burrow on a cloudy Feb. 2, guaranteeing us an early spring.

The spring sports schedule is already a mess with postponements and cancellations galore. If it doesn’t soon stop raining, the athletes will need hip boots to compete in the multitude of sports played in the spring — all outdoors, of course.

I was never nearly as cold covering football games last fall as I have been at baseball and soccer games this spring.

And anglers are antsy waiting on the first warm day to drop the boat overboard and go fishing. Two years ago, I caught a flounder somewhere around March 10. This year I haven’t had the slightest urge to attempt to brave the elements in search of flatties.

As you can see by the photo in this column, Rick Gaskill of Painter earned his stripes Saturday when he caught what was reported to be the first legal flounder out of Wachapreague in temps more suited for hunting.
Nandua Sweeps Two from Northumberland

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Nandua ran its record to 3-0 in baseball with a double-header win over Northumberland last Saturday by 6-2 and 11-5 scores.

In the opener, Austin Heenan earned the win with five scoreless innings of pitching, striking out eight and allowing only two hits with two walks. Heenan also led the Warrior attack with two hits, including a double, and had four stolen bases. Tyreim Blake and Noah Zember also had doubles, and Jake Guy collected two RBIs with a single.

Curtis Ormsby came on in relief to pitch the last two innings, allowing two unearned runs. Catcher Hunter Taylor helped Ormsby out of a jam in the final inning with two Indian runners on the corners when he picked off the runner on first to end the game.

In the second game, Nandua scored eight runs in the bottom of the first inning after Northumberland took a 2-0 lead in the opening frame.

Heenan and Taylor each had two hits, with Heenan knocking in four runs. Taylor had a pair of RBIs with a home run. Blake, Guy, Will Grier and Derek Bjorlo also had hits for the Warriors.

Guy started and got the win with Taylor coming on in the fifth to pitch three scoreless innings with four strikeouts.

"We got some good pitching in both games," said Coach Luke Brankley. "They did a good job of escaping some jams when our defense made some mistakes."

Nandua plays Lancaster today in Onley in a rare 11 a.m. start after the visitors played Chincoteague yesterday.

Jackets Fall to Windsor

Northampton baseballers dropped a 10-3 decision to Windsor last Friday to fall to 1-1 on the season.

After falling behind 2-0 by allowing a run in each of the first two innings, the Jackets tied it up in the top of the third with a pair, but left the bases loaded. Then Windsor scored four runs in the bottom of the third with the aid of three Jacket errors.

"We left 10 runners on base for the game, which has hurt so far this season," said Northampton coach Eddie Brady.

Cody Johnson took the loss for the Jackets.

Ryan Outten went 2-for-3 with an RBI, while Cody Johnson had an RBI double. Hunter Webb, Josh Outten, Nick Lewis, Will Carstens and Jake Yaros each had a single.

Nandua Girls Split in Richmond Softball Tourney

The Nandua girls finished 2-2 in the Sports Plus Softball Tournament at L.C. Byrd High School in Richmond last weekend.

The Lady Warriors lost to Group AAA Manchester 6-0, beat Ludenburg 16-8, then lost to King William 3-1 in a rematch of last year’s regional championship game before blanking Group AAA Colonial Heights 14-0.

Grace Holmes provided Nandua with strong pitching, according to Warrior coach Lynn Williams.

Williams also said Janay Joseph played well the entire tournament and was selected to the All-Tournament team. Nandua scored 10 runs in the first inning against Colonial Heights and scored 14 with the help of a long home run by Joseph.

“I was very pleased with our effort,” said Coach Williams. “We have a lot of new players and we learned a lot about our strengths and weaknesses. This is a great tournament for us every year because of the quality competition.”

The Chincoteague Ponies softball team also participated in the Richmond Sports Plus High School Softball Classic tournament, finishing with one win and three losses. (See Page 29.)

On Tuesday in Onley, Nandua defeated Cape Henry 9-1 behind strong pitching by Holmes, who struck out eight and walked two while giving up five hits.

On offense, Nandua was led by Caroline Harvie with two hits, an RBI and a run scored. Sarah Puchalski had a hit and sacrifice and scored two runs. Joseph was 1-2 with a double and two RBIs. Tsara Nock also scored two runs.

Nandua scored four runs in the second inning on some bold baserunning that forced Cape Henry errors and some key hits. The Warriors broke open the game with three more runs in the third inning and added single runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

“Our short game and speed gave them some trouble, in addition to a good performance by Grace Holmes,” said Coach Williams.

Cape Henry was highlighted by a solo homer by Bailey Watkins.

Like most Shore schools, Nandua softballers are off next week when local schools are on Easter break.
Northampton Girls Win Soccer Shutouts
Jackets and Warriors Meet in Girls’ Soccer for First Time

Northampton shut down King William in girls’ soccer 5-0 last Friday in a game played at Nandua as part of a double header that saw King William take on Nandua in the second game.

Kelsey Bisker scored two unassisted goals for the Lady Jackets. Madisen Lewis also scored and had an assist on a goal scored by Ashlyn Arnold. Taylor Webb scored a goal with an assist by Sydney Kellam.

Northampton coach Tabi Webb said Kennedy Webb and Caroline Hiler had excellent games at midfield, controlling the ball. In addition, she cited Kelsie Paglia and Nicole Reyes for great defensive performances.

“We have been playing as a cohesive unit and are getting settled in our new formation,” said Coach Webb. “I am pleased with the performance of the entire team.”

In the second game, King William defeated Nandua 6-1. Freshman Ryan Wright scored the long Warrior goal.

Nandua is fielding its first girls’ soccer team ever this season.

On Tuesday, Northampton defeated Nandua 8-0 in the first meeting ever of the two girls’ soccer programs.

The Lady Jackets held only a 1-0 halftime lead on a Taylor Webb unassisted goal.

In the second half, Kelsey Bisker scored two unassisted goals, Taylor Webb scored two more goals, one assisted by Nuvi Cruz. Arnold, Lewis and Cruz also scored goals.

“The whole team played an excellent game, dominating play with 40 shots on goal,” said Coach Webb. “The defense served well as a strong support system which kept the ball on the opponent’s side for the majority of the game. To Nandua’s credit, I felt they played better against us than against King William, even if the score did not reflect it.”

“We are very pleased Nandua has added a girls’ soccer program and look forward to meeting them again,” the Northampton coach added.

The JV team won 2-0. Diana Martinez and Sofia Guerrero scored.

Webber Powers Lady Jackets to Softball Win Over Windsor

The Northampton softball team topped Windsor 13-7 last Friday on the road, raising its record to 2-0.

The Lady Jackets jumped on Windsor in the first inning with four runs and held a commanding 11-0 lead after four innings before allowing Windsor to score all seven of its runs in the bottom of the fifth with four errors accounting for four unearned runs.

“They had a couple of triples, but our fielding was a comedy of errors in that inning,” said Northampton coach Butch Travis. “We settled down after that and played solid.”

Rachel Leffel got the win on the mound, allowing seven hits and a walk while striking out five.

Five Jackets had two hits each, led by Katelyn Weber with a double and triple. Other Jackets banging out two hits each were Whitney Metz, Briana Williams, Shana Harrison and Heather Guagenti, who had a 2-RBI single in the fourth. Taylor Nandeau also collected an RBI with a single.

Katelyn Weber
The University of South Carolina’s Tyler Webb, a 2009 graduate of Northampton High School, gave up his first runs of the season Sunday and took the loss in a 5-3 defeat by Arkansas, picked by many to win the baseball title in the tough Southeastern Conference.

Webb came on in the seventh inning with the Gamecocks down 3-1 and pitched valiantly for 4.2 innings, holding the Razorbacks scoreless until a two-out single in the 11th inning broke a 3-3 tie. Webb had not allowed a run in 31 consecutive innings dating back to last year, before Arkansas broke through to complete a three-game sweep.

His ERA for this season is still a stellar 1.00.

Webb Gives Up First Runs

Jacket Baseballers Fall to Windsor

Northampton baseballers dropped a 10-3 decision to Windsor last Friday to fall to 1-1 on the season.

After falling behind 2-0 by allowing a run in each of the first two innings, the Jackets tied it up in the top of the third with a pair but left the bases loaded. Then Windsor scored four runs in the bottom of the third with the aid of three Jacket errors. “We left 10 runners on base for the game, which has hurt so far this season,” said Northampton coach Eddie Brady.

Cody Johnson took the loss for the Jackets.

Ryan Outten went 2-for-3 with a RBI while Cody Johnson had a RBI double. Hunter Webb, Josh Outten, Nick Lewis Will Carstens and Jake Yaros each had a single.
Nandua's soccer team defeated Bayside 3-1 Friday night on the road, with goals by Elmas Majorga, David Wright and Joe McNeal.

Wright scored the first goal on a header from a free kick from 40 yards out by Neri Marquez. McNeal picked up his goal on a loose ball following a corner kick, and Majorga scored on a shot from 20 yards out at the top of the penalty box.

“I was proud and pleased with the team’s play,” said Nandua coach Paul Nolz. “We are still a work in progress, one step at a time. We are committed to training; that will help us get better each week.”

On Tuesday, Nandua defeated Kings Fork 4-1 with goals from Majorga, McNeal, Zac Baylis, and A.J. Jones. Wright and Jones had assists.

Goalkeeper Caleb Clark made six saves during the match.

“I am pleased with the development of our players coming off the bench, such as Juan Gimenez, Hunter and Trevor Cooper,” said Coach Paul Nolz.

Lady Jackets Blank Franklin 12-0

Last week Northampton blanked Franklin 12-0 behind a fine pitching performance by Taylor Nandeau. The sophomore struck out eight, allowed two hits and issued two walks.

The Lady Jackets jumped out to a two-run lead in the first with a Shana Harrison two-run single.

Shyneqwa Warren added to the lead with an RBI in the second inning on a fielder’s choice.

After a walk to Katelyn Weber and a bunt single by Whitney Metz in the third, Briana Williams had an RBI single,ollowed by a two-RBI hit by Nandeau.

Sabrina Ferranti clubbed a two-RBI double in the fourth to highlight a seven-run inning for Northampton.

Coach Butch Travis praised Nandeau for pitching a superb game in relief of normal starter Rachel Leffel, who sat out the game. “It’s been three years since she pitched, and she did a great job,” Travis said of Nandeau.

The Lady Jackets will play Colonial Beach on the road today and then open its district schedule against Arcadia at home on April 9.

About 35 years ago, I wrote my first newspaper story about coed dormitories at a small Virginia college. It was 1977 and the “all-girl school” was forced to accept men because it wanted to continue to be eligible for state funds.

The very idea of both sexes living in one building was so controversial that the mere words on the page drew criticism. It didn’t help that I quoted a student leader who said she was looking forward to the possibilities of mixed housing. She later decided she should have kept her opinion to herself.

It was a different time. And being the innocent girl I was, I soon came to the conclusion that instead of writing news, I could make my journalism class requirement by working in circulation.

So, for the next year, I carried bundles of black-and-white-and-read-all-over to ideal spots across campus. It was a job that got smiles. Much like our own Bill Massey (the world’s oldest paperboy) and the rest of the delivery guys, I was a welcome sight.

I was a 17-year-old sophomore who was 4½ hours from home and thought jumping up and down on the bed was one of the best freedoms I ever had encountered. Mom didn’t allow that at her house. Obviously, I was not quite ready to take on the world.

Thankfully, I got over it. But now, three newspapers later, I am sitting on what is literally the hottest story on the East Coast, feeling just as frustrated as ever.

The police are guarding what they know about the nearly 80 arsons in Accomack County. And local folks, who are usually quite knowledgeable about exactly what everybody else is up to, haven’t seen anything. Or at least they don’t seem to be telling.

What to do? What to do? I am not going back to circulation. So would someone please clue me in? I’m asking the arsonist(s) to get in touch with me and tell me why he or she (or they) is doing this. What is the motive?

My mother would have said the fires are “a sin.” So I got to thinking about the Ten Commandments and the seven deadly deeds. The latter are lust, gluttony, greed, sloth, anger, envy and pride. Could one of those be the reason for the fires?

From the very beginning, I wondered if the blazes could be connected to the graffiti that was spread on buildings, roads and signs across the county in the months before the fires. Some of those scrawls have since burned to the ground. I’ve been told the police know who wrote that drivel, but they don’t have the proof to charge anyone.

Revenge is said to be a reason for such crimes. I compiled a long list of people who would say they have been wronged. And as one officer told me in November, “Everyone is a suspect.”

I say we are being held hostage by the arsonist(s) and someone should let the ransom be known. Just a little note to me would be fine. We have a mail slot in our door at Four Corner Plaza in Onley. Or come here and turn yourself in after you give me an interview.

But enough with the fires already, we all need a good night’s sleep. Actually, we need a lifetime of good nights of sleep. That’s a hint.

I really want these foreign news agencies to go home. They stand in front of me and it is very annoying.

Local Heroes Walk Among Us

Dear Editor:

In recent months, the Eastern Shore has come to realize that heroes walk among us. They do not have super strength or wear costumes. But they are heroes. They are sons or daughters, mothers or fathers, brothers or sisters. They are heroes. They are black or white, rich or poor, young or old. They are heroes. They are friends, neighbors or complete strangers. They sacrifice their time, talent, and their welfare to protect us.

In the coming weeks, if you see one of these heroes, take a moment to thank them, shake their hand, or, possibly, say a prayer for them. They are our heroes. They are the firefighters of the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

Don’t Reduce School Board

Dear Editor:

We would like to register our disagreement, as well as displeasure, concerning the consideration by the Northampton Board of Supervisors to eliminate two at-large positions on the School Board, thereby reducing the number of members from seven to five.

Last November, the citizens of Northampton County spoke in an overwhelming voice of their concerns and dissatisfaction as to the state of our public schools. Almost 80 percent of the voters made it crystal clear that they were unhappy with the direction in which our schools were headed and wanted to have more control over the policies as well as those in control. At this time, it must be apparent to the supervisors that the state of our schools has become a very real and important concern to our citizens. To eliminate two members of the board at this crucial time will send a message to the populace (whether intended or not) that their desires are not important.

Citizens want more input into school policies as will be afforded by election of School Board members rather than less, which will be the result if two positions are eliminated. I don’t believe the supervisors realize the level of frustration among our citizens with regards to public education in our county. Many parents have/are/will remove their children from the public schools in order to find a different way to educate them. There are now four growing private schools in Northampton County, which are probably not unhappy with the state of our public schools.

Removing the two at-large positions for this first election will possibly eliminate candidates who happen to live in the same district. Now, if as many as three citizens worthy of being elected live in the same district, they are able to run for election in different districts (two at-large and one in the district) with the possibility of being elected. With the elimination of the two at-large positions, only one of those three candidates can be elected. The chance for diversity of all kinds so necessary in our community will be lessened.

It is very strange that the supervisors have chosen this particular time to consider reducing the number of representatives on the school board. It is difficult to assume any motives on their part other than an attempt to demonstrate to the public once more that they are still in control.

The citizens of Northampton County are not interested in a very public dispute with the Board of Supervisors as to the make-up of our School Board. Please consider the timing of this change and the message it will send to the voters.

Please contact your supervisor as to your feelings concerning this possible change.
