Democrat and Republican Party officials in the 6th Senatorial District, which includes the Eastern Shore, will be holding “firehouse primaries” to select candidates to run for the Senate post being vacated by Lt. Gov.-Elect Ralph Northam.

Shore Democrats will hold their “unassembled caucus” on Saturday, Nov. 16, in eight locations in Accomack and Northampton counties. Republicans will do the same on Thursday, Nov. 21, in five locations.

A date has not yet been set for a special election because before the governor can call for the election, Sen. Northam must resign. Election and party officials said that had not occurred by press time Thursday.

Linda Schulz, chairwoman of the Northampton County Democratic Committee, said the election likely will take place before the opening of the next General Assembly session on Jan. 8.

Democrats

Del. Lynwood Lewis began seeking his party’s nod immediately after Northam won last week. Lewis simultaneously got re-elected as delegate of the 100th district.

The 51-year-old Accomac lawyer has served as delegate for a decade. He represents the Eastern Shore and parts of Norfolk. “I ask that you reach out and contact all your friends, family, neighbors and coworkers who are registered in the 6th Senate District and ask (or bring them with you) if they also will turn out to vote,” Lewis pleads on his website. “If every supporter brings at least five more additional voters to the polls, our results will be an overwhelming victory.”

Also running in the Democrats’ contest is 54-year-old Paula Jean Miller of Norfolk. The former delegate represented Virginia’s 87th District from 2005 to 2012. Miller is the public information officer for the Norfolk Sheriff’s Office. She chose not to seek re-election after redistricting in 2011 put her into a district with Lewis.

Her campaign website states, “When Dr. Ralph Northam needed a strong voice for women, he turned to Paula Miller. … I would be honored to serve as your new state senator. I pledge to be responsive to you and the concerns that matter most in the 6th senate district.”

Andria McClellan, a Norfolk civic leader, entrepreneur and mother was the campaign treasurer for Northam in his recent quest. Her website states, “Andria understands how to focus on common sense solutions through roll-up-your-sleeves hard work, educating and engaging people with differing viewpoints and orchestrating compromise when necessary. She recognizes those qualities in Ralph Northam and has worked tirelessly to make him Virginia’s next Lieutenant Governor … the citizens of the 6th District need an equally strong and devoted Democratic candidate to continue his legacy and work with him to stand for the rights of all Virginians.”

The Democratic caucuses will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Participants must be registered voters and live in the county in which they cast their paper ballots. They also must sign an application in which they promise not to support any candidate opposed to the Democrat chosen by the party.

In Northampton, Democratic caucuses will be held at Trinity United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall in Cape Charles, at the Northampton County Department of Social Services Building in Eastville and at Hampton Inn & Suites in Exmore.

In Accomack, they will be at Painter, Onley and Bloxom fire departments; Arcadia High School; and Comfort Suites Hotel on Chincoteague.

Republicans

Candidate Wayne Coleman, CEO and owner of CV International, Inc., in Norfolk, a logistics services provider, is seeking the Republican nomination. “Virginia faces serious challenges and our political system is broken,” he says on his campaign website. “I’m a businessman, not a politician. I’ve spent my life balancing budgets and fixing problems. If we want better results from government, we’ve got to elect a different kind of leader.”

Another candidate, Richard Ottinger, a partner with the law firm Vandeventer Black, LLP of Norfolk, specializes in commercial litigation. He was selected as one of Hampton Roads’ Top 40 Under 40 by Inside Business magazine and as one of Virginia’s Legal Elite Young Lawyers by Virginia Business magazine.

John Coggeshall, another Norfolk lawyer, wants the Republican nomination. His website states he is a featured performer on stage at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., and the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center in New York City. He also worked (Continued on Page 8)
Arson Damages Add Up to Almost $2 Million

By Linda Cicoira

Nearly $2 million in damages resulted from the recent arson spree that swept across Accomack County, according to estimates by the victims, the majority of whom told police they did not have insurance to cover the loss.

A list of crimes presented as part of the evidence against admitted arsonist Charles Robert Smith III at his Oct. 31 trial in Accomack Circuit Court showed a total of $1,993,300 worth of damage. For some properties, estimates were not available. Six of the 67 properties had no assessed value.

Most local residents would say the former Whispering Pines Motel on Tasley Road was worthless before fire ravaged the old landmark. The owner told authorities the building was valued at $300,000.

Dilapidated and falling down, the structure was an eyesore that county officials were trying to get condemned. Smith said four buildings were set on fire for revenge. Evidence showed the home of a Bundick’s former boyfriend, James Shreaves, on Mears Station Road in Hallwood was set ablaze this Valentine’s Day.

“Shreaves told police that he smelled smoke inside his house while he was home with his two daughters, but could not find any fire,” according to evidence presented by Commonwealth’s Attorney Gary Agar. “He and his daughters left for approximately 15 minutes and when they returned, Mr. Shreaves noticed the fire damage.”

Smith said he peeked in windows to make sure no one was home. He told police he and Bundick saw the occupants leave. Damages were estimated at about $1,000. The owner has insurance.

Another revenge fire was in Tasley at the home of a “friend” Smith said was making passes at Bundick in messages sent via Facebook. The homeowner, who did not file an insurance claim, made about $200 in repairs. When the fire was set, he and his wife were at a local nightspot, which Smith said he and Bundick had left to set it.

Arson 25 was committed on Dec. 15, 2012, in a detached garaged and chicken coop on Matthews Road not far from where Smith and Bundick lived. It was set because Smith said the neighbor spoke negatively about Bundick’s children. The owner of the garage said Smith directed racial slurs and obscenities at him. An insurance company paid out $45,000, but the owners believe the structure was worth more.

The former Mallard’s Restaurant on Bayside Road in Onancock was uninsured. The fire there was set for revenge. The two-story wood-frame structure was worth $100,000.

Thirty-eight of the fires were in structures that were not insured. Twenty-five caused damage of $10,000 or less. Fourteen of the fires caused damages between $11,400 and $50,000. Eight fires resulted in damages between $50,000 and $100,000.

The first fire, on Dennis Drive in Parksley, was set on Nov. 12, 2012. The structure was uninsured and had not been used for three or four years. The two-story house burned “to the bottom of the sill plates and foundation.” It was appraised at $9,800, evidence states.

The eighth fire occurred three days later and was in a structure used to house migrant farm laborers on Fox Grove Road in Parksley. A claim was settled for $78,000, according to evidence.

Several fires occurred just before Christmas. A garage on Hopeton Road near Parksley, valued at $36,000, burned on Dec. 17, 2012. A house on Lankford Highway in Painter was set on fire on Dec. 18, 2012, and caused $85,000 worth of damage.

On Dec. 20, arson destroyed a house owned by Anita Johnson and “used for storage and maintained as an investment property,” State Farm Insurance paid $68,000, but Johnson told authorities she estimated the value at $135,000.

The former grader shed in Mappsburg was deliberately set on fire on Dec. 23. The loss there was estimated at $40,000. The commercial garage was vacant when it went up on Nelsonia Road in Bloxom on Christmas Eve. It was estimated to be worth $65,000.

The 40th fire on the evidence list destroyed a shed on Fox Grove Road on Groundhog Day. The owner got $28,000 from an insurance company. Damages to a garage on Sand Street in Temperanceville that was used to store farm machinery and personal property were estimated at $50,000.

Smith blamed the fire at Leatherbury United Methodist Church on Deep Creek Road near Onancock on Bundick. Damages there were said to be $4,300. Smith said he didn’t know the motive.

A structure on Lankford Highway in Melfa, listed for sale at $129,000, burned March 7. The owner said that including contents, the total loss was $189,000.

Arson 56 on Smith’s list involved a vacation home on White’s Crossing Road in Hallwood. One owner told police the house was worth $30,000.

Police and Court Postings

By Linda Cicoira

Northampton Grand Jury
A Northampton Grand Jury indicted 10 men late last week on charges that included malicious wounding, illegal drug possession and theft.

Ronnie Bernard Wilson Jr., 22, of Coal Kiln Road in Painter was indicted Nov. 8 on a count of maliciously wounding Howard Thomas as he came out of an Exmore grocery store on Aug. 24.

Court records state the “victim sustained (a) broken nose and various fractures to the face.” According to a checklist for bail determination, Wilson told police he “did not mean to do all that” referring to the extent of Thomas’ injuries.

Charles Edward Bailey, 64, of Cheriton was indicted on counts of possession of cocaine, possession of marijuana, obstruction of justice and resisting arrest, occurring Aug. 7. Bailey was a passenger in a vehicle stopped on Bayview Circle in Cheriton after a shooting was reported, Trooper S.N. Kulick wrote on a warrant.

Kulick said Bailey had hidden in his mouth a “plastic baggie” with “crack cocaine and two bags of marijuana. … He continued to resist arrest … taking three police officers to place restraints on Mr. Bailey as he continued to fight us.”

Lawrence Glenn Galloway, 56, of Sylvan Scene Drive in Machipongo was indicted on counts of felony DUI, refusal, driving on a revoked license in a DUI-related offense, reckless driving, drinking while driving, failure to wear a seatbelt and driving without insurance.

Trooper Brian Kennedy reported that upon responding to the May 31 traffic accident, he found “a 1999 GMC Envoy that was upside down.” The officer arrested Galloway after he was treated at the local hospital.

Walter Merrill Lewis III, 42, of Nassawadox was indicted on a count of grand larceny of property belonging to Wayne Downing of Cape Charles. He is accused of taking 19 boat propellers on Sept. 18.

Robert Earl Stines, 50, of Seaside Road Nassawadox was indicted on a count of threatening arson on Sept. 5.

Detravius Breon Upshur, 20, of Machipongo was indicted on counts of burglary and receiving stolen property on Aug. 18 at the home of H. Cypress.

Lester Lamont Walters, 31, of Jamaica, N.Y., was indicted on nine counts of credit-card forgery, occurring Aug. 16. Records state he was found in possession of credit-card reader equipment and a fraudulent ID. Walters was driving through the Shore on his way back to New York when he was arrested.

Torrean Vitonia Washington, 31, of Mark Lane in Birdsnest was indicted on counts of breaking into Sandra Richardson’s home and stealing property worth more than $200, and burglary at the home of Kathy Hanby, both occurring July 23.

Michael Edward Wesch, 32, of Scallop Street in Willis Wharf was indicted on a count of grand larceny of property belonging to Roy Clementz between January and September 2013.

Andrew Whaley Jr., 42, of TB Road in Exmore was indicted on a count of driving on Aug. 17 after being declared an habitual offender.

Northampton Sheriff’s Office
The drawing at right was released this week of a man being sought by police in connection with an alleged sexual assault at Chesapeake Campground in late October.

Northampton Sheriff David Doughty described the suspect as a white male in his late teens or early 20s. He is between five feet eight inches and five feet nine inches tall with a slender build and facial acne.

Doughty said he has dirty blonde or medium blonde hair and was last seen wearing a long-sleeved tan shirt and light tan cargo pants. The suspect was also wearing Van brand sneakers or a similar style, the sheriff added.

The initial police report stated the attacker was wearing a tan Halloween mask “with large sagging eyes.” Doughty’s office was alerted to the incident at about 6:30 a.m. Oct. 27. The victim was a 25-year-old woman. The crime occurred in the bathhouse near the general store and mini-golf course at the resort.

Anyone with information about the incident or the alleged suspect is asked to call the Northampton County Sheriff’s Office at (757) 678-0458.

Accomack Circuit Court

Jimmy Lee Fiddermon, 37, of Queens Court in Mappsville pleaded guilty last week in Accomack Circuit Court to four counts of forgery. He is accused of posing as his uncle during traffic stops on Dec. 22, 2012, and Jan. 19, 2013, and signing his uncle’s name on tickets.

Noe Escalante-Velasquez, 32, of Dreamland Court in Accomac pleaded guilty to stealing a vehicle belonging to Steven Silva, leaving the scene of an accident, driving on a suspended license and following too closely on April 28. Judgement was withheld and the case was continued.

William (Cricket) Thomas Nelson, 38, of Accomac pleaded guilty to distribution of cocaine, occurring July 12. Sentencing was deferred until Feb. 3, 2014. He was remanded to jail.

Ray Phillip Padgett Jr., 39, of Accomac pleaded guilty to theft with intent to transport obscene items, a misdemeanor. The crime occurred on Aug. 6, 2012. He initially was charged with possessing child pornography, a felony. Marsh was sentenced to six months in jail, with all but four days suspended. Good behavior was ordered for two years after release. Morris told police that he had pictures on his iPod from a nudist camp website that he was using for research for a novel.

Asia Renee Woolford, 23, of New Church pleaded guilty to grand larceny of property belonging to Walmart in Onley. She was released on existing bond. The crime occurred Dec. 16, 2012.

Accomack District Court

According to records filed in Accomack General District Court, Ronald Joseph Judge, 35, of Meadows Drive on Chincoteague has been charged with grand larceny, conspiracy to steal a ship chain belonging to Raymond Britton, stealing the ship chain and obtaining money on false pretenses from a salvage yard. The incidents allegedly occurred on Oct. 21. Bond was set at $6,000. Judge was arrested Nov. 8.

Kyle Allen Wheeler, 51, of Hardin Lane in Onancock also was charged with conspiracy to steal and grand larceny in connection with the same incident. He is being held in Accomack Jail without bond.

Rocheta Kellam, 28, of Johnson’s Court in Nelsonia was charged on Nov. 8 with possession of crack cocaine. Kellam is being held without bond.

Sheryl Hayman Smolinski, 64, of Jenkins Bridge Road in Temperanceville was charged with assault and battery of Accomack Deputy Sam Castillia on Nov. 10.

Henry Lee Coleman, 59, of Parsons Road in Greenbush is accused of stealing property on Nov. 9. He is being held without bond. Coleman was on probation for theft when he was arrested, court records state.

Northampton Circuit Court

A county man was sentenced to more than three decades in prison Tuesday in Northampton Circuit Court for raping an 11-year-old girl in 2012.

Hebrew Johnson Finney, 21, of Nassawadox got 33 years and 8 months, with 20 years suspended. He was ordered to be on indefinite probation after release. The incident occurred in the Exmore area on Aug. 22, 2012.

In another case, Everado Maldanado Rosales, 22, of Eastville was sentenced for a third offense of DUI to five years, with all but four months suspended. He also was fined $1,500. Rosales’ driver’s license was suspended indefinitely.

Kwame T. Benton, 23, of Cape Charles was sentenced to seven years each for burglary and grand larceny, to run concurrently, with all but a year and six months suspended. Restitution of $726.50 was ordered.

Kelsey Lynn Spencer, 22, of Cape Charles pleaded guilty to possession with intent to distribute more than five pounds of marijuana. Sentencing was deferred pending completion of a presentence report.

Rachel Lauren Leonard, 30, of Knoxville, Tenn., pleaded guilty to 10 counts of grand larceny. A presentence report was ordered. The crimes occurred 2011. Ten additional charges of felony theft were not prosecuted.
Students Offer School Board Food for Thought

“Let’s Change Our Chow!” six Nandua High students advised Accomack’s School Board when it met at the school Tuesday night.

The students said the school system needs not only to provide healthier lunches, but also to let students know more about their current options.

“Many have special needs, but don’t know they are available,” including exvegetarian, glutten-free and lactose-free foods Taylor Wallace said. “Some don’t know that salad must be ordered in the morning.”

“Good nutrition can improve learning ability,” another student added as each member of the group gave some input. They said purchasing a special convection/steam oven would help prepare foods in a healthier manner.

The students want items like regular chips, cookies and honey buns to be traded for baked chips, granola bars and fruit juice. They took a survey of 88 Nandua pupils and found 66 percent eat school lunch, 20 percent pack their lunch, 14 percent don’t eat lunch and 82 percent go to the snack line.

Students Kedante Chandler and Donte James agreed school “tater tots” are always soggy and they would prefer healthier baked potatoes, and more meat items cooked in-house instead of prepackaged. They urged the board to look into a U.S. Department of Agriculture program that gives money to school systems to improve the meals.

“School lunch programs are self-sustaining,” Superintendent Dr. Bruce Benson said, reminding the board that the lunches meet federal and state guidelines. He suggested a pilot program to bring in more fresh food and find a way to subsidize the oven.

The board asked Benson to come back with proposals.

A group of Nandua High School students urged Accomack’s School Board Tuesday night to improve school lunches. The students worked on the project last year for a class, but never got to present it. Their teacher, Tammy Pruitt, said she was very proud of the students because they updated and tweaked the information for this week’s presentation on their own. Pictured are (from left): back row - Tristan Snyder, Pruitt, Kedante Chandler and Donte James; front row - Taylor R. Wallace, Cherith Ferguson and Taylor S. Wallace.

As part of Operation Christmas Child, Exmore residents are working to make Christmas a reality for needy kids around the world by filling shoeboxes with toys, school supplies, hygiene items and notes of encouragement. The goal is to fill 3,800 shoeboxes during National Collection Week (Nov. 18–25).

Anyone can drop off a gift-filled shoebox at Exmore Baptist Church Monday through Saturday, Nov. 18-23 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.; Sunday, Nov. 24, between 2 and 5 p.m.; and Monday, Nov. 25, between 10 and 11 a.m.

Then the shoebox gifts will be delivered to children worldwide. For many children, the shoebox gift will be the first gift they have ever received.

Operation Christmas Child offers a way for participants to follow their box by using the donation form found at samaritanspurse.org Donors will receive an email telling the country where their shoeboxes are delivered.

Rotary Club Honors Randy Warren

Cape Charles Rotary Club recently honored Randy Warren with a Paul Harris Plus One Award for his faithful service to the club.

Warren was already a Paul Harris Fellow after donating over $1,000 to the Rotary Foundation. The club recently chose to honor him for his 35 years of exemplary membership and an additional gift to the foundation, making him a two-time Paul Harris Fellow. During his many years of membership, Warren served for 15 years as the club's treasurer; he also spearheaded the club's very successful crab cake sales for many years, and served as the club's hospitality chairman.

Warren must now give up his active membership for health reasons, but he will continue to be an honorary member of Cape Charles Rotary Club.

Judge Glen Tyler Earns Rotary Recognition

Onancock Rotary Club presented Glen A. Tyler with a Paul Harris Fellowship at the recent annual meeting of the three Rotary Clubs on the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

Onancock Rotary President Jeanette R. Edwards said Judge Tyler was selected to receive this extraordinary recognition because the manner in which he has led his life exemplifies the humanitarian and service objectives of the Rotary Foundation. Tyler was lauded for demonstrating in both his personal life and vocation a consistent commitment to helping people.

Born in Chestnut Hill, Pa., to Jane Griffith Wehner and Harrison Gill Wehner, he attended William Penn Charter School in Philadelphia and later received three degrees in economics from the University of Michigan: a bachelor of arts in 1957, a master’s in 1958, and a Ph.D. in 1963. He was on the university’s swim team, which won the 1957 NCAA championship. Mr. Wehner also swam for the U.S. Army during his service at Fort Eustis from 1958-60.

After graduate school, Mr. Wehner was hired by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) as staff economist for the African Department. His work with the IMF, and later as a private consultant, led him to work in troubled areas, such as the Congo, Somalia, Afghanistan and Nicaragua. In the 1980s, Mr. Wehner became president and CEO of Buvermo Properties, Inc., a European-owned investment company. Later, he continued his economic consulting and served on several boards.

He was a member of the Northern Virginia Chamber of Commerce, the prestigious London Club and several other clubs.

He and his wife, Joan, built (with their own hands) their first family home in Great Falls, Va., along with a subsequent log home launched for the American bicentennial in 1976. During that time, the Wehnrs began one of Virginia’s earliest commercial vineyards.

Mr. Wehner taught economics at the University of Michigan, George Mason University, American University, Catholic University, University of Virginia extension, and Old Dominion University. He and Joan were charter members of the Great Falls Citizens Association.

He launched an unsuccessful campaign for the Virginia Senate in 1992 and that same year served on the finance campaign of George H.W. Bush, who attended a fund raiser at the Wehner home during his 1988 presidential campaign.

Mr. Wehner enjoyed playing the piano, flying his beloved Cessna and restoring Ford trucks, including a Model A and Model T. He was an avid reader. Above all, he and his wife spent more than 30 years painstakingly restoring Chatham Farm.

He and Joan have lived full-time on the Eastern Shore since 2000. He was a business partner with his son Jon of Chatham Vineyards, founded in 1999. Mr. Wehner served on the Eastern Shore Community College Foundation and was treasurer and served on the board of the Virginia Chapter of The Nature Conservancy for a decade.

Harrison is survived by his loving wife of 51 years, Joan Kittle Wehner; sister and brother-in-law, Marianne and Bill Mebane; and the families of his sons: Harrison and Karen Wehner, and their children Hadley, Meriel and Sage; Ross Wehner and Renée del Gaudio, along with Sebastian and Francesca; and Jonathan and Mills Wehner, with children Jon Henry, William and Lydia.

Memorial services will be held at Hungars Episcopal Church at 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 23.

Memorial donations may be sent to Hungars Episcopal Church (church-yard fund), P.O. Box 367, Eastville, VA 23347. The guest book can be signed at www.hollandfuneralhome.net.

C&P Retiree Dies

Mr. Joseph Drummond “J.D.” Turner Jr., 80, of Northside Chesapeake crossed over on Monday, Nov. 11, 2013, at his residence, surrounded by his loving family.

Born in Pastoria, he was a son of the late Joseph Drummond Turner Sr. and Thelma Phillips Turner. He served in the U.S. Army and later retired from C&P Telephone Company. He was a member of Leatherbury U.M. Church, First Flight Society, AOA Scottish Rite, Friends of Hundley, C&P Pioneers and Central Lodge 300 AF&AM, and served as master of Chesapeake Lodge 158 AF&AM.

Mr. Turner was predeceased by his wife, June W. Turner. He is survived by his daughters, Teresa T. Smith, of Onancock and Kelly T. Baker of Summerville, S.C.; brother, Allen B. Turner (and wife, Ellen) of Melfa; five grandchildren, Lauren Lilliston, Danny Turner, Taylor Smith, McKenna Baker, and Dorian Baker; four great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted from the chapel of the Williams-Onancock Funeral Home on Thursday, November 14, 2013 at 11:00 a.m. with the Reverend Jo Lynn Hart officiating. A private interment will follow in the Fairview Lawn Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Leatherbury United Methodist Church, C/O Linda Bradford, P.O. Box 36, Tasley, VA 23441 or to Hospice of the Eastern Shore, 165 Market Street, Suite 3, Onancock, VA 23417.

Memory tributes may be shared with the family at www.williamsfuneralhomes.com.

Arrangements by the Williams-Onancock Funeral Home.

Blair Stewart did more than watch baseball games in all 30 Major League parks this summer. He also visited 30 state parks and 16 national parks in his journey that crossed through 41 states and put 23,618 miles on the 15-seat van he converted to a motel on wheels.

Stewart has made nine cross-country trips since his first in 1982 and has visited 36 of the 56 national parks in that span.

A farmer who is able to rotate his crops to provide for getaways, Stewart lives on Nassawadox Creek on land that has been in the family for 11 generations.

He is neither a fisherman nor hunter. Travel is his passion. But for all the places he has been, he declares the Eastern Shore the best.

“I love the mountains, I marvel at the scenery in this country, but when it is all said and done, there is no place prettier to me than the Eastern Shore and seeing a scene like a sunset over Nassawadox Creek,” says Stewart, a 1970 graduate of Northampton High School.

Stewart says he is old school and not much for technology; he travels without a computer or a smart phone. He mapped much of his trip on an atlas, which he bought at Walmart.

The atlas also listed every Walmart store, where Stewart says he often spent the night in his van, equipped with a double bed, flat-screen TV and all his necessities stored in customized drawers.

“Walmart will let campers stay one night only in their parking lot. It became a friendly gathering of people all over the country. I would be having a breakfast of fresh fruit and chatting with my neighbors,” recalls Stewart.

Other nights he stayed in a state or national park.

Of the national parks, Grand Teton on the John D. Rockefeller Jr. Memorial Highway in Wyoming is his favorite. Home to a diverse group of plants, birds, mammals and fish, the park also provides magnificent views from the jagged peaks to Jackson Hole Valley.

Other favorites include Glacier National, Yellowstone, Yosemite and Rocky Mountain parks, all featuring mountains, a feature that Stewart says appeals to an Eastern Shore flatlander.

Riding down the mountain from a height of 12,400 feet at Rocky Mountain Park this summer, Stewart stopped and took a brief nap before being awakened by thunder that was accompanied by heavy rain. He awoke just in time to see a biker peering in his window before heading down the mountain.

Stewart started his van and pulled alongside the biker, asking if he could help him.

“He could barely get the words out of his mouth,” Stewart says, “but I could tell he was saying, ‘Help me. Help me.’ ”

“I motioned to him to pull off to the side of the road. When he came to a stop, I could see he was shaking and barely able to move. His clothes were soaked from the heavy rain. The temperature had also dropped about 30 degrees in less than an hour. I pulled him into the van and kept the heater on for about 20 minutes.

“When he finally was able to speak, he kept telling me, ‘You saved my life, you saved my life.’ ”

“I told him he would have been fine, so I don’t think I saved his life. But some of my medical friends have since told me that the biker was hypothermic and was in danger,” says Stewart.

A member of Belle Haven Methodist Church, Stewart says he feels “God’s hand had a part in waking me up how he did and when he did just in time for me to see the biker in distress.”

In a far different region of the country, Stewart had a far different experience when he was admiring some exotic fish in a river at Big Cypress Swamp near the Florida Everglades.

“I was standing at the creek’s edge,” he recalls, “looking at these colorful fish, when I suddenly noticed a 14-foot alligator easing toward me. He glided so easily the water didn’t even ripple. I realized he was looking at me and not the fish. That’s when I thought I could be part of his food chain.”

Stewart said the national park that might have had the most impact on him was Andersonville, Ga., now serving as a memorial to all American prisoners of war.

Andersonville, or Camp Sumpter, as it was officially known, was a Confederate military prison where during the 14 months it existed some 13,000 Union soldiers died from disease, poor sanitation, malnutrition, overcrowding or exposure.

“They literally had nothing to eat but their own swallow because what few rations were available toward the end of the war went to the Confederate troops,” says Stewart.

A soldier there wrote in his diary about “the hell on Earth where it takes 7 of its occupants to make a Shadow.”

“You can’t visit that place without it affecting you,” remarks Stewart.

Although he collected a great deal of baseball memorabilia on this trip that included a visit to all 30 Major League parks, Stewart also added to his collection of state license plates and now has all but three. He only collects the older plates that have the year permanently marked, not the newer ones that have decals.

From the Hubbell Trading Post in Arizona, he also has a rug that took two months for a Navajo woman to complete. The trading post has been in existence since the 1800s.

Stewart says the key to seeing the country is not to look at the traveling as a hassle but part of the grand experience of seeing the magnificent views America has to offer.

Something tells me he hasn’t made his last trip.

Broadwater’s Adam Bowen looks for yardage as Wesley Shrieves puts a Fuqua defender on the ground with a block in Saturday’s action.

Vikings Fall Just Short of State Title Shot in 28-27 Fuqua Loss

A half-yard is all that separated Broadwater from advancing to the state championship game, but that 18 inches will long be on the minds of the Viking seniors who looked to cap their careers with a Division 4 state title in the Virginia Independent Schools Athletic Association. Instead, Broadwater fell in the state semi-final Saturday with a 28-27 loss to Fuqua School.

After narrowly losing a state title game last year despite thoroughly dominating Blessed Sacrament-Huguenot everywhere but the scoreboard in a 3-point loss, this year Broadwater only had to defeat Fuqua, 5-5, to gain a rematch in the state final.

On paper, this game looked like a mismatch. Two weeks ago, Fuqua lost to Chincoteague, a team Broadwater led 41-6 at halftime and eventually defeated 54-6. Fuqua edged Brunswick 14-13, a team the Vikings defeated 34-6 the previous week, with the backups getting more playing time than the starters.

But games are not played on paper. Fuqua had athleticism and size and made enough plays to stay in the game against a team that often pulled its starters long before the fourth quarter in compiling an 8-1 record this season.

And then the game came down to one play, when Broadwater scored with 1:06 remaining in the game to pull within a single point at 28-27. Broadwater had kicked successful extra points after its first three touchdowns, and now one more would probably force an overtime.

However, the Vikings elected to try for a 2-point conversion and the win.

“I decided with six minutes left in the game that we were going for the win if we had the chance,” said Broadwater coach Noble Palmer. “With the two big backs we have, I felt if we couldn’t make three yards, we didn’t deserve to win. I would do it again.”

Preston Richardson took a direct snap on a trap play that had worked for a touchdown in the third quarter, and met a host of Falcon defenders near the line of scrimmage. Richardson moved the pile with a tremendous effort but was stopped just short of the goal line.

Broadwater had one more opportunity when it recovered an onside kick, but when a pass fell incomplete on fourth down, all Fuqua had to do was kneel down to start a celebration.

Thus, an 8-2 season for Broadwater was marred only by two 1-point losses after which the Vikings will long think about extra-point misses. In a 38-37 loss earlier in the season to Virginia Episcopal School, a 9-1 team that will be playing for the Division 3 state championship this week, Broadwater scored more touchdowns but missed five extra points, all by kicking, when just a single 2-point conversion would have provided the margin needed to win. VES converted all its PATs and added a field goal.

And although the first three extra-point kicks were successful Saturday, the last two were low kicks that cleared the goal post with little room to spare. Thus, the decision to go for 2 was not all that much of a gamble.

“I really haven’t given much thought to individual plays,” said Coach Palmer the day after the loss. “I have been thinking about Michael (Riopel, who left the game in the first quarter with a concussion) and the seniors who played their last game. Sometimes, things just don’t work out like you want no matter how hard you work.”

As was the score, the stats were pretty much even for the two teams. Fuqua outgained Broadwater 266-250. Fuqua had a 12-8 edge in first downs. The Vikings had 35 yards in penalties to 30 for Fuqua. Both teams had two turnovers.

But one penalty loomed large for Broadwater. With just over six minutes remaining, the Vikings were called for roughing the Fuqua punter in the end zone, when Broadwater would have had the ball at the Falcon 23-yard line. Instead, Fuqua was awarded a first down.

Broadwater’s first turnover came on its first play from scrimmage with a fumbled snap. Fuqua drove the ball to the 1-yard line, where Al Baker scored.

Broadwater only had to drive five yards for a touchdown after Thomas Scott intercepted a Falcon pass in the flat. Brendon Burrows scored on a four-yard run. Wesley Shrieves put Broadwater up 14-7 with a 40-yard run in the second quarter.

Fuqua answered with an 11-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Antonio Gonzalez to Joshua Davis.

What may have been the biggest play of the game — even bigger than the missed extra point — occurred when Gonzalez scrambled and found Davis in the flat. Davis then weaved his way for a 55-yard touchdown with only eight seconds left in the half.

By then, Broadwater was missing 6’4” Riopel, a key receiver and a solid defensive back, who left the game early with a concussion.

Broadwater also was missing defensive coach Rick Barnes, who was at the hospital with complications from heart surgery several weeks ago. Although in touch by phone throughout the game, Barnes was not in his customary place on the sidelines making adjustments.

Fuqua increased its lead to 28-14 on the opening drive of the second half with a 12-yard run by Baker.

Richardson scored with 2:56 remaining in the third quarter on a four-yard run to cut the deficit to 28-21.

Broadwater’s defense stiffened and held Fuqua scoreless in the fourth quarter, setting up the climatic finish when the Vikings pulled within 1 point on a Burrows’ four-yard run with just over a minute remaining.

Quarterback Ben Holland was 6 of 20 for 65 yards. Burrows led Viking rushers with 91 yards on 11 carries.

Defensively, Frank Long and Malik McCaskill had eight tackles each. Robert Fritz and Richardson added seven each.

For all the yards Broadwater amassed this season, it needed just one more to get in Friday’s state championship game that will now pit Fuqua against Blessed Sacrament-Huguenot, winner of the past four state championships in this division. The two teams met earlier this season with Huguenot winning 34-7.
Arcadia Gets Winning Season with 41-6 Win Over Jackets

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Arcadia earned its first winning season since 2000 with a 41-6 decision over Northampton Friday night at home. The win gave the Firebirds a 6-4 season and a share of the district title. It also secured their spot in the Virginia High School League playoffs with a road game tomorrow at 2 p.m. against Riverheads of Staunton.

Coached by Robert Casto, who coached at Chincoteague over 20 years ago, the Gladiators are 9-1 and have scored 49 or more points six times.

But Arcadia coach Tony Nock said his team likes its chances although it will be a heavy underdog. “They have scored a lot of points and won a bunch of games, but they have only beaten two teams with a winning record,” said Nock. “They lost 23 seniors last year and have a lot of underclassmen playing. They have got a great tradition with state titles in 2006 and 2010, but I feel we have enough speed and size to give them a battle. One of our biggest tests will be to survive a six-hour bus ride.”

Last Friday night, Tyler Major opened the scoring with an eight-yard run midway through the first quarter.

Northampton struck quickly on its next drive with quarterback Tyler Handwerk hitting Ryan Outten with an over-the-shoulder pass for a 42-yard touchdown, knotting the score at 6-6.

But the tie did not last long as Tyler Major returned the kickoff 80 yards for a go-ahead touchdown.

Quarterback Taylor Major extended the Firebird lead with a 31-yard touchdown pass to Eric Grinnage.

John Wright pushed the Arcadia lead further with a fumble recovery in the end zone. Logan Godwin added his second extra point of the game.

Wright had two fumble recoveries, with Damien Kirkpatrick, Contrel Brown and Raquan Hope getting one each. Hope rumbled for 25 yards following his recovery.

In the second half, Tyler Major had a 45-yard score, and Brown added the final Firebird score with a 12-yard run.

Tyler Major led the Firebird rushing attack with 113 yards on six carries. Travon Copes had 66 yards on four carries. Taylor Major was 2 of 8 for 49 yards, including the 31-yarder to Grinnage for a score.

Defensively, Tyric Harris, just called up from the JV, led the team with 12 tackles, followed by Peter Rivera with nine and Wright and Taylor Major with five each.

Coach Nock said Harris made an impression on the coaching staff. “He stepped up and made some big hits. He really stood out.”

For Northampton, Chris Lewis and Hakeem Berry had eight tackles each.

Nandua to Face Bruton Tonight

Nandua, co-champion of the Eastern Shore District with a 6-4 record, will play Bruton of Williamsburg tonight with a 7 p.m. kickoff in the opening round of the 2A East playoffs.

The Warriors were ranked 12th among the 16 playoff teams. Bruton, ranked fifth, compiled a 7-3 record and plays in the Bay Rivers District.

Coach Chris Miles welcomed the open week at the end of the season, “We have everyone healthy and got back a few players who had been out for several weeks. We look forward to a good week of practice. I feel we match up well with Bruton, a school just about our size,” said Miles.

Beginning January 1, 2014, all CBBT toll discounts will be available for E-ZPass customers only.

Northampton Volleyballers Reach Regional Play Before Falling

Northampton finished runner up in the Conference 41 tournament played at Appomattox Saturday. With a bye in the first round, the Lady Jackets defeated Franklin in the semi-finals 25-17, 25-16 and 25-9 to reach the finals, where they met top-seeded Appomattox Regional Governors School.

Playing without Taylor Webb, the Offensive Player of the Year in the Shore District, who sprained her ankle in practice last week, the Lady Jackets fell 25-11, 25-16 and 25-14.

“Filling Taylor’s spot was tough with one day of practice, so under the circumstance it was a good outing for us,” said Jacket coach Cathy Doughty.

Against Franklin, who defeated Chincoteague in the opening round of the tournament, Whitney Metz had five kills and Kennedy Webb and Taylor Nadeau three kills each, while Olivia Boswell and Nadeau led the team in aces with eight and seven, respectively. Kennedy Webb also had four digs and a block. Angela Head had four digs.

In the semi-final game, Briana Williams had three kills and three blocks, with Boswell, Shana Harrison and Metz having two each. Kennedy Webb had three aces, and Nadia Hughes and Evelyn Dunton each had six digs.

In regional play Wednesday night, delayed a day due to high winds on Tuesday, Northampton lost to Mathews in three sets, 25-8, 25-20 and 25-12. Mathews has won the past two state championships and is a strong contender this season to repeat.

Jacket coach Cathy Doughty said it wasn’t until the second set that her team found its groove, but in the third set struggled with Mathews’ tough and accurate serves.

Taylor Webb, Williams and Harrison and Metz have one ace each. Metz and Jamaica Jenkins had three kills. Kennedy Webb had 13 digs, and Taylor Webb had eight.

Making first team All-Conference 31 from Northampton were Taylor Webb and Kennedy Webb on the first team, Harrison and Ashlyn Arnold on the second team and Boswell and Metz honorable mention. Making first team All-Conference 31 from Northampton were Taylor Webb and Kennedy Webb on the first team, Harrison and Arnold on the second team and Boswell and Metz honorable mention.

Eastern Shore All-District Volleyball Team Named

The 2013 Eastern Shore All-District volleyball team has been named by district coaches.

Twins Taylor and Kennedy Webb of Northampton were named Offensive and Defensive Players of the Year, respectively, and Nandua, unbeaten during the regular season, had three players on the first team, including Setter of the Year Tsara Nock, Caroline Harvie and Sarah Puchalski.

Chincoteague placed Emily Haugh at Libero of the Year, a defensive specialist position.

Nock and Haugh were both repeats from last year’s All-District team.

Named to the second team were Shana Harrison, Briana Williams and Olivia Boswell of Northampton, the tournament champion this season; Ashley Fisher and Amanda Baylis of Nandua; and Everett of Chincoteague.

Honorable mention went to Whitney Metz of Northampton, Kimberly Wert of Nandua, Jessica Stanfield of Chincoteague and Kayla Johnson of Arcadia.

Taylor Webb had 75 kills and 71 aces this season for the Lady Jackets in addition to 99 digs and 99 assists to secure top offensive honors.

Sophomore Kennedy Webb had 100 aces and 129 digs, as well as 151 assists and 10 blocks in being named the top defensive player.

Northampton coach Cathy Doughty said, “Taylor and Kennedy are such a pleasure to coach. They are those first-to-show, last-to-go kind of players. They work really, really hard every day on every drill. Conditioning, skill work, it doesn't matter they are putting the effort in on all of it. They already have a very high volleyball IQ and the drive to take them far in this game.”

Junior Emily Haugh of Chincoteague led her team in blocks and kills. Chincoteague coach Danielle Love said, “Her intimidating net presence forces opponent errors and miscommunication. She has a natural jump serve, causing the opponent’s defense to adjust to its curve and sharp drop.”

Nandua’s Tsara Nock had a 98 percent setting percentage, 77 aces, 165 assists and 83 digs. Nandua coach Le’Andra Sabatino said, “Caroline has improved tremendously since last season. She is a natural leader and has been a good captain for us this year.”

Caroline Harvie, a junior, had 49 aces, 76 kills and 110 digs for the season. Nandua coach Le’Andra Sabatino said, “Caroline has improved tremendously since last season. She is a natural leader and has been a good captain for us this year.”

Sarah Puchalski, a junior, had 30 kills and 63 digs for Nandua. Coach Sabatino said, “Sarah had the top serving percentage on my team with 95 percent. She has become a dependable and consistent player for me.”

As Libero of the Year, Stella Everett of Chincoteague was praised by Coach Love for her “court awareness,” which helped lead her team in digs, helping to continue rallies for the Ponies. Everett is a senior.

“Filling Taylor’s spot was tough with one day of practice, so under the circumstance it was a good outing for us,” said Jacket coach Cathy Doughty.

District, Conference Cross Country Teams Named

Four local runners will advance to the state cross country meet tomorrow at the Great Meadow State Course in Plains, Va. Evan Lawrence of Nandua and Logan Godwin of Arcadia will represent the boys, while Madisen Lewis and Erica Head (pictured below) of Northampton will compete among the girls.

Lawrence finished 18th in the Conference 33 race in 17:58. Logan was 26th in 18:23. Lewis was 25th in the Conference 41 race in 23:49, with Head finishing 32nd in 25:06.

Lawrence and Godwin were 1-2 at the Eastern Shore District race and are joined on the All-District team in order of finish by Alan Killebrew, James Teeling and Sammy Pineda, all of Northampton, and Equardo Martinez of Arcadia, John Delmar of Northampton, Pedro Francisco of Arcadia, Brennan Hall of Arcadia and Aden Ingram of Northampton.

Northampton’s Killebrew, Teeling, Pineda, Delmar, Ingram and Garrett Marsh were named to the All-Conference 41 cross country team.

Second team All-Conference selections were Omar Cruz, Charlie Demarino and Tucker Spady. Gerardo Santos was honorable mention.

Lewis topped the girls on the Eastern Shore this year. She is joined in order of finish on the All-District team by Kristina Dedicatoria of Arcadia, Nicole Reyes of Northampton, Sarah Head of Northampton, Rachal Lankford of Arcadia, Jo Fuller of Arcadia, Celeste Briones of Arcadia, Rima Horé of Northampton, Whitney Metz of Northampton and Ryan Wright of Nandua.

Jackets Place 6 on Field Hockey

Orlando “FEDE” Upshur 11.21.89 – 12.5.12

Today you would’ve been 24. I know, along with your family and friends, you would be getting your “sweet juice” on. This is the most difficult time of the year. I thought it would be easier by now but it isn’t. It’s not a day that goes by I don’t think about you or hurt because you were snatched from me so soon. I see your smile and hear your laugh every day. I wish I could wish you “Happy Birthday” face to face and give you a big hug. Since that isn’t possible, I’ll have to wait until I see you again. From all of us to “U”. We love and miss “U”.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! Love, Mom, Bo, Meek, Neka, Des, Zy, Kera, family & friends

I have always told my students to “dream big.” Unfortunately, many of them don’t dream at all.

Recently, I was fortunate to meet Henry Winkler, a man who knows all about dreams. He is probably best known for his role as Fonzie on the popular television series “Happy Days” (1974-84). I was attending the 54th Annual Council for Exceptional Children Conference at Regent University and Mr. Winkler was the keynote speaker on the topic of growing up with a learning disability.

One out of every five people in the United States has a learning disability. According to the U.S. Department of Education, “Almost one million children (aged 6 through 21) have some form of a learning disability and receive special education in school.”

As a youth, Winkler was called lazy and stupid. He struggled in every subject and maintained a “D” average throughout his academic career. He openly discussed his own lack of confidence and self-worth at that time. Reading and learning new concepts were difficult for him, but he quickly learned he could cover up his disability by making people laugh. He became an entertainer, the class clown. He believes his charm got him through school. I think he is smarter than he gives himself credit for.

Winkler admitted that even though he graduated from college, he did not read his first novel until he was in his 30s. He remembered, “I was 31 when I realized I wasn’t stupid. Dyslexia was diagnosed in me, along with my step-son Jed and, as it turns out, in all our children. They’ve had the same confidence issues I had. You can’t protect them from that, but what you can do is tell them they’re fantastic 15 times a day.”

Winkler sadly revealed that his own parents were not supportive of him, even nicknaming him “Dumb Dog.” Nevertheless, Henry Winkler became a huge star.

He also has become an advocate for the special-needs community. In 1990, he and his wife Stacey co-founded the Children’s Action Network, which provides free immunizations to more than 200,000 children a year. He is also actively involved with the Annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon, the Epilepsy Foundation of America, the Toys for Tots campaign, the National Committee for Arts for the Handicapped, and the Special Olympics.

In 2003, Winkler and Lin Oliver coauthored “Hank Zipzer, the World’s Greatest Underachiever — Niagara Falls or Does It.” Hank, the main character, overcomes a variety of childhood obstacles made more challenging by a learning disability. To date, there are 18 books in the series and 24 novels in all. Winkler considers writing these books his greatest accomplishment.

His speech inspired me. I have never given up on my dream of becoming a writer. So as I stood in line at his book signing, I gathered the courage to ask “The Fonz” to read “A Reason to Wake Up” and “The Journal” — two screenplays I have written. He gracefully agreed. That moment was surreal!

Eastern Shore Memorial Hospital. Again, this was a frightening time, and the care and expertise they provided in the few days we spent there were amazing. Everyone from the ER staff and physicians, to the floor nurses and the dietary staff, provided a professional and personal experience that we can only thank them all for. We are comforted to know that the care we will receive any time needed will be wonderful, and we should all be thankful to have this at our doorstep.
