HISTORIC BLASTOFF

By Linda Cicoira

It was “amazing.” It was “awesome.” It was “exciting.” And it was pretty darn “cool.”

That’s what local folks had to say about the Lunar Atmosphere and Dust Environment Explorer (LADEE) launch from Wallops Flight Facility last Friday. The comet-like glow was seen as far as New York, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Those in other regions of Virginia like Yorktown, Richmond and Lynchburg loved it, too.

“We went to the boat ramp at Gargatha,” said Polly Ransone of Onancock. “It is a great place to view the launches because you can see the rockets while they are still on the pad. I forgot the camera but I did have the binoculars. From the first flash to the section falling into the ocean, it was quite a show.”

Walt Latham said he was “on a pier on the beach in Yorktown, Virginia, with friends, my Mom and my brother. The sky glowed an amazing orange over Gloucester County and up the rocket went. It was a beautiful thing to behold the glare from the rocket as it ascended into the sky.”

Frederick Bigelow “watched the launch from the seawall behind the Comfort Suites in Chincoteague where we were staying for the weekend. It was a magnificent sight that my wife and I felt privileged to see as we had made our weekend reservations before we knew anything about the launch.”

“Oh, another scratch-off on the ole bucket list,” said Natalie Rinker-Good of Seaview. “Now have viewed a Mars launch from Cape Canaveral and the Moon launch from Wallops Island.” She was excited that “the latest was from our front yard!”

“I went out on my front porch in West Fenwick Island, Del., and was delighted to suddenly see a soaring brightly glowing rocket stream going upward and onward!” said Winnie Spicer. “Fascinating!”

Windy Mason-Walters reported, “It was a spectacular view even

Northampton Supervisors Alarmed by School-Bus Situation

By Ron West

Student safety related to school-bus procedures led Northampton supervisors to withhold a money transfer for the schools and at least one citizen to call for the possible removal of Schools Superintendent Dr. Walter Clemons.

“Maybe a change in superintendents will be to the benefit of the county,” Rev. Kelvin Jones told the Northampton Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Jones expressed serious concerns over recent changes to school bus routes that he said put young children at risk. Jones reported that several of his congregants have been unable to get answers to related questions from the School Administration.

At a recent meeting at Kiptopeke Elementary School, Jones said a number of parents said their children have to walk as far as a mile to reach their new bus stops, putting them in danger. Jones said that questions on the issue went unanswered by administrators in attendance, and follow-up calls placed to the Central Administration Office by at least one parent received less than satisfactory answers.

“I am very concerned with the attitude on this issue by the superintendent and Central Office staff,” Jones said, adding that some in his congregation have complained that Clemons, who does not live on the Eastern Shore, has no vested interest in the county other than to pick up a paycheck.

Several supervisors noted that they too have received calls from parents concerned about the new bus procedures. Supervisor Rick Hubbard suggested that parents attend the School Board meeting on Sept. 18 and voice their concerns.

Board Chairman Willie Randall said he had observed questionable procedures when he saw small children walking along Lankford Highway to reach a point where their bus picked them up. Randall called for a letter from the board to be sent to the chairman of the School Board asking for an explanation of the changes to the bus procedures.

Supervisor Larry Trala cited what he called poor planning by school administrators regarding the bus routes.

Supervisor Oliver Bennett, who said he also had received complaints from parents, called for action by the School Board to resolve the problems. Bennett said he would not support a request for the transfer of $215,853 in undesignated year-end funds to the school system’s capital improvement fund (CIP) until the situation is resolved.

“Safety is our primary concern for our students,” Bennett said. He also called for a written plan of action on how the School Board would address maintenance issues in the schools.

The supervisors voted unanimously to table the request to transfer the undesignated funds until written plans to correct the two issues are forthcoming from the School Board.

In other business, Randall called on County Finance Director Leslie Lewis to provide information on the status of tax receipts versus expenses. Lewis reported that income for the past year had exceeded former years by over $1.2 million. She pointed out that collections are more efficient as the county is using additional enforcement techniques. Specifically, Lewis noted that cooperation with the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) allowed restrictions on services for delinquent taxpayers. Additionally, bank liens and collecting assets of those who owe the county money has encouraged more property owners to pay their taxes. She said tax auctions are possible as a last resort.

Bennett concluded that the county is collecting back taxes very efficiently. Delinquent tax collections increased by $1.4 million in FY 2013.

Randall said the county’s finances are improving and that back taxes, long an issue for many, are being collected. “We are doing a better job of managing the county’s money,” he added.

Assistant to the County Administrator Janice Williams reported the Public Service Authority (PSA) will conduct a public information session Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. at Cheriton Fire Station regarding the proposed wastewater project. At the session, the Board of Supervisors will conduct a public hearing regarding the creation of a tax district to fund construction costs of proposed projects.

Hearing Will Consider Hunting with Dogs

By Linda Cicoira

Nearly three decades ago, complaints about hunters caused about 450 of them to attend a public hearing held by county supervisors. The subject has resurfaced in recent months and officials are expecting another big crowd to discuss the issues. They booked Metompkin Elementary School in Parksley for the event and will start taking comments there at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 3.

The grievances voiced in the mid-1980s and still heard today focus around trespassing, hunting with dogs and shooting across roads. The defense is basically the same, too, as folks call for the current laws to be enforced, not changed.

In February, a petition signed by about 100 residents opposed to deer hunting with dogs was submitted to Accomack supervisors, who did not discuss the issue and took no action on the request to stop the practice.

Residents said the hunters trespass on private land; violate a county ordinance, which requires loose canines to be under the control of their owners; leave carcasses behind for property owners to remove; threaten those who confront them; and shoot across roads, endangering pedestrians and motorists. They fear that someone will get hurt and said there are not enough game wardens to handle the problem.

According to the county’s website, the supervisors will hear or accept written comments regarding if they should petition the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries to prohibit deer hunting with dogs in Accomack. Materials relating to this proposal may be reviewed in Room 203 in the county office building in Accomac.

Meeting Will Feature Congressional Candidate

Atlantic District Supervisor Ron Wolff will hold his monthly constituents meeting Monday at 7 p.m. at Wolff’s Sandwich Shoppe in Atlantic. The guest will be Suzanne Patrick who is challenging Rep. Scott Rigell for his seat in Congress.

Court Approves Auction Sales

By Linda Cicoira

About $75 million in property and assets sold in liquidation sales for the Batista Madonia family and East Coast Brokers and Packers gained approval by U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Florida late last week.

Several of the seven auctions were conducted on the Eastern Shore. More than 13,000 work hours were involved in the sales.

Locally, property was sold for nearly $19 million, including more than $2.7 million in equipment, reported Carl Carter of New Media Rules Communications, which worked on the project.

Chapter 11 Trustee Jerry McHale told the court the auctions have exceeded expectations. “By any yardstick you can come up with, this team has achieved more than anybody could have reasonably expected,” he said. “This was an incredibly diverse group of properties, with farmland, luxury residences, processing plants and hundreds of machines, and it was a massive challenge just to organize it all. The creditors have recouped more of their investment than many people imagined. I could not be happier.”

The total excludes a $2.1 million bid for the Red Rose Inn & Suites in Plant City, Fla., which was rejected. Plans still include selling that property.

from here in Hopeton. First, the eastern sky lit up in brilliant reds and golds and then the rocket went soaring up through the night sky with a rumble. Our entire family went out to watch the launch,” she said. “Awesome seemed to be the word of the day. The children were amazed!”

Deborah De Haven-Nails said, “What an amazing sight in Rehoboth Beach!! My backyard is the bay and with Ipad in hand for the countdown, suddenly a ball of fire was going up up up. I watched it until that burned out. Then poof another light show and slowly it went out of sight.”

“We could see it very small with the naked eye from Old Fields, W.Va.,” said Rita Walker. “We could see it a little better and the red and blue flashes with binoculars. We were very excited to have been able to see it at all.”

But none were so lucky as Brett and Joanne Schoeberl who sat in the VIP section for the launch. “NASA has people who use Twitter, Facebook and other social media online attend all different functions around the country called Tweet Ups,” said Brett Schoeberl. “They show you the inside workings of what is going on at that location and then you get to see it in a VIP area.”

Their names were selected through a drawing. “Wallops Flight Facility’s Facebook page had announced it back in mid-July,” Schoeberl said. “You apply with what social media you use and they have a drawing from the thousands who apply and select 50 people or so to attend.” Then the chosen “go through a background/security check and if approved you’re off to a great show.”

“What an amazing amount of work went into putting on a good show for us,” he continued. “Got to meet a lot of the NASA bigwigs from DC to California, a couple of astronauts, the heads of all the groups involved in the launch and some of the people who built LADEE. The ones who built it had dinner at the Village (on Chincoteague) on Thursday night and our group did too. So while waiting for dinner they were over at our table talking to us.”

Andrea Walker said she “watched it from my yard here on Chincoteague Island!! It was such a beautiful and amazing site!! Then I was able to call home (to) share my excitement and send pictures to my family in West Virginia. I’m honored to have witnessed a piece of history and have been so close to the launch.”

Michel Swartz of the Mt. Washington area of Pikesville, Md., near Baltimore, “saw the rocket clear as a bell. Could see it for 45 seconds to a minute. Was surprised how big it looked from this far away.” Swartz said he was in his front yard. “Had to use a compass to find the southeast sky … I was very surprised how easy it was to see.”

Jim Mutchler watched from Forest, Va., just west of Lynchburg. “It was awesome. I asked my son-in-law to try to find the countdown on his phone and he answered with, ‘Why, there it is,’ and I looked up and there was a red and yellow glow in the sky to the east of us.”

“At launch, it lit up the southern horizon before we were able to see the rocket’s plume,” said Jeffrey Green. “We were able to see Stage 1 and Stage 2 separation and Stage 3 ignition all the way to Stage 3 burnout when it finally went out of sight. A total of four minutes viewing time, all with the naked eye from our upstairs bedroom window, 90 miles away in Felton, Del. It was an awesome sight to see and Mother Nature provided us with the clearest skies we could have ever asked for. Great job NASA, Orbital Sciences Corp. and the LADEE team. You guys do good work!” he added.

A launch party was had at Island House Restaurant in Wachapreague. “We did have quite a crowd on the deck watching it,” Manager Debbie Shrieves reported.

“Perfect view.” She said the public has been invited to come every time there is a rocket blast. “Thought it was great. For that to happen here on the Shore was great.”

The next launch is set for 11:16 a.m. Sept. 17 and will be the Antares demonstration mission to the International Space Station by Orbital Sciences at the Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport Pad.

The LADEE mission was funded by NASA’s Science Mission Directorate in Washington, D.C. at a cost $280 million.
Mockingbird Weekend Fast Approaching

Do you know this man or what he’s carrying? If you know — or want to know — you should check out To Kill a Mockingbird and Southern Culture in Onancock on Sept. 28, an all-day event where you can find out more about the photograph. You also can meet Scout! Mary Badham, the woman who was nominated for an Academy Award for her portrayal of Scout in the classic movie with Gregory Peck, will be in town for the event.

On that Saturday in Onancock, sessions will include book-club-like meetings in some classic Eastern Shore home libraries where readers can discuss the novel, a real old-style Southern lunch, a free panel discussion about life on the Eastern Shore during Jim Crow and the Great Depression, a session for teachers, two showings of the movie (including one especially for students), and free readings from the book as performed by local actors from Onancock’s North Street Playhouse.

The photograph? It is among some two dozen that the Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society has lent to the Mockingbird event to help explore what the Shore and its people were like during the period covered by the novel. The photographs are from the extensive collection of Dr. John Robertson, who practiced medicine on the Shore for nearly seven decades of the 1900s.

Some of the photographs at the Mockingbird event have captions and some of the people in those photographs have been identified. But many are unknown. Organizers are hoping visitors can fill in the blanks. You can find the photographs at the Mockingbird website, and they also will be available at the Sept. 28 event.

You must register to attend even the free activities. The sessions are filling up and will be closed once maximum capacities are reached.

The event is sponsored by The Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society and funded in part by a grant from Virginia Foundation for the Humanities.

For details, check out the website (www.shorehistory.org/mockingbird), email mockingbird@shorehistory.org or call 787-8393.

Accomack Sheriff’s Office

More arrests were made late last week in connection with the Aug. 28 fatal home invasion on Marsh Market Road near Sanford, according to Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin.

Leon O’Bryan Crippen, 22, of Chesser Road in Temperanceville was charged Sept. 5 with armed burglary, robbery and use of a firearm in a robbery.

According to records filed in Accomack General District Court, the incident occurred at the home of Tyler Williams and Crippen “turned himself in (and) was cooperative with officers.”

Titus Lysander Floyd Jr., 20, of Lankford Highway in Mappville was charged Sept. 6 with armed burglary and robbery. He also was charged with a misdemeanor count of “possession of a machete or a weapon with an exposed blade 12 inches or longer with the intent of intimidating Tyler Williams,” according to court records.

Both suspects are being held in Accomack County Jail with bond denied. A third suspect, Lamesha Cropper, 26, of Salisbury, Md., was shot during the incident and arrested Sept. 4 after being released from Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury. She is charged with the same counts as Crippen. A preliminary hearing is set for late October.

Soon after the invasion was reported, police found Cropper and a deceased suspect in a vehicle at a Temperanceville convenience store. Master Caine Wesley Jr., 23, of Nelsonia died from gunshot wounds to the torso, according to a spokesperson for the Medical Examiner’s Office in Norfolk.

Relatives of Williams say he fired the shots to protect himself. Police have not identified other people who were at the Sanford house that night.

Eastern Shore Drug Task Force is assisting in the investigation.

Accomack Circuit Court

A Guatemala native was sentenced last week in Accomack Circuit Court to 10 years in prison for carnal knowledge of a child between 13 and 15 years old in July 2012. Most of the term was suspended. Miguel Tecun-Xomil, also known as Miguel Tecun Chumil, 27, of McComas Drive in Parksley was ordered to serve one year and three months.

Devin L. Strand, 21, of Harborton Road pleaded guilty to stealing a bank note at Wood Forest Bank in Onley Sept. 7, 2012. Records state $1,200 was illegally withdrawn from the account of Dwayne Holden. Strand initially was indicted on a felony count of identity theft, but the charge was amended to a misdemeanor. A presentence report was ordered. Strand was released on existing bond.

Daniel Gregg, 24, of Tuskegee, Ala., was given a five-year suspended sentence for felony shoplifting at Walmart Jan. 3.

Steven Szymankiewicz, 26, of Mears Station Road in Mears was sentenced for assault and battery of a police officer to four years, with all but eight months suspended. He was remanded to jail. A misdemeanor count of possession of marijuana was not prosecuted.

Keisha N. Merritt, 26, of Main Street in Melfa pleaded guilty to three counts of burglary and five counts of grand larceny. Merritt was sentenced to five years each, to run concurrently, with all but time served suspended. Restitution of $5,376.29 was ordered. The incidents occurred between October 2012 and January 2013 and involved property belonging to Colona Industries, Sturgis Farms and Bundick Well & Pump.

Daryl Demtrice Davis, 30, of Leroy Lane in Painter was convicted of distribution of cocaine. A presentence report was ordered. Davis was released on existing bond.

Northampton District Court

An Accomack man is accused of abduction, assault and destruction of property in connection with an incident involving his former girlfriend earlier this month, according to records filed in Northampton General District Court.

Christopher John Ashton, 33, of Boggs Road in Painter was arrested on Sept. 4 when the alleged crimes occurred. Bail was set at $7,500.

Deputy Jay Bell wrote in court documents that he and two other units arrived at the scene near Eastville to find Ashton standing in front of a white SUV, “not allowing a female to leave the property.” Once they got him to step to the side of the road, the woman was able make a report. She told police Ashton assaulted her, according to the record. She managed to get away from him by getting in her vehicle. “At some point Chris was on her hood and struck her windshield with his hand and broke the glass,” Bell wrote. Then he wouldn’t let her leave the area.

A “bad break-up” led to this episode, an application for bond noted. “Remorseful young man very upset with self over this incident. Professes innocence relating to abduction charge, but professes remorse for scaring the victim.”

In another case, Tanisha Renee Hamsley, 28, of Peach Street in Cape Charles was charged with felony hit and run and driving on a suspended license, which is a misdemeanor. The incident allegedly occurred on Aug. 24. She was arrested Sept. 8. State Police Trooper B. Kennedy investigated.

A $1,500 secured bond was set.

Exmore Town Manager of 6 Months Leaves

By Ron West

Exmore Town Council gave a vote of thanks this week to outgoing Town Manager Zeke Jackson, who is leaving the Eastern Shore and heading north to upstate Wisconsin.

Jackson, who became town manager in February, announced earlier in the summer that he would be leaving the position. Jackson replaced Arthur Miles, who had served as interim town manager and zoning official for over two years.

A replacement for Jackson is expected to be on the job within the next few weeks pending completion of security checks.

Police Chief Angelo DiMartino reported that two officers would be leaving the department and joining the Northampton County Sheriff’s Department in coming weeks.

Council agreed to a resolution to demolish the former Center Chevrolet building that is adjacent to Town Hall. The building has been empty for a number of years and has fallen into disrepair.

In a related area, former Councilman Dave Scanlan noted that the owner of a railroad caboose has offered to donate it to the Railroad Museum at the foot of Bank Street and pay the cost of moving it. The caboose is reported to be the last wooden caboose built in America.

Council discussed proposed fee increases for public utilities provided by the town. The proposed water fee would go from a minimum of $16.50 to $19.50 per month for the first 1,000 gallons, with a 25¢-per-gallon fee for usage from 1,001 to 10,000 gallons. Usage above 10,001 gallons would be 45¢ per gallon. The trash pick-up fee would be $13.50 with an additional $8 fee for each additional can. A public hearing on the proposed fees is slated for 6 p.m. Oct. 7.

IMPACTS OF VIRGINIA RECRUITING, RETAINING, AND TRAINING THE WORKFORCE SOLUTIONS
Gene Charles Trent, 74, of Accomac went to be with the Lord on Tuesday, Sept. 4, 2013, after a long battle with Alzheimer's Disease.

Born in Parksley to the late Edward and Undine Trent, he attended Accomac County Public Schools and graduated from Mary N. Smith High School in 1956. Mr. Trent attended North Carolina A&T State University, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in history in 1960. Mr. Trent returned to the Shore and taught for two years in Accomac Public Schools. He then volunteered to serve in the U.S. Army.

After an honorable discharge in 1964, Mr. Trent remained in the Army Reserves until 1968. He taught at South Accomac Elementary School and later was a guidance counselor at North Accomac Elementary School. While at South Accomac, he met the love of his life, Agnes Williams; they married in 1968.

Most vehicles start out with a “new car smell,” but there are other specific odors that motorists should never ignore. Identifying these suspect smells early can help car owners avoid the hassle and expense of an unexpected breakdown, says the Car Care Council.

“Unusual smells can be the sign of serious, and potentially costly, trouble for your vehicle. By acting quickly and making necessary repairs, you’ll be able to breathe easy knowing there is no harmful damage to your car,” said Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council.

The Car Care Council recommends a sniff test of your vehicle to identify any unusual smells, including the following six warning signs:

1. The smell of burnt rubber could be slipping drive belts or misplaced loose hoses that might be rubbing against rotating accessory drive pulleys. Do not reach in if the engine compartment is hot.

2. The smell of hot oil could mean that oil is leaking onto the exhaust system. Look for oil on the pavement or smoke coming from the engine area.

3. The smell of gasoline is likely the sign of a gas leak in some area of the vehicle such as a fuel injector line or the fuel tank. Any smell of fuel can result in a fire hazard, so immediate attention should be given.

4. The sweet smell of syrup may be a sign that your car is leaking engine coolant from a component related to the car’s cooling system. Do not open the radiator cap when it is hot.

5. The smell of burning carpet could be a sign of brake trouble and a safety hazard. Have your brakes checked right away, especially if this smell happens during normal driving conditions.

6. The smell of rotten eggs is never good and, if you smell it coming from your vehicle, it could mean a problem with your catalytic converter not converting the hydrogen sulfide in the exhaust to sulfur dioxide properly. This smell also can be attributed to a poorly running engine, causing the catalytic converter to become overloaded and fail due to meltdown.
You’re Never Too Old for Flights of Fancy

This week it was a hang gliding expedition on the Shore. Where else could she literally throw caution to the wind and see breathtaking views of both the Atlantic Ocean and the Chesapeake Bay? “It was lovely,” she reported after the experience. “It was fun.”

Nine other “kids” (as she called them), the youngest of whom was 76 and all from the retirement community of Westminster Canterbury (Chesapeake Bay) in Virginia Beach, joined her for the adventure. Several applauded Quesenberry after her 10-minute excursion. She dutifully bowed for her audience.

“I used to date a stunt pilot when I was in college,” Quesenberry said, explaining that she doesn’t think her last name is an actual fruit. “But, I’m very sweet.” The witty woman didn’t marry that young man. She described her late husband as a “daredevil” and a master diver who was always finding something new for them to try, so she’s continuing the tradition.

Another woman in the group inquired if Quesenberry asked her son if she could make the recent trip. “I told him I was going,” she said, amused that he had never been hang gliding.

“We went all over the world scuba diving,” she said of her married life. Her husband had an island named after him in the Maldives. “The captain found out it didn’t have a name, so he put it on the chart,” Quesenberry added. It was designated as “Bill’s Island.”

“We flew tiny planes into tiny places in Indonesia,” she said. “Elephants would back up to take you off.”

In Jamaica, flying on a glider didn’t include the ultra light plane that Bill McCarter and tandem pilot Donnie “Freeman Coyote” Guynn of Virginia Hang Gliding use in Melfa. Quesenberry said that on that Caribbean island, she had to run down the beach until liftoff while two men urged her to “Run, Madam, run.” She was dropped into the nearby water and was then told “Swim, Madam, swim.” This trip was much easier.

Hang gliding at Melfa includes a 35-mile-per-hour tow ride by McCarter. The company’s website deems him a “commercial pilot, tow pilot, hang glider pilot and just one heck of a nice guy. And yeah, he’s been flying since dirt was invented.” The glider goes about 22 mph and is piloted by Guynn.

Tournament Honors Those Who Wore Badges

Pay tribute to those who have protected and defended us in a worthy cause.

The 15th Annual Trooper Troy D. Ashe Memorial Police Pistol Tournament, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 12, at 9 a.m., honors four officers who died in the line of duty. The event will be hosted by Eastern Shore Safaris Hunting and Fishing Lodge located at 6276 Sturgis House Dr. in Jamesville.

Ashe was a trooper with the Virginia State Police and was assigned to help the community. When he was killed in an off-duty accident in 1999 while helping friends, he left behind a wife and two young children. Many local law enforcement officers decided to establish a fundraiser to help with the Ashe children’s education. Thus, the Trooper Troy D. Ashe Memorial Police Pistol Tournament was established.

The tournament welcomes families interested in a fun, safe, family-oriented event with good food and fellowship. Qualified firearms instructors will be on the range to ensure the safety of all participants as well as observers. A $20 entry fee will provide entrants with a T-shirt for the event, a target for the pistol-shooting competition, a door-prize ticket, entry to the silent auction and lunch.

An additional $20 fee is charged for those interested in the sporting-clays competition and an additional $15 will be charged for anyone interested in competing in the Campbell Cup Challenge. Children 12 and under are free. If you just wish to enjoy the day, there’s a $10 fee for which you will receive a door-prize ticket, entry to the silent auction and lunch.

Through the years, there has been gracious support from the community to provide many different items for the silent auctions. They have ranged from fishing rods and haircuts to handmade pie cabinets and boating trips.

The Daryl and Drew Campbell Scholarship fund was established in honor of Daryl and Drew Campbell. Daryl Campbell also was a trooper with the Virginia State Police who was assigned to Northampton County but had been called to duty with the National Guard. In June of 2003, he was on leave with the National Guard to celebrate his son’s birthday when their lives were taken at the hands of a drunk driver.

The scholarship fund was established to help further local youth’s education. Each year, three scholarships are awarded to local high-school graduates. Also in 2003, the local Law Enforcement Relief Fund was established to help local law-enforcement families in times of tragedy. Through the years, the fund has helped during times of hardship, including devastating home fires, life-saving surgeries, the death of loved ones, and sickness and injuries resulting from an accident.

Tommy Carpenter, police chief in Parksley and an officer who worked with all four men honored in the tournament, is this year’s chairman.

“Many people work behind the scenes to make this event a success and honor those who have served,” said Carpenter. “The funds also do much good in the community for those who are affected by hardship.”

When Exmore Mayor Guy Lawson, also a firefighter, and Chief Steve Elliott were lost in separate automobile accidents, the tournament committee also lost two individuals who dedicated a lot of time and passion for this event. Their love and commitment for this event inspired the people who served on the committee to donate countless hours and personal funds toward keeping this once-a-year event alive and prospering.

The Guy Lawson Memorial Youth BB Gun Tournament was added. Youngsters will have the opportunity to compete in a special class using BB guns supplied by tournament officials.

The Chief Steve Elliott Memorial Sporting Clays has become a fun and competitive event utilizing Eastern Shore Safaris’ sporting-clay range.

Throughout the day, many different events will take place. The silent auction, pistol-shooting competition and sporting-clays competition will be ongoing throughout the day.

The Troy Ashe Memorial Pistol Tournament is a 50-round course with both civilian and law-enforcement divisions. Teams and individual shooters will compete. The entrants in the individual, police, and civilian adult events will use their own duty-style weapons and ammunition.

Entrants in the Chief Steve Elliott Memorial Sporting Clays events will use their own shotguns, but will be provided with 12-gauge shotgun shells and clay targets.

The Campbell Cup Challenge is a separate 50-round course with civilian and law-enforcement divisions who are shooting for the highest score in the same division.

Trophies will be awarded for individual and team events. A traveling trophy will be awarded for the winning law-enforcement team, while the permanent trophy may be viewed at the Eastern Shore Chamber of Commerce office in Melfa.

The tournament committee will be setting up for the event on Friday, Oct. 11, and would welcome volunteers wishing to help.

Those who would like to support the tournament other than by competing, may donate items for the auction, food or paper products for the meal, or their time to help.

For additional information about the tournament or scholarship opportunities, call 757-710-3950 or visit the tournament website at www.troyashemtp.com

Reds on Seaside, Bayside; Onancock Bay Challenge Sept. 21

Redfish — most in the 24-inch range — are appearing in the seaside inlets in large numbers, according to Ron Greasor of Don’s Tackle Shop on Wachapreague Road.

Greasor says fish are being caught on the flats around any weedy or oyster bars, and around marsh tumps with 3-4” paddle tails, ZMan or Bass Assassins.

Flounder fishing has been fair with fish scattered in different depths, but concentrating on ledges.

Flounder fishing on the inshore wrecks and reefs in the ocean is red hot. Capt. Gary Rilee had six limits on one charter this week, with most fish over 5 pounds.

Norfolk Canyon still has numbers of bigeye tuna available, with some football yellowfins and mahi, and a tremendous bite on white marlin.

Youths 16 and under are eligible to fish for free in the Bay Challenge, while there is a $20 entry fee for adults. Official rules and entry forms are available at the Onancock Harbormaster’s Office, Don’s Tackle Shop, Sandpiper Marine, Sea Hawk Sports Center, and Capt. Steve’s Bait and Tackle.

Nandua dropped to 1-1 with a 48-28 defeat to Franklin Friday night at the Warrior field.

“We ran up against a very good team and gave up some big plays,” said Nandua coach Chris Miles. “We need to fix the small things that need fixing and play better football down the road.”

Nandua met James Bennett of Salisbury last night after Post deadlines. The Warriors trailed 21-7 at halftime with hopes of getting back into the game, but a 77-yard return of the second half kickoff by Franklin’s Corey Porter took the air out of the Warriors’ hopes.

Nandua’s first-half touchdown came on an over-the-shoulder catch by Alex Pruitt from Tyreim Blake for a 20-yard score. Franklin’s quarterback, Laquadric Pittman, was 1 of 1 passing, and it was a 31-yard strike to Corey Porter for a touchdown.

The Broncos’ Marcus Stephens ran for 143 yards, including a 59-yard run for a touchdown.

“They had speed all over the field,” said Nandua coach Chris Miles, “but we have got to do a better job on defense.”

The Warrior defense was led by linebacker Alex Pruitt, who had 21 tackles, followed by safety Mahagee Wise with 16 and linebacker Montrae Armstrong with 11.

Nandua scored three times in the fourth quarter with Blake hitting Jakorah Parker for a 9-yard touchdown and Trevon Pitts for a 41-yard scoring strike. Blake, who handles most of the passing from the single-wing offense, was 6-of-7 for the night passing for 127 yards and three touchdowns.

Parker also had a 9-yard touchdown run in the final quarter as part of his team-leading 87 yards rushing on 16 carries.

David Wright was 4-of-4 on extra point attempts.

Next week, Nandua hosts Essex, rated among the top Group A teams in the state.

Jamar Jones of Nandua makes a nice gain before being stopped by a Franklin defender in Friday night action at Onley. The Warriors gave up too many big plays and suffered its first defeat, 48-28.

Arcadia Beaten by Central Sussex 50-6 in Road Loss

Arcadia faced its second perennial powerhouse on the road in week two of the season and was dealt a 50-6 loss to Central Sussex Friday night on the road.

“They always go deep in the playoffs and will likely be there again,” said Firebird coach Tony Nock about the opponent. “Their linebackers might be the best unit I have ever faced. They are quick to the ball and extremely physical.”

Nock added, “Despite the score, we played really well. Our guys never quit and gave it everything they had. Sussex was just too deep for us.”

Arcadia got on the board in the fourth quarter with a Taylor Major-to-Josh Sanns 37-yard scoring pass. Sanns started at quarterback but got banged up early, when Major started taking some snaps.

Tyler Major led the Firebird defense from his linebacking position with eight tackles. Jamaz Clark and Peter Rivera each had five, while John Wright collected four and Todd Mackavene and Leander Dickerson added three each.

Wright and Taylor Major recovered fumbles for the Firebirds.

Arcadia is off this week and is back on the road next weekend when they travel to Snow Hill, Md.

Jackets Lose 42-8 at Northumberland

Northampton fell to Northumberland 42-8 Friday night but got on the scoreboard for the first time this season with 65-yard pass from Dyshawn Beckett to Ryan Outten on a hitch-and-go pattern in the fourth quarter.

Northampton coach David Farlow said early injuries in his backfield hampered his offense, but he was proud of the effort from the undermanned Jackets.

“We are a small squad and can’t sustain any injuries, but when we do our guys step up and give their very best. I’m very proud of these young men who have committed themselves to Northampton football and to the school. They just don’t quit,” said Farlow.

Farlow said the defense was led by cornerback Jacob Smith and linebacker Austin Brady. On offense, Hakeem Berry and Solomon Owens are key players.

Northampton hosts West Point tonight for its home opener with the kickoff at 7 p.m.

Jackets Drop Volleyball Tilt

Northampton lost its season opener in volleyball to Norfolk Academy 3-0 by 25-12, 25-19 and 25-18 scores Friday.

Kennedy Webb had three aces, five assists and a block. Taylor Webb had two kills, five assists and a block. Whitney Metz had three kills with Angela Head adding two.

Broadwater Rockets Past Chincoteague 54-6

After leading 7-6 late in the first quarter, Broadwater turned on the after-burners and stormed to a 41-6 halftime lead over Chincoteague, eventually handling the Ponies 54-6 Friday night at the Pony field.

On a playing field where hundreds would gather after the game to watch the lunar space launch from Wallops, Broadwater launched its own offensive attack with four touchdowns over 25 yards.

“Our speed was a factor,” said Broadwater coach Noble Palmer. “Once we got outside the ends, we had the speed to get to the end zone. But Chincoteague deserves a lot of credit. They had a good game plan for us and came right back and scored after our first touchdown.”

After the Vikings were stopped on their first drive, Broadwater used a 15-yard pass from Ben Holland to Michael Riopel, a 33-yard run by Wesley Shrieves and a 12-yard run by Brandon Burrows to break a scoreless tie.

Chincoteague responded with its own touchdown drive, capped by a 27-yard run by Randy Bowden. “Bowden is a very tough runner and can take a hit,” said Palmer. “One player usually will not stop him.”

Broadwater’s next score was aided by the defensive side when Shrieves intercepted a pass and returned it 33 yards to the 15-yard line. Two plays later, Holland scored on a 4-yard touchdown run.

The second quarter was all Broadwater as Adam Bowen scammed for a 35-yard score, Holland hit Shrieves for 32 yards and a score, and Bowen added a 64-yard score.

On the defensive side, Burrows had a 10-yard touchdown on a blocked punt to give the Vikings their 41-6 lead.

Palmer praised his defensive coach and his efforts. “Everyone looks at our playmakers on offense, but the key to this team has been Coach Rick Barnes and his defense. He is extremely intelligent and understands the game so well. He always has a great game plan and is able to implement it with our players. We would not have gotten to the state championship game last year without his input.”

Broadwater inserted its subs in the second half and got a 7-yard scoring run from Kelly Reagen in the third quarter, and then backup quarterback Austin Murphy hit John Gordon for a 58-yard scoring strike.

Pony coach Nick Howard said his team was overmatched but played hard. “We played really well the first quarter, then their talent started to show. They have a great team,” said Howard. “This week I think we match up well with Hampton Christian, and hopefully this will get us on the right track.”

The Ponies travel to Hampton Christian tonight while Broadwater goes to Lynchburg tomorrow to play Virginia Episcopal School (3-0), a state champion last year in a higher division. Broadwater led VES last year at half, but was hurt by some long passing plays in the second half.

“We’ve got a chance to make a statement,” said Palmer. “But they are bigger and better than last year, so it will not be easy.”

Bowden led Broadwater with 136 yards on 10 carries and had two scores. Burrows had four carries for 56 yards and a touchdown. Riopel led the receivers with 3 catches for 29 yards. Shrieves had two catches for 38 yards and a touchdown. Gordon had one catch for 58 yards and a score.

Holland was 8 of 10 passing.

Bowden led the Ponies with 69 yards rushing. Maleak Cooper had five tackles to lead the Pony defense.

When I was much younger, I had a friend who liked to say, "If you can’t be sarcastic, I am a sarcastic."

Regardless, it all boils down to two things. People totally amaze me and if one tries hard enough he or she can find a twist to every encounter.

Here is a perfect example. A young woman approached me in the dairy section of the grocery store recently. She wanted to show her what a half-gallon container looks like. The woman was selecting milk. She had a list of items she needed to pick up and apparently had never been food shopping before. At least that is what is surmised.

Actually, if she hadn’t been so friendly, well dressed and groomed, pretty, seemingly happy and intelligent, I would have thought she’d dropped out of the sky. Why couldn’t she identify a half-gallon of milk? Yes, I was amazed. And I’ve thought about this a lot. It blew me away.

Did I try to spot telltale signs associated with extra-terrestrials that I learned from watching the old TV show, “The Outer Limits?” No, it all happened too fast. Still, I recall that she was as American as apple pie, a thought I also pondered.

I was surprised at her lack of embarrassment about asking for help with such a simple task. She announced her dilemma to all who were around. It was a Saturday and the aisle was full. Even more interesting to me was no one else seemed taken aback.

As a kid, I always went to the store with my mother and helped shop. I was there from the time I could be put into the cart seat. We usually bought our milk by the gallon, but sometimes if there were all gone we would get two half-gallons. We bought eggnog occasionally by the quart. We hardly ever had soda at our house. If we did, Mom got it by the can and poured a tiny bit into our glass of milk. It was quite good and kept us from getting evil sugar overload.

Anyway, I’ve been familiar with milk cartons for so long, I am astonished that someone else would be so uninformed.

After considering this for several weeks, all of a sudden I had the answer. The ice cream question came into play. Those half-gallon boxes aren’t 64 ounces anymore. We’re getting ripped off. Cheated out of the last couple of mouthfuls of enjoyment.

And if that isn’t bad enough, now I know this crime is causing generations of people to need help with basic math. Think about it. How can young people today identify measurements that are so far off the mark? Will their totals be equivalent to our lists? No way.

So what is the solution to this important problem? MORE ice cream and frozen yogurt!! Yippee! The companies that make these frozen treats need to go back to half-gallons.

And you were thinking “Linda Logic” was a load of baloney. Shame on you!
