Bloxom Wins Seat in House of Delegates

By Linda Cicoira

There’s a new delegate in Virginia’s 100th District. Republican Robert S. Bloxom Jr. won the greater part of the ballots cast in a special election Tuesday, emerging victorious in both Eastern Shore counties and overall carrying a 20 percent margin over Democrat Willie Randall.

Bloxom, who lives near Parksley, got 6,810 votes, about 60 percent, to Randall’s 4,473 in an unofficial tally. A total of 11,294 votes were cast, including 11 write-in ballots.

Bloxom, whose father held the post for years and was the state’s first Secretary of Agriculture, got about 65.5 percent of the votes in Accomack County (4,465) and 55.3 percent (1,527) in Northampton. Randall followed with 2,346 (34.43 percent) in Accomack and 1,234 (about 44.7 percent) in Northampton. In Norfolk, Randall came out ahead with nearly 52 percent (893 votes) and 47.6 percent (818) for Bloxom.

Immediately after the votes were counted, Virginia Republican Party Chairman Pat Mullins sent out this press release: “Let me be among the first to congratulate Delegate-elect Rob Bloxom on his overwhelming win tonight in House District 100. Rob is going to make a great addition to Speaker Howell’s growing caucus, and I look forward to working with him to advance our shared conservative values in the General Assembly ... tonight’s results are a rejection of expanding Obamacare through Medicaid. They are a rejection of increasing the minimum wage. They are a resounding rejection of the Obama-Warner-McAuliffe-Saslaw agenda.”

A breakdown of Accomack votes shows Bloxom with 77 percent on Chincoteague, nearly 83 percent in Atlantic, nearly 76 percent in Greenbackville, about 54 percent in Oak Hall, 81.5 percent in Bloxom, 80 percent in Parksley, 88.6 percent in Saxis, 55.4 percent in Mappsville, about 29 percent in Rue, 66.8 percent in Accomac, 94.4 percent on Tangier, 67.6 percent in Onancock, 66.56 percent in Onley,

Bicyclist Killed in Crash

By Linda Cicoira

A bicyclist died at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital Tuesday after being struck by a car near Onancock, according to State Police Sgt. Michelle Anaya.

Franklin Kellam Belote, 58, of the 17000 block of Cashville Road was riding his bicycle at the intersection of Savageville and Cashville roads when he was struck by a 2011 Hyundai Sonata traveling north on Savageville Road. Anaya said he died from injuries sustained from the crash.

He was the second person in Accomack County to die in a traffic accident in 2014.

Helen McDonaugh, 61, of the 15000 block of Broadway Road in Onancock was driving the car “when it swerved and struck” Belote. The incident was reported at about 11:25 a.m. She was charged with failure to observe marked lanes.

Anaya said McDonaugh was wearing her safety belt. Neither alcohol nor speed was a factor in the accident, the sergeant added. Trooper J.R. Carmody investigated.

According to the spokesperson for Eastern Shore 9-1-1 Center, Accomack Department of Public Safety and Onancock Volunteer Fire Department responded.

Agreement Smooths Way for Hospital Relocation

By Linda Cicoira

A water service agreement between the Town of Onancock and Accomack County was reached this week and will keep plans for the new Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital on schedule.

Onancock Town Council approved the pact “in principle” Monday evening and is waiting for final approval from its lawyer. Accomack supervisors unanimously approved the plan Wednesday night after getting an impromptu report from County Administrator Steve Miner and County Attorney Mark Taylor.

The town’s commitment is to permit connection for a supply line to be constructed and installed by the hospital. The medical center will have the right to connect any additional facilities owned by the hospital on its property. There will be no connection charges or additional fees. Miner said fees for the water service would be worked out between the town and Riverside.

In addition, Onancock will provide water to the county via the hospital supply line for resale to future water customers of the county.

County supervisors agreed to accept connection for a supply line to be constructed and installed by the hospital. Proposed Budget and Tax Increase

The supervisors also voted 8-1 to advertise a public hearing for their proposed $52 million fiscal 2014-15 budget, which is balanced with a 5-cent per $100 valuation real-estate rate increase. Supervisor Laura Belle Gordy was the only supervisor to vote against the proposal, saying she is against the rate hike. The hearing is set for 7 p.m. March 31 at Metompkin Elementary School.

Finance Director Mike Mason said the tax bill for a house valued at $200,000 would increase by about $21. The proposal includes a 2 percent one-time bonus for county employees and an increase of $193,000 over last year for county schools. Accomack’s School Board was hoping for another $56,000.

Drug Amendment

The supervisors also approved an emergency amendment to the county Drug Blight Ordinance that will require those convicted of manufacturing methamphetamine to pay lab cleanup costs.

“Whereas an alleged methamphetamine lab has recently been raided in Accomack County ... supervisors find that, where possible, the cost of cleanup of methamphetamine production sites should be borne by those found guilty of manufacturing the drug,” the resolution states.

If the county has to pay for the clean-up, it can attempt to get reimbursed at sentencing or in a civil action, with the amount not to exceed actual expenses incurred for “cleanup, removal or repair of the affected property, or the replacement cost of personal protective equipment used.”

The ordinance became effective upon adoption. Officials were unsure what it will cost or what will be involved in cleaning up the singlewide trailer that was raided late last week on Music Circle near Nelsonia.

Northampton Boards Fields Requests for Half-Million in New Personnel

By Ron West

The Northampton Board of Supervisors received a preliminary report Monday on the FY 2015 budget from County Finance Director Leslie Lewis.

With the bulk of the budget having been worked out, the difference between the proposed budget and this year’s spending package stands at just over $3 million.

Board Chairman Larry LeMond noted that the figures submitted for the FY 2015 budget represent requests rather than allocations.

Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Director Hollye Carpenter fielded a number of questions regarding requests for additional funding to provide EMS services in the county. Carpenter noted that with the move of Riverside Memorial Hospital to Accomack County, Northampton County paid and volunteer EMS services will be stretched to the point where it will become increasingly difficult to provide an adequate level of service.

Carpenter asked the board to consider adding four personnel to the EMS department. The EMS Department is seeking to relocate from a rented facility just south of Machipongo to the former Northampton Middle School less than one-half mile to the north. The move would include a major renovation to add bays to house EMS vehicles and living quarters for nighttime staff. To help provide space for training, some of the former classrooms would be converted to training rooms.

Supervisor Larry Trala suggested the three existing stations could be used to house the county’s EMS program.

Supervisor Granville Hogg stated that he wanted to hear from the volunteers to get a better picture of their side of the issue. Hogg represents the Board on the Fire and Rescue Commission and noted that he will be meeting with that group in the near future.

Prior to concluding the discussion on EMS personnel, the board voted 3 to 2 (Supervisors Hogg and Bennett voting no) to immediately add one EMS position to the Cape Charles Rescue facility. Both Hogg and Bennett noted that they are not against providing personnel, but want to get a better picture of the issue by meeting with volunteer EMS personnel before committing tax funds.

Lewis stated that some other county departments also are requesting additional personnel. The Treasurer’s Department is requesting one part-time person to help with the twice-a-year billing that will occur beginning in 2015. The twice-a-year billing was to have begun this year but problems associated with replacing software resulted in the board voting to delay the move until next year.

The Electoral Board and the Parks and Recreation Department have asked that a part time employee in each department be moved to full-time status. Animal Control has asked for an additional position. Facilities Management is asking to promote one part-time employee to full-time and in exchange to reduce some of the overtime that is currently needed to get the work accomplished. A final request was made for part-time help to assist during the 2014 real-estate reassessment.

Approval of all of the personnel requests would add approximately $500,000 to the FY 2015 budget.

County Administration and County Planning and Zoning are reducing their office staffs by not filling two positions that were left vacant when two staff members retired or left for employment elsewhere, thus saving an estimated $90,000.

A public hearing on the FY 2015 budget will be held later in the spring.

“I am going to be applying for the (permanent) position,” she added. Hall was among the applicants when Benson was hired.

The board is working with the recruiting firm Hazard, Young, Attea and Associates in its search. The group, which has offices in Illinois, California and New Jersey, has invited to meet with the public Monday, March 3, at Arcadia Middle School or Nandua Middle School at 7 p.m. There will be a consultant at both locations. They are seeking suggestions and ideas for qualifications and characteristics for the new superintendent.

“Dr. Hall is the logical choice” for the interim post, said board Chairman Dr. Ronnie Holden. “She has the experience and is very knowledgeable of current work. … We have so many positive, exciting efforts underway. I am confident she will help us stay on our current path.”

“Knowing now who will be providing leadership in the interim will allow for a smooth transition,” said Benson. “I am thankful that the board made the decision.” He will be working with the School Board and Hall to develop and implement an exit transition plan, officials said.

A leadership profile survey can be taken through March 5 by visiting the website www.accomack.k12.va.us. The profile will be presented to the board on March 11. In March and April, the board will recruit and screen candidates. In April and May those on the “short list” are scheduled to be interviewed, with an announcement of the board’s pick coming in late May.

Accomack Circuit Court

Robert Gene Cherrix, 51, of Chincoteague was sentenced last week in Accomack Circuit Court to 10 years each for distribution of Percocet as an accommodation on June 5, 2012, and distribution of cocaine as an accommodation on May 6, 2011. All but three years and two months was suspended. Cherrix also was found in violation of probation regarding a conviction for cocaine possession. Judge W. Revell Lewis III reinstated a term of four years and nine months that was previously suspended for that crime.

Timothy Taylor, 34, of Kirk Street on Saxis was sentenced for a third or subsequent count of assault and battery of a family member to five years, with all but 4½ months suspended. The case involved a juvenile.

Larry Goffney Jr., 46, of Mount Nebo Road near Onancock was given five years for obtaining money by false pretenses from Jeff Doughty’s Market in Melfa on May 11, 2011, when he cashed a canceled check for $1,266. All but four months was suspended.

David James Tull, 32, of Oxford Street in Pocomoke, Md., was sentenced to five years each for two counts of embezzlement and 12 months for a misdemeanor embezzlement charge. All terms were suspended. He must pay $3,455 in restitution. The crimes occurred against Asplundh Tree Expert Company between May 1 and Nov. 30, 2011.

On the condition she complete a diversion program, Thomasina Marie Capers, 42, of Greta Road in Atlantic was given a five-year suspended sentence for possession of cocaine on Nov. 4, 2012. Capers also was sentenced for possession of marijuana to 30 days, with 20 suspended; for driving on a suspended license to 12 months, with all but 30 days suspended; and for reckless driving to three months, with all but 10 days suspended. Her driver’s license was suspended for 60 days.

Ashley Joy Warrington, 30, of New Church pleaded guilty to two counts of distributing cocaine and possession of marijuana. Three other cocaine distribution charges were not prosecuted. Restitution of $260 and a presentence report were ordered.

Calvin Nathaniel Nock Jr., 36, of Boston Road in Painter pleaded guilty to hit and run and driving on a suspended license, occurring June 11, 2013. A count of failure to maintain control was not prosecuted. The case was continued pending completion of a presentence report. Nock was released on bond.

Northampton Circuit Court

A presentence report was ordered for Troy Earnest Moses, 43, of Painter, who pleaded guilty in Northampton Circuit Court to a third offense of larceny, which is a felony. The crime occurred Nov. 12, 2013, at Dollar General in Exmore.

Charles Edward Bailey, 65, of Cheriton pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine, possession of marijuana and obstruction of justice, occurring in August 2013. A presentence report was ordered.

Accomack District Court

Judge Gordon Vincent denied bond Monday in Accomack General District Court for a mother charged with manufacturing crystal meth at the Nelson area home where she lived with her husband and their three young children.

Vincent said he made the decision about Joanna Marie Strickland, 25, formerly of Music Circle, because he feared she would be a danger to the community and her children. County deputies took her back to Accomack Jail.

At times, William Allen Williams, 26, was referred to as Strickland’s boyfriend. Court records indicate he is her husband. A local official said Williams was the ringleader in the alleged meth crimes. He also is being held without bond in the county jail. A bond hearing has not been set for him.

The county condemned the trailer where Strickland and Williams lived. Strickland wanted to be released to stay with her mother, who resides in Accomack County. Cathy Strickland testified her daughter is welcome there.

“She very much desires to get bond to care for her children,” said defense lawyer Paul Watson. She’s “not a flight risk at all.”

But Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney J. Spencer Morgan was against the motion for bond. Morgan and Cathy Strickland said the children are in Delaware with their paternal grandparents.

Jail is the best place for Strickland right now, said the prosecutor. He mentioned the toxic substances involved in making methamphetamines and the risk to children from exposure to it.

The three girls were “decontaminated” by a haz-mat team and taken to the local hospital for evaluation. Authorities said they did not appear to be injured. The trailer, which is owned by Henry Johnson, must be cleaned to meet state and federal guidelines before it can be lived in. Deputy Commonwealth’s Attorney Matthew Brenner said it will probably be cleaned and then discarded.

Joanna Strickland said court records stating that she listed her finances as “income from husband making meth” are false. She denied knowing that Williams was making the drug. He told the magistrate he uses meth daily “and … has a problem.”

The couple is alleged to have been using their home to “cook” methamphetamine or “crystal meth” by mixing amphetamines with battery acid, drain cleaner, lantern fuel and/or antifreeze in a toxic and highly flammable laboratory. Police say they believe this to be the first “meth lab” investigation involving a resident of Accomack County.

Both are charged with three counts of allowing a minor to be present during the manufacture of methamphetamines, one count of conspiring to make the drug and one count of producing it.

Bond was set for two others charged in the case. Victor Manuel Garced Jr., 29, and Christian Hope Hemphill, 23, lived in Lankford Highway not far from Strickland and Williams. They are charged with conspiracy to sell methamphetamine. Secured bond was set at $20,000 for Garced and $10,000 for Hemphill.

On Monday, Judge Gordon Vincent certified to the Grand Jury charges of shooting at an occupied dwelling, shooting from a vehicle and possession of a firearm by a felon against Tyvon (Teddy) Smith, 21, of Diamond Springs Boulevard near Parksley and Jaquan (Buck) Cortez Portier, 22, formerly of Oak Hall. The two are charged with shooting at a Rolling Acres house, causing the family within to drop to the floor and take cover last November.

No one was injured in the incident, but a bullet came through a wall and the living room couch and was later found on the kitchen floor.

A woman identified as Smith’s former girlfriend testified that she was riding in the back seat of a car between the two defendants and two other women were in the front seat.

She said they had gone to visit the witness’ cousin, who was not home, were leaving the area and “when we got to the stop sign, they started shooting.” Smith rolled down his window and opened fire with a “short gun” while Portier opened his door and leaned over the car with a long gun and did the same, she said, adding, “They didn’t say nothing.”

Smith’s lawyer, Patrick Robbins, argued that they “fired up in the air.” He contended that the charges were not proven.

Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney Matthew Brenner said, “Lives may have been put in peril. Any shooter outside wouldn’t have known where anyone was inside the house.”

Portier was on probation when the incident occurred.

Smith and Portier were taken back to the Accomack Jail where they are being held without bond.

Everything changes. But in the criminal case involving the beating and shooting death of Jesse Leon Jordan of Cape Charles in April 2013, things have changed repeatedly.

Devon Thomas Blake, 32, of Beacon Road in Melfa originally was thought to be the top culprit in the Jordan crimes. Those charges were reduced and he now is awaiting sentencing on related misdemeanor counts of assault and battery and assault and battery by a mob.

He is free on $10,000 bond.

Blake is also out on a second bond after allegedly violating the bond that allowed him to possess a firearm.

Blake’s initial bond prohibited him from possessing a firearm. When he pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor counts, he was again allowed free on that existing bond. But a few days later, because he wanted to be able to protect himself and he had not been convicted of a felony, his right to bear arms was given back to him.

Then on Feb. 16, he allegedly concealed the gun and possessed marijuana. Conviction on the drug charge would violate his initial $10,000 bond from Northampton. The magistrate gave a $1,000 bond in Accomack for the new charges.

According to court records, Blake...
A couple of weeks into the 2014 General Assembly, I want to report on the status of one of the most contentious issues we will face: Medicaid or healthcare expansion.

This is a complex and important issue with many ramifications for Virginians. People often confuse Virginia’s decision on Medicaid expansion with approval of the Affordable Care Act (“Obamacare”), which was passed by the U.S. Congress in 2010. As a state legislature, we have not, nor will we, vote to approve or disapprove “Obamacare.” This is a federal law. What it did provide for, at first, was the mandatory expansion of Medicaid programs in our states, which the Supreme Court decided could not be mandatory, but must be decided by each state. So far, 26 states, with Democratic and Republican governors and legislatures have expanded their Medicaid programs.

After much consideration and thought, legislators in Virginia from both parties have concluded that it is in the best interests of Virginia. The Virginia Senate has chosen a different route, however, called “Marketplace Virginia,” which relies on private insurance as opposed to the existing Medicaid program. Marketplace Virginia is a Virginia solution to the issue that also requires reforms and behavior incentives while relying on private insurance and not our Medicaid system to provide coverage. The plan was developed by Virginia U.S. Sen. John Watkins, a Republican from Chesterfield. It was included in the Senate budget that passed out of the Finance Committee on a bi-partisan vote. It has passed the full Senate and will be the centerpiece of budget negotiations.

As state legislators, we cannot argue or debate federal law. Rather, we have to figure out what is the best course for our commonwealth on the playing field on which we find ourselves. That analysis has led many people, including the Virginia Chamber of Commerce, to conclude that Medicaid expansion or a version of it is in the best interests of Virginia. Virginians are going to pay mandatory federal taxes and fees under the Affordable Care Act amounting to an estimated 1.7 billion per year. Should Virginia choose to not expand its health coverage, those taxes and fees go to Washington with no benefit to Virginia. The important thing to remember is that no matter what, those federal taxes on Virginians continue.

The State Chamber of Commerce estimates that expanding health care coverage will create over 30,000 new jobs. It also estimates that it will result in holding steady private insurance premiums, deductibles and co-pays, since part of the cost of those items is the result of hospitals and other providers charging insurers more to offset the cost of providing care to the uninsured. Sending people into a managed care system will reduce greatly the use of our hospital emergency rooms as primary portals of healthcare and will get people into treatment at the appropriate place with the appropriate treatment, thereby further reducing the overall cost of healthcare.

Price Waterhouse accounting firm, the Medicaid Actuary for Virginia, recently reported that expansion would result in a savings to the commonwealth of a billion dollars over the next 10 years. In addition, many of our hospitals would face significant financial stress, which they have called a “fiscal cliff,” by 2017 because of reductions by the federal government for charitable care, i.e., medical care administered to the uninsured primarily by emergency rooms, also by a reduction in Medicare reimbursements, all of which are being made by federal law which anticipated states electing to expand their Medicaid program.

Our own local hospital faces financial challenge without some form of health care expansion. There is no requirement that should the federal government renege on its funding obligation, the expansion will continue. If the federal funding commitment disappears, Marketplace Virginia expressly provides that the program disappears as well.

If we begin to allow politics to overtake common sense, we become Washington and not Virginia. Marketplace Virginia will be a topic of considerable discussion in the weeks ahead and hopefully, will be improved by that process.

Painter Fire Destroys Home

Four companies responded to a suspicious blaze at a residence near Painter early Thursday morning, according to Chief William Campbell of Painter Volunteer Fire Company.

Painter, Onancock, Melfa and Exmore fire companies were alerted at about 5:25 a.m. to the fire at 15490 Ethel Ln. Campbell said it was a difficult fire to battle since the structure was originally a doublewide trailer that was altered to look like a wood-frame building. Firefighters soon learned there was a metal roof under the outer one.

There were no injuries. Campbell said at first the couple who lived there complained that they were inside when someone set fire to the structure. They later told police they were not home when the fire began, the chief added.

Because of the arson complaint, State Police investigators were called.

Cheriton Will Reconsider Annexation Request

Cheriton Town Council agreed Wednesday to re-evaluate its request to Northampton County for a boundary line adjustment.

For a number of years, council has sought ways to enhance business opportunities in the town. Council had hoped that expanding the town’s borders might attract additional businesses to the area. Members made a presentation to the Northampton County Board of Supervisors requesting that the town’s property lines be extended to the south and west to an area near the Cape Charles traffic signal, as well as approximately a mile to the north of its current boundary.

The supervisors subsequently told council that the town would need to provide additional justification for the request, as well as an explanation as to how it would fund any needed infrastructure.

Northampton County Supervisor Larry LeMond, who represents the Cheriton area, suggested that the town review its request for the boundary line adjustment and provide a plan of action regarding the questions raised by the board. Council agreed to take another look at the request at a work session in March.

Council members were reminded by Town Clerk Stacy Sparrow to complete their applications to run for council elections in May. The deadline for applications to be on file is March 4.

At last week’s meeting of Cape Charles Town Council, Mayor Dora Sullivan commended residents who recently came to the aid of people in trouble on two separate occasions.

During the last week of January, an individual had the misfortune of falling off a dock at King’s Creek Marina into bone-chilling water, unable to climb out. Neil Lessard and Carol Habel sprang into action and helped the victim from the water. He was cold and numb from the onset of hypothermia and unable to walk when Cape Charles Police Chief Jim Pruitt arrived and hoisted him over his shoulder, carrying him up to a waiting golf cart, which took him to the marina’s bait shop, where he was warmed.

In a letter to Sullivan, Habel spoke of the invaluable help provided by Pruitt. Sullivan noted that the combined efforts of all three individuals made the difference in an event that could have become a tragedy. The three stayed with the victim, awaiting the arrival of an ambulance.

The same week, town employee Mike Mullner, who was making his daily rounds, happened upon a female assault victim. Disregarding his own safety, Mullner remained with the victim to protect her from possible additional injury from her attacker and called police and emergency responders to the scene.

Also at last week’s session, local residents spoke of the value of New Roots Youth Garden. Tammy Holloway noted that the children who planted, cultivated, and harvested the vegetables learned work ethics in addition to having fresh home-grown food.

Brook Thomas reported that the organization took in $10,800 from sales and donations, while incurring expenses of $8,882 for the past year. Holloway reported that one of the largest costs associated with the garden was $700 to pay for having the grass cut. She asked Town Council for its support in having town employees help with this task.

The gardeners also would like to see two more picnic tables in the fenced area.

Coming on April 27 is the fourth annual “Blessing of the Worms,” marking the beginning of the spring season.

Council voted 4-0 (Councilmen Frank Wendell and Steve Bennett absent) to authorize the town manager to execute an agreement with Springsted, Inc. to proceed with a compensation and classification review of employee wages, as well as department efficiencies and deficiencies. The study will cost $10,300.

Also approved on a 4-0 vote was an agreement to apply for a Local Government Challenge Grant to provide funding for the arts. Last week was a blur, seeing eight high-school basketball games in six days in five locations, thanks to a couple of double headers on the slate.

This time of the year it is win or go home, and with Wednesday night’s dramatic 1-point win by Broadwater in the state playoffs, the local high-school season continues for me today in Petersburg.

But before we wrap up the high-school playoffs with coverage next week, I took a break Tuesday night from the high-school scene — despite the fact that three teams were involved in playoff basketball games that night — and made a four-hour trek to Durham, N.C., for a basketball game in Cameron Indoor Stadium.

Virginia Tech, last in the ACC this season, was the latest foil for the Cameron Crazies. My traveling companion has attended a game or two over the years. That would be Dennis Custis, who coached basketball at Nandua for over 30 years.

We were early enough to check out the Duke Sports Hall of Fame, which was naturally dominated by basketball. Duke has produced 39 All-Americans in basketball and won four national titles. Its coach, Mike Krzyzewski, has won more games than any college coach in history.

Coach K, as he is often known, even has a town named for him. Well, it’s not really a town. It’s Krzysewskville, a village of tents inhabited by students waiting for admission to Duke basketball games.

K-ville is a plot of land adjacent to Cameron, roughly 500 feet by 100 feet, that holds as many as 1,200 students living there for the opportunity to stand in the student section courtside at Duke basketball games.

Weeks before the actual game, students begin to put up and live in tents outside Cameron Indoor Stadium. As many as 12 people can occupy a specific tent group (a tent group may contain up to two physical tents). As regulated by Duke Student Government, there must be a certain number of students in the tent at regular, periodic checks.

On Tuesday, students were working on their laptops, grilling out or just socializing. Most were dressed in T-shirts and shorts, even though it was a chilly, winter day.

I often wonder what parents must be thinking when they pay tuition at Duke well north of $50,000 and have their kids desert dormitory rooms for tents on a bare patch of ground in the winter.

There are all kinds of rules for living in K-ville, and one is that no heaters are permitted in the tents. Students must keep warm by simply using sleeping bags and dressing appropriately, which few do.

Random “line checks” — a supervisor blasting an air horn to call everyone out for a head count — can come at anytime, even 3 a.m.

Once inside, the Cameron crazies do everything possible to torment the opposition, jumping up and down during free throws and waving their arms in unison at players standing courtside getting ready to throw the ball in play.

Tuesday night they were chanting “Just like football” to the Hokies in the waning minutes of a lopsided Duke win, a reference to the fact that Tech also lost to Duke in football this past season.

The Crazies are famous for painting their bodies blue and white or wearing outrageous outfits. Dennis and I stood in line prior to the game with some Duke fans dressed, should we say, a bit strangely.

The game was not a classic as the Hokies were outclassed by the sixth-ranked Dukies, but any trip to Cameron is memorable.

Broadwater Advances to VISAA Final Four

Vikies Win in Overtime

Michael Riopel scored 6 of his team-high 25 points in overtime, including converting a pair of 3-point plays, to lead Broadwater to a 64-61 win over Southampton at home Tuesday night. "We shot the ball well (making 25 of 37 for 68 percent), but we made way too many turnovers, most of them being unforced," said Broadwater coach Eddie Spencer, whose Vikings committed 18 turnovers.

Brendon Burrows added 17 for the Vikings, while Matt McCaskill and Wesley Shrieves added 11 and 10, respectively.

Riopel also led the team with nine rebounds.

The Vikings held a 7-point lead entering the fourth quarter before Southampton rallied to force overtime.

BA Falls in Finals

One night after scoring 91 points against powerhouse Atlantic Shores and shooting 68 percent from the floor, Broadwater showed signs of fatigue and suffered through its worst shooting night of the year, a 31 percent performance that led to an 83-56 defeat to Williamsburg Christian in the championship game of the Metro Conference last Saturday night.

Broadwater, the number two seed in the tourney, had beaten regular season champion Williamsburg Christian by 13 at home and was edged by only 1 point early in the season in Williamsburg. Broadwater had won 18 straight games since that early December defeat to Williamsburg Christian.

"We just didn't have our legs tonight," said Broadwater coach Eddie Spencer following the game. "The guys gave it all they had, but they were worn out from a tough, physical game the night before. We also made some mental mistakes, taking poor shots which led to easy baskets for them in transition. Those 3s were going down the night before, but when they don't fall, they can hurt you."

Broadwater led 22-19 at the end of the first quarter on a Michael Riopel 3-point play with five seconds left. Wesley Shrieves led the early Viking attack with 9 first-quarter points. The two teams traded baskets in a frenzied pace the first period, but in the second quarter Broadwater's shots stopped falling as the Vikes scored only one basket and managed three free throws for 5 points as Williamsburg scored 18.

Trailing 37-27 at half, Broadwater fell further behind in the third quarter as shot after shot rolled off the rim — even from close range. The Vikings managed only 7 points while the Eagles tacked on 21 for a 58-34 lead after three quarters.

After hitting 8-of-14 from 3-point range against Atlantic Shores, Broadwater was 4 of 21 from 3-point range. From the floor, the Vikes were 19 of 67, a drastic falloff from the night before when they were 26 of 44.

Riopel, unanimously named the Metro Conference Player of the Year, struggled to score 14 points after going 11 for 14 in the semi-final. Brendon Burrows, also named to the All-Metro team, led the Vikings with 17 points. Shrieves had 13, while Matt McCaskill, another All-Metro selection, was in early foul trouble and had only 5 points after scoring 21 the previous night.

Burrows had 14 rebounds, while Riopel grabbed 13 to lead the Vikings.

Mark Seaman and Xavier Green each scored 23 points for WC, which improved to 25-7 with the victory.

Broadwater coach Eddie Spencer was named Metro Conference Coach of the Year for the second straight season.

Vikings Top Shores

Broadwater advanced to the finals of the Metro Conference basketball tournament with a 91-76 win over Atlantic Shores Friday in Portsmouth.

The Vikings trailed 9-0 four minutes into the game before rallying for a 38-28 halftime lead.

"I told the team at a timeout that this was like a prize fight, you've got to take a punch and then come back battling," said Viking coach Eddie Spence. "From that point on, it was our game."

Michael Riopel scored 16 of his game-high 29 points in the first half to fuel the Viking comeback. Matt McCaskill and Brendon Burrows added 21 and 19 points, respectively, for Broadwater. Burrows hit a pair of 3-pointers in three attempts and was four of five from the field overall.

Wesley Shrieve added 11 points on 8-of-10 shooting from the foul line, while Frank Long also reached double figures with 11 and a pair of 3-pointers.

The Vikies teetered on the point of losing key players, with Riopel, Burrows and Long all ending the game with four fouls. Burrows played the last seven minutes with four fouls.

Atlantic Shores cut the Viking lead to 6 in the final quarter but never managed to get closer. Shores was led by Aaron Ferguson with 24 points.

Vikies Win Opener

Broadwater easily topped Stone Bridge 69-39 in the opening round of the Metro Conference basketball tournament last Thursday night.

Wesley Shrieve led four Vikings in double figures with 14 points, Brendon Burrows scored 12 and Michael Riopel and Frank Long added 11 each.

Broadwater led 36-24 at half, then stretched the lead with a 22-4 margin in the third quarter before resting its starters the final period.
Nandua Boys Reach Conference Finals, Fall in State

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Nandua held its own with Bluestone for a half, leading the visitors 42-38 at intermission, but all 12 of the Baron players scored as Bluestone rolled to an 84-64 win in a first-round game of the 2A East Regional Tuesday night at Nandua.

Bluestone came into the game with no player averaging more than 11 points a game, but as a team they averaged 70 with balanced scoring.

Nandua was led by senior Trayvon Snead with 17 points. Tyreim Blake had 14 points, and Evan McGregor scored 11, hitting 3 of 5 from 3-point range.

Snead also led the Warriors with 12 rebounds. “He gave it his all and left it on the court,” said Nandua coach Cedrick Cooper about Snead, the district’s Player of the Year.

Blake and Issac Taylor also had 11 rebounds each.

Dawshawn Pamplin led Bluestone with 19 points, while Damian Winbush and Devin Roberts added 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Nandua finished 13-6 on the year.

Warriors Toppled in Conference Final

Nandua held its own with top-ranked Bruton for a quarter, trailing 24-20 entering the second period. But the high-powered Panther offense raced to its 20th win in 21 games, topping Nandua 100-62 Saturday night in Williamsburg for the Conference 33 championship in the 2A East.

Issac Taylor, Nandua’s 6’7” junior center, had a double-double with 20 points and 10 rebounds. Taylor was 8 of 12 from the floor.

Trayvon Snead also notched a double-double with 14 points and 14 rebounds. Troy Planter added 12 points, and Tyreim Blake had 9 points and five assists.

Eleven Panthers scored, led by Lonnie Swinton with 23 points and Marcus Carter with 22. Larry Legaspi sank six of Bruton’s 14 3-point baskets and finished with 19 points.

“It’s extremely hard to defend a team that shoots the 3-point shot that well,” said Nandua coach Cedrick Cooper. “They also had great depth, with some good players coming off the bench,” said Coach Cooper, noting Bruton was a state runner-up last year in a higher division before dropping back to 2A.

Nandua Bumps KW

Trayvon Snead scored a game-high 27 points on 12-of-20 shooting to lead Nandua to a 55-42 win over King William in the semi-finals of the Conference 33 basketball tournament last Thursday.

The Warriors led 17-3 after the first quarter, but King William fought back to cut the halftime lead to 5 at 27-22 before Nandua erupted for a 14-4 advantage in the third.

Snead was a consistent scoring force for Nandua, scoring at least 6 points in each quarter. Issac Taylor, returning from a four-game layoff after an ankle injury, had 14 points and a team-high eight rebounds.

Nandua coach Cedrick Cooper said the key for Snead was “an excellent defensive game which rolled over into the offensive end.”

Trayvon Snead scores against King William.

Nandua, Northampton Girls Advance to Postseason Play

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

The Nandua girls picked a bad night to have one of their worst shooting performances of the year, losing to Blue- stone 44-25 Tuesday night at home.

“We just had an off night with shooting,” said Nandua coach Kim Giddens. “None of my girls’ shots could fall. The shots they usually make were just coming right off the rim.”

Giddens added, “The future is bright for this team though, and we look forward to working with them and other kids this summer to continue working on their skills.”

Khadijah Robinson scored 10 points to lead Nandua; no one else scored more than 3 points.

Nandua Bows to Bruton

Nandua fell to Bruton 66-57 in the girls’ Conference 33 championship game at Onley last Saturday.

Kyteia Smaw had 23 for the Lady Warriors. Khadijah Robinson added 18, with Angelique Taylor scoring 14.

“I couldn’t be more proud of my girls and the way they fought tonight,” said Nandua coach Kim Giddens. “We didn’t have one of our leading scorers, D’errica Toppin, so we played hard and very well considering the circumstances.”

Nandua Comeback Tops MW

Nandua trailed Maggie Walker 15-6 in the second quarter before Khadijah Robinson assumed control of the game, hitting a trio of 3-pointers and scoring 20 points to lead the Lady Warriors to a 34-23 win in the semi-final of the Conference 33 basketball tournament last Thursday.

D’errica Toppin also helped Nandua overcome a slow start with 14 points. Nandua trailed 15-13 at half, but pulled ahead with a 16-8 third-quarter advantage, when Robinson scored 8 points with a pair of treys, and Toppin added 6.

Cynthia Ong led Maggie Walker with 14 points, all but 2 coming on foul shots.

Jackets Fall to Surry

Northampton fell to Surry 60-46 Saturday night in a Conference 41 semi-final, ending the Lady Jacket season. Unlike Conference 33, which includes Nandua, only the top two teams advance to regional play.

Whitney Metz led Northampton with 17 points, Taylor Nadeau had 8 and Briana Williams and Daju Smith had 6 each.

“Overall, it was a good game,” said Jacket coach Leo Owens. “We were down by 4 at half and stayed within 5 most of the game until the final quarter when Surry was in the double bonus and hit some foul shots down the stretch. Surry had good size and played well. I was proud of how our girls competed.”

Northampton’s Demarino, Killebrew State Runners-up

Northampton’s Charlie Demarino and Alan Killebrew finished runners-up in the 1A state wrestling tournament last weekend in Salem. Each wrestler earned his way into the finals with two wins during the two-day tournament.

Demarino, who had lost only one match entering the tournament, was defeated by last year’s runner-up, Jacob Wynn of Rural Retreat, 12-7 in the 120-pound championship match. He finished his senior season at 35-2.

Killebrew, also a senior, was pinned in the 145-pound division by Dakota Snider of Rural Retreat.

Rural Retreat won the state championship with 162.5 points, followed by Chilhowie with 102 and George Wythe with 89.5.

Northampton, winner of the 1A East Regional tournament, was 13th with 52 points. Although the Jackets placed 11 wrestlers in the top six at the regional tournament, only the top four in the region could compete at states, limiting the Jackets to six wrestlers.

Steven Wilson pinned Marshall Tes-terman of Chilhowie in 31 seconds to take fifth place for Northampton.

Aden Ingram defeated Nathan Wild of Patrick Henry 2-1 to earn seventh place, while Aaron Ellman had a major decision over Tyler Mathews for another seventh-place finish for the Jackets.

Taylor Shreaves of Northampton placed eighth in the 106-pound weight class.

Northampton coach Will Leland, whose Jackets finished fifth in the state last year, said, “Not our best finish, but as a coach, one of the most gratifying,” noting that Northampton started eight wrestlers who had never stepped on a varsity mat before this season began. “I was disappointed where we placed in states, but to win a regional meet with this group was very gratifying,” said Coach Leland. “The setup that allowed us to only take six wrestlers to states worked against us.”

Arcadia’s Tatum 4th

Arcadia’s Hunter Tatum placed fourth in the 195-pound weight class in the 2A state finals, losing a 3-1 decision to Derek Rakes of Madison in overtime in the semi-finals. Tatum was the lone Firebird wrestler, accounting for the team’s 11 points and a 27th-place finish. Grundy won the 2A title, its third consecutive state title and 18th overall, tied with Great Bridge for most state wrestling titles all-time.

Viking Girls Fall in VISAA Playoffs; Split Metro Tourney Games

Broadwater fell in the first round of the Virginia Independent Schools Athletic Association Division 1 girls’ playoffs to Amelia 61-43.

Junior Kathleen Kraft had 17 points and 15 rebounds to lead the Lady Vikings. Senior Katie Wendell, named to the Metro All-Conference team earlier in the week, finished her career with 16 points.

“We just did not shoot the ball as well as we normally do,” said Broadwater coach Ralph Dodd, whose Lady Vikings finished the season 11-9.

The Broadwater girls won the opening round of the Metro Conference basketball tournament with a 43-29 win over Stone Bridge, as Wendell scored 24 points and Kathleen Kraft added 11. Kraft also pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds for the Lady Vikings, while eighth grader Anna Sexauer had 12.

In the semi-final, the Lady Vikings fell to top-ranked Williamsburg Christian 77-33. Trailing 22-14 after the first quarter, Broadwater could not keep pace with the high-powered Eagles, now 31-2. Wendell led the Lady Vikings with 17 points.

Once again I have to adjust, adapt, reorganize and tweak my existence. Changing my routine can be a hassle and in the world of technology it also can mean the invisible act of spending money. Somehow when I’m not seeing actual dollar bills leave my hand, I don’t fully appreciate that they’re gone. In this case, I’m talking about taking the 17.6-mile trip across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel and that device called the E-ZPass.

As if life wasn’t complicated enough.

When I go for a leisurely day of visiting with my younger brother in Virginia Beach, I can no longer just stick a $5 bill in my console for the return toll. That little ritual is a thing of the past.

Now I must dig the E-ZPass out of the glove box and put it on my dashboard and hope it won’t go flying off into the far-reaching corners of my car. The Velco that was provided does not stick to the window as designed.

There is also a little voice inside my head that wonders if this gadget is another form of Big Brother. Is it the dreaded high-school hall monitor? It can’t watch me from inside the compartment. Or can it? And why does it come with a demagnetized pouch? It’s probably just another form of radiation with which to contend.

There will be no more stopping to get a coupon at the toll booth or to ask the worker about his or her reading material which often happens to be the Eastern Shore Post. It’s just not friendly. People need interaction. It’s healthy to say hello and ask about the winds.

And then there is the increased cost. Why must I be required to have a credit card to get the best price to visit the mainland?

My neighbor Keith Koerner recently emailed me to say he is not a fan of the E-ZPass either. “Never liked giving over account info from any account like checking or being tracked on what I do,” he said.

“Do not like the idea of paying $30 for a round trip within 24 hours (in peak season),” Keith added, noting that he will be shopping more in Maryland and Delaware to avoid the toll, thereby depriving Virginia of sales tax.

Keith said the toll changes also were considered when his daughter picked the college she will attend. “As a senior with a 4.0 grade point average,” many Virginia schools contacted her. “But again, we feel it would not be worth it,” Keith said. So, she is going to a Maryland school.

In reading over his comments, I just had to wonder if the change isn’t a tourism nightmare. If fewer people on the Eastern Shore travel south, will fewer people in the Hampton Roads area want to take a day trip to Accomack and Northampton counties?

“I have talked with a few others and ... they feel the same way,” Keith said. “They should allow the discounts for 24 hour return trips with cash,” he said.

I’d love to hear from the rest of the Shore on the issue. Email your thoughts to shoredog@verizon.net.

Redwood Road Needs To Be Cleaned and Repaired

Dear Editor:

First, I would like to talk about the trash on Redwood Road in Accomack County. We were informed that there was someone in charge of litter control. This is really, really bad. I’m glad the temperature is not in the 80s-90s. We have to have someone to do something. Please!

Second, the road needs repairs done that last. This road is heavily traveled. It is a short cut from Lankford Highway to Airport Drive.

Accomack County needs to take charge — at least put a yellow line down the middle of the road. We do pay taxes.

Animal Control and SPCA Need Our Help

Dear Editor:

Recently I made a call to Animal Control to check the welfare of a dog on a less-than-nice piece of property. It was then that I realized the scope of the problem that Animal Control and the SPCA face regarding the over-population of dogs and cats.

Everywhere you drive, there are dogs and cats running free and homeless, and puppies and kittens being born. That Animal Control goes out at all, that they have the staff to do ANYTHING in the face of overwhelming numbers is something to be admired.

The dog I called about was deemed satisfactory. But there are hundreds, if not thousands of other dogs and cats here that are in need of assistance. There are newly dead dogs and cats along the side of the road, and there are backyard breeders still breeding and discarding unwanted or unsellable dogs. There are pugs and kittens being born up and down this peninsula, and no one claims them. In light of the sheer number of stray dogs and cats, I appreciate that Animal Control went out to check on this dog at all!

If anything is to change, we need to support the efforts of our Animal Control and SPCA to bring the number under control. The SPCA brings the Virginia Beach Neuter Scooter here. It is not free and we need to support them to keep it coming. If all of us give what we can, we can reduce the number of hurting dogs and cats that some people treat as refuse. It is our duty if we are to call ourselves “animal lovers.”
