Accomack Town Election Slates Set

By Linda Cicoira

Voters in 12 Accomack County towns will go to the polls Tuesday, May 6, to elect their government leaders.

In Accomac, Mayor Brooks E. Allen is seeking another two-year term. Council members C. Craig Cropper, James M. Johnson Sr., Joyce Metcalf Lewis and Patricia T. Smith also want to be returned. Richard P. Wallace, a newcomer, is seeking a seat, which leaves one council position open.

In Belle Haven, Acting Mayor H.A. "Herb" Thom Jr. is asking for ballots. Former Mayor Marion Long moved to the Hampton Roads area. Councilwomen Brenda Fogle and Peggy Robinson did not seek re-election. Members Edwin R. Long, George H. Ludlow Jr., Elizabeth M. Pase and her dad, Robert O. Pase, want to continue serving. Newcomers Thomas K. Noonan and John Alan Nyberg, Lee E. Tapman and Douglas R. Wehner also are vying for seats. No one registered for election as town recorder, a post held by Hoge A. Floyd.

Bloxom Acting Mayor R. Scott Callander, a former councilman, will seek election. He was appointed to the position when former Mayor Kimberly Cathell moved out of the town limits. Councilman Jason T. Taylor did not register for reelection.

In Cheriton, Mayor Joseph A. Habel wants to be returned to his post. Council members Daniel C. Dabinett, Frederick J. Diggs Sr., B.B. "Barry" Downing Jr., Gregory S. Hardesty and Norma P. Spencer also want their jobs back. That leaves one council seat open.

Eastville Mayor James C. Sturgis is running for another term. Council members John D. Crockett, Ben T. Fox, Eleanor C. Gordon, Nancy M. Mulligan, R. Todd Simpson and Edgar S. Sturgis III want to stay on the panel. Also seeking a seat is Anouck F. LeFur.

In Exmore, Acting Mayor Douglas W. Greer Sr. and Karla S. Clark are competing for the top post. Greer stepped up when former Mayor Billy Moore resigned. Four are running for three council seats. They are Councilmen T. Bradley Doughty, Charles (Continued on Page 8)
Accomack Debates $10 Million Construction Wish List

By Linda Cicoira

Accomack supervisors listened and debated Tuesday night but didn’t make any concrete decisions regarding prioritizing construction projects and possibly taking out up to $10 million in available bonds to pay for the endeavors.

Accomack County Schools had an $11 million wish list over five years. It was topped by a ventilation project at Arcadia High School.

Second on the tally is replacement of drainfields at a Chincoteague school.

School discussions drifted to security of mobile units, predictions regarding enrollment, and where special-needs classes are held, all of which are issues over which the supervisors have no control.

Backers of a plan for a new Eastern Shore Public Library to be built in Onley also had their hand out. The library board initially had asked for $6 million, but scaled back to $3.5 million in local funds. They intend on raising about $1.5 million in donations and want to use a site donated by Shore Bank that is worth $400,000.

The current facility is about 11,500 feet and the new building would be 20,000 square feet. A library spokesman said a new library should be built now while construction costs and interest rates are low.

Supervisor Wanda Thornton advised her colleagues to talk to county planners to investigate how much money would be needed for stormwater management based on new regulations.

Eastern Shore Health District Administrative Manager Scott Chandler talked about mandated needs and overcrowding issues at Accomack County Health Department. An estimate to renovate and expand the facility was more than $1.3 million in 2012.

“The health department is bursting at the seams” making confidentiality and privacy difficult tasks, said Chandler. “We have to do business in the hallway quite often because we don’t have the space.”

Also in the mix is about $52,000 in office space that is leased.

Supervisor Donald Hart rallied for the library. “People are on top of each other. Things are falling on their heads. We need to invest in something for the future. Since 1979, there has always been somebody against” a venture. “If the county listened, we’d have no schools, including a burnt school … you’d still have all those situations. … If we don’t start the process now, it won’t be done for 15 to 20 years. … It’s obscene. … We shouldn’t have waited this long for the health department. … I think the library is deserving … they’re willing to work with the board.”

Grayson Chesser wants his fellow supervisors to decide how much overall debt they are willing to accept. “Just because you have the ability to borrow does not mean you should,” he said. “We live in very dangerous times. We can’t depend on the federal and state if we get into problems.”

Thornton agreed with Chesser. “I’ve been hearing on the street about (the recent) tax increase,” she said. “No way would we want to use a site donated by Shore Bank that is worth $400,000. … If we don’t start the process now, it won’t be done for 15 to 20 years. … It’s obscene. … We shouldn’t have waited this long for the health department. … I think the library is deserving … they’re willing to work with the board.”

Man Sentenced for His Role in Treherneville Homicide

By Linda Cicoira

The first of four men convicted in connection with the violent death of Jessie Leon Jordan last year was sentenced Monday in Northampton Circuit Court.

For unlawful wounding, John Deandre Lavon Logan, 27, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was given five years, with all but 12 months suspended. Logan was living with his aunt in Tasley when the incidents occurred.

The charge was amended in early February in a plea bargain with Commonwealth’s Attorney Bruce Jones. Logan initially was accused of malicious wounding, also a felony. Counts of murder by a mob and participating in gang violence leveled against Logan were not prosecuted.

The defendant consistently denied being in the group with his cousins on April 13, 2013, when Jordan, also known as Bob and Sponge Bob, 23, of the Cape Charles area was beat up and shot outside A&E Auto & Truck Repairs off Lankford Highway in Treherneville.

Jordan was so drunk when he was attacked that an online scale showed him to be in the stupor range. A party was going on inside the auto shop.

Still awaiting sentencing in connection with the death is Durell Marion Fitchett, 25, of Daugherty Road, convicted of second-degree murder and said to be the shooter. Jones downgraded the first-degree murder charge against Fitchett and the defendant pleaded no contest to the homicide and using a firearm in the crime. He could face 43 years in prison.

Deleon Kinte Fitchett, 30, of Blakenship Lane also is waiting to be sentenced. He pleaded guilty to malicious wounding as part of a bargain with Jones. The other charges against him — malicious wounding by a mob, murder by a mob and participating in gang violence — were not prosecuted. He faces a maximum of 20 years in the state penitentiary.

Devon Thomas Blake, 30, of Giddens Lane, has not yet been sentenced for his part in the killing. Jones agreed to amend charges of malicious wounding and malicious wounding by a mob to misdemeanor assault and battery, and assault and battery by a mob for Blake, the half-brother of the Fitchetts. The maximum sentence for each charge is 11 months in jail.

At the February trial, Jones said Jordan started a fight with Blake by spinning him around and “head-butting him.” The others then joined in. “Deleon Fitchett punched Jordan in the head,” said Jones. “Almost immediately a gunshot went off very close … one of the four people had to have fired the shots … Jordan fell to ground.” The four punched and kicked Jordan. “He was putting up no resistance.” Jones said, “No one realized he had been shot. Almost all bleeding was internal.”

“Blake was himself the initial victim,” Jones said at the trial. He was “attacked or assaulted by Mr. Jordan … Blake was the first to help. He gave us a good sense of what happened … Mr. Blake got us on the right track.”

The murder weapon was a 9-mm semiautomatic pistol bought for Durell Fitchett in March 2013, said Jones. He noted that State Police officers later found the weapon “in a giant irrigation pond in Accomack” County and it was proven that the bullet fragment found at the scene “was fired by that gun.”
Atlantic Development Gets Permit

By Linda Cicoira

In an 8-1 vote Tuesday, Accomack supervisors granted a conditional-use permit allowing a wastewater treatment plant to be constructed in Wattsville.

The action was a major victory for Atlantic Town Center Developer Chris M. Carbaugh and his attorney, Mark Baumgartner, who have been trying to get permits to build a business and residential community for years.

Only Supervisor Ron Wolff was opposed. “I’ve been dealing with the applicant and his legal counsel for 10 years” on various proposals, the supervisor said. “I’m not in favor.” Wolff said Carbaugh first irked him when he told him his vote wouldn’t count.

Supervisor Wanda Thornton tried to stop Wolff from putting down Carbaugh. “I’m just taking a page out of your book,” Wolff said to Thornton. “You say what you want to say.” Wolff went on to list nearly 40 permits that have been issued in recent years. “If they (Carbaugh and Baumgartner) were serious about their development, they would have moved forward with their plans” and it would “be up and running and contributing” to the community by now. “They have never done anything yet that they’ve said they were going to do. They don’t have a track record.”

No one from the public or the applicant was permitted to comment. But Wolff’s complaints were not new. Residents in Wolff’s district around Atlantic have been fighting the project for years on the basis of property and ground water rights and the lack of need for the project.

The public spoke on the issue most recently last week. Action was postponed then because Supervisor Grayson Chesser was out sick.
A Chincoteague man was convicted last week in Accomack Circuit Court of unlawful wounding.

Frederick Hyrum Cox, 39, of Wayne Road on Chincoteague Island pleaded not guilty to the initial charge of maliciously maiming Christopher Wheaton on June 30, 2013. He was found guilty of the lesser offense.

The incident occurred during a fight outside a Chincoteague bar. Cox remains free on bail. A presentence report was ordered.

In another case, Leeshawnn Lamar Davis, 25, of Daugherty Road in Accomack pleaded guilty to stealing more than $200 from Ocean Way in Tasley on Aug. 31, 2013. He was remanded to jail to await completion of a presentence report.

In a recent case, Billy Brandice Kilmon, 31, of Taylor Street in Hallwood was sentenced to eight years each for breaking into Runninger’s Pharmacy on Oct. 2, 2010, and stealing property. All but 12 months was suspended on each count, to run consecutively. Kilmon was remanded to jail to complete the terms. Restitution of $7,127 was ordered.

Maurice Smith, 31, of Parks Street in Parksley was sentenced to five years for receiving stolen property on Nov. 5, 2012. All but 12 months was suspended.

James Carpenter, 26, of Cattail Road in Mears was sentenced to setting fire to woods or grass on Cattail Road on June 23, 2010, to three years, with all but six months suspended. The defendant was ordered to pay $960 in restitution to the Virginia Department of Forestry and $787 to the state treasury.

Upshur Ayres Jr., 26, of Onancock was given a five-year suspended sentence for possessing cocaine on Dec. 1, 2012. For a second offense of distribution of cocaine, he got 15 years, with 12 suspended. His driver’s license was suspended for 12 months.

ACrystal meth was made out in the shed and inside in a bedroom, a bathroom and the kitchen of a Nelsonia home where three young girls lived, according to testimony in Accomack General District Court Monday.

The children, ages 3, 4 and 6, were “decontaminated, cleaned up and wrapped in blankets and put in our evidence van to keep warm,” said Accomack Deputy Chip Little, who is assigned to Eastern Shore Drug Task Force (ESDTF).

Judge Gordon Vincent found probable cause to certify charges against two residents to an Accomack Grand Jury in connection with the methamphetamine lab said to be the first found by Eastern Shore authorities.

Evidence was presented against William Allen Williams, 26, and his wife, Joanna Marie Strickland, 25, of Music Circle. Each was charged with three counts of “allowing a minor to be present in a dwelling during the manufacture or attempted manufacture of methamphetamine, conspiring to make the illegal drug and manufacturing it.” The last charge will not be prosecuted against Strickland due to lack of evidence, Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney J. Spencer Morgan told the court.

Victor Manuel Garced Jr., 29, and his fiancée, Christian Hope Hemphill, 23, both of Lankford Highway, also near Nelsonia, are charged with conspiracy to sell methamphetamine. They testified against the other couple Monday and waived their right to a preliminary hearing. Hemphill, who is now living in Machipongo, is the only one free on bail.

Once police began to question Williams, he voiced concern about the children and wanted to make sure police found two bottles of meth that were in the shed, according to testimony.

Hemphill said she met Williams and Strickland at the end of November or the beginning of December and began using meth around mid-December after Williams offered it to her. She said she bought Sudafed three times for Williams, at first not knowing it was needed for making meth. Hemphill said she once saw Williams making meth in his kitchen just before Strickland and the girls got home.

Garced said he met Williams when Williams came to his trailer to make a repair. “After I was laid off from Perdue, I needed some work.” Garced said, adding he got to know Williams and began working and hanging out with him. Garced said he was not using drugs then.

He testified that Williams would crush pills, some of which Garced admitted he purchased for him. Part of the process involved taking the Sudafed and putting it in a soda bottle with campfire fuel.

“When I got curious, I’d ask him about certain ingredients and how to do it,” said Garced. “I witnessed him make it. I got curious. I tried it. I wanted to see if it was like everyone said — addictive and out of control. It wasn’t like everyone said it was.”

Garced said Williams made the drug in a shed, the kitchen and a bedroom.

“A couple of times his wife was there. A lot of people were there. I just can’t remember all their names,” said Garced. “I did buy the pills for him (and) campfire fuel.”

Both Garced and Hemphill said meth was never made at their house. Garced said he was not promising anything in exchange for his testimony. “I can only wish and pray for it,” he added.

Garced also said Strickland was at the house a couple of times when Williams was making meth. “They would argue about it and she would walk out of the room (and) try to get the kids away from it. Most of the time to the other end (of the trailer) or outside to play if it wasn’t too cold.”

Trooper Jason Brasure interviewed Williams following his arrest. “Williams stated that he used meth every day. He stated that he went up north to Delaware to get his methamphetamine. One time he made it in an abandoned structure close to Music Circle. Later he admitted he made it on his property … approximately seven times … he said he gassed it (or) cooked it inside the trailer. He explained to me … once it set for a while he undoes the cap which he called gassing.”

He purchased Sudafed “from local businesses from Onley to Seafood, Delaware.” Strickland, Garced and Hemphill had purchased the Sudafed, Williams told police.

Brasure said at first Williams said he made meth for personal use. He told the officer “that he belonged to the motorcycle gang, ‘The Regulators’ … and that he wasn’t allowed to sell it.” Later Williams told police “he was the... kind of person … who would share it with friends.”

He also told police he had two bottles of meth that were four or five days old and ready to be gassed in his shed and there was a vile of meth in his pants pocket at the trailer.

Strickland admitted to police that she saw Williams “gas it one time in the bathroom and I took the bottle and broke it. … She advised that she and the kids were in the trailer … the kids were sleeping.”

Evidence also showed that Strickland told the magistrate that a source of income was from “Billy making, selling meth.”

State Police Special Agent Travis Cook, an expert witness, said muriatic acid, coffee filters of powder, a napkin with white powder, drain opener, Coleman fuel, pill grinders and cold packs — all used to make meth — were found on the premises.

Strickland’s defense lawyer, Paul Watson, argued the charges regarding the girls should be dismissed for his client because “she would get the children away from him making meth.” Watson also wanted the conspiracy count dropped because there was “no evidence that she participated” beyond purchasing Sudafed.

Morgan argued Strickland “doesn’t like that he (Williams) does it but she listed it as income” on the bail checklist.

Judge Vincent certified all the charges. “She bought Sudafed,” he said. “Bond should remain as it is.”

In another case, Robert Wayne Woolyhand, 52, of Maddox Boulevard on Chincoteague was convicted last Friday of two counts of misdemeanor sexual battery. He was initially charged with three counts of object sexual penetration, which are felonies. One felony count was not prosecuted.

The offenses occurred on March 17 and 18 and involved a 35-year-old woman. Woolyhand was sentenced on each misdemeanor to 12 months in jail, with 11 months suspended. He was also fined $100 on each.

Kenyon Demarkus Wyche, 32, of Lankford Highway in Keller was arrested Monday and charged with two counts of conspiring to commit grand larceny and a charge of embezzling more than $200 from Oceanway in Tasley, all on Aug. 31, 2013.

Charges of breaking into Wanda Johnson’s home and stealing a firearm valued at $200 or more will not be prosecuted against John Gerald Sepeda Jr., 21, of Parsons Road in Greenbush. Sepeda was arrested on Feb. 5.

Kevin Ray Nock, 51, of Logan Road in Onley waived his right to a preliminary hearing Monday. Nock is charged with three counts of a third or subsequent offense of larceny involving incidents that allegedly occurred at Walmart on March 11. Secured bond was set $5,000.

A grand-larceny charge was reduced to misdemeanor petty larceny for Clarence Handy Jr., 19, of Germaine Lane in Parksley. Handy was convicted of stealing a Suzuki King Quad 600 ATV belonging to Austin Taylor on Sept. 15, 2013. He was sentenced to six months and 10 days in jail with six months suspended.

In another case, Nicholas Vatis of Cape Charles was charged with possession of a firearm by a felon. The offense allegedly occurred April 8. A preliminary hearing was set for May.

Looking for something to do this weekend?
I can give you two great choices that support one of the most tremendous assets the Shore has — our youth.

Tonight, there is the “Voices of the Shore,” a benefit concert for the Boys and Girls Club, at 7 p.m. at Franktown United Methodist Church. Tickets are $20 and available at the door and also at the Book Bin in Onley or Rayfield’s Pharmacy in Nassawadox.

The headliner is Larry Jay Giddens, a pretty fair football player at Nandua who earned a college scholarship for his voice. His singing ability led him around the world, starring in major productions and receiving rave reviews for such roles as Oedipus in “Gospel at Colonus” and Don Giovanni in “Don Giovanni.”

Giddens has returned to the Shore to raise his four children, becoming active in youth sports both as a local coach and a primary organizer of the new Pop Warner football league.

Giddens says, “I am pleased to be performing in a benefit concert to support the youth of the Eastern Shore of Virginia.”

The Boys and Girls Club, Eastern Shore, has a membership of 200 youth who receive a hot meal, academic tutoring, and healthy lifestyle and life skill lessons each school day at Occohannock School. Summer programs start at 6:30 a.m. and end at 6 p.m. each weekday.

The club provides a positive outlet for the kids who need us the most, the ones who will have far less attractive options for their after-school hours if not for the club.

Giddens and his father, Larry Giddens Sr., the former Accomack County sheriff, have been great supporters of the program.

Now, Larry Jr. is joining forces with Dr. Marilyn Kellam, an experienced veteran of musical theater productions, and Aja Meadows, a local product who starred in college musicals, along with accompanist Judi Tracy, to produce “Voices of the Shore.” There also will be a reading from Mark Twain’s “Diary of Adam and Eve,” played by Marty Killmon and Laura Trala.

Thanks to the generosity of the performers and Franktown United Methodist Church, all of the proceeds go to the Boys and Girls Club.

The selections will include classics from the opera and popular songs by George Gershwin and Stephen Flaherty.

My thought is when you have a headliner who has performed in numerous countries on four continents to sold-out crowds now appearing in your backyard for the modest sum of $20 that will go wholly to a great cause, how can you miss it?

Tomorrow night there will be a banquet and auction to support the Randy Custis Memorial Park at Nassawadox. The event will start at 5:30 at Little Italy Restaurant in Nassawadox. Little Italy is donating the food and venue, so the $25 cost will go for the kids.

The Randy Custis Memorial Park in Nassawadox serves nearly 1,000 children, ages 5 to 18 years old, with t-ball, softball baseball, football, soccer and field hockey on a complex of five ballfields, several multi-use areas, a pavilion for picnicking, concession stands and a playground.

“We have had tremendous support to build a park we all can be proud of, but we need continual support to maintain this facility which provides a place for our kids to develop and have fun,” said Phil Custis, president of the Randy Custis Memorial Fund. “The fees paid by the families don’t even begin to cover the costs of uniforms, insurance and maintenance for our complex. Events like our banquet are important to the maintenance of the park, and we ask the parents and the public to support it.”

Custis was the father of Randy Custis, who loved baseball and played at a single field in Nassawadox before being killed at the age of 9 by a drunk driver in South Dakota in 1978.

His father and mother Barbara started the Randy Custis Memorial Fund that year to provide a place for youth to play sports of all kinds. In 1989, the park became a reality with the acquisition of land in Nassawadox that would eventually grow to 31 acres for five fields. The first home run at the park was hit by Randy’s younger brother, Park.

In 1998, the Randy Custis Memorial Fund became a 501(c) 3 public charity, and the ballpark land was bought and paid in full within four years. In addition to athletic contests, the park is available for local events and also is used by Northampton Middle School for many of its athletic events.

Historian Dennis Custis will speak on baseball topics, also including some background on Tommy Northam, a local volunteer coach who was killed in a truck accident several years ago.

Northam, who starred as a pitcher at Onancock and other local diamonds, also pitched at the University of Richmond. He adjusted his work schedule so he could be on the ballfields most afternoons giving his time and talents to local youth. A portion of the night’s funds will go to the Tommy Northam Scholarship Fund.

There will also be an auction including some prizes donated by local businesses and artists.

It’s another great evening for a great cause. Tickets will be available at the door.
Arcadia, Booster Club To Hold Three Events

The yard sale will be held from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.; set-up begins at 7 a.m. Tables for the yard sale are $10. The money raised from the yard sale will go toward various activities at Arcadia High School.

The Chili Cook-Off will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. There is a $25 fee to enter your best chili. Cast a vote of your favorite chili for $5. The money raised for the Chili Cook-Off will go toward the Virginia High School League clubs at Arcadia.

The car wash will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in front of the high school. Donations will be accepted. The money raised from the car wash will go toward the DECA Club.

Easter Decoy Show Huge Success; Top Awards Presented

The 35th Annual Chincoteague Chamber of Commerce Easter Decoy & Art Festival was a huge success, according to festival chairman of 27 years, Donna Leonard. Vendors enjoyed the increased attendance, at least partly enhanced by cool temperatures and breezy conditions which hampered beach activities.

More than 80 exhibitors filled the cafeteria and gymnasium of Chincoteague Combined School Friday and Saturday and silent auction items lined the hallway. The Pre-Loved Treasures Silent Auction brought in over $2,000 which is earmarked for the Veteran’s Memorial Park Playground Fund.

Awards were presented to Gerald Putt, from Boiling Springs Pa., People’s Choice for Best Art Display 2014; Bill Cowen, from Browns Mills, N.J., People’s Choice for Best Carving Display 2014; Rose Taylor, from Exmore, Best Photograph of Chincoteague or Assateague Island 2014; and a very surprised Shirl Eklund, from Maryland’s Eastern Shore, who won the coveted Curtis Merritt Award of Excellence as voted by her peers. She knew the namesake of the award, Curtis Merritt, a talented, blind Chincoteague carver. Presenting the award is Evelyn Shotwell, executive director of the Chincoteague Chamber of Commerce.
Arcadia Nine Outlast Northampton, 14-11

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Arcadia rallied from a 7-2 deficit after four innings to earn a 14-11 win over Northampton with six runs in the seventh inning Tuesday at Eastville.

Austin Bagwell, Todd McAvene and Tah'Re Pettit each had two hits for Arcadia, with Zach Mills and Pettit each scoring three runs.

Mills, Dominick Sieminkski and Terell Wharton had doubles for Arcadia. Other Firebirds collecting hits were Dalton McDaniel and Jaquan Wharton.

Sieminkski, Pettit and T. Wharton each had two RBIs for Arcadia.

Bagwell started on the mound for Arcadia, getting six strikeouts in 3.2 innings, with Sieminkski and J. Wharton pitching in relief.

For Northampton, Cory Johnson was 3 for 4, with a double and two RBIs. Ryan Outten, Will Carstens, Nick Lewis, Josh Outten, John Curry, and Keondre Ames each had one hit, with Curry collecting two RBIs.

J. Outten had five stolen bases with Curry getting a pair.

Lewis started on the mound, pitching effectively for four innings, before Arcadia struck for a pair of runs in the fifth, five in the sixth and six in the seventh against a pair of Jacket relievers. Lewis returned with one out in the seventh inning, but was unable to hold off the charging Firebirds.

“It was good to see our guys finally get the bats going, and to keep pushing forward even when behind,” said Arcadia coach Terry Mohler. “I think our aggressiveness on the bases helped to raise our level of intensity during the comeback.”

Nandua Blanks Ponies

Curtis Ormsby spun a one-hit shutout, striking out eight while walking only one in a five-inning game as Nandua defeated Chincoteague 10-0 Tuesday in Shore District action.

Eight different Warriors hit safely, led by Jake Guy with a pair of hits, Hunter Taylor with a triple and two RBIs, and David Strautz with a solo homer. Derek Bjorlo also had two hits and two RBIs while stealing a base.

run while striking out nine and walking only two. Bjorlo came on in relief in the seventh inning and fanned two.

Ponies Nipped 2-1 by Lancaster

Chincoteague was edged by Lancaster 2-1 Thursday in a game played at the Nandua field.

Mason Marshall, Miles Libertino and Trey Fisher collected the three Chincoteague hits, all singles.

Collin Derrickson pitched well for Chincoteague, allowing three hits and walking four. The first two Lancaster batters of the game scored on a walk, error and then an RBI double, but Derrickson blanked them the remainder of the game with the help of Alex McGee, who pitched the seventh and struck out two.

Down by a run, the Ponies appeared to be on the verge of tying the game in the sixth inning with one out and the bases loaded and a 3-1 count on the batter, but the Lancaster pitcher helped himself out of the jam by picking off Chincoteague runner off second base, then getting the Pony hitter to swing at ball four.

“We’ve got to be smarter than that,” said Pony coach Will Thompson, “but I am proud of the way our guys competed against a quality team. We’re starting only one senior and improving as the season goes along.”

Vikes Fall to IWA

Broadwater fell to Isle of Wight Academy 10-7 in a baseball tilt last Thursday.

The Vikings committed four errors and had a tough time at the plate against the Chargers’ pitcher, Travis Jones, who allowed only two hits and three runs in six innings of work.

The Vikings did put up four runs in the seventh against a reliever but came up short of tying the game. Michael Riopel had a pair of hits, including a two-RBI double, and Ben Holland, Wesley Shrieves and Taylor Major each had one hit. Holland and Shrieves each had one RBI. Major stole two bases and Kelly Reagan stole one.

Holland took the loss for the Vikings, but allowed only four earned runs as the Viking defense had an off game.

Warriors, Jackets Unbeaten in District

The Northampton softballers scored six runs in the first inning en route to a 12-2 win over Arcadia Tuesday in Eastville.

For the Lady Jackets, Taylor Nadeau was 3 for 3 with a double and three RBIs, Kaylyn Wright was 2 for 4 with a solo home run and three RBIs, and Makayla Wilson was 2 for 2 with two RBIs.

Wright pitched another strong game for Northampton, allowing only three hits.

Warriors Whip Ponies

The Nandua softballers put up five runs in the first inning and freshman Tyra Bjorlo had a breakout game with a homer and two RBIs to lead the Lady Warriors to a 7-3 win over Chincoteague Tuesday.

A single by D’errica Toppin and double by Chandler Davis, followed by a triple by Autumn Ferguson before two more singles by Kimberly Wert and Emily Justis, fueled the five-run first inning.

Chincoteague cut the lead to 5-3 in the third with singles by Stella Everett and Kristin Fox and two Nandua errors.

In the bottom of the third, Bjorlo hit a homer to right field with Wert on base.

Justis, a freshman, started the game and pitched three innings before Toppin finished the final four. The pair combined to allow only one earned run and gave up six hits.

Bjorlo, Justis and Davis had two hits each, while Michaela Wescott, Toppin, Ferguson, Amanda Baylis and Emma Whitley had one hit each.

For Chincoteague, April Zell had a pair of hits, while Michaela Wescott, Toppin, Ferguson, Amanda Baylis and Emma Whitley had one hit each.

Kaitlin Hill and Merritt combined to pitch the shutout.

Broadwater Gains Comeback Win with Homer

Ben Holland hit a three-run homer in the top of the seventh inning to lift Broadwater to a dramatic come-from-behind 7-5 win over Portsmouth Christian Monday on the road.

Trailing 5-3 entering the seventh, Jarrett Bell walked, Austin Murphy had an RBI single, Wesley Shrieves walked and then with one out, Holland hit the go-ahead shot. He also had a solo homer in the sixth inning.

Ben Farlow homered in the fourth following a Michael Riopel double. Holland had three hits and four RBIs.

Farlow came on in relief in the third with the Vikes down 3-0 and got the win, striking out nine and allowing only one earned run.

“It was a good team win with a lot of little plays contributing to the comeback,” said Broadwater coach Mark Shaffer, who noted that the Vikes made no errors.
Kaival Patel scored on a header with just over seven minutes remaining to break a 1-1 tie and give Northampton a hard-fought 2-1 win Wednesday night at home.

Bayron Ortiz scored the first Northampton goal off a corner kick with 3:12 remaining in the first half.

Arcadia’s Nurlykhan Aytkeleyev scored eight minutes into the second half to tie the score.

Nandua topped Chincoteague 9-1 Wednesday night on the island as Zach Baylis and Edgar Sanchez scored two goals each while Andre Colona, David Wright, Neri Marquez and Elmis Mayorga scored one each. Mayorga had four assists, with teammates David Pacifi getting one.

Ace Owies scored for Chincoteague.

Nandua and Northampton meet next Wednesday in Eastville. Arcadia will travel to Chincoteague that night. On Monday, Nandua hosts Arcadia while Chincoteague travels to Northampton.

Windy, cool weather has delayed the start of flounder fishing on the Shore, but a few warm days will have anglers seeking flatties on the seaside. Here, Chris Tilghman shows off the winning catches from a recent Eastern Shore Anglers Club outing. There have been reports of scattered flounder being caught from Chincoteague down to Oyster.

These Groups Help Animals

Dear Editor:

I have heard many complain about animal control and the Eastern Shore SPCA not being responsive or proactive, but I don’t want to focus on the negative. There are local groups trying to help. The Eastern Shore Spay Organization (ESSO) has low-cost spay/neutering as well as TNR (trap, neuter, return) of feral cats. (This is a challenge as there are not a lot of low-cost spay/neuter options on the Shore, and the mobile units that do come here have limited days and capacity). They use the money they raise to cover the costs of the surgeries as well as live traps. They also have rescued and placed puppies.

The Northampton High School Building Trades Department and instructor Billy Davis use donations (which are tax deductible) to make houses for needy dogs in the area. This helps educate our youth on proper animal care. Other individuals from the school help deliver the houses.

Animal People of the Eastern Shore helps with spay/neutering, dog houses, straw, fencing and low-income pet food. They have transported dogs to the Virginia Beach SPCA, where they are taken in and put up for adoption with a high success rate. They also re-purpose gently used fencing, refurbish gently used dog houses, and accept donations.

While these groups are small and don’t have the financial resources of an SPCA, they are doing what they can and are making an impact, one animal at a time.

If you are interested in learning more about any of these groups or would like to volunteer, you can “Like” the Eastern Shore Spay Organization on FB and see what it is doing.

Animal People of the Eastern Shore can be contacted at animalpeopleoftheeasternshore@gmail.com or check out the group on FB.

Everything positive for animals makes a difference to the chained and lonely, or abandoned, dogs and cats that need all of us to “see” their need for a better life, and DO something.

Debra Baxter, via email

G.F. Horne Says ‘Thanks’

Dear Editor:

G.F. Horne would like to thank the many people, churches and organizations for their continued support, donations and services.

We would like to thank the treasurer of the mission committee, Betty Fulk, and chairwoman of St. Thomas U.M. Church, Barbara Carr, for donating $50 for our Activity Department. We were able to buy Ladderball, Bean Bag Toss, Washer Toss and Spring Toss.

Bank Coffee House has been wonderful and is hosting a monthly complimentary coffee-and-cake treat for our residents. North Street Playhouse has invited our residents to see dress rehearsals. Thank you to Intrepid for their bingo prizes. Pastor Gary Williams of Mission Tree Ministries is back with his wonderful traveling piano, singing and service.

Baskets and Bows has given us beautiful ribbons and cellophane to wrap our homemade cookies and will offer us a nice discount on 52 carnations for our prom. Jeremy of Community Services Board (CSB) donated a watch-designing kit and Bohemian bracelet kit. To the school that dropped off valuable supplies, we say, “Thanks.” And thank you so much, Brenda Laws of CSB, for your donation of cakes for our monthly birthday parties for residents. The residents love you for it. And Ker Place is allowing residents to tour the museum at no expense.

And Naomi Makemie Presbyterian Church always remembers us, donating time, toiletries and the big Christmas dinner residents still talk about. Thank you to Radcliffe Circle for coming by throughout the year with fantastic cookies, and singing with the residents.

To all these and those we may not have named, please accept our gratitude. We could not do what we do without your help.

We’d like to ask for prizes for games, as our residents get very excited about them. Also, we would like to give our residents a prom where everyone will be kind or queen. We would like to ask for donations of formal dresses, shoes, jackets, ties, etc., of all sizes so our residents can feel like kings and queens, if only for one night. Please contact Elizabeth or me at 757-302-1290 for information or to make donations.
