Homicide Victim’s Name Not Released

By Cheryl Nowak

The identity of a homicide victim discovered in a wooded area near Nelsonia Sunday remains undisclosed as law-enforcement officers attempt to locate his next of kin to inform them of his death.

According to Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin, the Onancock Hispanic man had been reported missing to Onancock Police Department earlier Sunday. Upon investigation, officers discovered that his vehicle had been found abandoned on Littleton Road near Nelsonia on Saturday and had been towed from there by authorization of Virginia State Police.

Officers from Accomack County Sheriff’s Office and Virginia State Police continued to search for the missing man, ultimately finding his body in a wooded area near Nelsonia, Godwin said.

The body was transported to the Medical Examiner’s Office in Norfolk for an autopsy, where the death was ruled a homicide. The sheriff declined to disclose the cause of the man’s death.

Noting that the investigation is continuing, Godwin asked anyone with information concerning the homicide or any other crime to contact his office in Accomac at 787-1131 or 824-5666.

Library Vote Fails

By Linda Cicoira

A referendum in Accomack County that asked whether $3.5 million in local money should be used to construct a new Eastern Shore library in Onley failed Tuesday, with 5,044 voters (nearly 53 percent) casting their ballots in opposition.

More than 47 percent (4,498 voters) supported the proposal.

There were 23,578 registered voters in Accomack as of Nov. 1.

Voters from both Eastern Shore counties also helped choose candidates for the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives. In Melfa and Painter, mayors and members of town council were picked.

Library Director Carol Vincent said she was unsure what the next step would be. “We don’t know yet. We’re going to explore all of our options. Our board met on Monday” and will not meet again until Dec. 1.

“We were forced to go to referendum,” Vincent continued. “We’re disappointed.”

Vincent complained that despite a promise from the Board of Supervisors, two supervisors actively campaigned against the proposal. She said Supervisor Robert Crockett took out a radio ad and Supervisor Wanda Thornton distributed written information at the polls Tuesday on Chincoteague regarding the cost of the endeavor.

“It doesn’t change the fact that we have a 50-year-old building that is lacking,” Vincent said. “For grant applications, the library needs to know what the county will provide. That’s what our fund-raising consultant told us. We

Orbital Sciences Corporation (OSC) announced Wednesday that last week’s rocket launch explosion at Wallops Island was likely due to failure of a turbo-pump used to push fluid into the retro 1960-70s Antares engines initially meant for a Soviet moon mission.

The use of those engines for the Antares vehicle likely will be discontinued, officials said. However, it was also noted that the “AJ-26 could still be used if they were proven to be completely flight-worthy.”

“Our accident investigation has only been underway for the past six days so substantial work is still ahead to conclusively determine the cause of the failure,” David Thompson, chairman, president and CEO of OSC, said during a conference call. “To date, a very rich set of telemetry and video data has been analyzed and a large amount of debris from Antares and Cygnus has been collected and examined.”

“While still preliminary and subject to change, current evidence strongly suggests that one of the two AJ26 main engines that powered Antares’ first stage failed about 15 seconds after ignition,” he continued. “At this time, we believe the failure likely originated in or directly affected the turbo-pump machinery of this engine, but I want to stress that more analysis will be required to confirm that this finding is correct.”

According to www.nasaspaceflight.com, “the rocket made a nominal ascent off the pad, as Antares conducted her designed ‘Baumgartner Maneuver’ – a subtle sideways step to ease the vehicle away from the close proximity of the Transporter/Erector/Launcher (TEL) and ascended into the night sky.”

Once it cleared the pad, “the first sign of trouble was a distinct change to the appearance of the plume generated by her … engines … suggesting oxidizer starvation in at least one engine – prior to the aft of the vehicle exploding a second later,” the website states.

Videos show a “ghost image … which may provide extra insight into what transpired.” The impression is part of the investigation, the website continues. “The next event was sadly obvious, as propulsion was lost and the vehicle fell in flames, exploding near the pad from where she had just departed. The Flight Termination System (FTS) was activated just moments prior to the vehicle impacting the ground.”

OSC officials said repairs to the Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport (MARS) will be “undertaken quickly, allowing launch operations to continue at Wallops Island with the upgrade Antares beginning in 2016 … all remaining cargo will be delivered to the ISS” by the end of that year using the company Cygnus cargo spacecraft that can “accommodate heavier cargo loads.”

“There will be no cost increase to NASA and only minor adjustments will be needed to the cargo manifest in the near term,” OSC officials report. “Orbital is taking decisive action to fulfill our commitments to NASA in support of safe and productive operations of the Space Station. While last week’s Antares failure was very disappointing to all of us, the company is already implementing a contingency plan to overcome this setback. We intend to move forward safely but also expeditiously to put our … cargo program back on track and to accelerate the introduction of our upgraded Antares rocket,” Thompson said.

“No significant adverse effects are projected in 2016 or future years, in part because the cost of the Antares propulsion system upgrade was already part of our internal investment plan during that time,” he added.

Pascaretti said rates were lowered in March 2013 because the authority has a positive cash flow.
“We lowered our prices for some as much as 45 percent,” he said. “We didn’t do it across the board. We looked at companies that were similar to us … and adjusted rates … to bring them in line.” Pascaretti said he does not know if the communication businesses passed on the savings to their customers.

Cables made of thin flexible fibers of glass and used to send telecommunication signals are seen coming from a panel at a station that houses the broadband system. The green plugs without cables show that capacity is far from full.

Painter Native Dies

Mrs. Florence Olivia Smith Cade, 84, passed away peacefully Thursday, Oct. 23, 2014, at Mary Washington Hospital, in Fredericksburg, Va., surrounded by her family.

The youngest child of Lewis Allen Smith and Bessie Mears Harmon Smith, she was born in Painter. She and her family enjoyed the Tasley Fair during the summers of her youth. They operated a concession stand throughout the days of the fair, selling hamburgers and soulful dishes. She graduated in 1948 from Mary N. Smith High School, where she was valedictorian.

After high school, she attended Maryland State College, known today as the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, where she actively supported the powerhouse football team as a college cheerleader. She eventually transferred to Virginia Union University where she graduated in 1952 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology.

She was a devoted Army wife, compassionate community volunteer, loving mother of five beautiful children and dedicated educator. She and Alfred “Al” Cade, her husband of 62 years, raised their children with unconditional love, warmth, laughter, and unwavering support. Mrs. Cade was a generous member of the community who regularly devoted her time and energy to such organizations as the Boardwalk Regents Club, Children’s Seashore House, Miss America Pageant, and Links, Inc. Wherever she lived, she made a warm and welcoming home for her family and friends.

Mrs. Cade was preceded in death by her parents, Allen and Bessie Smith, her sister, Agnes Burton and her daughter-in-law, Cindy Cade. She leaves behind to cherish her memory her beloved husband, Al Cade; sister, Hilda Sample, and her children: Brian Cade (Marilyn), Marcus Cade, David Cade (Michele), Michael Cade (Tia), and Agnes Brandon (Ronald), as well as, her grandchildren: Marcus Cade Jr., Harrison “Alex” Cade, Preston Cade, Camille Cade, Zahria Brandon and Spencer Cade; and a host of cousins, nieces, nephews, loved ones and friends.

were pretty much told there wasn’t any point” applying for grants at this point.

The director argued that Crockett was stuck on the idea of a “joint library with the community college. We already explored that. The community college is not interested in that ... they’re already in the pipeline” with a new school building being planned behind the existing one near Melfa.

According to the information distributed by Thornton, the “$3.5 million referendum will cost the taxpayers $257,536 per year for 20 years. Taxpayers now pay $345,000 per year to operate the library. Add the operational costs with the ... bond payment (and the) total (would be) $603,536 per year or $50,294 per month of your tax dollars to fund the library.”

Crockett said he and Thornton also gave information during a radio program.

“The supporters of the library referendum worked very hard,” Crockett said Wednesday. “Though the referendum was defeated, I am committed to facilitate in meetings to explore possibilities in forming a partnership with Eastern Shore Community College and also the possibility of ... a less expensive alternative.”

Crockett said the supervisors want to help the library with its space needs. “I believe ... the supervisors should now take the lead in this issue and get the job done in a way” that would please everyone, he said Wednesday.

He claimed he took out a radio ad in an effort to “inform the public on the other side of the issue” since library proponents “were putting out their side of the issue. I thought it was incumbent on me to get the other side ... out ... so the voters could be fully informed.”

“At the very end of the information I provided,” Crockett noted, “in the last sentence I read, I encouraged everyone to exercise his or her right to vote.”

“At no time did I ask them to vote either way,” Crockett continued. “That’s why I ended my statement the way I did.” Crockett said he paid for the radio ad without the help or approval of the county.

A majority of absentee ballots favored the bond issue, as did voters in Mappsville, Rue, Onancock, Onley, Bobtown, Melfa and Painter. The issue failed in Chincoteague, Atlantic, Greenbackville, Oak Hall, Bloxom Parksley, Saxis, Acomac, Tangier and Bobtown precincts.

On Chincoteague, 364 voters were in favor, 772 were against. In Atlantic, it was 199 “yes” and 309 “no.” In Greenbackville, 272 approved, 313 opposed. In Oak Hall 312 wanted to spend for the library while 346 did not. In Bloxom, 103 were in favor and 187 were against. In Parksley, 171 voted “yes” and 334 said “no.” On Saxis, 44 approved while 73 were opposed. In Mappsville, 180 were in favor and 172 were against.

Rue voters went 187 in favor and 108 against. In Acomac, 343 voters were in favor and 435 in opposition. Twenty-one Tangier voters wanted the spending while 156 were against. In Onley, 497 voted “yes” and 448 said “no.” In Onley, 213 favored the spending while 195 did not. In Bobtown, 221 favored it and 213 did not. In Melfa, 275 voted in favor and 210 voted against. In Wachapreague, 156 voted “yes” and 192 voted “no.” There were 667 favorable votes in Painter and 393 unfavorable.

Absentee ballots in the county totaled 273 “yes” votes and 188 “no.”

Melfa Mayor Denise D. Bendick got 100 percent of the vote (106) for a return to office. The top winner for council was James R. Wilson with 90 votes. All six who ran for seats on the panel were elected. Woodrow C. Gaskins got 85 votes, Daniel F. Macca got 72, David A. Peffer got 68, John L. Thornton got 84 and Ann P. Elder took 67.

In Painter, Mayor Connie Widgeon Campbell was returned with 100 percent (42) of the votes. Kim Randall Savage got the most votes for council (39). The other five who ran for the half-dozen seats on the board were Barry Chance Frey, who received 33 votes; Eric T. Harris with 34; Stephen J. Hearne with 36; James N. Sturgis with 38; and Thomas L. Willett with 35.

In a statewide election, U.S. Sen. Mark Warner, a Democrat, narrowly retained his seat. There was a 40 percent turnout of voters in Northampton. Registrar Terrence P. Flynn showed a completed canvass with 1,890 voting for Warner. Republican challenger Ed W. Gillespie got 1,553 ballots. Robert C. Sarvis, a Libertarian, garnered 127 votes. Gillespie got 5,259 votes in Accomack to Warner’s 4,133. Sarvis took 256.

Rep. E. Scott Rigell, a Republican, retained his 2nd District seat. A majority of those who cast their ballots in Northampton (1,861) voted for Rigell, who represents the Eastern Shore, Virginia Beach, Norfolk and northern Newport News. Challenger Suzanne D. Patrick, a Democrat got 1,674 votes.

In Accomack, Rigell took more than 60 percent of the vote (5,810), while Patrick got 3,778.
At 40 years old, Contina Savage knows what it’s like to feel a lump in her breast. She knows the worry of wondering if, even though she’s young and has no family history of breast cancer, she’ll be the first.

So far, every lump she’s felt has been free of cancer, but that doesn’t stop Savage from having regular breast-cancer screenings. She knows that early detection could save her life.

Savage was among nearly two dozen women who attended a recent free community breast-cancer screening event at Riverside Shore Cancer Center in Nassawadox. The eighth annual event welcomed women from all walks of life and all areas of the Shore.

Some women received clean bills of health, and others were advised to seek further testing with their primary-care or women’s-health physician. According to the Virginia Breast Cancer Foundation, one in eight women will get breast cancer. While there is no prevention and no known cause of non-inherited breast cancer, there are proactive measures women can take to find breast cancer early. As Savage pointed out, breast cancer detected in its earlier stages is easier to treat.

“Doing breast self-exams is the number one measure women can take for preventative health. Number two would be to get an annual primary care and/or women’s-health exam,” said Theresa Long, a nurse practitioner with Riverside Partners in Women’s Health. Long was one of three nurse practitioners who volunteered to provide clinical breast exams at the event.

She explained to many of her patients at the event that it’s important to have an annual well-woman exam every year. The exam will include a breast exam, and patients can discuss their breast health and recommended next steps with their healthcare provider.

Along with the breast screenings, the women who attended the community event received education on breast-cancer signs and symptoms that merit further evaluation.

“If you have discharge or notice changes or anything abnormal, you need to have it checked,” Long said.

Riverside invited Tracey Dedicatoria, health educator for the Virginia Department of Health’s Eastern Shore Health District to participate in the event. Dedicatoria is the local coordinator for Every Woman’s Life, a funding program for women who need reproductive health evaluation but may not have the means to afford it.

“If a woman is eligible for the funding, the voucher authorizes everything: screening mammogram, ultrasound, diagnostic mammogram, three- and six-month follow-up, surgical consult, and biopsy, if needed,” Dedicatoria said. “It authorizes everything all at once so that if there is a finding, the next steps can happen as quickly as possible.”

Women of all ages attended the event, including 39-year-old Ramona Kellam whose mother would only come if Kellam signed up, too.

“I was encouraged to come so I could get... my mom to come,” said Kellam, who has a family history of breast cancer.

Kellam, a home-health registered nurse, received a clean bill of health and a plan to continue with her exams.

“Sometimes women believe that not knowing is better than knowing,” said Long. “With so much technology and innovation in healthcare, it is so much better to find out early because this disease in its early stages can be managed; there is so much hope today.”

EARLY DETECTION

There is no prevention for breast cancer. The American Cancer Society (ACS) suggests every woman create a personal action plan for early detection.

Part A: Mammogram. A mammogram can give you a head start on treatment. Some lumps are too small to feel and may only be detected through a mammogram. The ACS cites yearly mammograms as the most important part of your early detection plan.

Part B: Clinical Breast Exam. Beginning in their 20’s, women should discuss with their primary care or women’s health provider their personal need for periodic clinical breast exams. A clinical breast exam includes a discussion of your personal health history, looking at your breasts in front of a mirror with your hands on your hips and an examination of the entire breast including the armpit and neck and using differing amounts of pressure on the breast.

Part C: Breast Awareness. Be familiar with your breasts. You are the person most likely to notice changes in them. If you notice a change, lump or something abnormal, make an appointment with your doctor to have it examined. According to the ACS most lumps are non-cancerous but it is best to have it checked. Ensure you are completing self-breast exams on a monthly basis.

Football on the Eastern Shore is winding down. There is tonight’s game between Arcadia and Northampton in Eastville, with both teams looking for their second win of the season.

Nandua, currently ranked 13th in the 2A East standings, is idle but in pads this week preparing for the playoffs next week. As things stand today, its opponent would be fourth-ranked Goochland, 7-2 heading into a match-up this week with Amelia County, 6-3.

Of course, all that could change as Nandua has a chance to move to 12th despite being idle, and Goochland could move up or down, depending on results this week.

Whatever transpires, Nandua will be on the road facing a formidable opponent.

According to Virginia High School League records, the last state playoff win by a Shore District school was in 1995 when Northampton beat King William 51-20 to advance to the state championship game. Nandua last won a playoff game in 1990 with a 31-14 victory over New Kent. Arcadia last had a state playoff win in 1987, 24-7 over Lancaster.

The reasons that Shore schools do not fare well against competition from across the bay have been debated at length, but most deal with the lack of established youth football programs. With the emergence of Pop Warner football and continuation of recreation youth football, hopefully the tide will change soon.

Trio of Top Runners

Early in the season, I commented on three players who were off to spectacular starts, compiling incredible stats that, if maintained, would reflect outstanding season totals.

Well, all three continued to propel their respective teams to wins with performances that jumped off the stats sheet.

Gardner Fosque joined Chincoteague in mid-season last year as a sophomore and rushed for 500 yards in five games while sharing carries with the established starters. The Ponies won all five of those games after opening the season with four defeats.

This year, Fosque took center stage and rushed for 1,596 yards on 149 carries, better than 11 yards per attempt, and scored 25 touchdowns. Those yards were compiled in nine games, but in several of those games, Fosque was limited to five or fewer carries because Chincoteague stormed to early leads winning its first seven games before dropping the final two.

Nandua’s Tyreim Blake was a dual threat, running for 1,309 yards and passing for 752 yards with 16 rushing touchdowns and seven passing touchdowns. Blake was also an outstanding defensive back as a defensive back, intercepting four passes and delivering punishing tackles. As a running back, Blake could run away from defenders or lower his shoulder and push for additional yardage.

Broadwater’s Tyler Major averaged 10.5 yards a carry while running for 1,482 yards in only eight games. The junior running back scored 24 touchdowns for the Vikings, who finished the season 5-3.

Major will be a force next season for Broadwater, which was narrowly bumped from the playoffs when a forfeit accepted from Brunswick cost the Vikings a bonus point that meant the difference between being ranked sixth and fourth and a spot in the playoffs.

It’s a team game, but these guys led the way this season.

Nandua Knocks Off Northampton 42-6

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Nandua upped its record to 7-3 with a 42-6 win over Northampton last Friday and now ranks 13th in the 2A East standings with a bye this week and facing a playoff game at Goochland next Friday if nothing changes based on this week's games.

“I was very happy with the team’s performance Thursday night. It was nice to see our seniors come through on senior night. They’ve been through a lot of good and bad times, and we’ve been through a lot as a program the last week or so. It’s because of our great senior leadership that we’ve been able to pull through,” said interim co-head coach Tom Rotkowski, who with Deitrick Downing assumed the helm of the football team following the suspension of head coach Chris Miles following an incident on the sidelines at Arcadia the previous week. The situation is currently under investigation.

Tyreim Blake intercepted a Northampton pass on the Jackets’ first offensive play of the game. “I thought it was our best defensive performance of the season against a much improved Northampton offense,” said Rotkowski, who felt Blake’s interception set the tone.

A 35-yard run by Anthony Smith in the first quarter set up a one-yard touchdown run by Trevor Wessells with 8:15 remaining in the first quarter.

Northampton’s Steve Wilson recovered a Nandua fumble to stop the Warriors’ second drive, but Blake got Nandua on the scoreboard before the first quarter expired with six-yard touchdown run.

Nandua got two quick scores late in the first half. Mahagee Wise blocked a punt that Jakorah Parker ran in for a score. And then with only seconds remaining in the half, Blake hit Travon Pitt on a 40-yard touchdown pass to give Nandua a 28-0 halftime lead. Wessells kicked two extra points, and Wise caught a 2-point conversion from Trevon Cooper.

Blake registered the only score of the third quarter with an 11-yard touchdown run. Adrian Clark provided the extra point.

Nandua’s final score came in the fourth quarter on a Smith one-yard plunge.

Northampton earned its lone score late in the fourth quarter with a 35-yard completion from quarterback Dyshawn Beckett to Mitchell Pidgeon that set up a one-yard run by Beckett.

Jacket rushers were led by Hakeem Berry and Daniel Jean, who had a kick return deep into Nandua territory, which set up the Northampton score.

Jacket coach Ty Traister said Austin Brady and Bryan Christian had good games on defense.

Blake led Nandua rushers with 85 yards on eight attempts and finished with 1,309 on the season in addition to passing for 752 yards. Smith added 81 yards on 11 carries.

“Offensively, we were able to work on things that we are going to stick to throughout our playoff run,” said Coach Rotkowski.

Defensively, Wessells and Will Farlow had seven tackles each. Pitt and Hunter Cooper each had six tackles. George Abrogabir and Cedric Walters had five tackles each. Blake had two interceptions.

Northampton hosts Arcadia tonight in a 7 o’clock start in the only game being played on the Shore this week. “I think this being our last game at home, our guys will come out and play well for the home crowd,” said Coach Traister.

A host of Northampton tacklers, including Daniel Jean, 22, brings down Nandua’s Tyreim Blake in action Friday night. Nandua came away with a 42-6 win.
Chinco Caps Season with 54-16 Loss to Greenbrier

By Bill Sterling

Chincoteague had remained healthy this season while piling up seven wins, often resting the starters after building up big leads in several games.

But when the injuries started hitting the Ponies, they came in force, and by the end of Friday night’s 54-16 defeat by Greenbrier Christian, Chincoteague was reduced to a freshman and a converted tight end for its only two running backs.

It started in the Fuqua game the previous week when running back Anthony Wailes went down with a sprained ankle after rushing for 121 yards in just over a quarter. The junior was also the Ponies’ leading tackler. Coach Nick Howard hoped for Wailes’ return against Greenbrier Christian, but by midweek it was apparent it wasn’t going to happen. To make matters worse, Wailes’ replacement, Cody Britton, complained of stomach pains following the game and was diagnosed with a lacerated spleen, taking him out of action for the season finale.

Then when the game did start, Chincoteague lost two backup running backs, Noah McGee and Issac Haymond, to concussions in the first half.

The Ponies still had Gardner Fosque, who gained 1,596 yards this season, averaging better than 11 yards a carry while scoring 25 touchdowns, but in the third quarter he took a shot to the leg, and Howard pulled him, not wanting to risk further injury in a lost cause.

“At one time we had six guys on the sidelines injured, and it seemed they were all running backs,” said Howard.

He added that Greenbrier Christian was maybe the Ponies’ toughest opponent of the season. “If we had been completely healthy, it would have been a good match-up. I think they were a notch better than Fuqua because they have played a much tougher schedule."

Greenbrier, now 5-5, had losses against prep powerhouses Bishop Sullivan and Nansemond Suffolk Academy.

Chincoteague trailed only 6-0 after the first quarter before the injuries started accumulating. But a couple of big plays in less than 20 seconds of playing time also turned the tide. Greenbrier blocked a punt and ran it into the end zone for a touchdown, then on the ensuing kickoff, forced a fumble and also ran that in for a touchdown.

“The guys we had in there played hard, but after the injuries and the big plays, we were out of the game,” said Howard.

Chincoteague’s first score came on a Fosque two-yard touchdown run with Haymond getting the 2-point conversion. In the fourth quarter, quarter-back Larry Harper scored on a 65-yard run and also added the 2-point conversion.

The Ponies, who finished their 2014 season with a 7-2 record, defeated Greenbrier Christian 39-0 a year ago, and Howard recalled that he pulled his starters early in the third quarter. This year, Fosque carried the ball no more than four times in at least three games, and the Ponies rarely passed after taking a lead. The Pony coach was not happy Greenbrier kept its starters in until the last few minutes and passed in an attempt to score throughout the game.

“They did have a different coach, who was the offensive coordinator last year,” Howard noted. “They were also a much better team than last year, having brought in four very skilled players who made an impact.”

Still, Howard was proud of his Ponies, who will return all but eight of 38 players and tied a school record with seven wins while representing the school and community so well this season.

“It was a great season,” said Howard. “It didn’t end the way we wanted, but we have a lot to be proud of, and we appreciate the way this community supported us throughout the year.”

Firebirds Felled by Kent County 44-13; Finale Tonight with Jackets

Visiting football team Kent County from Maryland spoiled Arcadia’s Senior Night with a 44-13 win Friday night.

Firebird coach Tony Nock said his players seemed flat before the start of the game and played that way when the whistle sounded. “I told them in the locker room that they were quiet and hoped this was the calm before the storm. But our tempo wasn’t there, and we just couldn’t get it going, although we had a couple of players giving it all they had on every play.”

Arcadia’s 12 seniors hope they can go out with a win tonight when they travel to Northampton for the season finale. After making the playoffs last year with a 6-4 record, Arcadia is 1-8 entering the final week. “We have 12 seniors, and our record is not what we thought it would be at the beginning of the season,” said Nock. “I can go back and count 10 plays that would have made a big difference in our season, but we have to accept where we are and hopefully finish strong.”

Kent County, now 6-3, held a 28-0 halftime lead on strong running from Marquan Greene, who scored four touchdowns and rushed for 77 yards on only seven carries. He also returned a punt for a touchdown.

The Firebirds scored twice in the second half, first on a 70-yard pass from Josh Sanss to Kyric Weathers, and then on the final play of the game on a Jamal Savage 10-yard run. Logan Godwin kicked the extra point following the first touchdown, but the Firebirds did not get to attempt an extra point on the second TD with time expired.

Savage was the leading rusher for Arcadia with 135 yards on eight carries. Travon Copes, who was injured in the first half and did not return, had 33 yards on five carries.

Weathers had 30 yards, Contrel Brown had 27 yards, and the team rushed for 225 on 28 carries.

Tyric Harris and Rickie Shrives led Arcadia defenders with eight tackles each. Keyandre Bundick and Quinny Payton had five each.

Broadwater Wins Boys’, Girls’ Cross Country Metro Titles

Broadwater won the Metro Conference cross country championship for both the boys’ and girls’ divisions as Vikings Tommy Golibart and Sydney Parks each were named MVP runners.

Golibart paced all runners with a first-place time of 18:04, followed by Broadwater’s Nick Gomer in 18:12. Vikings Robby Parker and Jackson Rose, both freshmen, were fourth and sixth, in 18:48 and 19:15, respectively. Jack Buchholz was ninth in 20.00 to give Broadwater five of the top 10 spots and earn All-Conference honors.

Jacob McClaskey, 12th-20:51; Andrew Harman, 16th-21:40; and Adam Buell, 18th-22.02; had top 20 finishes.

Parks led all girls with a first-place time of 20:46. Broadwater was the only school to field a complete team. Other Vikings in the top 10 and making All-Conference were Kate Gomer, 4th-21:58; Carly Wardius, 6th-22:15; Jean Tankard, 8th-22.22; Julie Xiong, 9th-23:20; and Anna Sexauer, 10th-23:31.

Other Viking girl runners included Charlotte Graham, 11th-23:55; Vera Cameron, 12th-26:34; Elizabeth Floyd, 16th-30:36 and Katherine Xu, 17th-31:01.

Coach Hack was named All-Metro Coach of the Year.

Broadwater Sees Season End with 43-32 Fuqua Loss

By Bill Sterling

On a chilly night in Farmville, Broadwater came out on the short end of a 43-32 decision to Fuqua School and also dropped out of the top four in the Division IV football rankings for the Virginia Independent Schools Athletic Association. With the loss, the Vikings missed the playoffs and saw their season come to an end, despite having a winning record of 5-4.

The Vikings dropped from third to sixth in the state rankings, only a razor-thin margin from fourth place and a spot in the state playoffs. In fact, a point Broadwater lost by accepting a forfeit last week from Brunswick and not winning on the field was the difference in being ranked sixth and fourth.

Broadwater coach Noble Palmer said that in the second half, his team played extremely hard “and became the team I thought they could be last summer.”

He credited halftime adjustments by assistant coaches Ian York and David Weatherley (assistant coach Vladimir Burrows was unable to make the trip) as helping the Vikings combat the larger Fuqua players in the second half.

Taylor Major opened the Viking scoring with a 30-yard touchdown run. Tyler matched his brother’s output with his own 30-yard scoring run. Fuqua answered with two touchdowns of its own, but held a 14-12 lead with two successful kicks as opposed to a pair of failed kicks for the Vikings.

Tyler Major scored again in the second quarter on a four-yard run to give the Vikings an 18-14 lead, but Fuqua took a 29-18 halftime lead by answering with two touchdowns before intermission.

The Falcons lengthened their lead with a third-quarter touchdown on a 40-yard run.

In the fourth quarter, Tyler Major scored twice to give him four touchdowns on the night and 24 for the season in only eight games, while rushing for 1,482 yards, averaging 10.5 yards a carry.

But it wasn’t enough as Fuqua had a 20-yard run sandwiched between the two Viking touchdowns, making the final 43-32 in favor of the home-standing Falcons.

Viking quarterback Austin Murphy had an outstanding game, completing 17 of 25 passes for 180 yards. Major Morgan was the primary receiver, catching eight balls for 115 yards. Kelly Reagan had three receptions for 28 yards. R.C. Cooley had four grabs for 23 yards, and Taylor Major had two for 14 yards.

Will Sexauer led Viking defenders with 14 tackles, Cortland Bunce had 13, Tyler Major had 10, and Dontae Weatherly had eight.

Sexauer led the Broadwater defense for the season with 76 tackles, two sacks and two fumble recoveries. Bunce was next with 75 tackles and a sack.
Shore District Volleyball Team Announced

Coaches have named the 2014 Eastern Shore All-District volleyball team. Northampton, the district champion, placed Taylor Webb, Defensive Player of the Year, and Kennedy Webb, co-Offensive Player of the Year, on the team, while Nandua landed three players, including Caroline Harvie, co-Offensive Player of the Year, Sarah Puchalski and Kimberly Wert. Chincoteague’s Emily Haugh fills out the team. All but Wert are repeats from last year’s All-District team.

Named to the second team were Taylor Nadeau and Angela Head of Northampton, Ashley Fisher and Shyanne Gordon of Nandua, Cana Lankford of Arcadia and April Zell of Chincoteague, who is also the Libero of the Year in the district.

Honorable mention honors went to Tiffany Trader of Arcadia, Chelsey Barker of Nandua and Monique Ayers and Ashlyn Arnold of Northampton.

Northampton coach Cathy Doughty speaks of Taylor and Kennedy Webb, twin sisters who are juniors, as one unit usually. “They work hard at every practice on every drill, and they condition hard every day. They never need to be reminded of the importance of pushing it. By quietly going about their training they bring out the best in everyone around them,” says Doughty.

Kennedy, the co-Offensive Player of the Year, had 94 aces and 129 kills this season. Taylor, the Defensive Player of the Year, had 33 blocks and 198 digs.

Doughty adds, “Taylor and Kennedy have very high volleyball IQs. They know when to make a certain shot under certain conditions, and along with great technique, that is part of what makes them exceptional volleyball players.”

Chincoteague coach Danielle Love says Emily Haugh was a force at the net, accumulating 47 aces this season. “Emily has a unique ability to read the opponent and adjusts well to hitters,” says Love. “As a senior middle hitter, her court presence and leadership will be greatly missed next year.”

Coach Love says of April Zell, who had 41 digs for Chincoteague, “Her speed allows her to cover an impressive amount of the court and her hustle topped that of all of her teammates.”

Caroline Harvie has been a three-year starter for Nandua. A senior, Harvie was named the co-Offensive Player of the Year this season for her ability to deliver winning spikes, but she also was adept at making digs and setting up teammates with assists.

Nandua’s Sarah Puchalski had outstanding leaping ability, enabling her to rank high in kills despite not being among the taller Warriors. Puchalski is a senior and will be missed next season.

Kimberly Wert was a force at the net for Nandua. A sophomore, she will be a key returning player for the Warriors next season.

Nandua Tops Arcadia, Falls in Regional Semis

Nandua won a Conference 41 matchup with Arcadia at home on Monday with a 25-17, 25-22 and 25-22 sweep.

Caroline Harvie had 18 digs, 11 kills and two assists. Amanda Baylis had 15 digs and nine kills. Kimberly Wert had seven digs, eight kills and two blocks. Sarah Puchalski had nine digs.

Nandua lost to Maggie Walker in the regional semi-finals Wednesday. Stats were not available at press time.

Chincoteague and Northampton compete in the Conference 41 volleyball tournament tomorrow at Appomattox Regional Governor’s School in Petersburg.

Brooke Buckman Wins State Championship

Brooke Buckman, a junior at Chincoteague High School, secured her third state champion win in the Pennsylvania State 4-H horse show held recently in Harrisburg. More than 950 riders were in attendance for the three-day event. Buckman is riding her pony, Houston Blue, which she and her mother, Lois, trained. Buckman recently won the Pony Derby money class held at the Asbury Classic in New Jersey. She also has won several year-end Grand Champion circuit awards and other money classes and has been awarded three varsity letters from the U.S. Equestrian Federation, acknowledging student equestrians. Buckman travels the East Coast to compete. Her horses are kept at “Little White Lies Farm,” named after her first pony. Buckman is coached by Nona Garson, a two-time Olympic rider for the USA Equestrian team. Buckman is also a varsity cheerleader and softball player for Chincoteague High School.
Northampton Field Hockey Drops 1-0 Contest; Players Honored

The Northampton field hockey team lost a 1-0 heartbreaker to George Mason in the conference tournament last week.

“We had a very young team this season with only two seniors, two juniors, two sophomores and 10 freshmen, so I am really proud of the way they competed. We should have plenty of experience next year,” said Jacket coach John Gorman.

Two Lady Jackets were named first-team All-Conference. Forward Adrianna Simpson, a senior, and junior Erica Head, a midfielder, were first-team selections.

Named to the second team were freshman Lizbeth Gildo, a forward; freshmen Hayley Marshall and Alex Marshall, midfielders; and defenders Brittany Glennon, a senior, and Karla Benevides, a sophomore.

Northampton is the only Shore school that competes in field hockey.

Cross Country Runners Compete in Conference; All-District Team Named

Evan Lawrence of Nandua finished ninth and Hector Cime of Arcadia 10th in the Conference 33 cross country meet held last Thursday in Williamsburg.

Nandua was fourth in the conference meet with 105 points with Arcadia fifth with 115.

The finishes by the two local runners were even more impressive when considering that Maggie Walker, which totally dominates cross country across the state in 2A competition, took the first seven places. Other than the Maggie Walker runners, only a runner from second-place Bruton beat Lawrence and Cime, who finished in 18:55 and 18:58, respectively.

Nandua’s Matthew Teasley, a freshman, finished 17th in 21:29, and Jack Schreiber, a sophomore, finished 20th in 21:55.

Arcadia’s Tahre Pettit was 22nd in 22:10, and teammate Evan Grove was 24th in 22:29.

Other local runners were Evan Grove (A), 24th-22:29; Garrett Baylis (N) 28th-24:01; Michael Press (A) 29th-24:50; John Dedicatoria (A) 30th-24:50; Drake Greer (N) 31st-25:12; Max Burke (A) 32nd-27:26; Henry Hollandsworth (N) 33rd-27:30; and Avery Chun (A) 34th-27:37.

Among the girls, Nandua’s Ellie Harvie had the best showing with a 19th place in 25:32. Nandua was fourth and

Dear Editor:

For nearly 70 years, Wallops has been an integral member of the Eastern Shore community. You’ve shared in our vast successes over the years and you’ve stood with us during the tough times as well. The Antares rocket failure last week was a reminder that space flight is hard. Still, there’s a lot of momentum here at Wallops and that momentum continues to move us forward.

Wallops has an incredibly diverse mission set. As I write this, our sounding rocket program is prepping for a launch out of White Sands, scheduled for Nov. 6, along with two launches in Norway planned later this month. The balloon program office is deployed to Antarctica for three flights while actively preparing to fly from New Zealand next spring. Our aircraft office has convened an accident investigation board — over the Federal Aviation Administration and supported by NASA — and is poring through data, photos/video, and physical evidence to identify the root cause of the Antares failure. We have every bit of confidence that the team will get to the root cause, correct it, and keep moving forward. What we learn will make our entire launch program even stronger.

As we continue the mission and work to return Antares and MARS to launch, I’m heartened by the outpouring of support from our elected leaders at all levels of government, our stakeholders, regional partners, and our community closer to home. Thank you for standing together with us as we move forward.

In the aftermath of last week’s Antares failure and the tragic accident of Virgin Galactic’s SpaceShipTwo, we are reminded of how challenging this business is and how unforgiving it can be. People don’t get into this line of work because it’s easy; the obstacles are many in an environment fraught with adversity and unknowns. But, at NASA we’ve always taken on the toughest challenges, and it’s the intrinsic rewards in overcoming those challenges and making a difference in our everyday lives, our Earth and beyond that keep us moving forward. The men and women of Wallops and all our mission partners are proud to have served the region for 70 years and we look forward to the ongoing pursuit of the dreams and discoveries that lie ahead.

Special Olympics Says ‘Thanks’

Dear Editor:

The SOAR (Special Olympics Awareness Reception) recently held at King’s Creek Inn was an enormous success, thanks to many people too numerous to name individually. I would like to thank those who supported the event with money, advertisements, flyers, auction items, refreshments, or entertainment, and our wonderful community who came to the event. Your response was overwhelming and humbling! Because of you, our local Special Olympics organization raised much-needed funds to improve and expand.

Please visit us on Facebook @ Special Olympics Virginia Area 19, and watch for future events to see our athletes in action and realize how much your support helped!

Sandy Taylor, Committee Member, Area 19
