Local Crash of Delaware Vehicles Kills One

By Linda Cicoira

A Delaware woman was killed in a traffic crash in northern Accomack County last weekend, according to a State Police spokesperson.

Thanmayee Yerkala, 27, of Castle Rock was ejected from the back seat of a 2002 Accord and died at the scene, Sgt. Michelle Anaya reported Monday. Yerkala was not wearing a seat belt.

The collision occurred at about 1:50 p.m. on Fleming Road south of Sign Post Road in Horntown. Sharon Paul of Newark, Del., was driving the Honda south on Fleming Road when “she drove off the roadway, overcorrected and crossed into the northbound lane of traffic,” the sergeant said. “The vehicle was struck in the rear passenger door by a 2015 Dodge Ram (before) coming to rest in the woods.”

Paul and an unidentified front-seat passenger were flown to Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury, Md. The extent of their injuries was not disclosed. Paul was charged with failure to stay in the correct lane.

The driver of the Dodge, J.R. Burton of Milton, Del., and his front-seat passenger were not injured.

Rescue units from Oak Hall, Greenbackville and Chincoteague also responded to the accident, a spokesperson for the 9-1-1 Center reported.

Chicken Housing Shortage To Be Addressed

The chicken industry on the Eastern Shore wants to cross the road into Northampton County.

While construction of dozens of chicken houses is being planned for Accomack County, the debate about zoning changes to allow facilities in Northampton continues.

Meanwhile the conservation group, Virginia Eastern Shorekeeper, has scheduled a community meeting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, during which, according to Director Jay Ford, he and others will “provide information on the current state of poultry operations … plans for expansion, and the potential risks inherent.”

In his announcement of the upcoming session, Ford noted, “These changes are occurring rapidly and have long-term consequences, both good and bad, for our region. For these reasons, it is so important we all have the information needed to make smart decisions that safeguard our environment, our economy and health of the citizens of the Eastern Shore for generations to come.”

Accomack Supervisor Grayson Chesser, a well-known decoy carver and conservation advocate, recently said following a recent Board of Supervisors meeting that he would no longer be donating to Shorekeeper because Ford uses “scare tactics.”

Planning Commission Supports Montessori School Growth

By Ron West

The Trustees of Franktown United Methodist Church (UMC) applied for the Montessori Children’s House of Franktown to the Northampton Planning Commission to obtain the full range of permissions implied in the county’s Zoning Ordinance regarding schools.

In the past, the Montessori School has received three special-use permits (SUPs). The first was to establish a school, the second to allow students up to the age of 9 and a third to construct additional buildings on its property adjacent to Franktown UMC.

Commissioner Dr. Mark Freeze suggested that the school might be better off if it applied for the full range of ages to enable the school to grow to include secondary grades.

County Zoning Administrator Melissa Kellam noted that this SUP application would do exactly that. While in the past, the school has focused on lower elementary-aged students, it has a goal to expand its services to a full range of ages. The school has been in operation in Northampton County since 1985, moving to Franktown in 2007.

The commissioners voted 4-0-1 (with Commissioner Sylvia Stanley absent and Commissioner Kay Downing abstaining) to forward the application with their approval to the Board of Supervisors.

A second SUP application came from Timothy Wivell to locate a singlewide mobile home on property on Press Lane near Cheriton. The parcel is located in the Cobb Station Hamlet, but is zoned Agricultural/Rural Business, thereby requiring an SUP. There were no speakers for or against the proposed SUP.

The commissioners agreed 4-0-1, with Downing abstaining, to recommend approval to the Board of Supervisors, which will hold public hearings on both of the SUPs at its Sept. 8 session.

One of NYC’s Biggest Tax Scofflaws Says He Is from Onancock

By Linda Cicoira

A man who lists himself as living in Onancock owes New York City more than $90,000, according to an article that ran in the New York Daily News this week.

John Duffy owes the second highest total of fines among out-of-state people for traffic or parking violations. His bill totals $91,235 for 411 unpaid parking fines dating to 2010.

Duffy could not be found at the Onancock address. An old mailbox with his name on it sits at the end of a dead-end road nearby. The house that was close to the mailbox years ago is gone. A new house was built nearby, but those people said they don’t know Duffy.

Another man whose name was listed on the mailbox also said he doesn’t know the man or why his name would be on the mailbox.

In New York, the state can put a lien on real estate to prevent it from being sold if the owner has unpaid tickets. For out-of-state owner violations, the city could file a complaint with the state court where the vehicle is registered.

Chincoteague Drawbridge Delays

The Virginia Department of Transportation will conduct an emergency exercise with the Chincoteague drawbridge Tuesday, Sept. 22, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The exercise will test the capabilities to operate should the motor(s) fail. Traffic will be interrupted for approximately 30 to 40 minutes each time they test.
Ireneo Barrios Lopez, 25, of Nursery Drive in Painter was convicted last week in Accomack Circuit Court of raping his former girlfriend in August of 2014.

Lopez denied the charge, claiming that the act was consensual.

Judge W. Revell Lewis III ordered a psycho-sexual evaluation to assess the risk for future crime and to develop recommendations for intervention. Lopez was remanded to Accomack Jail to await sentencing.

The victim, who spoke through a Spanish interpreter, testified at the preliminary hearing that she was doing the laundry when Lopez came into her house. He was drunk and raped her, she said.

“He pushed me on the couch and got on top of me,” she said. “I started struggling with him … he started taking off my clothes and I said ‘no.’ That’s when he held me by the neck. … I struggled and struggled … he was too strong for me.”

The two met at work three years earlier. They lived together for a few months and separated in April 2014. In another case, Tanisha Renee Hamsley, 29, of Madam C.J. Walker Lane in Exmore pleaded guilty to three counts of passing a total of about $865 worth of bad checks on Sept. 26, 29 and 30, 2014. A presentence report was ordered. Hamsley is free on bond while awaiting sentencing.

Travis Shreaves, 23, of East Side Road on Chincoteague pleaded no contest and was convicted of receiving a stolen 2013 Honda 400EX 4-wheeler between Dec. 15, 2014, and Jan. 1, 2015. A criminal history was ordered. Caron Ele Walker, 36, of Williams Street in Onancock entered pleas of not guilty to counts of possession with the intent to distribute cocaine, occurring Nov. 5, 2014, and Jan. 13, 2015. Walker will remain in custody until trial.

Cornell Lee West Jr., 32, of Fletch er Road in Nelsonia pleaded guilty to distributing cocaine March 11 and 12, 2014. He was remanded to jail pending completion of a presentence report.

An Atlantic man, who was initially charged with murder and wound up pleading guilty to shooting at a house where about 80 people gathered for a party near Parksley in 2012, was back in court last week, charged with a probation violation.

According to records filed in Accomack Circuit Court, Jakori Krishawn Evans, 21, of Wishart’s Point Road violated his terms of probation by using cocaine. He was ordered to be held for no more than 60 days for evaluation and diagnosis by the Department of Corrections to determine his suitability for participation in the Youthful Offender Program.

Evans was sentenced to 10 years in prison, with eight years suspended, for shooting at a dwelling on Lankford Highway where Vladimir R. Sadin (also known as P-Man, Peggy or Piggie), 24, of Accomac was killed.

Mark Smith, who was 36 when he was sentenced, got 23 years in prison for killing Sadin. Evans was at the front door with Smith when he was denied entrance to the house. The key witness at Smith’s trial testified last May that he saw Evans shoot at the house.

The offenses occurred Dec. 15, 2014. Both were sentenced to six months and 10 days in jail for each crime, with six months suspended. Fluharty and Lowery also were fined $200.

Clinton Thomas Palmer, 55, of Melfa was convicted of misdemeanor driving after having been declared an habitual offender on July 19, 2015. He was initially charged with a felony. Palmer was sentenced to six months and 20 days in jail, with six months suspended. He was fined $250.
Northampton Schools Prepared for Students’ Return

By Ron West

School Board Chairman Eddie Lawrence told the Northampton County School Board last week that the schools were ready for the return of students.

He added that nearly all classroom positions have been filled and the bulk of the repairs completed.

Finance Director Brook Thomas offered the board a recommendation on how to secure enough bus drivers to meet the schools’ needs. Noting that two bus driver positions as well as two custodian slots remained unfilled, Thomas proposed the creation of a full-time hybrid position incorporating both jobs. The employee would drive a morning and afternoon bus run and work part of the day as a school custodian. Thomas provided a proposed pay scale for the hybrid position that would begin at $21,971 for an employee with no experience.

Board member Mickey Merritt applauded the concept and said it might be a model that other school systems could emulate. The board unanimous-ly agreed. Thomas noted that the new position could be advertised immediately and would be open to current employees as well.

One requirement will be that the individuals have or soon obtain a bus driver’s license.

With regards to future funding for a new high/middle school complex, Thomas reported that it might be possible to obtain some funding from the state’s Literary Fund, designed to provide low-interest loans for the construction of schools and libraries. She also is seeking information from the state regarding the possibility of using funding from a previously approved loan for new construction.

During the public input session, Trish Harmon provided the board with information on how teachers could include religious materials in their classroom. According to guidelines provided by the U.S. Department of Education, students may pray when not engaged in school activities or instruction, subject to the same rules designed to prevent disruption of the educational program by other privately initiated expressive activities.

Parent Lynier Linton expressed concern over problems with the registration of her child in the county’s pre-K program. She said she had received notification that her child had been registered for this fall only to receive a second letter noting that it was a mistake and her child is on a waiting list for an opening. With the start of school less than two weeks away, other similar sites already are filled. Earlier in the year, budget cuts in the county had reduced the number of pre-K classrooms. Lawrence advised her that his staff will look into the problem and keep her advised.

Lawrence reported that Sheriff David Doughty would like the school system to conduct an “active shooter” drill this fall during a teacher workday. The schools already conduct lockdown drills, designed to protect students and staff when there is a concern over a possible danger in or near a school building.
Northampton Superintendent Cites Reasons for a Happy New Year

By Ron West

The staff of Northampton County Public Schools was given a warm and rousing welcome as Superintendent Eddie Lawrence spoke at the annual gathering for employees the week prior to the return of the students.

Lawrence praised those present for the outstanding job they all did during the 2014-15 school term, his first as Northampton’s superintendent. He noted with pride the advancements made by students in each of the schools over the previous year.

Standards of Learning (SOL) test scores were up as much as 23 percent in some areas and most were several points higher than the state averages for the same period. Lawrence gave credit for the improvement to those on the front lines: the principals, teachers, and instructional assistants who worked with the students every day.

As each principal stood to introduce the new and returning staff members for his or her school, cheers rang out for everyone as they shook pom-poms that each had been given for the occasion. Thirty new classroom teachers will join those returning.

“We are poised to make great changes,” said Lawrence. “We had a great year, but the best is yet to come. Every student in Northampton County deserves a world-class education. Every parent wants a world-class education for their child, and we’re going to give it to them.”

Kiptopeke Elementary School
- Reading: up 14 percent
- Math: up 20 percent (in two years)
- Social Studies (history): up 10 percent
- Science: up 19 percent

Occohannock Elementary School

Chesser. “Sensational, to put fear into people. We heard the same thing tonight. … I don’t intend to be associated with any organization that does that. I’ll save that duck myself and sell it.”

According to Ford’s announcement, “Virginia Eastern Shorekeeper recognizes and appreciates the role that poultry plays in our region’s economy. However, a plan to ensure a sustainable industry that safeguards our natural resources and public health must be in place before unchecked growth outpaces our region’s ability to respond.”

Officials from Tyson Foods Inc. in Temperanceville are expected to participate in Ford’s meeting. Of the 10 or 11 applications involving 75 proposed poultry houses for Accomack, only one or two are not connected to Tyson’s.

At the supervisors’ meeting last month, Tyson’s Jerry Goodman assured the board that vegetative buffers would be placed, setbacks would be expanded, odor would be minimal and the $41 million payroll would grow. He said the company’s goal is to be a good neighbor.
COMMUNITY CARE PROGRAM

• If you received $2,000 to spend on whatever your organization needed - what would you use it for?
• Offsetting energy expenses, improving facilities, and funding new programs are just a few of the possibilities you can do for your members.
• Thanks to our Community Care program, you can do it!
  Propane receipts that you collect are like money in the bank. For every gallon shown on those receipts, your organization will earn $.02.

  What do you have to do to receive that money?
• Speak with your members about who uses propane in the area.
  Ask those people if they will donate their receipts to you.
• Ask businesses in your area if they use our propane. Businesses of all sizes, large and small, use propane, including many for their forklifts in warehouses, and are a great way to gather more receipts for your organization.

Carrying the well wishes of hundreds of people within the Riverside “family,” the final beam in the superstructure of the new hospital in Onley was bolted into place last Tuesday.

Riverside board members, team members, medical staff, auxiliaries and volunteers were invited to sign the steel beam over the course of a week. Hundreds of signatures, personal notes and quotations were left for posterity. Many team members noted their dates of service.

For Pamela Dix-Parker with the Riverside Foundation on the Shore, signing the beam was a way of expressing a close connection to the patient experience. “Our team does great work every day, and I am proud to have my name be a part of the very fabric of the new building,” she said.

John Peterman, administrator at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital, noted, “This is a significant milestone in the construction schedule. Construction is progressing safely and on-time, thanks to a superb construction team.”
Cheriton Seeks Ways To Help Businesses

By Ron West

Councilwoman Mary Mears, speaking for the Town’s Visionary Committee, offered recommendations on how to re-invigorate the downtown area. She suggested that council host a town hall meeting to find out what commercial landlords need and how to meet those needs. Mears noted that while some landlords are also the business owner, a second meeting could include all interested business owners.

Mears also spoke of the need to improve the appearance of some storefronts to make them more inviting to visitors, and the possibility of creating a town park.

Mayor Joe Habel noted that new businesses face the problem of how to remain financially stable long enough to gain a foothold in the area.

A final suggestion was to host a block party for all residents as well as visitors to the community.

Council agreed to host the town hall session with commercial property owners on Sept. 21 at 6:30 p.m.

Voters in all 17 precincts and those voting absentee in Accomack County will use new voting equipment to cast their ballots in the General Election Nov. 3.

“We will be using Unisyn Open Elect Voting Optical (OVO) Scan equipment and the OVI, the ADA compliant piece for the visually impaired,” said Registrar Patricia White. “These are comprehensive and secure paper-based digital voting systems that both validate and tabulate ballots.”

After voters are checked in they will be given a paper ballot and directed to a voting booth. “They will mark their ballots, then take them to the OVO scanner,” said White. “The voters will insert their ballot into the OVO scanner which reads the ballot and records it. Then they will put the ballot in to a locked box. “It is that simple.”

The new machines cost $111,000, according to Accomack Finance Director Mike Mason. The money came from the general fund. The state decertified the machines that were previously being used for security reasons.

For more information or to see a demonstration, call the Accomac office at 787-2935 or 824-0525.

Barbara met her husband Charlie while in High School; she was 14, he was 17.

It was a fun time in their lives when he drove them around in a 1935 Chevy with a rumble seat. They had five children. Charlie built their house in Randolph, N.J., with the help of his wife and grandfather.

Charlie and Barbara retired to the Eastern Shore so he could enjoy one of his favorite hobbies, fishing. He loved the Chesapeake Bay and a favorite Eastern Shore pastime, carving ducks.

Things took an unfortunate turn when Charlie’s doctor informed him that his brain was shrinking due to Alzheimer’s. His mother and sister had suffered from it as well. Barbara cared for Charlie at home as long as she could, but as his condition deteriorated and she could no longer provide the care he needed, he moved to Heritage Hall and was placed in Apple Grove, the Alzheimer’s unit. Charlie can no longer speak and must ambulate with the use of a wheelchair.

Barbara has been participating in the Walk To End Alzheimer’s on Oct. 3.
a volunteer for the past several years both at Heritage Hall and with the Alzheimer’s Association Southeastern Virginia chapter. She participates in fundraising activities for the Eastern Shore Walk to End Alzheimer’s and serves on the Eastern Shore Alzheimer’s Leadership Council. At Heritage Hall she assists with bingo parties, shopping trips, and other activities.

Barbara says, “It makes me feel better about the situation by volunteering to fight Alzheimer’s and to be with my husband and others by helping at the nursing home. Being around others who cannot care for themselves or families in the same situation actually helps me.”

Barbara and Charlie have been married 64 years. Volunteering has given Barbara the support she needs to continue to be a loving caregiver for Charlie.

On Saturday, Oct. 3, Barbara Hendershot will join more than 200 residents from the Eastern Shore in the one- to three-mile Walk to End Alzheimer’s® to support the Alzheimer’s Association in Nassawadox. The walk, held in more than 600 communities nationwide, is the world’s largest event to raise awareness and funds for Alzheimer’s care, support and research program. More than $67 million was raised for care and research in 2014. The 2015 goal is to recruit 492 teams across 6 Walks in Southeastern Virginia, including the Eastern Shore.

For more information about the Walk or to register a team, please visit alz.org/walk or contact Jennifer Chavez, development manager, at Jenn.Chavez@alz.org or by calling 800.272.3900.

NASA has awarded a contract to Harkins Contracting Inc. of Salisbury, Md., for the construction of a new Mission Launch Command Center (MLCC) at Wallops Flight Facility.

The new 14,174-square-foot facility will serve as the hub for interfacing with and controlling rockets, their payloads and associated launch-pad support systems during flight operations at Wallops.

“The Wallops launch range mission set has seen steady growth, transformation and diversification over the years,” said Bill Wrobel, Wallops Flight Facility director. “This new MLCC is a critical modernization project that will meet the needs of our operations today and take us well into the future.”

Recent operations underscoring the need for the new command center include commercial cargo resupply flights to the International Space Station, Department of Defense missions, and NASA’s Lunar Atmosphere and Dust Environment Explorer (LADEE), the first lunar mission to launch from Wallops.

This award is a firm-fixed price contract with a value of $5.6 million.

The Leadership in Energy & Environmental Design (LEED) Silver MLCC is a single-story facility that will be built on the main base of Wallops. The scope of the work includes asphalt and concrete paving, construction of storm water structures, and extension of communications and electrical ducts, as well as connecting the facility to existing water, electric and sanitary systems.

The building will consist of a steel frame with concrete masonry unit exterior construction, a modified bitumen roof, glass and metal storefront and curtain wall systems. Additional work under this contract includes the installation of a heating, ventilation, and air conditioning system, electrical systems, and interior architectural finishes, as well as verifying all construction requirements have been met.

The launch command center currently in use was designed in the 1950s to accommodate discrete, quick-turnaround missions characteristic of the Wallops Range mission set at the time, which included Project Mercury tests and suborbital rocket flights.

“The current command center has served us well over the years, but doesn’t have the capacity to meet the needs and requirements for advancing our nation’s goals and objectives in space,” said Wrobel.

Today, launch missions from Wallops embrace the facility’s traditional role in testing new technologies, along with enabling research and scientific investigations, and taking on larger-scale operations using small- and medium-class solid- and liquid-fueled rockets.

As NASA’s only launch range, the Wallops Range provides the operational environment for safe and successful flight operations for rockets, missiles, aircraft, unmanned aerial systems, and a variety of other mission types essential to the scientific, military and commercial use of space.

State Shells Out Grants To Help Local Oyster Growers Prosper

By Karen Hudson
Aquaculture Specialist
Marine Advisory Services
Virginia Institute of Marine Science

Tim Rapine, managing director of Ballard Fish and Oyster, leans on a 3,000-gallon round tank filled to the brim with oyster shell and water from nearby Cherrystone Creek.

Most of the shell has multiple oyster spat, days-old larvae attached to shell that will be placed on oyster beds near Cape Charles. The beds are owned by Cherrystone Aquafarms, Ballard’s aquaculture business. In a couple of years, these oysters will be the right size for shucking and help meet demand when wild oysters aren’t available.

“The demand is highest then,” Rapine explains, “so spat-on-shell grown oysters help fill the demand.”

As the oyster aquaculture industry in Virginia has grown exponentially over the last decade, Marine Advisory Services has helped growers and hatcheries in Virginia explore ways to expand the season, reduce labor costs, and improve oyster aquaculture profits. When Virginia oyster growers like Rapine were starting to experiment with spat-on-shell, the program helped fund the 2009 Practical Manual for Remote Setting in Virginia, a guide for starting spat-on-shell operations in Virginia.

“We experimented for a couple of years testing some shell using larvae from our hatchery at Willis Wharf,” Rapine said. “We’ve planted about 6,000 bushels a year, and this year, we’re set to plant about 30,000 bushels.”

And spat-on-shell, says Rapine, is also more sustainable. “Whatever we take off the beds is what we actually put there.”

Marine Advisory Services also provides technical assistance and grants to oyster growers and hatcheries, funding nearly $900,000 worth of projects related to oysters since the program started in 1998.

One grant enabled a grower to experiment with starting SOS earlier in the spring by heating the raw water in his tanks during the time before the creeks reached the ambient water temperatures necessary for the larvae to strike on the shell. Earlier oysters can gain weeks of grow-out time in the “wild,” yielding a larger and more valuable oyster at time of harvest.

“The Fisheries Resource Grant program is a great way for those in the seafood industry to try a new idea or a new concept without committing a lot of time and effort to a research project,” said Mike Oesterling, executive director of Shellfish Growers of Virginia.

This grant program is unique because it does not fund scientists, but instead depends on the industry to identify ideas that might help improve it.

Virginia’s General Assembly created the grant program in 1999. Since then, $2.2 million has been directed toward over 110 projects to help the seafood industry try new approaches. On Nov. 1, the Fisheries Resource Grant program will start accepting proposals for 2016 projects. See http://www.vims.edu/research/units/centerspartners/map/frg/index.php for details.

Jim Prince, Still Coaching and Loving It

By Bill Sterling

I n most professions, when you put in 44 years and have reached the age of 65, you are ready to ride into the sunset and leave the worries to someone else.

Not so with Jim Prince, a high-school football coach who says he still gets excited about what he does and doesn’t see slowing down in the near future.

Last Friday night, the 1968 Northampton graduate brought his First Flight football team from Kill Devil Hill, N.C., to Oak Hall to battle Arcadia, coming away with a 41-20 win over the Firebirds.

“I love going to work every day. Plus, I have no hobbies. I don’t know what I would do if I wasn’t coaching,” said Prince, now in his eighth season at First Flight after 14 years at Ocean Lakes in Virginia Beach.

Before taking over at Ocean Lakes, a brand new school at the time, winning a share of the Beach District title and reaching the playoffs four times, Prince was at Cox for five years.

Prior to that, he coached at James Madison University for 17 years, serving in a number of capacities, including offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

“I loved coaching in college. I have such great memories and was associated with so many great players. Earlier this month, I attended the Hall of Fame induction for Charles Haley at Canton, Ohio. I was the only coach Charles had for all four years at JMU,” said Prince, who grew up in Exmore.

From Northampton, Prince went to Shepherd University in West Virginia.

“I started out as a quarterback there, but when I couldn’t see over those big linemen, I switched to wide receiver,” Prince said, who was there from 1975-79.

A team captain his senior year, Prince’s standout football career ended prematurely at Shepherd when he was injured in the second game. “That’s when I knew I wanted to be a coach. I could see my playing days were over.”

After a year as a student assistant at Shepherd, he landed at JMU, where he stayed for 17 years. Although Haley, Clark and Norwood are the best known, Prince said 27 JMU players from his time there reached the NFL.

At Ocean Lakes, 46 players he coached went on to play in college and seven made it to the NFL. Marcus Davis, a quarterback who switched to wide receiver at Virginia Tech, was among the best known of the Ocean Lakes players coached by Prince.

“I could have stayed at Ocean Lakes forever,” said Prince, “but an assistant principal who was there who is now the principal at First Flight, called and offered me the job here.”

“I say it is like the Eastern Shore, only skinnier,” Prince said of the Outer Banks. “Of course, there are a lot more people. But, all in all, it’s a great place to live.”

“One of my daughters is the athletic director across the street at the middle school. My brother, Bill, also moved here and was an assistant coach for me from 2010 to 2013. He was set to be the wrestling coach at First Flight before his health forced him to leave coaching.”

Unfortunately, Bill’s health kept him from making the trip Friday night to Arcadia, where he was a longtime football and wrestling coach.

“Bill is battling diabetes. He has lost a part of a leg and is on a list for a kidney transplant. If you know Bill, you know he is a fighter,” said his brother, younger by four years.

A Virginian-Pilot article from 2008, when he announced he was leaving Ocean Lakes, stated, “Most people will remember Prince for his fiery personality and the emotion he brought to every game. It was commonplace to see the veins popping from his neck as he barked at his players or officials.”

Friday night, with his team leading 19-0 early in the second quarter, Prince was maybe a bit more subdued, but still very vocal on the sidelines as he yelled encouragement to his players. He also was quick to point out the need to move quicker and finish blocks.

He believes his current edition of Nighthawks has the potential to be very good. The school had only been in existence four years when he arrived and never had a winning record. In his first year, he led First Flight to an 8-3 mark and then went deep into the playoffs with a 10-3 record the next season.

His defensive coordinator, Mike Head, was with him at Cox and all 14 years at Ocean Lakes before joining him at First Flight two years ago. When Prince talks about coaches and players, both current and former, you can sense his attachment and the bond that remains through the years.

He said in 27 years of coaching high-school football, the two biggest changes he has seen are the number of times a team will pass the football and the size of the players.

“When I played, if you threw the ball 10 times a game, that was a lot. Today, teams are throwing it all over the place. Also, my high-school team had only one 200 pounder. Today, if you don’t have all your linemen weighing 200 pounds, you’re in trouble,” said Prince, whose players attend up to 90 weight sessions in the off-season.

Prince, remarried two years ago to Jacquie, a Kentucky native, concedes he has one other love outside family and football.

“I bought my first Corvette in 1975, and now I just bought my seventh Corvette. I am riding in it right now,” said Prince on a Sunday afternoon.

You can be sure he’s not looking in the rearview mirror, only ahead with a zest for life and football.

Safe Boating Class

On July 1, 2016, if you boat in Virginia waters you must carry a Safe Boating Card, regardless of your age.

U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 12-02 (Painter) will offer two boating safety classes in the fall. The classes will include Basic Boating Skills and Safety, followed by Advanced Boating Skills and Seamanship.

The Basic Boating Skills and Safety course covers all of the material that a beginning boater needs. The topics will include safe boat handling and even the type of boat to purchase. This course is designed for everyone, from those owning a boat for the first time, to those who have spent a lifetime on the water and need a Safe Boating Card or a refresher. The course qualifies for a Virginia Safe Boating card and will be held on Saturdays, Sept. 19 and 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Barrier Islands Center in Machipongo.

This course will be immediately followed by Advanced Boating Skills and Seamanship, a course designed for those who have either been on the water already or who are in possession of a Safe Boating Card and want to improve their skill. This course covers more advanced topics such as detailed navigation, line handling and knots, power systems, weather and radio protocols. Participants will receive the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Boating Skills and Safety Card and diploma.

The donation for the courses is $20 for each course separately, with loan of the textbook, and $35 for both courses, if taking them consecutively. Students taking the courses consecutively also keep the textbook.

Students may register by contacting Russell Vreeland at 7442-7029, rsvreeland@gmail.com or using the Virginia safe boating education website at http://my.register-ed.com/event/viewevents/92015
Broadwater jumped to a 19-0 lead in the first quarter on three Austin Murphy touchdown passes, and then Tyler Major added two touchdown runs of 8 and 55 yards in the second quarter as the Vikings shocked Chincoteague by taking a 33-0 halftime lead on the island en route to a 47-12 win Friday night at the Pony field.

Last year, the two waged an even battle as the Ponies overcame a 30-14 deficit midway through the third quarter to pull out a 42-30 win.

This year, the two teams were expected to be evenly matched, but Broadwater avenged the 2014 loss with a convincing victory.

“Our pass protection was outstanding, giving Austin enough time to find his receivers,” said Broadwater coach Noble Palmer. “They had to respect Tyler and the run game, and Austin has a quick release. He was on Friday night. We expected a tough battle that would go down to the last play. I had no idea the score would be what it was.”

As for the Ponies, who had an outstanding season last year with a 7-2 record, Pony coach Nick Howard said, “We kept shooting ourselves in the foot. We lost two fumbles and lost 10 yards on one we recovered. But give Broadwater credit; we had no answer for their passing attack. I did see a lot of positive things from our team in the fourth quarter.”

Major Morgan had touchdown receptions of 14 and 31 yards in the first quarter, while Taylor Major caught a 13-yard scoring pass from Murphy.

Taylor Major caught a 15-yard touchdown pass from Murphy in the third quarter to increase the Viking lead to 40-0.

Chincoteague finally got on the board in the fourth quarter on a 6-yard run by Collin Derrickson before Broadwater’s Tyler Major scored his third touchdown of the night on a 55-yard run.

Gardner Fosque capped the scoring with a 29-yard run with only 1:40 remaining. The Pony senior had 158 yards on 17 carries. Issac Haymond added 53 yards and ran hard, according to Coach Howard.

For Broadwater, Murphy was 12 of 15 for 172 yards for four touchdowns with no interceptions. Taylor Major and Morgan each had five catches for 72 and 68 yards, respectively, with each scoring twice. Tyler Major had 173 yards on 13 carries.

Leading the Viking defense was Dontae Weatherly with 13 tackles, followed by Morgan with a dozen. Morgan and Jimmy Lord each had a fumble recovery. Thomas Scott, who was 4 of 6 on extra-point attempts, had an interception.

Palmer noted that although his backs and receivers put up the points, the Viking offensive line of Hayden Mabalot at center, Jack Salm and Liam Kelly at guards and Dontae Weatherly and Thomas Scott at tackles provided the pass protection and run blocking to make those scores possible.

Jackets Fall to Mathews 14-8

After a scintillating win in the opener, Northampton missed an opportunity to go 2-0 with a 14-8 loss to Mathews Friday night at home.

Dyshawn Beckett, who scored five touchdowns and had almost 400 yards in total offense in the opener, scored the lone Jacket touchdown on a 70-yard run, but that was the only 6-pointer of the night for Northampton. Frederick Williams added the 2-point conversion as the Jackets trailed 14-8 at intermission.

The second half was a scoreless battle. “We could just never make that big play to tie the game up,” said Jacket coach Ty Traister. “It was a battle the whole way, but they played with more discipline than we did, and we just made too many mistakes. We as a coaching staff feel that this loss is really going to teach us a lot about what we need to improve moving forward. There is a lot of football left to play this season.”

Traister said Quinyon Williams had a good game as a left guard on offense. “Mike Jones really emerged on defense and made some big plays. But, all in all, we came up just a little bit short,” said Coach Traister.

Northampton, which will have played three games before Labor Day, travels to Northumberland tonight. The Indians blanked Surry County 38-0 last week.
Nandua Nipped 6-0 in OT As Defense Shines in Opener

All Mahagee Wise and Nandua needed on the final play of the game was one yard to tie the score with the opportunity to win on an extra point, but three Rappahannock tackles forced the Warrior receiver out of bounds one yard away from the end zone to give the visitors a 6-0 overtime win at Onley Friday night.

The two teams waged a scoreless tie throughout the game, with the Nandua defense stopping the Raiders three times deep in their territory in the first half.

“It was a good, old-time football game with the defenses and special teams dominating the game,” said Nandua coach Tom Rotkowski. “The effort was outstanding on both sides of the football. Our defense kept us in the ball game. It was a tough one to lose. But I am convinced our offense will come together and put some points on the board. We were just one yard short at the end.”

The Raiders scored on their first play of the overtime on a 10-yard run up the middle. Nandua lost five yards on its first three plays. Then after a timeout, Warrior quarterback Kelly Reagan threw a pass to Wise, who turned and dragged one tackler three yards, but then was stopped when two more Raiders corralled him and forced him out of bounds.

Defensively, Daquan Bailey led Nandua with 10 tackles, while Quashon Reid, Robert Bailey and Trevor Cooper had nine each. Trevor Wessells and Jhamir Poulson had five each. Reid also picked off two Raider passes, while Cullen Pruitt recovered a fumble.

On offense, William Gunter gained 45 yards on three carries, while Reid added 27 yards on eight carries. The Warriors only managed 100 yards rushing on the night. Reagan was 6 of 12 for 76 yards, with Wise catching two passes for 38 yards and Reid grabbing three for 28 yards. Wessells had a good night punting to pin Rappahannock deep several times.

Penalties hurt several Warrior drives with 10 flags for 95 yards compared to five for 35 for the Raiders.

Nandua travels tonight to Windsor, which took a 61-8 beating from Prince Edward County last week. In an unusual twist, no Shore teams are playing at home tonight.

Arcadia Grounded 41-27 by Jim Prince-Led First Flight

Arcadia fell behind First Flight 19-0 midway through the second quarter, but battled back in the second half before dropping a 41-20 decision to the school out of Kill Devil Hill, N.C., and coached by 1968 Northampton graduate Jimmy Prince.

“Coach Prince met me at midfield after the game and said, ‘Your guys just wouldn’t take no for an answer,’ ” said Arcadia coach Tony Nock. “I was proud of the guys and the way they refused to quit in the second half,” added Nock.

Arcadia trailed 27-13 at one point.

Contrell Brown, a 6’4”, 270-pound Firebird running back, ignited the crowd with a 57-yard touchdown run. “You could tell he smelled the end zone and wasn’t going to be denied on that run,” said Nock.

Arcadia’s Jamal Savage and Tyquan Payton also scored on one-yard runs.

Logan Godwin was 2-of-3 on extra-point kicks.

Offensively, Brown ran for 126 yards on 11 carries. Savage had 121 yards on 17 carries plus 81 return yards. Payton had 44 yards on 13 carries. Arcadia only had 10 yards passing.

Firebird linebackers Tyric Harris and Richie Shrieves led the team in tackles with nine and eight, respectively. Nock said lineman Koby Linton had an outstanding game with seven tackles and a sack. Devon Rogers and Kerric Hickman had six tackles each. Payton had five tackles and an interception.

For First Flight, Charlie Wright scored four touchdowns, three on rushes and another on a pass from sophomore quarterback Braxton Hughes. Prince said he had been looking forward to bringing his team to the Shore, where he was raised. “I was really excited about this game. I still have family and lots of friends in the area even though I have been gone for a long time,” said Prince, now in his 44th year of coaching. (See Postin’ Up on Page 22 for more on Prince.)

Next year, Arcadia will travel to the Outer Banks to play First Flight, a school of about 725 students.

The Firebirds travel to Franklin tonight. It is the season opener for the Broncos, who handled Lancaster 44-7 in a benefit scrimmage last week.
Northampton Hosts Volleyball Battle of the Bay Tourney

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Northampton hosted the first Battle of the Bay volleyball tournament, with West Point and Northumberland making the trek to Eastville to play Nandua and the home-standing Jackets.

Northumberland, behind the power play of Mary Kathryn Hall, who has committed to playing college volleyball at Christopher Newport next season, was 2-0 on the day without dropping a set.

Northampton topped West Point in three sets, 25-16, 25-17 and 25-20, with Taylor Webb earning 10 kills, seven aces and five assists. Kennedy Webb had five aces, five kills and 10 assists. Makayla Wilson and Evelyn Dunton added four kills, while Ashlyn Arnold led the team with four digs and Angela Head had five assists and four digs.

Against Northumberland, the Lady Jackets lost two close sets, 25-23 and 25-20, after dropping the first set 25-9.

Kennedy Webb had six kills and eight assists. Sara Weber tied for team high with two aces. Ashlyn Arnold, Evelyn Dunton and Angela Head each had four digs. Taylor Webb had five assists.

Nandua opened the tournament with a 3-1 loss to West Point and then fell in three sets to powerful Northumberland. Nandua coach LeAndra Sabatino said her team was pointing to its home opener against Holly Grove on Sept. 10.

“I thought it was a great tournament,” said Northampton coach Cathy Doughty. “I would like to thank the teams that traveled from the Western Shore, both West Point and Northumberland and also Nandua, our Eastern Shore partners, for participating in the first ever Battle of the Bay. Overall, I was pleased with my team’s performance. We learned some things and will be working hard this week to put those lessons into action for the remainder of the season.”

Broadwater Tops Hampton Christian

Broadwater’s volleyball team swept Hampton Christian Tuesday night by 25-8, 25-6 and 25-21 scores in Exmore, raising the Lady Vikings’ record to 2-0.

Bayside fishing is still hot from Occohannock to Nassawadox creeks for bull red drum and cobia, according to Ron Greaser of Don’s Tackle Shop on Wachapreague Road. Bottom fishing with fish-finder rigs using cut bunker, spot or peeler crab has been producing the best. Jigging with 4- to 6-ounce jig heads tipped with Zman 7” jerk shads also will get redfish, flounder and rockfish, says Greaser.

Bottom fishing on the bayside has been producing mixed bags of gray trout, croaker and spot. A few sand mullet also are thrown into the mix if you fish with shrimp.

Rockfish are starting to show back up in the creeks with the water temps dropping a little.

Trolling for Spanish mackerel and bluefish is still good in the Onancock Creek area. Clark spoons on #1 planers or behind in-line weights will fool these tasty gamefish.

Greaser says seaside fishing inside the inlets is slowing down. Bottom fishing is producing a few flounder, spot, croaker and pigfish.

A few speckled trout and redfish are starting to show in the creeks, but are few in number so far.

Reef fishing in the ocean still is producing flounder, with a mixed bag of cobia, triggerfish, spadefish, sea bass and dolphin also available.

Trolling for dolphin over wrecks and around pot balls can be good, especially using Shimano Wax-wings. Find a school and go back and pitch bait to them to help fill a cooler.

Matt Abell of Seahawk Sports Center in Pocomoke says the big story continues to be the awesome red drum fishery in the lower Chesapeake Bay. He says drum are being taken in 20 to 30 feet of water around and just after dusk. There have been some cobia mixed in as well.

Abell says the offshore report has consisted of a few big eye tuna and yellowfins, along with a decent number of mahi and white marlin action.

Abell says rock are becoming more numerous in the shallows, and a few small speckled trout are showing up.

Donna Roeske of Capt. Bob’s Marina says the wrecks are producing nice catches of flounder, including a 23-inch, 4-pound, 5-ounce flattie caught by Mike Fisher of Bedford, Pa.

And, finally, pictured at right is a 277-pound bigeye tuna caught by Capt. Frank Borowicz, Robb Borowicz and Martin Koerner aboard the Aquaholic out of Chincoteague.

It was 182 years ago today that 10-year-old Barney Flaherty became the world’s first newspaper boy. Extra! Extra! Read all about it! The Irish immigrant is now the star of National Newspaper Carrier Day.

And here is the real newsflash: He could be my great-, great-, great-, great-grandfather. After all, my mother’s people were from New York City (NYC) via Ireland. They liked to read and argue about the news. And when I put the names Flaherty and Calnan (the family name) into the search engine of www.google.com, I came up with a big hit. Yippee!

The Calnans of Tipperary and the Flahertys of Galway were only a couple of hours away in the old country. I think my relation to Barney is elementary. Don’t you?

There were other things that happened on Sept. 4 that could factor into the whole equation. For example, The Ford Motor Company introduced the Edsel on Sept. 4, 1957. The name Ford, according to irishamerica.com, “is thought to be Viking in origin. Several Irish cities represent this Viking influence — Longford, Waterford, and Wexford.” Yippee for the Irish.

The first self-service restaurant was opened in NYC on Sept. 4, 1885, 130 years ago today. That’s the NYC link and, of course, there were probably Irish folks working there. Uh huh. More Irish connections. I am a bit dismayed to learn that the cafeteria initially “catered to an exclusively male clientele. Food was purchased at a counter, and patrons ate standing up.” I guess they got chairs when the women arrived.

Well, everyone knows “the Hudson estuary stretches 153 miles from Troy to New York Harbor, nearly half the river’s 315-mile course between Lake Tear of the Clouds in the Adirondacks and the Battery at the tip of Manhattan.” And on Sept. 4, 1609, Navigator Henry Hudson was the first European to discover Manhattan, a borough in NYC.

Thomas Edison’s first large-scale test of the lightbulb at New York’s Pearl Street Station occurred on Sept. 4, 1882. Get the connection to the Big Apple? But 23 years before that, “Edison began working on a local branch of the Grand Trunk Railroad, selling NEWSPAPERS, magazines and candy. At one point he printed a NEWSPAPER on the train.” Oh Yippee!

If I mention that it is 47 days until my birthday? I’m part Irish, you know. There is a link. I’m also a big lover of art. On Sept. 4, 1972, the same year my baby brother was born (actually 10 days after the monumental occasion), thieves stole 18 paintings from the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

Rest assured, there is no connection between that heist and my Irish ancestors. But it did occur on the same day. Some other interesting things also happened on that day. In 2012, carpet was developed that could help prevent falls by the elderly by warning them they are stepping unusually. No, I did not make that up. The site upon which I learned this, however, did not say whose invention this was, so I can only assume it was one of my Irish cousins.

Totally off the subject but also on the same day in 1864 were the Bread Riots of Mobile, Ala. It was during the War Between the States and molasses, which previously sold for less than 30 cents a gallon, rose to $7 per gallon. The cost of a barrel of flour rose from $44 to more than $400. Whew! Think about that when you make your toast this morning. Oh, and by the way, Premier Molasses is Ireland’s leading supplier of liquid feeds for the animal feed sector. I thought you needed to know that.

On Sept. 4, 1978, Pat Bradley won the Ladies’ Professional Golf Association’s (LPGA’s) Rail Charity Golf Classic. Her name is Pat. That is Irish. Need I say more? I think not.

In 1989, on the same day, Beth Daniel won the LPGA Rail Charity Golf Classic. She was born on the same day and year as my other brother. That cannot be a coincidence. I don’t care that she was born in Charleston, S.C. Do you?
