Police are looking for the culprit who robbed a clerk and a customer at gunpoint at the Shore Stop convenience store in Melfa last Thursday.

Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin said a report of the incident was made to his office at nearly 9:30 that night. The store is on the corner of Lankford Highway and Airport Drive. After arriving on the scene, deputies determined that a black male wearing a camouflage jacket and blue jeans had committed the crimes. He was described as between 5’6” and 5’9” with a slender build.

“During the incident, the suspect fired a gunshot inside the store,” Godwin said. “However, no injuries occurred.”

The robber fled “on foot with an undisclosed amount of money. It is believed that a second suspect was also present outside of the business when this incident occurred,” the sheriff said.

Anyone with information on this crime is asked to contact the Accomack County Sheriff’s Office at 787-1131 or 824-5666. Tips may also be submitted through the sheriff’s website at www.accomackcountysheriffoffice.org

Chicken is essential to the economy of the Eastern Shore, where $80 million in payroll is paid annually to thousands of residents by two big poultry companies. The total supplier impact is $268 million. There is a million dollars in property taxes and possibly $30 million in electric bills.

But some think the industry will eventually devastate the two counties with health and environmental impacts. Doctors at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health are among those.

About 100 people gathered at Eastern Shore Community College Wednesday night to debate the issues. The meeting was offered by the conservation group Virginia Eastern Shorekeeper.

The group’s director, Jay Ford, drew attention to a letter from Bob Lawrence of Johns Hopkins regarding “human health concerns … that may affect citizens living near broiler operations in Accomack and Northampton counties.”

The concerns include “infestations resulting from the potential transmission of harmful microorganisms from … operations to nearby residents … via flies or contaminated air and water; health effects, including asthma, bronchitis, allergic reactions, associated with exposures to air pollution; … and thyroid problems, methemoglobinemia, neurological impairments (and) liver damage associated with exposures to … hazards that may be present in ground and/or surface waters contaminated by manure from broiler operations.”

“One study on Maryland’s Eastern Shore found … methods of transporting chickens in open-air trucks releases microorganisms into the surrounding environment, likely exposing nearby residents.”

“Those are hard statistics,” said Ford. “Some might think it is a little overboard, but everyone should realize these are the facts of the matter.”

Poultry company officials said new chicken houses with advanced technology and bigger buffers are better at combating these issues. They argued that composting eliminates problems with bacteria.

Bill Satterfield of the Delmarva Poultry Industry (DPI) said, “Our members have looked at over 70 alternate uses of manure. Not one is working on Delmarva because they don’t work,” he added. “They’re not proven. They are continuing to be looked at. Tyson’s is looking at things. Perdue is looking at things. It is being investigated.”

“The best use is as a farm fertilizer,” Satterfield said. “A lot of nutrients will produce a better crop.”

“The chicken industry is hugely important,” the DPI rep continued. “Especially in Accomack County. … It provides a lot of jobs for a lot of people.”

The issues arose because more chicken houses — as many as 75 — are being planned for Accomack, while Northampton is reviewing changes in zoning ordinances that would allow the facilities.

“Do we know how much litter our fields can handle before they are saturated?” asked Ford, who then answered, “No.” He said the state Department of Environmental Quality doesn’t know either.

“Growers are in compliance with regulations,” he admitted. “The concern is not that new guys are going to do wrong … all are in compliance. They are doing what they are told they have to do. But their footprint is still there.”

Ford is dismayed that Parker Creek’s “impairment will never be changed.” He “wants to see everybody sit down at the table … look at the waterways … maps” and “let the cards land where they may … like in Maryland.”

Many people in the audience had already taken sides.

One unidentified person quoted a study that stated “71 percent of those who just grow chickens live below the poverty line.”

Satterfield said “that was bogus. They don’t live in poverty. A new chicken house today without anything else is about $400,000 … chicken farmers are in business. They are smart business people. They wouldn’t go into business if … other farmers were living in poverty. … Growers get incentives to do a better job, raise healthy birds, bigger birds, use less feed … but you don’t go below the bottom. Make money and stay in business,” he said.

“It’s a good business,” an unidentified grower said. “And I just want to make sure everybody knows it.”

“They can do everything right and something can still be wrong,” said Ford. “Localities can consider this matter and respond accordingly. … Tell them that you want to see a regional plan.”

Ford said the new chicken houses would mean a 33 percent increase in production.

But another unidentified spectator asked, “Have you mentioned to the people that there are constantly houses being taken out of production?”

Dr. Garrison Brown, a retired veterinarian, was concerned about poultry that die from disease outbreaks. He talked about 42 million birds that died quickly in Iowa, where landfills were four or five hours away. “Northampton cannot accommodate large numbers of dead birds.”

Satterfield scoffed. He said those were 40-pound chickens and turkeys. “They were not prepared. We are prepared. Our plants are ready,” he added.

This week Northampton officials discussed requiring setbacks for poultry houses of 1,000 feet from property lines and 1,500 feet from existing residences and residential use buildings, including property opposite a public road right of way, schools, churches and offices, according to Ford.
Martina Coker noted that enacting the proposed zoning changes would impact property values on many residents.

Wendy Martin and Dave Kabler echoed the sentiments of earlier speakers who opposed the concept of allowing poultry houses in the county.

Wardtown resident Ken Dufty spoke of studies done regarding the possible influx of residents if the toll on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel were reduced. He noted that the Shore is a valuable natural ecosystem which would be at risk from more commercial and residential development. He urged the board not to allow the poultry industry to get a foothold in Northampton.

In other business, School Superintendent Eddie Lawrence provided the board with a brief update on the status of the schools, noting they are short one teacher, a media center assistant, and some part-time bus drivers. Most of the repairs at the high school have been completed.

A public hearing was held on a special-use permit request from the trustees of Franktown U.M. Church who applied for the Montessori Children’s House of Franktown to obtain the full range of permissions regarding schools. The board unanimously approved the permit.

Another hearing concerned a request by Louise Oliver to rent the Eastville Inn to provide meals for groups wishing to meet there. Speaking for his wife, Stuart Oliver said the inn would not operate as a full-service restaurant at first; his wife wishes to begin on a smaller scale given that a number of establishments at the location have not been successful. There being no other speakers, the board voted 5-0 to approve the request to rent the inn.

Assistant County Administrator Janice Williams noted that the U.S. Department of Agriculture grant obligation was moving forward, with most of the items having been approved by the agency. To date, over $428,000 of the $599,000 that needs to be spent by the county has been committed.

As an unexpected consequence of the county eliminating one of two county building inspector positions for budgetary reasons, some contractors found it difficult to get the inspections they needed when one inspector was on leave in August. In a related area, the county's full-time code enforcement official's position was eliminated through budget cuts; thus, those duties were added to the Building and Planning Department. According to County Administrator Katie Nunez, the board could consider advertising for an additional building inspector once construction picks up.

Nancy Proto of Cape Charles spoke of the need for the school system to hire a public relations person to help bring in more families with children, which, in turn, would help the schools grow.

A final discussion centered around the placement of towers for wireless Internet antennas. It was agreed to ask the Planning Commission to look at the number and size that would be needed. The supervisors took time Tuesday to remember one of Northampton County's own who made the ultimate sacrifice while serving during Operation Iraqi Freedom. Sgt. Tremaine K. Toy Sr., husband, father, and a native of Eastville, was killed in action in April 2005.

Board Chairman Rick Hubbard presented a proclamation to his daughter, Arian Toy, honoring the sergeant, a 1998 graduate of Northampton High School.

A public hearing was held on the proposed zoning changes. The board then reviewed a request for a permit to operate the Eastville Inn as a public eating place. The Inn would provide meals for groups wishing to meet there. The Inn was approved.

The board heard from a community member who spoke in opposition to the proposed zoning changes. The community member was concerned about the impact of the proposed changes on the community.

The board then discussed the county’s budget for the upcoming fiscal year. The board approved the budget for the county.

The board also discussed the county’s plan for the construction of a new courthouse. The board approved the construction plan for the new courthouse.

Finally, the board discussed the county’s plan for the construction of a new library. The board approved the construction plan for the new library.

The meeting concluded with the presentation of a proclamation to a community member who has made significant contributions to the community. The community member was thanked for their contributions.

More Tourists Visiting Chincoteague

By Linda Cicoira

Tourism was up on Chincoteague Island this summer, according to officials who spoke at the town council meeting Monday night.

The biggest indication was noted later by Public Works Director Harvey Spurlock, who said water usage increased by a million gallons in July, the month of Pony Penning activities. The overall draw was about 28 million gallons.

Evelyn Shotwell, executive director of Chincoteague Chamber of Commerce, said numbers of visitors to the chamber for the summer were down, but chamber Facebook hits were at 329,000 for July and 138,000 for August, accounting for less need to visit the office. Last February when Chincoteague was vying for the coolest small town, 145,000 people clicked onto the Facebook page.

“It’s been a great season,” Shotwell said. “It’s been a great summer from our standpoint. We look forward to more folks this fall and winter.”

Shotwell also noted that transient occupancy and meals’ tax figures are up.

“Chincoteague, as far as having places to eat and good food, I’ll put us up against anybody,” Councilman Gene Taylor said.

Taylor also thanked Police Chief James R. Mills for continuing the department’s annual poker run that benefits local children. Mills is fairly new to the post. When Former Chief Eddie Lewis was in charge, thousands of dollars were raised for the kids.

“Twenty percent of youth on Chincoteague live below poverty level,” said Taylor. “Thank you for sticking with it,” he told Mills.

“I’d like to see everybody come out Saturday,” said Mills referring to the event that provides school scholarships, Christmas presents, food and more.

Bikes will leave Stingray’s Restaurant in Capeville at 11 a.m. and will be escorted by police to Main Street on Chincoteague. An auction will be held at Robert Reed Park of donated decoys, painting, gift certificates and more. There also will be a block party with the band, Bigger Dream, as entertainment. The public is welcome with or without a motorcycle.

Assateague Celebrates 50 Years

Chincoteague officials signed new matting Tuesday night that was placed around a 50-year-old photograph commemorating the establishment of the Assateague Island National Seashore in Maryland and Virginia back in 1965.

Del. Robert Bloxom was also on hand at the Chincoteague Town Council meeting to present plaques to Debbie Darden, the Seashore’s superintendent with the National Park Service (NPS) and Manager Kevin Sloan of Chincoteague Wildlife Refuge.

“We just appreciate the National Park Service so much,” said Sloan. “I think we have a great partnership. I look forward to many more years. We’re brothers and sisters in arms … hope it lasts another 50 years.”

Sept. 21 is the actual anniversary, according to Darden. Celebrations in Virginia start Saturday, Sept. 19, at the NPS visitor’s center at 8:30 a.m. with Surf Fishing, at 11:30 a.m. for Kayak in the Cove and Creature Feature, at 1 p.m. with Ocean Pharmacy, at 3:30 p.m. for Assateague Detectives, at 4:30 p.m. for Plant Rant and at 6 p.m. with Campfire with Gourmet S’mores.

All is free to the public.

On Sunday, Sept. 20, Under the Boardwalk will be at 8 a.m., Marine Explorers at 9 a.m., Under the Boardwalk at 10:30 a.m., Plant Rant at 11 a.m., Kayak in the Cove at 1 p.m., and Trash or Treasure at 2 p.m. All programs are free except for the kayaking program which costs $20 a person.

Coast Guard Rescues Struggling Swimmer Off Cape Charles

Watchstanders at Coast Guard Station Cape Charles received a call at approximately 6:55 p.m. from a good Samaritan on Cape Charles Beach reporting a swimmer struggling against the outgoing tide in windy conditions, approximately 100 yards from shore.

A crew in a 25-foot response boat launched from Station Cape Charles at approximately 6:58 p.m. The crew arrived on scene at approximately 7 p.m., and located the male swimmer drifting toward the rocks of the Cape Charles jetty. They brought him aboard at approximately 7:04 p.m., and took him to Cape Charles Harbor boat ramp, arriving at 7:14 p.m.

No injuries were reported and the man declined medical treatment.

“Our response time was especially fast this evening,” said Petty Officer 2nd Class Matthew Barker, boat operator for the case. “Luckily we got to him before he became overly exhausted.”

Perdue’s Accomac Plant Earns Safety Award

Twenty-one Perdue Farms’ facilities in nine states, including the company’s Accomac plant, were recognized by the Joint Industry Safety and Health Council for outstanding safety. The Accomac facility received the Award of Distinction, the council’s highest honor.

The award criteria required these facilities to maintain their key Occupational Safety and Health Administration safety metrics at levels at least 50 percent better than the industry average for three consecutive years. Award consideration also was based on each facility’s written explanation of its safety programs and processes.

The Joint Industry Safety and Health Council comprises members from the National Poultry & Egg Association, Chicken Council and Turkey Federation. Combined, these three organizations represent companies that produce 95 percent of the U.S. poultry products and employ more than 350,000 workers.

Why I Stayed in the Community for Cancer Care

“I was born and raised on the Eastern Shore and never really wanted to be anywhere else. When I was diagnosed with lung cancer, that feeling didn’t change. I was able to get the treatment I needed, both chemotherapy and radiation, at the Riverside Shore Cancer Center. I couldn’t imagine having to travel during that time. At first I felt like I was singled out for special treatment. But then I saw that it was the same way for everyone there. I can’t tell you how different that makes the experience.”

Nancy-Jo Revell

Now you can help make sure that everyone in our community has the opportunity for exceptional cancer care close to home. Support the annual Radiothon on Saturday, October 10. This special fund-raising event benefits the cancer program at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital and the people of the Eastern Shore like Nancy-Jo.

Tyler Webb was on a roll when his season ended abruptly in late June.

Pitching out of the Scranton/Wilkes Barre Railriders bullpen, the 6’6” lefty had not given up a run in his past seven outings and had a 1.32 earned run average in his last 10 games. For his abbreviated season, the 2009 Northampton graduate had a stellar 2.84 ERA in 38 innings.

A September call-up to the New York Yankees looked to be in the offing, according to websites that follow the major-league team.

But that was before Webb felt pain in his finger the night of June 23 while warming up in the bullpen. He pitched through it, tossing a scoreless ninth to record a save.

But the next day, the pain was too intense to ignore. “I couldn’t even throw, it hurt so bad,” said Webb this week from Tampa. Rest did not help the situation, and Webb was sent to a hand specialist.

“The doctor said I had injured the pulling tendon in my pointer finger. It’s not unheard of for pitchers, but still not all that common. He said rock climbers suffer the injury from constantly putting pressure on their fingers,” said Webb.

A cortisone shot sped up the healing, said Webb, but by then he had not thrown in weeks and remained at the Yankee spring training facility in Tampa, Fla., to get back in pitching shape.

He then experienced bicep tendinosis in his arm. “That was a setback that was very frustrating because I was eager to get back with the team,” Webb related. “They did an MRI, which concerned me because when you have threw as long as I have, you never know what that will show. But the MRI came back great, and the soreness was from not having pitched for several weeks,” said Webb, who was the career appearances leader for pitchers and a third-team All American at the University of South Carolina. Just about the time it appeared Webb would be ready to return to the mound, the minor-league season in Scranton was essentially over.

So, Webb remained in Tampa, working his way back to mid-season form while getting the news he would be one of six Yankee minor leaguers sent to the Arizona Fall League, where a team’s prospects can go to get some extra development time. These are usually players in the upper levels of the minors. Front-office personnel hope that these players will gain that one extra step to propel them forward the following year.

One Yankee blog said recently that Webb is an “obvious candidate for the bullpen in 2016.”

Each of the 30 MLB teams picks six players to fill the six teams in the Arizona League. How good are the players in the Arizona Fall League? The 2014 All-Star Game in Minneapolis featured 36 AFL alums. Nearly 60 percent of all AFL players make a Major League roster, with an incredible 212 All-Stars, 12 MVPs, four Cy Young Award Winners, three World Series MVPs, 66 Silver Sluggers, 58 Golden Gloves, and 25 Rookies of the Year.

Webb is not one to ponder what could have been or wonder what the future holds, at least not publicly.

“Yes, it was a frustrating end to the season, but I just need to work on my technique and be ready for an opportunity,” said Webb, who roomed this past season with Bryan Mitchell and Caleb Cotham, two players now on the 40-man expanded Yankee roster. Nick Rumbelow, Nick Goody and Greg Bird, the first baseman now starting everyday with Mark Teixeira on the disabled list, were also teammates at Scranton.

“It’s good to see some of my teammates make it to the major leagues,” said Webb. “That’s what we are all working toward.”

COMMUNITY CARE PROGRAM

- If you received $2,000 to spend on whatever your organization needed - what would you use it for?
- Thanks to our Community Care program, you can do it! Propane receipts that you collect are like money in the bank. For every gallon shown on those receipts, your organization will earn $.02.
- Speak with your members about who uses propane in the area. Ask those people if they will donate their receipts to you.
- Ask businesses in your area if they use our propane. Businesses of all sizes, large and small, use propane, including many for their forklifts in warehouses, and are a great way to gather more receipts for your organization.
- Once you collect the receipts, you simply send them in to us, and we’ll do the rest.
- It’s like money in the “tank.” We’re proud to be a part of the community and excited to help your organization.
- No minimum gallon requirement
- Participating organizations receive $.02 per gallon purchased.
- Maximum allowable redemption is $2,000 per check, per year.

Any member that sets up a new 200 gal. system or larger, we will give $100 to your organization for each account.

Nandua Whips Windsor 25-14 with Surge

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Nandua rallied from an 8-3 deficit at halftime with touchdowns on each of its first three drives in the second half to gain its first win of the season, 25-14 over Windsor Friday night.

“At halftime, we challenged the players to eliminate the mistakes and play up to their potential. They went out there and executed, taking over the game,” said Nandua coach Tom Rotkowski.

After not scoring a touchdown in the first six quarters of the season, the Nandua offense found the end zone three times in the third quarter and stormed to a 25-8 lead.

“The defense was again solid for us,” said Coach Rotkowski, “although we allowed a touchdown at the end.”

Arcadia Falls to Franklin, 42-22

Arcadia fell to 0-2 Friday night with a 42-22 loss to Franklin on the road.

The Firebirds were threatening to score after Franklin took a 6-0 lead early in the first quarter, but a sack set them back 20 yards and killed the drive.

“We had our chances,” said Arcadia coach Tony Nock, “but we put ourselves in a hole and never got it together.

Franklin had good speed and hurt us at times with their run game.”

The Broncos had built a 22-0 lead before Jamal Savage took a kickoff and returned it 75 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter.

Trailing 22-6, the Firebirds managed two touchdowns in the second half with a 5-yard run by Contrell Brown and a 29-yard score on a reverse by Devon Rogers.

Savage led Arcadia rushers with 77 yards on eight carries, Brown ran for 55 yards on 12 carries, Trey Ballard had 50 yards on six attempts and Tyquan Payton added 47 yards on seven carries in a balanced rushing attack. However, Arcadia could not manage any yards in the air.

On defense, Ballard and Richie Shrieve had 15 tackles each, while Tyrice Hickman made 12 tackles. Payton had seven, and Terrell Wharton added six tackles with a sack. Shykeem Jacobs had a fumble recovery.

Coach Nock said Cameron Vandeneye had a good night punting, helping field position with good kicks.

Arcadia will host Nandua tonight with a 7 o’clock kickoff. “We are looking for our first win, but we don’t need that motivation to get up for this game. This is a rival game, and I expect it should be a good one.”

Ponies Corralled by HRA, 41-27

Chincoteague dropped a 41-28 road decision to Hampton Roads Academy Friday night as the Navigators’ Devone Humphrey rushed for 210 yards and two touchdowns and Bryan Hart added 160 yards and three touchdowns.

“We knew they lost 12 seniors last year and felt their offensive line would be weaker this season, but we found out two brothers transferred from Bruton a week before school started. Both went about 6-2 and 300 pounds,” said Pony coach Nick Howard, whose team beat HRA last season. “They made a big difference on offense and defense.”

As in its opener, Chincoteague fell behind early, trailing 21-0 before getting on the scoreboard. “We helped them get good field position with turnovers,” said Coach Howard. “After that, we played them pretty even and did some good things. We improved each quarter.”

Quarterback Collin Derrickson got the Ponies on the scoreboard with a 4-yard run in the second quarter, and Gardner Fosque then added a 30-yard scoring run to cut the deficit to 21-12 at halftime.

HRA scored on a Humphrey 2-yard run in the third quarter before Chincoteague answered with a 21-yard touchdown pass from Dustin Holloway to Derrickson, who moved to wide receiver for the play.

After two Navigator scores, Derrickson switched back to quarterback and threw a 4-yard scoring pass to Trevor Reed.

The Ponies threw only three times, completing all three and two for touchdowns.

Fosque led Chincoteague on the ground with 207 yards on 21 carries.

On defense, Ryan Moltedo led the team in tackles with six and Voshawn Davis had five. Derrickson had an interception.

Chincoteague, now 0-2 and off this weekend, will play National Christian in Washington, Md., next week.

“It’s their first year playing varsity football,” said Howard, “but it is a big school and they are 2-0 this season. I am sure they are going to be bigger than us. We have some young players getting better every week. Hopefully, we can break into the win column and stay healthy.”

Broadwater Battles Richmond Christian, But Beaten 18-15

Broadwater lost a tough 18-15 decision to Richmond Christian in Chesterfield Friday night.

Despite the fact it was the first varsity game in the history of Richmond Christian, founded in 1951, the hosts had several experienced and talented players.

Viking coach Noble Palmer said he was told by the Richmond Christian coaching staff that their tailback had committed to Auburn, the quarterback had committed to Central Florida and one of the wide receivers would be playing football at Virginia Tech.

“We played hard and had a chance to win on our last drive before penalties hurt us,” said Coach Palmer.

For the game, the Vikings were hit with 10 penalties for 72 yards. “The penalties came at critical times,” said Coach Palmer, “but I could have done a better job of making adjustments at halftime. They hurt us on the perimeter.”

Richmond Christian opened the scoring with 4:54 remaining in the first quarter on a 71-yard run to take a 6-0 lead. Broadwater got on the scoreboard with a Tyler Major 1-yard run with 11:29 left in the second quarter. A Thomas Scott extra point gave the Vikings a 7-6 lead.

Richmond Christian responded with a 69-yard run with 2:19 left in the half; then, after a scoreless third quarter, stretched its lead to 18-7 on a 2-yard run with 8:34 remaining in the game.

Broadwater struck right back in less than 25 seconds with a 55-yard pass from quarterback Austin Murphy to Major Morgan. Murphy ran for the 2-point conversion to pull within 3 points.

Broadwater drove deep into Richmond Christian territory on its next possession before a major penalty killed the drive.

“I thought we were going to score and win the game on that last drive, but penalties are part of the game and fatigue probably was a factor,” said Coach Palmer, whose squad numbers only 19 players.

He noted that Taylor Major missed most of the second half with cramps on a warm evening.

Broadwater earned 17 first downs and amassed 329 total yards to 260 for Richmond Christian.

Murphy was 9 for 18 for 115 yards with a touchdown. Morgan had a huge game with seven catches for 93 yards and a score.

Tyler Major carried 24 times for 179 yards and a touchdown. In three games, Major has gained 538 yards and scored eight touchdowns.

Middle linebacker Dontae Weatherly led the Vikings with 15 tackles. Morgan had 12 tackles and a fumble recover. Taylor Major had nine tackles. Hayden Mabalot and Jarrett Bell combined for a sack.

Broadwater, which fell to 2-1 on the season, travels to Greenwood, Del., tonight to battle Woodbridge, a team that Palmer said will have a considerable size advantage on his Vikings.

“We have to play smart with good techniques to compete with these bigger teams. If we get our pad levels too high, they will run over us,” said Coach Palmer.
Former NFL Player Vonta Leach
Kickoff Speaker for United Way

Former All-Pro and Super Bowl champion Vonta Leach will be the keynote speaker for the United Way of Eastern Shore of Virginia’s kickoff breakfast Thursday, Sept. 24, at 8:30 a.m. at the Eastern Shore Community College Workforce Development Center.

Leach, who played fullback for the Houston Texans and Baltimore Ravens and was selected All-Pro three times, has been praised for his service to the community, having received a 2008 President Volunteer Service Award from President George W. Bush.

Signed to a three-year, $11 million contract by the Ravens in 2011, Leach helped the Ravens win Super Bowl XLVII over the San Francisco 49ers. The 6’, 262-pound fullback opened up big holes for Raven running backs and was named to his third Pro Bowl. In Houston, he was the lead blocker for Arian Foster, who led the NFL with 1,616 rushing yards and 16 touchdowns.

Leach was also the Baltimore Ravens’ representative for United Way. “He’s the ultimate character guy in both having character and being a character. He’s both,” Ravens coach John Harbaugh said in an interview with the Baltimore Sun. “Those are the most fun guys to be around. Great leader, hard worker and just a lot of laughs.”

Raised in Rowland, N.C., Leach starred at South Robeson High School and attended East Carolina University, signing as an undrafted free agent with the Texans.

Fulfilling a promise he made to his mother, late grandmother and high-school coach, Leach received his college degree nearly eight years after he completed his football eligibility at East Carolina University.

In 2007, he founded the Vonta Leach Foundation to create innovative programs that provide access to educational, recreational and healthy living initiatives designed to positively aid in the development of youth.

“We are thrilled to have a speaker the caliber of Vonta Leach for our kickoff event,” said Robie Marsh, co-chairman of this year’s fundraising drive for United Way of Virginia’s Eastern Shore. “Vonta’s commitment to serving his community and assisting youth to have a better future is the perfect tie-in to our campaign theme, “Give Where You Live … Our Home, Our Future.”

Since being established in 1991, the United Way has raised almost $6 million. Funds go to provide emergency food and shelter, family counseling, health services, youth development and recreation programs in addition to many other services needed in the community.

To attend the breakfast or have your organization involved in the 2014 United Way Campaign, contact Dawn Byrd at 787-5622 or dbyrd@esunitedway.org.

Leach To Hold Meet and Greet

Former All-Pro fullback and Super Bowl champion Vonta Leach will hold a Meet and Greet Reception at Jack Spot Restaurant on Chincoteague from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 23, to benefit United Way of Virginia’s Eastern Shore.

Leach, who has served as a member of United Way’s TEAM NFL, a core group of civic-minded players from each of the 32 NFL teams, will meet with the public and sign autographs. He also will bring NFL and Super Bowl souvenirs that will be available through a silent auction held during the VIP reception.

Tickets for the VIP reception from 5 to 6 p.m. are $50 each and include two drinks (beer/wine/soft drinks) and hors d’oeuvres. Tickets for attendees from 6 to 7 p.m. are $25 for adults and $10 for students and include beverages.

Because Jack Spot is donating the food and beverages, all proceeds will go to United Way of Virginia’s Eastern Shore.

For more information or tickets, go to www.esunitedway.org or call or email Dawn Byrd at 787-5622 or dbyrd@esunitedway.org.
Hunting Opportunities Announced at Kiptopeke

Virginia State Parks, managed by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation, offer a variety of hunting opportunities, including reservation-only hunts and open hunting, throughout the season. Hunters can reserve stands or zones on a first-come basis.

A muzzleloader-shotgun and archery hunt will be held at Kiptopeke State Park Dec. 2-3, with the reservation period beginning Sept. 23. For more information, call Kiptopeke State Park at 331-2267.

Hunters may reserve preferred days and stands or zones for an advanced fee of $15 a day by calling the Virginia State Parks Customer Service Center, 800-933-7275 (PARK). Reservations will be accepted until all slots are taken, up to two days prior to the hunt, provided that the hunter can complete the payment before the day of the hunt.

All hunting laws and regulations apply in Virginia State Parks. Additional rules may apply in individual parks, and all lottery and reservation hunts have special regulations.

For information on hunting licenses, safety education and hunting regulations, call the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries at 804-367-1000 or visit www.dgif.virginia.gov.

What a Catch!

A group of Pocomoke anglers fishing with Capt. Kenny on Nothin’ Fancy out of Chincoteague caught 20 flounder and trigger fish at the Subway Cars in the ocean. Farther south, blues and small gray trout have been caught off Kiptopeke, with cobia and red drum still available in the lower bay. Speckled trout are starting to show in the bayside creeks.

Too many of us will develop cancer. The International Association of Fire Fighters, Accomack County Local Union 3698, would like to invite all residents, business owners, educators, and fellow fire fighters to join us to help lessen the burden here on the Eastern Shore by purchasing a “Fight for the Cure” tee shirt. Back to school.
Back to the books.
And back to that perennial question about what I did on my summer vacation. My what? Cross that out.
Make it what I did during the summer. Well, thank you so much for asking. And for caring.
We hosted the July 4th fireworks extravaganza on our “neck” – you remember the holiday where the heavens opened just in time to display their own pyrotechnics. It’s when our puppy-in-training-to-hunt learned to question loud noises. Oh, had I forgotten to mention our 80-pound black Lab baby? How could we not find this summer relaxing what with a smiling, bouncing, energy-filled canine standing over us every moment of down-time with a tennis ball in his mouth? Beginning at 6 a.m each sun-filled day.
This summer we removed the screens and painted the large gray porch white. In addition to the framing, lattices and floor, I painted each of the 107 balusters (yes, found out that’s what you call all those nasty little sticks that hold up the railing) on all four sides. Carpal tunnel rules!
Welcome my two sisters here and found a heart in a jar on the beach. Um, that might need an explanation. You see, we found a real heart in a bottle. There’s simply no other way to put it. Maybe belonged to some animal, but who saved it? We left it there and immediately regretted that decision once we got home. Returned to what we thought was the scene, but found only biting bugs. Left us heart sick.
As the door swung out on my sisters leaving the Shore, the backswing caught dozens of my husband’s fraternity brothers and their guests arriving for the reunion we were hosting. As a journalist, I’m still trying to obliterate the memory of all those unsubstantiated stories of their youth that they told that weekend. Who knew there were so many Phi Delta Theta Big Men on Campus at the University of Richmond 40 years ago?
And with their departure, there swept into my throat and on to my vocal cords some mysterious malady which rendered me close to mute for six weeks. My husband was kind enough not to gloat over his good fortune, and I merely comforted myself with the knowledge that I couldn’t talk on the phone or call the dog.
We enjoyed visits from grandchildren scattered throughout the summer - by early next year we will have five little ones younger than 3 and one old lady of 7!
What about fishing, you ask? I was trying to avoid the topic, but since this essay assignment needs to fill the page, I guess I have no choice. Yes, we live on the bay. And yes, it is known for its underwater bounty. And yes, my husband has some legendary stories about the swarms of fish they have caught on previous expeditions (see Phi Delts above). But it would appear that with my arrival as a resident on the neck, the fish high-tailed it out.
We ate precious little home-caught fish this summer. I equate it to the difference between shopping and buying. You can shop all day and not buy a thing. Likewise, you can go fishing a lot and it has nothing to do with catching.
And speaking of catching creatures, who knew that it takes trained rabbit dogs to hunt those little hoppers? Well, I know it now that we are part owners of two rabbit-hunting puppies. That would be Lucy and Ethel. If anyone is counting, that makes six grandchildren, three puppies, and two resident cats. Or as we see it, lots of “walks,” litter boxes and diapers to tend.
Intersperse weekly grass cutting and intermittent visits to the bayside beach and sandbar here and you pretty much have my summer. Oh, yeah, and there was this job - I’m still waiting for that vacation part.
