Chickens Won’t Be Coming Home To Roost in Northampton

By Ron West

Confirming Chicken Little's fears, the sky pretty much fell Monday on anyone's plan to erect a poultry house in Northampton County.

At their work session, Northampton supervisors approved restrictions that pretty much put residences for chickens into a high-end neighborhood out of the reach of most county farmers.

Representatives of the poultry industry were on hand at the invitation of the board to field questions raised by both sides of the issue.

Bill Satterfield of Delmarva Poultry Industry Inc. provided an overview of what would be involved for an individual to operate a poultry farm in the area. He noted the stringent regulations by a number of state and federal agencies regarding the health of the birds and people live and work near them. The cost for someone to begin raising chickens is estimated in excess of $300,000 per house; the average operation has four to six houses.

While Satterfield noted that Delaware and Maryland have poultry-house setbacks that seem to work, Supervisor Granville Hogg pressed for setbacks that would far exceed them. Additionally, Hogg wanted a requirement that any house built in the county have ammonia scrubbers to prevent ammonia from escaping into the air.

Satterfield said that to his knowledge, ammonia scrubbers are not used anywhere in the United States, although they are in some parts of Europe. He noted that the excessive cost of installing the scrubbers would make it financially impossible for a farmer in Northampton County to enter the business. Once additional setbacks were added to the mix, it became apparent that few, if any, properties in Northampton County would be large enough to hold even one poultry house.

Asked about a report by Johns Hopkins University that pointed out a number of health risks associated with large-scale farming operations, Satterfield said that much of the data in the article had nothing to do with broiler chickens such as are raised on the Delmarva Peninsula, and that data can be manipulated to indicate whatever the writer wished it to show.

After nearly two hours of discussion and questions, the board agreed to the requirement for ammonia scrubbers and setbacks that will make it all but impossible for poultry houses to be sited in Northampton County.

The board then took up a number of items regarding controversial proposed changes to the Zoning Ordinance.

The supervisors discussed accessory dwelling units defined as secondary structures on a property with a prima-

Governor Visits To Announce Green Light for Huge Accomack Solar Facility

Gov. Terry McAuliffe visited the Workforce Development Center at Eastern Shore Community College Monday to announce that the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality is issuing the first Permit by Rule for an 80-megawatt solar facility to be constructed in northern Accomack County. This project will more than quadruple the amount of solar energy currently installed in the commonwealth.

According to the DEQ, a Permit by Rule is based on regulations, with which the owner/operator agrees to comply. The regulations provide criteria that the facility will meet such as notification, siting, design, operation/maintenance, and closure.

Community Energy, the developer and owner of the solar facility, to be located near Oak Hall, has partnered with Amazon Web Services in a long-term power purchase agreement that enables the project to be built. The power from the Amazon Solar Farm US East will be delivered into the electrical grids that supply Amazon Web Services’ data center activities, including those in Northern Virginia.

“The partnership between Community Energy and Amazon Web Services, which will result in the largest solar facility in the mid-Atlantic, is indicative of the types of opportunities that my administration is working toward through our commitment to build a new Virginia economy,” said McAuliffe. “The solar energy industry holds tremendous potential for economic growth in Virginia in the coming years, and I look forward to bringing more projects like this to the commonwealth. ”

“This solar project is a first for Virginia and a giant step forward for clean power on the East Coast,” said Brent Alderfer, president of Community Energy. “With this project, Virginia jumps to the lead in attracting the energy industry of the future, with cloud-technology leader Amazon Web Services as the first customer.”

The Accomack solar facility will be the second largest on the East Coast “Amazon Web Services is pleased to be teaming up with Community Energy on Amazon Solar Farm US East,” said Shannon Kellogg, director of public policy for Amazon. “We are excited about the impact that this project can have on the environment and the local economy in Virginia, and we thank the governor for his strong commitment to make more renewable energy sources available in the commonwealth.”

The Accomack Board of Supervisors recently denied the developers’ request for a tax exemption, deciding instead that the board wants to keep the Chesapeake Bay Preservation Act in effect on both the bayside and the seaside of the county.

After a marathon five-hour session, the board voted 4-1 (Hogg voting against), to advertise for a joint public hearing with the Planning Commission on the proposed ordinance and map for Nov. 2. The Planning Commission will have 60 days to review the document, after which, the supervisors will have an opportunity to vote on it. The earliest date for that vote to be taken is Dec. 8.

State Announces Graduation, Dropout Rates

By Cheryl Nowak

While 90.5 percent of Virginia public-school students in the class of 2015 earned a diploma, 87.6 percent of those students on the Shore did so.

And while the dropout rate of that class was 5.2 percent over the entire commonwealth, it was 8.25 percent on the Shore.

Specifically on the Shore: • Arcadia High School had 134 students in the class of 2015, 57 of whom earned an advanced study diploma, and 53 who received a standard diploma. The on-time graduation rate was 88.2 percent and the dropout rate was 11.8 percent.

• Chincoteague High School had 153 students in the class of 2015, 92 of whom earned an advanced study diploma, and 43 who received a standard diploma. The on-time graduation rate was 92.2 percent and the dropout rate was 5.9 percent.

• Nandua High School had 153 students in the class of 2015, 92 of whom earned an advanced study diploma, and 43 who received a standard diploma. The on-time graduation rate was 92.2 percent and the dropout rate was 5.9 percent.

• Northampton High School had 97 students in the class of 2015, 35 of whom earned an advanced study diploma, and 39 who received a standard diploma. The on-time graduation rate was 83.5 percent and the dropout rate was 9.3 percent.

The on-time graduation rate expresses the percentage of students in a cohort who earned a Board of Education-approved diploma within four years of entering high school for the first time.

To graduate with an advanced studies diploma, a student in the class of 2015 must have earned at least 24 standard units of credit and at least nine verified units of credit.

To graduate with a standard diploma, a student must have earned at least 22 standard units of credit by passing required courses and electives, and earned at least six verified credits by passing end-of-course Standards of Learning (SOL) tests or other assessments approved by the Board of Education.

Northampton Culinary Class Revived

By Ron West

Northampton County Schools Superintendent Eddie Lawrence reported at last week’s School Board session that the school year had gotten off to a good start.

He announced a revival of the culinary arts program at the high school, where issues such as budget shortfalls led to the closing of the former “Jolly Jacket” café that was part of the vocational program. Lawrence suggested that the board meet at the high school later in the fall to see the new culinary arts program in operation.

Assistant Superintendent Annette Gray reported that classroom observations would continue with two to four administrators visiting rooms to ensure that policies are in place. Gray noted that this should not be viewed as a threat to the classroom teachers, but is needed since the schools are not fully accredited.

Operations Director Chris Truckner reported that the system is still short of bus drivers. Regarding repairs to the high school, Truckner stated that the work is nearing completion on the north wall of the cafeteria and adjacent rooms. He added that a new security grant had been awarded and will be used to place additional cameras in the buildings.

Bomb Threat Evacuates School

When Nandua High School received a bomb threat at approximately 12:10 p.m. last Friday, the school was immediately evacuated, according to the Accomack County Public Schools administration.

The Accomack County Sheriff’s Department was contacted and called in the K-9 Unit from Worcester County, Md. While the building was being thoroughly searched, buses were called to be available for protection for students from rain, which had been expected, and for transportation should there be a need for an early dismissal.

All students were accounted for and no bomb was found. The all-clear was given by police officials just after 2 p.m. for re-entry into the school.

“I want to send a special thanks to our police officials, NHS staff, bus drivers, and operational team for responding quickly and ensuring the safety of all,” said Superintendent Dr. Kregg Cuellar.

The incident is under investigation by the Sheriff’s Department.

A Machipongo man was sentenced last week in Accomack Circuit Court to 10 years for burglary, 10 years for grand larceny and 5 years for possession of a firearm by a felon, all to run concurrently, with all but two years suspended. Judge Glen A. Tyler also ordered that Brady must pay $5,831.99 in restitution.

Lemoin Brandon Brady, 30, entered a guilty plea as part of a plea agreement accepted by the court. The charges stem from the burglary and grand larceny of items from the home of Charles Watkins in 2012.

Brady was found to be in possession of a 9mm Luger pistol with eight cartridges, and a .45-caliber Taurus pistol with six cartridges.

In a separate case, Travis James Shreaves, 23, of Eastside Road in Chincoteague pleaded guilty to receiving/buying more than $200 worth of stolen goods and was sentenced in Accomack Circuit Court on Sept. 23.

The property involved was a 2012 Honda TRX450R four-wheeler belonging to Jeremy Rantz of New Church, which Shreaves had when he was arrested.

Tyler sentenced Shreaves to five years, with all but one year and eight months suspended. He also was ordered to pay $5,000 in restitution.

Her Deliveries Were Always Special

By Linda Cicoira

It's been 25 years since the last “granny midwife” on the Eastern Shore retired. But that hasn’t stopped babies from showing up in Dorothy Handy’s life.

The Parksley woman was sitting on a bench eating popcorn in Ocean City, Md., not long ago when she was reminded of the 1,200 babies she brought into this world from 1956 to 1990. After all, she was the first smiling face that child ever saw and it was a grand welcome.

At 86, the 27-time great-grandmother is still grinning back. There were some kids whom Mrs. Handy got to keep around, like the 16 grandchildren (of whom she birthed seven) and others she had to give back to the mothers (like the seven sets of twins.) She also delivered the first of another set of twins, with a doctor at the hospital doing the honors for the second child.

In addition, Mrs. Handy has one great-great-granddaughter. “She’s something else,” she said.

Mrs. Handy got started in the baby business while doing “ordinary housework” for general practitioner Dr. Walter Eskridge, who practiced in Parksley. “I always worked any kind of work you can name — picked white potatoes, string beans and sweet potatoes.” She said that once she started delivering babies, she had to cut the other jobs out. “People couldn’t find me.”

Mrs. Handy’s mother used a midwife to have her and she herself used midwives to have all five of her children.

Why did she get involved?

“ ’Cause I loved babies,” she said. “I just had a hand for babies.”

Mrs. Handy also was curious as a child because her cousin, Thelma Savage, had been a midwife.

She didn’t do it for the money. She rarely got paid with dollars for delivering babies. Instead, the folks she worked for might bring her chickens, pies, fabric or a pig.

And she wouldn’t deliver just any baby. The mothers had to get prenatal care and have a slip from the doctor or health department.

Mrs. Handy calmed women from Exmore to the Maryland line when their time came.

“I just told them to be patient,” Mrs. Handy remembered. “I sat there with them and we’d joke and laugh sometimes. I just made them at ease. I might rub their stomach or back and get them up and walk. Most everybody liked me. I just made them feel comfortable.”

Countdown to Launch Resumption Continues
Wednesday marked the completion of the major repair work at the Virginia Space – MARS Launch Pad-0A at Wallops Flight Facility. This is a milestone toward Orbital ATK resuming cargo resupply service with the upgraded Antares launch vehicle to the International Space Station for NASA. The rebuild effort restored to flight readiness the facility and all systems that were damaged during the Oct. 28, 2014, rocket explosion seconds after liftoff. This work included repairs or replacement to the deluge, HVAC, fire alarm, and electrical systems, controls, liquid fueling facilities and any damaged structures. The work was completed as scheduled, and within the overall budget, while keeping a small management reserve for final system performance testing, which started Sept. 25.

COMMUNITY NOTES

The Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) has acquired property in Northampton County, which has been protected by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) as part of a long-range initiative to permanently protect coastal natural areas and habitats for migratory birds.

The parcel is an addition to the existing 122-acre Pickett’s Harbor Natural Area Preserve, established to protect highly threatened natural communities of the Chesapeake Bay, including exceptional beach, secondary dunes, wetlands and maritime forest.

“While this addition to Pickett’s Harbor Natural Area Preserve may be small in size, its significance is huge,” said Tom Smith, DCR Natural Heritage director. “The property contains state and globally rare maritime forest and critical migratory songbird habitat. There aren’t many natural communities of this kind left, and the songbirds need all the stopover and refueling habitat they can get.”

Designation as a state natural area preserve guarantees the property will not be developed. Its resources will be managed by the DCR’s Natural Heritage stewardship staff.

The DCR purchased the property from The Nature Conservancy. The Virginia Department of Environmental Quality Coastal Zone Management Program helped finance the purchase with a federal grant from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

For years, the property has been a conservation priority for the Eastern Shore Southern Tip Partnership, which has worked since the early 1990s to protect key land for migratory birds and other coastal species.

The partnership is made up of the DCR, The Nature Conservancy, the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality Coastal Zone Management Program, the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries, the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust, Ducks Unlimited, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

“Keeping this parcel out of development helps buffer adjacent land and resources against sea-level rise and erosion,” said Michael Lipford, executive director of the The Nature Conservancy’s Virginia chapter.
Cody Dore Receives National Honor

Arcadia High School student Cody J. Dore of Parksley has been chosen for membership in The National Honor Society of High School Scholars (NSHSS) for superior academic achievement. Dore, the son of Donald and Christine Dore and the youngest of 10 siblings, maintains a GPA of 3.58 and is an Honor Roll student. He is a member of the Hi-Y Club and assisted with the development of bill proposals for the MGA program. He is also a volunteer at school functions and activities.

Dore has been a participant and supporter of the March of Dimes Walk for Babies since 2007. He was born with cerebral palsy and suffers from seizures, but has maintained his academic commitment and community spirit.

“On behalf of the NSHSS, I am honored to recognize the hard work, sacrifice and commitment Cody has demonstrated to achieve this exceptional level of academic excellence,” said Founder and Chairman Claes Nobel. “Cody is now a member of a unique community of scholars — a community that represents our very best hope for the future.”

“We are proud to provide lifetime membership to young scholars to support their growth and development,” stated NSHSS President James W. Lewis. “We aim to help students like Cody build on their academic success by connecting them with unique learning experiences and resources to help prepare them for college and meaningful careers.”

NSHSS members become lifetime members. At each step from high school to college to career, NSHSS connects outstanding young scholars with the resources they need to develop their strengths and pursue their passions.

The son of the late William Henry Prince and Dorothy (Trumble) Prince, Mr. Prince was a beloved coach and teacher at Northampton and Arcadia high schools. He was an active member of the Eastern Shore Emmaus community and Franktown United Methodist Church. After his retirement, he moved to the Outer Banks of North Carolina, where he assisted his brother in coaching at First Flight High School.

Mr. Prince is survived by his daughters, Jenny Tomlinson (and husband, Gary) of Nassawadox and Rebecca Meyers (and husband, Brad) of Southern Shores, N.C.; son, Allen Prince (and wife, Christine) of Virginia Beach; one sister, Sue P. Metzler (and husband, Grey) of Exmore; brother, James F. Prince (and wife, Jacqui) of Kill Devil Hills, N.C.; and grandchildren, Heather, Morgan, Dale, Jackson, Ellie, Nolan and Launa.

A celebration of his life will be held Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 5 p.m. at Occohannock on the Bay in Belle Haven, with Rev. Tammy Estep officiating. A reception will follow.

Memorial donations may be made to the football program at Arcadia or Northampton High School.

Arrangements were made by Holland Funeral Home, Nassawadox.
Eastern Shore Health District has announced this year’s seasonal flu vaccination clinics. In addition to the regular clinics for residents having insurance or who wish to self-pay, a special clinic will be offered for those without insurance coverage.

For residents covered by Medicare, Medicaid, or private insurance, flu vaccination clinics will be held by appointment at Accomack County Health Department on Wednesdays from 1 to 4 p.m. and at Northampton County Health Department on Wednesdays from 8:30 to 11 a.m.

In addition to the weekly clinics, a special evening walk-in clinic will be offered on Tuesday, Oct. 6, from 4 to 7 p.m. at both health departments.

People at increased risk for illness from seasonal influenza and who should receive seasonal flu vaccine this year include:

- all people 6 months of age and older;
- people of any age with certain chronic medical conditions;
- people who live with or care for those at high-risk for complications from flu, including healthcare personnel, household contacts of those at high risk for complications from the flu, and close contacts of children younger than 6 months of age (these children are too young to be vaccinated).

American Legion Post 56, along with Eastern Shore Rural Health, will offer a Flu Shot Clinic from 5 to 7 p.m. at Post 56 in Cheriton.

Most private insurance companies, as well as Medicare, will cover the cost of the flu shot. If you are paying out of pocket, the fee will be $30.

Sue Connors, of Onancock, was an avid golfer-usually walking 18 holes. But her golf game suffered over the last year as she suffered from neuropathy, losing feeling in her foot due to a degenerative disk in her back. “I saw an ad in the paper, went to a lecture by Dr. Bull and decided I could give it a try,” said Sue. “After just 10 or 12 sessions, I was already 90% better. He was always helpful and I felt confident in the procedures.” After 12 weekly sessions, Sue was back to hitting birdies on the back 9...walking, not riding in a cart. These days, she checks in with Dr. Bull twice a year for follow-ups. “I would recommend this procedure. It really helped me.”
Accawmacke Elementary third graders discover what a combine machine is and how a farmer uses it for harvesting crops from Watson Lawrence, Chesapeake Cooperative Extension agent, during the Annual Division-wide Extension Office and Farm Bureau Field Trip at Duncan Farms in Greenbackville. Every third-grade class participates and visits 20 informational and interactive booths sponsored by various agribusiness and agriculture based volunteer organizations.

Northampton Names New Economic Development Director

Northampton County has hired Kris Tucker as director of economic and community development, effective Nov. 2.

Tucker comes to the position with private sector experience in administration and management, community and economic development, interdisciplinary relationship building, strategic planning, project management, public policy, land use, eco-tourism, research and finance.

“I am excited that our rural, coastal community will benefit from the depth and range of experience that Kris has and we welcome the background he brings not only in economic development but also in land use and general management,” said County Administrator Katie Nunez.

Tucker holds a Master’s Degree in Resource Administration and Management and a Bachelor of Environmental Science/Public Affairs and Policy Degree from the University of New Hampshire.

“I am greatly looking forward to sharing my experience and enthusiasm with Northampton County,” said Tucker. “Some of my key goals in entering this position include strong relationship building, fostering open, productive dialogue and developing a shared community perspective. I have always felt that sound economic development is just as much about relationships, outreach and communication as it is the application of straight economic principles.”

Tucker previously served as executive director of economic development for Vista Equities, headquartered in Las Vegas, Nev.

George Teague Jr. remembers growing up in Melfa and watching his father run horses at the local fairgrounds track. “Both of my parents were involved in the business. Horse racing is pretty much a family affair,” said Teague Sunday, sounding calm and collected despite the fact his horse had won the most prestigious horse race on the harness-racing circuit the previous Thursday.

Hailed as one of the greatest harness-racing horses ever to hit the tracks, Wiggle It Jiggleit won the Little Brown Jug last week in Delaware, Ohio, in front of more than 46,000 spectators, to claim a $335,792 winner’s share. The victory increased his 2015 earnings to over $1.8 million while winning 18 of 20 races. Earlier this year, the 3-year-old gelding set a world record with a 1:49 mile on a half-mile track at Harrington Raceway.

Teague’s family left the Shore when he was 12, moving to Harrington, Del., where he now owns two farms and has established a training center for horses. He recalls many nights at Ocean Downs and other East Coast tracks as a youth. “I have fond memories of Ocean Downs,” said Teague. “We spent a lot of time there.”

Losing his father, George Sr., to diabetes when George Jr. was 16, and his mother, Annie Conquest Teague, to cancer several years later, young Teague dropped out of school and worked in the horse-racing industry. He eventually became owner of several notable horses, including Rainbow Blue, named Horse of the Year in harness racing in 2004, a rare honor for a mare. There was also Southwind Lynx, who won almost $2 million on the track.

“I’ve been fortunate,” said Teague, who also owns the father and mother of Wiggle It Jiggleit, and according to press accounts, is regarded as one of the nicest and most respected owners in the business.

What made last Thursday’s win in the Little Brown Jug an especially “feel-good moment,” according to Teague, was that his son, 24-year-old Montrell Teague, was the driver.

“I couldn’t be prouder of my son,” said Teague, who turned 52 just this week. “He’s doing a great job for the horse as much as the horse is doing for him.”

Teague also has two daughters, Shanika and Shamika, who work in the administrative office. Like he said, horse racing is a family affair.

His longtime assistant, Clyde Francis, who still calls Nassawadox home, although he works in Harrington, is the trainer for Wiggle It Jiggleit and Teague’s other horses.

After just taking Wiggle It Jiggleit for a workout prior to the running of the Little Brown Jug, Francis said, “We’ve had some good ones here, but this one is special.”

Montrell Teague became the second youngest driver ever to win the Little Brown Jug and several times has been the youngest driver ever to win major races. The Teague team is also the first black owner, driver and trainer to win the Jug.

“There aren’t many opportunities for African Americans in this business,” said Teague. “There are probably less than 5 percent in harness racing. I will say this: For as competitive as we all are, when the racing is over, we are all friends.”

Asked Sunday evening why he is so well-liked within the industry, Teague laughed, “I don’t know. Maybe it’s my Virginia upbringing. I know growing up my parents taught me to respect people and treat people the way you want to be treated.”

Teague thought he was going to have to congratulate one of his best friends in the business at the Little Brown Jug, a race involving three heats.

“Wiggle It Jiggleit looked like he was going to be beat in the finals. He had to go outside, and that takes a lot out of a horse both mentally and physically, but he has a will to win unlike any I’ve ever seen in a horse and came from behind to nip the frontrunner at the wire.”

The Daily Racing Form, considered the Bible in the racing industry, described the race this way. “In a true display of courage and class, Wiggle It Jiggleit dug down deep and simply refused to be defeated, finishing a nose ahead of Lost For Words in a race for the ages.”

Asked how did Wiggle It Jiggleit got his unusual name, Teague said, “Well, his father is Mr. Wiggles, and Tommy Cugle, who has worked for me for many years, came up with the name. It’s certainly a catchy phrase,” said Teague, adding that Wiggle It Jiggleit could race another five to eight years, depending on his health.

“Horse racing is pretty much the only thing I’ve ever done,” he said, “and it all started on the Eastern Shore.”

Viking fans might view Broadwater’s 41-26 win over Arcadia Friday night as a “Major” win as Tyler Major scored three touchdowns, Major Morgan tallied a pair and Taylor Major added another. Quarterback Austin Murphy also played a key role in the win, leveling the Vikings’ record at 3-3.

The Major twins were returning to the field where they played two years ago under Arcadia coach Tony Nock before transferring to Broadwater and made their presence felt early in the game.

Tyler Major scored two first-quarter touchdowns to give the Vikings a 14-0 lead. The initial score came at the 9:38 mark on a one-yard run after Major ripped off a 35-yard gain on a fourth and four situation from just inside midfield. Just over two minutes later, Major scored on a nine-yard run. Thomas Scott kicked both extra points and was five of six on the night.

Arcadia responded with a drive that culminated in a Devon Rogers 15-yard reverse for a score, but failed to convert on the extra point.

However, the Vikings answered with an Austin Murphy to Taylor Major hookup for 56 yards, and then on the final play of the half, Murphy hit Morgan crossing the field for a 22-yard touchdown play.

“Austin and Major checked off on the play we called and changed the route on that last play of the half after getting to the line of scrimmage,” said Broadwater coach Noble Palmer. “They saw something they thought would work and came up with a big play. This was a much more difficult game than the score would indicate. We were able to make some plays that made a huge difference in the game.”

That score gave Broadwater a 27-6 halftime lead. Arcadia’s offense opened the second half with a drive that churned up both yardage and time before being stopped deep in Viking territory. But Broadwater fumbled the snap on the first play of the ensuing drive and Arcadia recovered on the 2-yard line, scoring two plays later on a Control Brel Brown run with 1:12 left in the third quarter.

In the final quarter, the two teams traded two touchdowns with all the scoring coming in the final eight minutes. Tyler Major scored with 7:27 remaining on a 26-yard run before Rogers caught a 15-yard pass from Arcadia quarterback Paul Brown.

The Firebirds recovered one of three Viking fumbles on the night and were driving for a score that could cut the lead to one score when Major Morgan picked off a pass in the flat and out-raced everyone to the end zone on a 55-yard interception return with 4:17 remaining in the game.

“That was a real backbreaker,” said Arcadia coach Tony Nock. “We had a chance until then. I knew what to expect with the Major twins because I’ve coached them, but Morgan made an impact on the game both on offense and defense. He is someone who can play college ball.”

Nock added, “We also made too many miscues. We need to clean that up going into the remainder of the season.”

Arcadia closed the gap to 41-26 with a 40-yard touchdown pass from Brown to Rogers with 2:56 remaining before the Firebirds ran out the clock on the final drive.

Morgan and Dontae Weatherly each had 17 tackles to lead the Viking defense. Taylor and Tyler Major each had 13 tackles and Jimmy Lord contributed nine. Coach Palmer said Weatherly and Hayden Mabalot did a good job of calling blocking schemes on the line to give the running backs openings to break through the line.

Murphy was 9 for 17 passing for 155 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Tyler Major ran for 28 yards on 23 carries.

Northampton Explodes on Offense in 62-24 Win Over King and Queen

Northampton walloped King and Queen 62-24 Monday night on the road to earn its second win of the season against three losses.

Dyshawn Beckett ran for three touchdowns and Frederick Williams ran for two scores and caught a pass for another to pace the Jacket offense.

Michael Jones, Tamaze Brisco and Darion Anderson each had a rushing touchdown.

Beckett and Williams each had over 100 yards running, while Brisco had over 100 yards total offense.

“My coaches and players did a great job,” said Northampton coach Ty Traister. “I am very impressed with how we carried ourselves, very respectful and positive all night.”

On defense, Quinyon Williams and Austin Brady led the team in tackles, with Jaquan Johnson also getting an interception.

“When we focus and do our jobs, we are a very tough team to beat,” said Traister.

“It was a great team victory. With five guys putting points on the board, it was a great team effort. The offensive line, Austin Brady, Quinyon Williams, Devin Taylor, Jontrell Walker, and Demitrius Trower, and tight ends Mitchell Pidgeon and Durell Robinson, really played their best game of the year.”

Facing a short week, Northampton is back on the road tonight, playing Middlesex, a team the Jackets beat for their only win last season.

Morgan led receivers with five catches for 71 yards.

For Arcadia, Jamal Savage had 88 yards on 15 carries, while Brown had 70 yards on 15 carries. Rogers led the Firebird defense with nine tackles, Savage had seven, and Kerric Hickman, Tyric Harris, Tyquan Payton and Richie Shrieves had five each.

Arcadia, now 2-3, hosts Colonel Richardson tonight in a 7 o’clock start while Broadwater is off this week.
Nandua was ahead 10-0 at halftime and still clung to a fourth-quarter lead before unbeaten Lancaster came back to claim a 22-13 win Friday night at Onley.

Nandua quarterback Jaden Davis hooked up with Mahagee Wise for a 43-yard touchdown pass and Trevor Wessells kicked a 36-yard field goal to give the Warriors a 10-0 lead at intermission. However, Lancaster, now 4-0, got untracked in the second half and scored 22 points, while the Warriors could only manage a 26-yard field goal by Wessells.

“Lancaster is an explosive team that came in averaging 35 or 40 points a game. We played a great game defensively the first half, but once they got some momentum they made some plays and never looked back,” said Nandua coach Tom Rotkowski.

He said a blocked punt that gave Lancaster good field position inside the 10 was a turning point in the game. “After they scored, we drove to the 1-yard line, but had to settle for a field goal. We need to finish the job, but overall I think we gained some confidence and played our best offensive game of the year,” added Rotkowski.

Daquan Bailey was a workhouse, rushing 25 times for 120 yards as the Warriors earned 13 first downs to 11 for the visitors and amassed 253 total yards.

Davis was 4 of 8 passing for 80 yards, while Kelly Reagan was also 4 of 8 for 29 yards. Wise hauled in four passes for 76 yards.

Robert Bailey had 12 tackles and a sack. Jhamir Poulson added nine tackles, with Hunter Cooper and Trevor Wessells getting five each. Trevor Cooper had an interception.

Nandua played South Dorchester of Cambridge last night in a game completed after Post deadlines.

Chincoteague broke into the win column for the first time this season in a big way as the Ponies stomped Portsmouth Christian 42-3 in a game played on the road Monday night after bad weather forced a postponement Friday.

Gardner Fosque had a night reminiscent of last year when he gained over 1600 yards and scored 25 touchdowns, by running for 164 yards on only six carries and scoring three touchdowns.

“We are finally getting players back healthy,” said Chincoteague coach Nick Howard. “The younger guys who had to play the last few games are also getting more confidence. Hopefully, we can put something together for the rest of the season.”

Fosque opened the scoring with a seven-yard run and then followed with an 80-yard dash for a touchdown. Pony quarterback Collin Derrickson connected with Trevor Reed for a 47-yard scoring strike before Fosque scored his third touchdown of the night with a 57-yard run.

Some Nice Catches Despite Windy Weather

Matt Abell of Sea Hawk Sports Center in Pocomoke says the offshore scene was hot with excellent chunking in the canyons before bad weather kept anglers inshore. Abell adds that the flounder continue to surprise this year as they are reported not only from the rail cars but also inside Metompkin Inlet.

The shallows still are producing good numbers of small specks and rock with a few keepers mixed in. “If all these speckled trout make it through the winter, we are going to have some grade A flats fishing next year,” says Abell.

Dr. Julie Ball says the red drum brigade took off over the past week in the lower bay and along coastal shorelines. These prized fighters thrive in churned water and respond aggressively during fronts. Surf anglers are thrilled with the recent explosion of activity in the surf lines, and pier anglers are tangling with big drum from lower bay and oceanfront fishing piers, according to Ball. Puppy drum stretching to over 28 inches also are swarming in these areas, as well as within the local inlets and shallows.

Ball says spot activity also intensifies when the wind blows from the north, and surf and pier anglers are flocking to the edges of inlets and shorelines, and lining the rails of local fishing piers to claim their share as they fill coolers to the brim with big yellowbelly spot. Bloodworms are the ticket on an incoming tide lately. This bite should remain hot well into next week.

Ball reports that speckled trout continue to show gradually improving catches in the Eastern Shore creeks and shorelines, and lower bay shallows and inlets. Only time will tell if this fishery can rebound from the harsh winter kill, says Ball.

Well, here we are again, embarking upon another October, better known these days as Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Can’t say I’m much of a proponent. Now, before you storm my house, allow me to clarify.

My first point of contention is one that has been widely voiced by others, that being that while breast cancer takes the lion’s share of donations, it does not take nearly the lion’s share of lives. Many other diseases are more deadly. It just has better PR.

It would seem that the awareness aspect should be stressed a bit more, insofar as women need to share how important and easy mammograms and breast examinations are. Men can hardly speak from experience.

But my other objection is seeing all of those football players wearing pink shoes and pink towels and pink hats. I find it flamboyant and patronizing. It’s as if breast-cancer victims (almost exclusively women) need the conspicuous support and protection of these big, strong athletes. Why don’t they wear pale blue for prostate cancer, a totally male disease? That would have been last month, which was Prostate Cancer Awareness Month. Didn’t know that? That’s where the quest for that awareness comes in.

And then there are the tasteless double entendres about breasts that pop up on T-shirts and bumper stickers as if women have not spent the rest of the year whining about sexual exploitation. Are those comments only humorous when it comes to cancer victims, who are pressured to maintain a sense of humor?

I am far from saying that breast cancer does not need nor benefit from the attention it receives. But isn’t it just as distressing to suffer from pancreatic cancer or heart disease or ALS?

When it comes to the destination of my donation, I would much rather leave it to scientists to decide which research could make the most from it than tie their hands by earmarking it for a specific destination.

And it sure would beat taking my lead from football players.

By the way, this is also Liver Cancer Awareness Month, as well as Domestic Violence Awareness Month, AIDS Awareness Month, Child Abuse Awareness Month, Healthy Lung Month, Brain Injury Awareness Month, Down Syndrome Awareness Month, and Spina Bifida Awareness Month.

Guess they don’t mean much to the NFL.

Then again that’s more than a bit obvious when it comes to domestic violence and child abuse awareness.

Exmore ‘Street Festival’ Owes Success to Many

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Greater Exmore Business Association, we would like to thank all of those people and organizations who worked together to make the 19th Exmore Town-Wide Yard Sale one of the most successful to date. We were blessed with spectacular weather for this exciting event, and vendors from three states and beyond drove their merchant spikes into Exmore’s fertile soil, offering more than 3,000 attendees a wide variety of attractions.

Nine vendors in our food court served a smorgasbord of delectables, from sausage biscuits to French fries to mouth-watering desserts. Red Miller and his talented band entertained throughout the day adding to the allure of a townwide street festival, which was how many characterized the day. Don Fogle, a street entertainer, delighted the young and old alike with his juggling, balloon-making skills, and running banter and song. The famous Yellow Duck on Main Street moved their tables and catering skills to the street, and lines formed to get one or more of their famous muffins and pastries, as well as delicious lunches. While we had a few minor bumps in getting the nearly 300 vendors into their reserved sites (understandingly and apologetically), this year’s sale was clearly coordinated with near-seamless perfection.

We appreciate this opportunity to thank the many workers and volunteers who helped us roll out the welcome mat to the wonderful and vibrant Town of Exmore. First, thank you to the tireless owners and staff at Exmore’s Antique Emporium on Main Street, who registered vendors and assigned spaces to the hundreds of merchants who participated. Kudos also to Roy Ballard, the event coordinator, who seems to be able to solve any problem and gets the job done year after year. Also, thank you to the willing and professional clerks at Exmore’s Town Hall, who stepped up to the plate and helped answer the hundreds of questions and pleas for assistance that are endemic with a huge undertaking like this. Also, many thanks to the Eastern Shore Post for their advertising and support of this and other similar events on the Shore and beyond. Without you and the local media support, attendance at this sale would certainly have been less, and we are grateful for the exposure, as we have been in the past.

But right there on the front lines and in the trenches were the dedicated town employees, whose work behind and in front of the curtain makes this yearly festival possible and indeed successful. Utilities Director Taylor Dukes and Public Works Director Mike Johnson and his crew were absolutely critical before, during and most certainly immediately after the sale day. An hour after the tables were down and the vehicles loaded, the town returned to its normal routine and our streets were spotless, clean and pristine, as they always are.

Finally, many, many thanks to Chief Angelo DeMartino and his fine officers who served without complaint and kept this event safe, orderly, and congenial. We tout what we believe to be the finest force on the Shore, and on Saturday they shined brightly, and we are proud of their service and professionalism.

Needless to say, this street festival would not have been possible without the full support of Mayor Greer, Town Manager Robert Duer, and Councilmen Sturgis, Adkins, Doughty, Heaster, Metz, and Lewis, who willingly and appreciatively direct their employees to undertake this monumental task.

We look forward to working with all of these team members in the future, and invite all of those who enjoyed the 19th annual yard sale to visit our town again on Oct. 17 for the first annual car and bike show at the newly-renovated town park on Main Street.

Ken Dufty, President
