Buckets of rain and winds in gusts of more than 40 mph wreaked havoc for about 18,000 acres of crops in Accomack County last weekend and continues to do damage as water stands in the fields this week.

"Major impacts to the more than 16,598 acres of soybeans will ... result from the excessive wind and rain," wrote Extension Agent Theresa Long Pittman in a memo to emergency personnel Tuesday. "A potential reduction in yield of 40-50 percent along with problems with the quality of the harvested bean" are anticipated. "Disease pressure and rot from the amount of rain received over a short period of time and residual standing water will most likely occur," she continued.

The storm deviated from the projected course causing more damage than expected, wrote Pittman. "Over an 18-hour period, we had between seven and 10 inches of rain throughout the county," she continued. "We are waiting to see the complete impact of the storm."

An assessment also listed 238 acres of fresh market snap beans and 927 acres of grain sorghum.

Most Eastern Shore Residents Like Their Water Right From The Tap

By Linda Cicoira

That’s the story in Accomack and Northampton counties where 73 percent of the folks who participated in an email survey conducted recently by the Eastern Shore Post said they cook with and drink water from their kitchen faucets without hesitation.

“Yes, I cook and make beverages with water from my spigot,” said Cora Bailey of Machipongo. “We have our own deep well. I don’t like (the) drinking water in towns as you can taste the chemicals used for water treatment.”

Alex Coleman of Wachapreague drinks his from the faucet “because it is a fresh-water well aquifer that has been drilled approximately 290 feet and the water tastes really good.”

“We have good, deep, well-water with a softener in the basement and a built-in filter on (a) separate spigot for cold drinking water at the kitchen sink,” said Vicki Parker of Onley.

Cherie Jester of the Atlantic area wrote, “We have a deep well and always had good-tasting water, although with some hardness. We installed a whole-house filtration system about 10 years ago to address the hardness and calcium buildup for longer life of our fixtures and faucets.”

“I don’t drink … the tap water because I don’t find it as refreshing as bottled water,” said Denise Bowden of Chincoteague. “But, I do use tap water when cooking.”

Libby Hume of Machipongo said she cooks “with water from my spigot and use it for coffee. We’ve had it tested and it’s great. We have well water with a whole house filter and softener.”

Jan Andrejco of Mink Farm Plantation “cooks with unfiltered (and) drinks filtered. We are in new construction and the well water still smells. The health department report says the water is safe to drink.”

Reade Bonniwell of Quinby wrote, “The water is excellent with minimal rust.”

“Yes, “ Patrick Belote of Onancock drinks his water. “I grew up in Onancock on a farm with a shallow well. I’m not too worried about deep wells.”

Stephen J. Rulison of Occohannock Neck in Northampton said, “Taste is not bad, but it does sometimes contain sediment from the pressure tank.”

But there is the 27 percent that are not so happy with their situation.

“I do not believe it is safe to consume,” wrote Abra J. of Exmore.

Edean Bundick of Greenbackville doesn’t cook or drink from the tap “because I live in Captain’s Cove and the water taste like an over-chlorinated swimming pool! It is disgusting and we have to pay for that mess!”

An update on recent successes was presented to Northampton supervisors this week by Joint Industrial Development Authority (JIDA) Chairman Bill Parr.

Parr said supporting bond requests from other areas, such as Williamsburg, would bring interest from the bond in the coming years. Reaching out to other groups such as Accomack County and the Accomack-Northampton Planning District Commission will help strengthen Northampton’s efforts to improve the county, he added.

JIDA is being proactive in bringing people in to help learn what to do when opportunities occur, thus making the area more receptive to businesses that might want to relocate here, Parr continued.

He praised JIDA member John Pavlik for his efforts in helping the school system develop a mentor program that would help students develop job skills. Parr noted JIDA provided financial support for Extension Service Agent Ursula Deitch’s recent trip to China to promote foreign trade for Eastern Shore agricultural products.

Vice-Chairman Larry LeMond discussed supporting efforts by other counties to gain General Assembly support regarding local authority to impose a cigarette tax. Several counties have gained this authority, which provides them with an added source of revenue. It only affects those who use tobacco products rather than the general population, Lemond said.

The board agreed to support York County’s effort to eliminate the need to conduct a referendum regarding a food and beverage tax. The tax is set at 4 percent. By eliminating the need to conduct a referendum on the issue, the county could proceed faster.

The board also conducted public hearings. The first two were for special use permits submitted by Christopher and Patricia Blevins and Terrill and Rose Marie Ramsey of Kiptopeke. They want to construct a pole barn and to house up to three horses on site. At issue was the location and size of the two lots that would be used. The 5-acre and the half-acre lots are zoned Agricultural-Rural Business. The applicants proposed to construct a horse barn on the smaller lot and use the larger one as pasture. Planning commissioners supported the applications at an earlier session but recommended the property line between the lots be abandoned. The applicants opposed this stipulation noting that if in the future they wanted to put a residence on the same lot as the barn, it would be prohibited. If the barn was constructed on the smaller lot, it become the primary structure. By code, accessory structures cannot be placed on a property without a primary structure. Following a brief discussion by the board, they agreed to both requests by insuring the permit for the barn runs with the land and the permit allowing the horses would run with the applicant.

The board also considered modifying the 2016 Zoning Ordinance approved earlier this year. While most consisted of changes that were not controversial, one proposal in Oyster created a concern for an existing aquaculture business. The board proposed to rezone several parcels near Oyster Harbor as Working Waterfront. Doing so could adversely affect a currently allowed use of a structure on one parcel, according to the discussion.

Speaking in opposition to the proposed change, Parr noted the owner already has a permit to operate a small business on the site and would like the opportunity to use a portion of the existing structure as a residence for an employee managing daily operations. The business is open 24-7, 365 days of the year. The current uses would not be permitted in a Working Waterfront District.

The board agreed and noted the commission is seeking to make changes to permitted uses in such a district, which might eliminate the conflict.

During the citizen comment period, Janet Sturgis of Franktown reported a fight on a county school bus that resulted in some students being removed by police. Board Chairman Spencer Murray

Girl Scouts To Sponsor Candidate Forum

Girl Scout Troop 615 of Onancock is sponsoring a public forum for candidates running for Accomack County Commonwealth’s Attorney. The forum will be held Oct. 24, 7 p.m., at the North Street Playhouse, 34 Market St., Onancock. All three candidates — Matthew Brenner, Carl Bundick, and Spencer Morgan — have accepted the invitation to participate.

The troop will moderate the forum, and will select the questions with help from a survey sent out by the Eastern Shore Post. The public is invited to attend, although seating is limited to the first 100 arrivals. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

No campaign materials will be permitted within the Playhouse. The Eastern Shore Post will cover the forum, with an article that will run in the paper’s Oct. 28 edition.

“Evaluations are being made by C&E Farms as to the status of the fresh market snap bean crop,” Pittman wrote. “Disease and scarring/quality issues are the major areas of concern for snap bean growers,” she said.

“Approximately 45 percent of the 2,107 acres of grain sorghum planted in Accomack County is still unharvested in the fields,” according to the report. “Sprouting/quality issues will be the number one concern of growers as harvests continue. We could see as much as 70-75 percent of the remaining unharvested grain sorghum affected. As the fields dry out, evaluations will be made as to if the harvest can continue.

Any damage caused to aquaculture will require a more intense procedure as it is not something that I can observe but must rather contact multiple individuals to assess,” Pittman stated. “I hope to gather this data within the next week or so.”

The value of the crops was not included in the report.

Preliminary estimates of storm damage and cleanup for state-maintained roads on the Eastern Shore totaled more than $76,500 and further evaluations could make that figure go even higher, according to spokesperson Paul Miller of VDOT.

For the Hampton Roads region, the total is expected to “top the $2 million dollar mark” for state roads and bridges. More than $1 million is for Southampton County, which was the hardest hit.

Initial figures for the Shore showed $19,100 worth of repairs and debris removal would be needed in Northampton County with $57,439 in Accomack.

NORTHAMPTON SHERIFF’S OFFICE TAKING BACK UNWANTED PRESCRIPTION DRUGS OCTOBER 22, 2016, AT 5211 THE HORNES (NORTHAMPTON SHERIFF’S OFFICE)

On October 22, 2016, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., the Northampton Sheriff’s Office and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will give the public its 12th opportunity in six years to prevent pill abuse and theft by ridding their homes of potentially dangerous expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs. Bring your pills for disposal to Northampton Sheriff’s Office at 5211 The Hornes, Eastville, Virginia. (The DEA cannot accept liquids or needles or sharps, only pills or patches.) The service is free and anonymous, no questions asked.

Last September, Americans turned in 350 tons (over 702,000 pounds) of prescription drugs at more than 5,000 sites operated by the DEA and more than 3,800 of its state and local law-enforcement partners. When those results are combined with what was collected in its 10 previous Take Back events, DEA and its partners have taken in over 5.5 million pounds — more than 2,750 tons — of pills.

This initiative addresses a vital public safety and public health issue. Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse, and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are alarmingly high, as are the number of accidental poisonings and overdoses due to these drugs. Studies show that a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet. In addition, Americans are now advised that their usual methods for disposing of unused medicines — flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash — both pose potential safety and health hazards.

For more information about the disposal of prescription drugs or about the October 22, 2016, Take Back Day event, go to the DEA Diversion website or contact Major Smith with Northampton Sheriff’s Office at (757) 678-0458.

Nicholas Rufus White, 21, of Salisbury, admitted to committing the crime against a 13- to 15-year-old. Two counts of carnal knowledge without force, which are felonies, were reduced to charges of sexual assault of a child, which are misdemeanors. He was given a 12-month suspended sentence for each count, to run consecutively, and two years of supervised probation. The incidents occurred between July 1 and Aug. 31, 2015.

Curtis Lee Ames Jr., 26, of Holly Ridge Drive in Melfa, was sentenced to three years in prison each for two counts of child endangerment. Two years, 10 months and 15 days of each term was suspended. The sentences were set to run concurrently.

The crimes occurred Feb. 28, 2015, along Wachapreague Road and in Piggen. A count of eluding police was not prosecuted. Cpl. E. J. Nottingham of the Accomack County Sheriff’s Office wrote in the court file that Ames was going up to 90 miles an hour with two unsecured children in the car; one was four and the other was about a year old. The officer could smell alcohol and Ames admitted, “he had a few beers earlier ... he had bloodshot eyes and slurred speech.” Ames was put on probation for three years.

Brandon Scott Parks, of Main Street in Melfa, pleaded guilty to two counts of selling buprenorphine, a medication used to treat opioid addiction, on Dec. 2 and 10, 2015. He was arrested in Melfa, pleaded guilty to two counts of possession with the intent to distribute of cocaine. He was released on existing bond. A presentence report was ordered.

An Accomack County Jail inmate was charged recently with malicious wounding after being seen on a facility video repeatedly beating another prisoner before knocking him unconscious, according to records filed in Accomack General District Court.

Samuel Keynia Dennis, 29, of Payne Road in Bloxom, was awaiting trial on drug offenses when he is alleged to have injured 62-year old Billy Austin. It is unclear why Austin was being held prisoner.

Dennis is being held without bond. The court records noted the weight of evidence was “significant.” The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 6.

In another case, Lawrence Walter Nalls III, 26, of Nannock Gardens Road in Onancock, was accused Monday of felony shoplifting and possession of a controlled drug. He was arrested the same day. Deputy Luke Arnold investigated.

A young Pungoteague man who was awaiting sentencing for crimes in an alcohol-related traffic crash was sentenced to seven days in jail for assault and battery in a more recent incident, a Brandon O’Neil West, 23, of Pungoteague Road, pleaded not guilty and was convicted of assaulting Nathan Charnock Jr. on Aug. 5. He was given 97 days with all but seven suspended. He was ordered to be on good behavior for two years.

West pleaded no contest in Accomack Circuit Court to involuntary manslaughter and maiming in connection to a single-vehicle alcoholic-related traffic crash on Dec. 10, 2015. He also pleaded guilty to a general charge of DUI. No contest means the defendant admitted guilt because the evidence against him was overwhelming.

He told police he was drinking and driving when he crashed. A breathalyzer showed he had an alcohol level of .087 percent. The legal limit is .08 percent.

West was driving a 2002 Mitsubishi Lancer just north of Perdue when he crashed. Devante Deshawn Harris, 23, of Parksley died in the accident. Another passenger, Ray Thomas Pitchett Jr., was severely injured.

The maximum sentence for the crimes is 16 years in prison and a fine of $7,500. He is being held for sentencing in Accomack Jail.

A New York woman was charged recently with possessing a drug illegally, according to records filed in Northampton General District Court.

A December preliminary hearing is scheduled for Cassandra Mosher, 35, of Glen Falls. She was arrested Sept. 17 and charged with possession of a Schedule I or II drug, which is a felony.

Mrs. Martha “Marty” Louise Toner, 75, wife of Robert B. Toner and a resident of Exmore, passed away Sunday, Oct. 9, 2016 at her residence.

The Antares Launch was rescheduled earlier this week for 8:03 p.m. Sunday at the Wallops Flight Facility. There will be a five-minute window.

The rocket was due to be rolled out to the Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport launch pad Wednesday and was scheduled to launch Friday before the latest postponement, which was made so that NASA could prepare for Hurricane Nicole, which was a Category 4 at press time, at its tracking site in Bermuda.

A rendezvous date of the S. S. Alan Poindexter Cygnus cargo logistics spacecraft with the International Space Station has not yet been determined, according to an announcement made Tuesday.

“The Antares and Cygnus team encountered and resolved a minor vehicle processing issue last weekend, together with time spend on contingency planning for Hurricane Matthew” necessitated an earlier one-day slip, officials said earlier in the week. The launch will air live on NASA Television and the agency's website beginning at 7 p.m.

The spacecraft’s trajectory takes it from Wallops and past Bermuda on its flight into orbit. The Bermuda tracking station provides downrange tracking, telemetry and flight termination support. After the storm system has passed Bermuda, the Wallops team will conduct a damage assessment, perform mission readiness testing, and bring the site back up to operational status, according to an announcement.

“The tracking station at Bermuda is required to conduct the Antares launch from Wallops,” said Steven Kremer, chief of the Wallops Range and Mission Management Office. “The ability to support a launch will depend on the impact the storm has on not only our systems, but also the overall Bermuda infrastructure.”

The last Antares Launch was two years ago when a mishap occurred and the rocket was exploded. Since then engine changes have occurred.

Bloxom Mayor R. Scott Callander is running for another term. Five are running for the six seats there and include Thomas W. Beasley, Samuel H. Bloxom Jr., Peter G. Bourbeau II, Christopher F. Kreisl and Jenny K. Kreisl.

In Northampton, no one declared an intention to run for Nassawadox’s mayor. Voters will have to write in their choice. The six running for council are Terry Teresa Custis, John W. Hallett Sr., Claude F. Jones, Lisa P. McDonald, Dr. Drury M. Stith, and Patricia S. Stith.

Shore voters will also pick a president/vice president. Those on the ballot are Hillary Clinton and Tim Kaine for the Democratic Party, Donald J. Trump and Michael R. Pence for the Republican Party, Gary Johnson and Bill Weld for Libertarian Party, Jill Stein and Ajamu Baraka for the Green Party and Evan McMullin and Nathan Johnson as Independents.

Democrat Shaun D. Brown and Republican Scott W. Taylor are vying for the 2nd District seat in the House of Representatives. Rep. Scott Rigell is not running for another term.

Two state constitutional amendments will also be decided.

Currently the General Assembly does not tax the real property (including anything owned jointly by a married couple) belonging to any veteran with a 100 percent service-connected, permanent and total disability as determined by the U.S. Department of Veterans’ Affairs, nor the real estate of a surviving spouse of an eligible veteran. The exemption is for the principal residence and ceases if the surviving spouse remarries. The proposal would give the same benefit to a surviving spouse of any law-enforcement officer, firefighter, search and rescue personnel or emergency medical services worker who is killed in the line of duty.

Since 1947, there has been a right-to-work law in Virginia in which workers are not required to join a union that has an agreement with an employer. The proposal would put that provision into the Virginia constitution.

In Accomack, voters will choose between three lawyers for commonwealth’s attorney. They are Commonwealth’s Attorney Matthew Brenner (who recently filled the seat of retiring Gary Agar), Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney Spencer Morgan and defense lawyer Carl Bundick.

EASTERN SHORE SPORTS

We’ve Got Spirit, Yes We Do

Story and Photos by Krystle Bono

The energy in the Nandua High School gym Wednesday night was a force to be reckoned with. People from across the district poured into the home of the Warriors to witness the four Eastern Shore high school cheerleading squads take the mat to battle each other in the annual District Cheer Competition.

Music pumping in the background, the teams and spectators danced and sang as they anxiously awaited the start of the first routine. Noticeable was the sportsmanship between the four schools, both in the stands and on the floor. Everyone cheered and turned up the excitement as the competitors took their last moments to mentally prepare and relish in the room’s vibrancy.

The first team to step center floor was the Northampton Yellow Jackets, who sported the smallest squad of the night. Absent from the competition in 2014 and 2015, the Yellow Jackets captured the audience’s attention with their hip dance moves.

Up next was the Chincoteague Ponies, who took third overall. The last two teams, the Nandua Warriors and the Arcadia Firebirds, both presented the most technically executed routines.

Each of these co-ed squads did a series of tumbles, difficult stunts and engaging dance routines that brought the crowd to their feet. Anyone in the stands knew this was going to be a tough—and close—decision, and that it was. The Firebirds came out on top, with the Warriors taking second place with only a point-and-a-half separating them from first place.

The Broadwater Vikings stepped onto Bynum Field for the last time this season last Thursday to face the Norfolk Christian Ambassadors. Their final home game also celebrated the team’s seniors, and it marked their annual homecoming celebration. The Vikings were unable to score on the Ambassadors who defeated their hosts, 46-0, and handed Broadwater their third consecutive shutout loss. They now sit on a 2-5 record for the year.

Tonight, the Vikings will head to Portsmouth Christian for a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Last Friday marked another night of celebrations, but this time at Chincoteague High School. The Ponies hosted Portsmouth Christian after honoring their seniors, hoping to extend their record to 5-2—and that they did. The Patriots attempted to try and rein the Ponies in, but to no avail, as Chincoteague came out on top, 43-37, as the final seconds trickled away.

The Ponies will now prepare to face district rival, the Northampton Yellow Jackets, for the first time this season. The two will meet in Chincoteague this evening, marking the first district matchup for either team this year. Northampton, owning a 4-2 record, will enter tonight’s battle on a three-game win streak.
Nandua Warriors Sweep ES District Cross Country Meet

Story and Photos by Krystle Bono

The boys’ and girls’ cross country teams met in Eastville Tuesday afternoon after the previously scheduled meet was cancelled due to the lingering effects of Hurricane Matthew.

Arcadia, Nandua and Northampton all took part, with the Warriors topping their two rivals in both gender runs.

A total of 27 boys participated in the race, with Nandua’s Orion Bolster crossing the finish line first after 19 minutes and 31 seconds. Following in his footsteps was Arcadia’s Irwin Larreinaga at 20:32 in second and Griffin Serio at 20:39 for the Warriors nabbed the third place spot. Rounding out the top five from Northampton was Jose Vera with a time of 20:40 and Maayer Garvis at 21:04.

As a team, Northampton took second overall with Arcadia finishing third.

Nandua’s Oden Cunningham ran her way to a first place finish for the girls at 26:51. Kayla Turner, just six seconds behind Cunningham, claimed second for the Firebirds. Arcadia’s Normaya Harris completed her third place run at 28:44; Warrior Jen Cunningham was fourth at 29:06 and Firebird Erika Martinez stopped her time at 29:34. Northampton did not have any female participants, defaulting Arcadia to second overall for the girls.

The Northampton Yellow Jackets traveled to Onley last Thursday to take the floor against the Nandua Warriors. The Warriors topped the Yellow Jackets in three straight sets (25-13, 25-21, 25-23).

Nandua’s leading Warriors were Kimberly Wert, who had eight kills, one block, 15 digs and three aces; Courtney Barker with five digs, two aces and one kill; Baylee Justis with one ace, five digs and ten assists and Whitney Coulbourne with five kills.

Yellow Jacket leaders were Michaela Lewis with two kills, four aces, two blocks and three digs; Makayla Wilson with six kills, two aces, one block, one assist and six digs; Evelyn Dunton with three kills, one ace, six assists and two digs; Sara Weber with two kills, one ace and ten assists; Kanijah Brickhouse with five kills, one ace and two blocks.

ESVA Historical Society Exhibit to Showcase Rare Baseball League Memorabilia

The Eastern Shore of Virginia (ESVA) Historical Society will showcase an exhibit on the Eastern Shore Baseball League from 1922-1949. This unique exhibit will feature rare memorabilia, photographs, autographs and information on the creation of the Eastern Shore Baseball League from three private collections.

This rare one-day event—first time ever on the ESVA—will offer an opportunity to learn and appreciate this exciting time in Eastern Shore history; a time where citizens of Delmarva watched teams from Salisbury, Md., Crisfield, Md., Dover, Del., Easton, Md., Cambridge, Md., and Parksley, Va. participate in three eras of professional class “D” baseball.

The Parksley Spuds, located in Parksley, would go down in history as the first Eastern Shore League pennant winner, winning three pennants from 1922-1928. Future major leaguers and hall of famers such as Frank “Home Run” Baker, Jimmie Foxx, Red Ruffing, Mickey Cochrane, and Paul Richards honed their skills around the Eastern Shore.

The exhibit opening, Saturday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., will feature question-and-answer sessions with Mike Lambert, author of Eastern Shore League: Images of Baseball; baseball collector Donnie Davidson; and Eastern Shore League Hall of Famer and ESVA resident Herman “Bud” Smith. Bring in your local baseball memorabilia from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. for experts to evaluate.

Admission is free and open to the public. Concessions will be served Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. All proceeds benefit the Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society (ESVHS) and its commitment to bringing exciting and quality educational programs to the Shore. The ESVHS is seeking memorabilia about baseball on the Delmarva Peninsula from the 1920’s – 1950’s. For more information, contact Hilary or Stephanie at 757-787-8012.

Northampton County hires local civil engineer as Director of Public Works

Christopher A. Thomas, a resident of Cape Charles, has been hired as Director of Public Works in the second phase of Northampton County’s restructuring. He replaces Michael Thornes, who retired as of June 30, 2016. Chris graduated summa cum laude from Virginia Tech in 2009 in the top 5 of his class with a Bachelor’s of Science Degree in Civil Engineering. He will serve as Director of the Office of Public Works and Operations.

Northampton Board of Supervisors’ Chairman Spencer Murray commented, “We are delighted to have tapped this local talent who brings in-depth skills to our buildings and capital projects such as the EMS building as well as our County infrastructure.”

Chris currently is employed by the engineering firm of WM Schlosser in Chesapeake. He will be in his new position in Northampton effective November 1, 2016.

Already active in Northampton, Chris is an EMT and firefighter for Cheriton Volunteer Fire and Cape Charles Rescue.

In a related move, Jeff Doughty will be promoted to the new position of Assistant to the Public Works and Operations Director. Jeff will oversee the areas of Facilities Management, Public Utilities, and Harbors & Boat Ramps. Jeff currently serves as Water and Wastewater Technician. He will continue in this capacity as well as assuming his new management duties.

“The Board will continue to seek new talent, identify efficiencies to save money, and better serve our citizens,” said Murray.

John Andrzejewski, Acting County Administrator, said, “Please join us in welcoming and congratulating these two members of the Northampton team.”

Meet the Press

Hello everyone,

I just wanted to take a moment to formally introduce myself as your new sports reporter. It is the Shore, so I know some of you know me or my family, but for those of you that do not, I just wanted to give you a little background about myself.

I was born and raised on the Shore; as a Northampton High School 2007 graduate, I played softball and field hockey. I also played softball for Shore Little League and was a member of the team that claimed the state title three years in a row (2005-2007), with our last two seasons finishing one-game away from making the World Series.

I attended Longwood Univerity for three years before taking time off and eventually transferring to Old Dominion, where I graduated with my Bachelor’s in Communication with an emphasis in Public Relations. Last year, I completed an internship with the Norfolk Admirals ECHL hockey team—an opportunity that really opened my eyes to sports media and gave me the experience, knowledge and passion to continue to pursue a career as a sports writer.

As a media intern, I published game summaries, weekly news releases and wrote feature content. I was also in charge of play-by-play social media updates, which is something I hope to bring to the Post’s social media outlets in the future.

Besides playing and watching sports, I love singing, dancing, acting and horseback riding. I have a beautiful 6-year-old daughter, Isabella, who not surprisingly, shares my love of sports, horses and the arts.

I am sure I will see many of you out and about at the numerous sporting events across the counties, so please do not hesitate to come say hello!

~ Cheer ~

During Wednesday night’s District Cheerleading Competition, two of the Eastern Shore Gators cheer squads performed routines while the judges tallied the four high school teams’ final scores. Both teams danced, cheered and completed stunts that could not help but bring a smile to the faces of everyone who had the pleasure of watching.

The Gators, founded in 2012, are under the Eastern Shore Pop Warner Football and Cheer Association; a chartered member of the Eastern Region of Pop Warner Little Scholars, Inc. and league member of Henlopen Pop Warner Inc. Their cheer and football programs bring together residents ranging from ages five through 15 from across the Shore in both Virginia and Maryland.

October Is Fall Car Care Month: A Little Auto Care Goes A Long Way

From Car Care Council

Basic auto care goes a long way toward improving the safety and dependability of a vehicle. Whether you do it yourself or visit a trusted professional technician, the non-profit Car Care Council recommends 10 Fall Car Care Month maintenance procedures to help make sure your car is operating at its best before winter arrives.

“Fall Car Care Month in October is the ideal time to give your car some extra attention before harsh winter weather sets in,” said Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council. “Taking a little time for auto care now can help you avoid the headaches of a costly emergency breakdown later.”

• Check the hoses and belts to make sure they are not cracked, brittle, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.
• Check the battery and replace if necessary. Make sure the connection is clean, tight and corrosion-free.
• Check the brake system annually and have the brake linings, rotors and drums inspected at each oil change.
• Inspect the exhaust system for leaks, damage and broken supports or hangers if there is an unusual noise. Exhaust leaks can be dangerous and must be corrected without delay.
• Check the engine to make sure it is delivering the best balance of power and fuel economy and producing the lowest level of emissions.
• Check the heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC) system as proper heating and cooling performance is critical for interior comfort and safety reasons, such as defrosting.
• Inspect the steering and suspension system annually, including shock absorbers, struts and chassis parts such as ball joints, tie rod ends and other related components.
• Check the tires, including tire pressure and tread. Uneven wear indicates a need for wheel alignment. Tires should also be checked for bulges and bald spots.
• Check the wipers and lighting so that you can see and be seen. Check that all interior and exterior lighting is working properly and replace worn wiper blades so you can see clearly when driving during precipitation.

Students Milk Classroom Time for Dairy Lessons

Story and Photos by Ron West

Despite the fact that the Eastern Shore is a rural area, comparatively few individuals have had experience with obtaining their minimum daily allowance of milk and or milk by-products first-hand, or by hand.

Students from Kiptopeke Elementary School and Broadwater Academy were given an opportunity to see exactly where milk comes from, thanks to Southwest Dairy Museum, Inc., a non-profit education program funded by dairymen across the southeast and southwest. Northampton County Extension Agent Ursula Deitche and 4-H Coordinator Christina Ruszczynski-Murray hosted Tuesday's event to provide children with a better understanding of how food reaches their breakfast tables.

It was a good fit for the dairy museum, which seeks to educate the public, especially young people, about the dairy industry. The museum has mobile dairy demonstration teams that travel throughout the southern part of the nation offering up-close lessons on where and how milk and other dairy products are produced from four-legged factories. The demonstration cows, whose only job in life is to eat, calve, and produce milk, seem to enjoy—or at least tolerate—the hundreds of bubbly kids and their endless questions.

Amanda Griffith fielded questions posed by Kiptopeke's students as Ginger, Griffith's able-bodied assistant, munchen on hay. She seemed to have no modesty as she was hooked up to the milking machine and pumped a few gallons of milk into a container to the amazement of the audience.

Griffith spoke of the importance of the many products made from milk. She noted that Ginger produces about 12 gallons of milk a day and consumes about 60 pounds of food and 40 gallons of water daily.

Those who grew up on farms were expected to do daily chores, which included “shopping” for eggs (from the hen house), “obtaining” milk (from the cow), and during the winter, “purchasing” pork products (directly from the four-legged source). Fast food generally referred to chasing a chicken that would later show up on the plate next to the mashed potatoes and gravy. Today, a short walk through the local grocery store can produce the same products without the inconvenience of having to deal with the care and feeding of the “live” product, leaving an understanding gap of who and what is involved in its production.

Those with an interest in taking a step back in time can attend the Northampton Agricultural County Fair on Oct. 15 from 10 a.m.- 2 p.m. at the former Northampton Middle School in Machipongo. The event offers everything from tractor driving competition to a skillet throwing event.

Historical Society Lecture Oct. 28 at Mimosa Farm

“The Gentleman's Farm” highlights the historic classical architecture of presidential homes, such as Mount Vernon and Monticello, and gentleman farmer homes, including the Eastern Shore of Virginia's Eyre Hall, a historic plantation home located in Northampton County owned by the Eyre family since 1668.

Authors Laurie Ossman and Debra A. McClane, and photographer Walter Smalling Jr. will speak and sign copies of the books, which will be available for sale during the event.

To purchase tickets to the event, call the ESVHS at (757) 787-8012 or visit www.shorehistory.org

Orchestra’s Time Travels Keeping Great Music Alive on the Shore

Submitted Article
By Marion Naar and Dan Lawrence
Orchestra of the Eastern Shore

There are so many kinds of music, from chants, folk songs, dance, and nursery rhymes to gospel, rock and bluegrass to classical and jazz. Over time, what may have started as a kind of non-verbal vocalizing discovered the beauty of the human voice, created song and was extended by human ingenuity to a multiplicity of musical instruments with an unbelievable array of tones and timbres.

Not all music survives. Many kinds of music have blossomed and faded, leaving no trace. It takes active participation – by children playing hopscotch, church choirs, marching bands, jazz trios, symphony orchestras – to keep music alive. Before the advent of recording technology, another method of preserving music was made possible by an amazing innovation: a written system of musical notation.

This “killer app” greatly facilitated the growth and evolution of what we now call classical music. Starting in the 16th century, composers could use this notation to score a complex interplay of musical lines for a variety of performers playing different musical instruments. The composer could also indicate tempo, rhythm, loudness and feel. It enabled classical music to develop into the sophisticated forms we know today, such as sonatas, concertos, symphonies and operas. Just as important, written notation allowed musicians separated by thousands of miles and hundreds of years to reproduce the music as it was originally intended to be heard.

Almost anywhere you go in the world, groups of musicians gather together to bring this music to life. One such group is Symphonicity, Virginia Beach’s community orchestra. Another is the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, a thriving organization that draws players from the local and university communities and attracts large audiences. Perhaps most surprising is the existence of another long-lived community orchestra, south of Salisbury on Virginia’s rural Eastern Shore.

The Orchestra of the Eastern Shore was started in 2001 in the town of Onancock by local music teacher Peter Dundon as a way to give his string students the experience of playing in an orchestra. From there, it began to attract more experienced amateur musicians with a repertoire that included such classical stalwarts as Mozart, Bach, Vivaldi – even Beethoven.

In 2010, Lee Jordan-Anders, a concert pianist and professor of music at Virginia Wesleyan University, took over as music director. The orchestra began to give additional concerts and updated its repertoire with Hindemith, Bartok, Britten and several contemporary composers.

Dr. Paul Kim, a conductor, violinist, composer and assistant professor of music at Old Dominion University, became music director in 2015. The orchestra now includes some woodwinds and horns in addition to strings, and performs three sets of concerts per season at two different Shore venues, as well as two December sing-alongs of Messiah excerpts featuring local vocal soloists.

As the orchestra has grown in quality and range, so has the size and enthusiasm of its audiences. The rehearsal and performance venues are both historic Eastern Shore churches with excellent acoustics. Concerts are free but attract generous donations, and a group of Friends of the Orchestra helps to cover annual expenses. As there are no university or school string programs on the Shore from which to draw rising talent, the orchestra relies on amateur musicians from its working population, retirees and the occasional student. It provides a warm welcome to potential orchestra members of all stripes, with string players always in demand. For the coming season, the orchestra will present concerts starting in November with “From Britain to France,” followed in March by “Classical Masters,” including the Haydn Cello concerto, and an “All Baroque” concert in May.

With “The Tony Sacco Experience,” 89-Year Old Musician Shares Love of Music with Cape Charles

Submitted Article
By Sheila Sheppard

Tony Sacco will turn 90 years old next year, but he doesn’t let that stop him from sharing his love of music—with a red carpet flair.

On Friday, Oct. 21, from 6-8 p.m. at Lemon Tree Gallery and Studio in Cape Charles, the Shore legend will host what he calls the “Tony Sacco Experience”—a night of entertainment fit for royalty.

“This performance may be my last hurrah,” says Sacco, who plays the clarinet. He is dedicating the evening to his wife, Flora; they will celebrate their 68th wedding anniversary this month. Originally from Brooklyn, Sacco retired to the Shore 28 years ago, and has since devoted himself to alleviating poverty and helping children learn music.

“I bring my heart, I bring my soul, and music is...my language,” says the octogenarian, who has been known to purchase instruments and pay for music lessons for aspiring young musicians. “This is how I talk to people, whether it’s jazz, whether it’s classical, whether it’s pop.”

Sacco’s hand-selected show of a lifetime features Sherri DiMarino, who will be singing Disney and Broadway favorites. DiMarino’s full-costume characters—including Ariel, Elsa, and Pocahontas—are sure to delight young audiences. Former school superintendent Dawn “Dr. Dawn” Goldstein will play a few songs on the ukulele, and Sacco will tell stories and play a broad range of tunes from surf music to blues, classical to Old Country.

Attendees are encouraged to dress up in their best royal regalia and pose for photos by photographer Leland Sharp. The free event features champagne for kings and queens and sparkling juice and tiara crafts for princes and princesses.

While Sacco and DiMarino have performed in countless community events and programs over the past few decades, Friday night will be Goldstein’s debut. “I’ve only played for family before,” says Goldstein, who studies ukulele at ESO in Belle Haven. “I bought my ukulele because it was so pretty, and I heard it was easy. Now I’ve got two grandchildren, a daughter, and a daughter-in-law all playing ukulele.”

The love of music certainly is contagious. Sacco’s hope is that the event will ignite the passion in a few more souls.

“If I bring my love here, my talent, my understanding,” says Sacco.

If you go...

The Tony Sacco Experience

- Friday, October 21, 2016, from 6-8 p.m.

Book of Duck Hunting Tales Sure to Please Hunters and Non-Hunters Alike

By Connie Morrison

In “Chesapeake Bay Duck Hunting Tales,” C.L. Marshall intended to chronicle regional hunting adventures and misadventures. What he may not have foreseen was the near universal appeal of an individual locked in the passionate pursuit of pastime, how it shapes friendships and family life, and the bond between hunter and retriever.

Marshall acknowledges that although the idea was to write first and foremost for hunters, the book “isn’t just about duck hunting. There’s something in there for everybody.”

A short attention span dictated the short-story format of the book, according to Marshall, whose experience reaches 40 years in the field. Each story was selected to bring a different perspective to the reader.

“I wanted each story to stand alone, to be a different experience from those before and after it,” he said.

Many things have changed in his hunting career, such as clothing and gear, said Marshall, but so have his own attitudes about hunting over the years.

“It was an unintentional observation found in the editing process. Time has tamed the outlaw, age has changed the outlaw, but the desire is still there,” he said.

Photographs by Paul Bramble and pencil drawings by Hallwood artist Joyce Northam help to bring the stories to life.

“Her drawings, especially the one of Jenkins Bridge, are spot-on,” Marshall said of Northam’s illustrations. “I’ve known her since I was 10 (years old) and am pleased to have her work included in this book.”

Between the written word, photographs, and Northam’s drawings, Marshall hopes to convey just what drives a hunter out into the punishing Chesapeake weather during duck season. Marshall falls back to a passage in “Beginnings and Endings,” one of the stories in the book, to elaborate.

“Simply bearing witness to the wonders of nature that those who opt out will never experience, is reason enough to go,” Marshall said. “The joy is in just being outside in the wild. These experiences will never fill the freezer, but sometimes that’s all we get. Often it’s enough.”

The official release date is Nov. 7, but advance copies can be ordered by contacting Marshall at chesapeake-baybooks@gmail.com. Signed copies will also be available at several upcoming events including The Delmarva Discovery Center’s Heritage Days on Oct. 22-23, Wolff’s Sandwich Shoppe on Oct. 30, and the Easton Waterfowl Festival Nov. 11-13.

Bloxom and McMath Honorary Chairmen of Capital Campaign

The Eastern Shore Public Library Foundation announces Robert “Bob” S. Bloxom Sr. and George N. McMath have accepted the positions of Honorary Chairmen for the 2016 capital campaign for the Regional Eastern Shore Public Library. Bloxom and McMath have served in the Virginia House of Delegates.

Out of Darkness Walk Successful

Members of the Eastern Shore of Virginia community gathered in Cape Charles on Sept. 24, for the first Eastern Shore Out of the Darkness Walk. More than 200 walkers and volunteers came together to celebrate and honor the lives of those who struggle with mental illness and who were lost to suicide.

Suicide is the tenth leading cause of death in the United States. Because of this walk and the generous donations and sponsorships of our community members and local business owners, the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention raised almost $10,000. All proceeds benefit the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention Virginia Chapter. The money helps communities, such as ours, promote walks, research and advocacy for depression and suicide.

Library Donation Presented

Emily Cullen, president of the Friends of the Cape Charles Memorial Library, presents a $2,000 donation to John Edmonds of the Eastern Shore Public Library Foundation. The donation is for the new regional library in Parksley. The Cape Charles Memorial Library is owned by the Town of Cape Charles and is affiliated with the Eastern Shore Regional Library System.

Let’s Set a Date.

By Carla Savage-Wells

Special to the Post

Why, Yes! I’ll bet you all have at least a couple of friends who are able to pick up a mood or a conversation right where the two of you left off, no matter how long it has been since you last spoke. The question is, “Why has it been so long?”

Those of us born before 1996 (by the way, that’s twenty, not ten years ago) can remember when we had to sit in one place, look up a phone number, manually dial it and, if out of the area, pay long-distance charges to speak with a friend across the miles.

Don’t wait until it’s time to say, “Merry Christmas” or send a generic, “Happy New Year” text message.

Pick up the cell phone, press the button and say, “Call (insert name here).” Even if you have to go “old school,” look up the number and flip open your phone, please realize that there is no time like the present. It’s a gift, you know. (That’s why it’s called “the present.”)

Reach out and touch someone you love — now.

Similarly, I find myself leaving church or some other regularly scheduled gathering, and vowing to get together with a friend for lunch, coffee, breakfast or a day of shopping. It’s literally time that we do just that. Pablo Picasso said, “Only undone.”

If you like it, then you better put a date on it (said in my Beyonce voice). Shucks, my girlfriends and I even go so far as to put a name on it: There’s Takeout Tuesday, Thrift Store Thursday (Thirsty Thursday in my younger days) and Funk Music Friday (that one’s just mine); but far too few of them. Seize the day!

Let’s set a date (a reminder on your cell phone) to sit down and call one or two buddies and actually speak with them. Why, Yes! Many of us have hundreds of Facebook friends or even Instagram followers. They occasionally “like” or “LOL” a post, or maybe wish us, “Happy Birthday” once a year. Virtual hugs just don’t do it. How satisfying would it be if we actually set a mutual date to see that friend from middle school, the couple we met on vacation, or a groomsman from the wedding? How long HAS it been? Don’t make me call your Ma Bell. (You won’t get that if you were born fewer than twenty years ago either.) Set a date now to reach out and touch someone.

Think Carefully Before Your Vote

Dear Editor:

As I evaluate the candidates seeking office in the elections being held this fall, I am troubled by many aspects of the campaigns and the coverage by the media. I am also concerned by some public reaction which seems based upon knee-jerk emotional reaction rather than studied evaluation of the facts that are available to us.

As a matter of disclosure, I believe that in all aspects of life, including government, we accomplish more when there is less bombast and more effort at reaching well-reasoned solutions to existing problems. After some study, I have come to the conclusion that the greatest constraint on achieving solutions is the people whom we elect to Congress and that this is the result of factors that have evolved over a number of years. However, that is for elaboration at another time.

I am drawn to the Pledge of Allegiance, which we recite infrequently and when we do so, we do not seem to think about what we say. To paraphrase, it includes the language that we pledge allegiance to the United States of America, “one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.”

Something that is “indivisible” is something that “cannot be divided.” Well, we are certainly a divided country and this needs to change. Efforts need to be made to work toward unity to the greatest degree possible within this country. When candidates use rhetoric that has people choosing sides, “us” versus “them,” that is not a sign that, if elected, they will work toward solutions. We do need change in our government, but change to what? At least one candidate says, “Vote for me. What do you have to lose?” Well, a great deal, I think.

Thinking further about the well-chosen words in our Pledge of Allegiance, it calls for liberty and justice for all. These words mean to me impartiality, fairness and with the same rights and exemptions for all people in our community and country. This means putting the welfare of all our people above personal ambition and party loyalty.

People are not perfect, many politicians particularly so, and the test is asking a great deal of persons seeking public office. However, I believe that we should think carefully about our vote. We should cast it for the persons whom we think will be less divisive, who will take the time to gather the facts, including listening to others whose initial positions may be different than theirs, and who will endeavor to seek the common good rather than divide. The well-being of our country depends on us making the best decisions available to us in this election.
