Rhonda Hall took a cut in pay and was reassigned in a not-so-long-ago reorganization of Accomack County Public Schools (ACPS). She’s held a lot of different jobs in the central office and she’s been passed over for the superintendent’s post on a few occasions, to the point that local clergy and sorority sisters came out to voice their dismay.

But times are a-changing. A personnel list approved by the school board Tuesday touted Hall as the new assistant superintendent of instruction with an annual salary of $122,626. The decision was unanimous.

At first there appeared to be little fanfare as the list was not released until Wednesday, and only then on request. But after schools were dismissed that (Continued on Page 8)

In Audio Recording, Burton Denied Knowing Crockett Had Died From Stabbing

By Linda Cicoira

Winston (PeeWee) Leroy Burton was distraught about being charged with murder last November after showing up at the Eastern Shore Regional Jail bleeding and talking about stabbing his former girlfriend at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital in Nassawadox, where she worked.

“She died,” Investigator Terry Thomas told Burton during a recorded interview.

“You’re s----ing me,” he answered. “I’m being charged with murder?”

“58-year-old resident of Cheriton Cross Road, in Cheriton said. “You’re kidding me man. I killed somebody? You’re saying I killed somebody? This is f---ing crazy man.”

“This is real,” Thomas said.

“Man, this don’t make no sense,” Burton answered. “I don’t know what to talk about,” he added, referring to his refusal to discuss the incident with Thomas after the officer read him his rights. “I’m being charged with murder. This is crazy. I’ve been in prison three times. I haven’t ever killed nobody. This is crazy. I don’t understand anything. I don’t understand nothing. This is crazy for real. They are charging me with taking somebody’s life.”

“I can’t believe this,” Burton keep saying. “What the f--- happened?”

“That’s what I’d like to know,” Thomas said.

“I don’t have nothing to tell you,” Burton repeated. “I don’t know what the f--- happened.”

The officer told him “to sleep on it” and they could try to talk again later.

The majority of the rest of the recording dealt with a search warrant that allowed the officer to take a swab for DNA of the defendant’s mouth and to confiscate Burton’s clothes, shoes and cell phone and search his car before he was taken over to the jail.

Burton was also concerned about between $400 and $500 he said he had in his wallet. In the previous week, “I hit the four-digit lottery. Got $2,700,” he said. There was another $48 in his pants pocket.

Burton was later indicted on counts of first-degree murder and abduction in the death of Shelli Lou Crockett, 42, of Keller. Crockett had more than 40 stab wounds from the vicious attack on the morning of Nov. 28, 2016. She just arrived at her job with the environmental services team when she was stabbed outside the walls of the now closed-up hospital.

At a hearing Monday, Northampton Circuit Court Judge W. Revell Lewis III nixed a second psychological evaluation for Burton. Lewis also denied a motion that asked for the trial to be moved out of the area but said he would consider the request again at a later time.

Defense lawyer Carl Bundick brought the motions. Commonwealth’s Attorney Bruce Jones argued that the evaluation found Burton competent and sane and that Bundick was hoping for another try at those conclusions.

Records state when Burton fled the scene, Crockett was taken inside for treatment in the emergency room but didn’t survive. After Burton arrived at the jail, he was taken back to the hospital for treatment to his right hand/arm. When he was taken back to jail, Burton and Thomas had the recorded conversation.

The charges filed against Burton were made under third-strike provisions that carry mandatory life sentences as opposed to 20 years to life for murder and 10 years for abduction. The statute does not allow a circuit court judge to suspend any of the time.

To The Wagners Go The Spoils: Northampton Board Approves Permit

By Ron West

Northampton Supervisors approved a special use permit Tuesday to allow 700,000 cubic yards of sand to be accepted by a borrow pit near Eastville. The vote was 4-1 with Supervisor Granville Hogg opposed.

The spoils will be removed during the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel’s construction of a second passageway under the Thimble Shoals Channel. The permit was sought by Gary and Julie Wagner. They own the pit and have excavated sand for use in landscaping projects on the Shore for 20 years. The spoils are anticipated to fill the pit and add a sloped hill of 31 feet.

County Long Range Planner Peter Stith said the county policy does not mention or allow replacing material with fill from another area. Tom Bibb of the Department of Mines, Minerals and Energy said the state considers a borrow pit to be an area, which can add or remove materials. A Virginia Beach environmental scientist said the sand would be tested for contaminants and if any are found they would be taken elsewhere in the state.

It is estimated that an increase of 50 trucks per day during the first year and 100 truck trips per year by 2019 would be used to transport the sand. The trucks would be lined to prevent spills of water or sand. Odor is not anticipated to be an issue.

The permit required a fence to be placed around the area of the pit that contains water. Operations would be limited to 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., hazardous materials would be prohibited, the mound would be capped and seeded when completed, a vegetative buffer would be added to portions of the property, the Wagners would be required to maintain a road, and a turn lane would have to be added to Route 13. Also shallow wells within 1,000 feet would have to be corrected if issues arose.

The board also accepted an offer of $5,000 a year to rent five parcels across the spoils to hospitals in Hampton Roads. She also reported that an ambulance operated by Cape Charles Rescue has been removed from service and efforts are underway to replace it. A second county ambulance has been ordered.

It was reported the Red Bank boat ramp and dock would be closed for about 30 days for repairs. Also, Stith is leaving his job to move to New England and the board will need to find a replacement.

Family Reunited With Pet After a Decade, Only to Say “Goodbye”

By Linda Cicoira

Around a decade ago in the village of Mears, two dogs went missing that belonged to Kimberly and Kenny Midgett and their then six-year-old daughter, Aaleah.

The family searched for Biscuit, a yellow cocker spaniel-labrador mix with short legs, and Colt, a chow. They went door to door, put up flyers, made phone calls. All to no avail. The pups had vanished. It was a sad, sad time.

During the day, the dog pals regularly slept and visited at Young’s Old Shoppe so everyone who lived and particularly slept and visited at Young’s Old Shoppe so everyone who lived and worked in the area was acquainted with the pets, Kimberly Midgett remembered. Four years ago, a fire at the Midgett home forced the family to move to Bloxom and the last hope that the dogs would reappear also was gone.

Until late last month when a message came to Kimberly Midgett’s Facebook.

“We have your dog,” it stated.

“What do you mean, ‘we have your dog?’” she asked with disbelief. Then a snapshot was received.

“When I got the picture, Oh my God! That’s my dog,” she said. “I went immediately to my daughter’s school. Arcadia High. We went straight to the pound.”

The facility contacted her because one of the dogs had an ID chip. Biscuit, named after a dog character in a children’s book that was read to Aaleah by her grandmother, was implanted when Kimberly Midgett adopted the dog from the SPCA in Onley.

Biscuit came straight out the door and put his head in the now almost 16-year-old girl’s lap. They visited the facility again the next day with another happy reunion and were promised they would soon be able to take their long lost dog home.

The tale became bittersweet for the Midgetts when the dog was instead given back to the family who had it for the lost decade. Then, accusations of mistreatment by the Midgetts were made by the SPCA and Sheriff Todd Godwin had to twice get involved to get the facts straight while the dog was brought back to the pound. It was surely a mess for both families.

Godwin said his investigators learned that the second family took the dog to a local vet back all those years ago. The vet saw the dog was chipped by the SPCA and recommended it be taken back to the organization. Godwin said the SPCA then rescinded the Midgetts contract and gave the second family the dog. “There’s no paperwork,” Godwin said. The SPCA did not follow protocol. “The chip was never reassigned.” They never contacted the Midgetts. There were no reports of misconduct. Godwin said the SPCA told his officer “that it was 10 years ago and they can’t really remember what happened.”

The SPCA did not return a reporter’s phone call by press time Thursday. But the Midgetts decided it was in Biscuit’s best interest for him to stay with his newer family.

“It was a wonderful and sad day in one,” Aaleah said in a text. “To be reunited with your long lost childhood friend, to learn that another family also loves him … so happy to see he is doing so well but miss the chance to be in his life. It’s a hard and painful decision. But we have to do what is best for Biscuit. It wasn’t his fault.”

Now, has anyone seen the other dog? Because Colt is still missing and Biscuit isn’t talking.

Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc. is replacing the aging Bayview and Franktown Community Health Centers with a new $9.5 million 24,000-square-foot medical and dental facility located on Route 13 in Eastville.

Once opened, the new facility will have a state-of-the-art eight-chair dental wing. Rural Health Franktown center has dental services, but Bayview does not. The new dental wing will have features new to Rural Health, including a treatment room designed to provide dental care for patients with special health care needs and patients confined to wheelchairs, and a dental laboratory so Rural Health will be able to make replacement teeth (dentures) for its patients.

“I am so excited to be living the mission of our health center alongside of our excellent leadership team, passionate providers and engaged board of directors,” said Dr. Scott Wolpin, Rural Health chief dental officer. “This new facility will afford our oral health program to reach more persons in Northampton County and provide a wider range of services to the community.”

In a recent survey of patients who are Northampton residents, less than half (48 percent) of those surveyed said they have ready access to affordable dental services; 19 percent have delayed seeking dental care in the last 12 months because help is not readily available; and 82 percent said they would use dental services at the new Eastville center, if available. As part of the nation’s health care safety net, Rural Health serves both insured and uninsured patients, regardless of their ability to pay.

The combined presence of dental and medical services allows Rural Health to treat the entire patient. “Working in the same building as our medical colleagues benefits our patients greatly,” said Dr. Wolpin. “Whether saving families a sick day from work or travel by coordinating their young child’s medical and dental visits so they occur on the same day, or by having our dental providers working closely with our medical team to manage a patient’s diabetes, the advantages of integrated, overall health care will go far in improving the health of the Shore.”

By consolidating the two centers there is also the potential to expand to 10-hour days and Saturday hours. Plus, the center will offer digital medical x-ray, expanded lab services and hours, potential telemedicine and additional providers and staff.

Eastern Shore residents interested in learning more about the center or how to assist in fund-raising efforts in support of the new center should contact Amy Bull at abull@esrh.org or at 757-414-0400, ext. 122.

Rhonda Hall

day, a note from the superintendent was sent to the Eastern Shore Post boasting of the promotion.

“Hall states that she is humbled and excited to be appointed” to the job, the announcement stated. “She has a vested interest in ACPS, being a product of the division.”

Included was her favorite quote, which is from the Gallup Organization’s Mission Statement. “Our greatest contribution is to be sure there is a teacher in every classroom who cares that every student, every day, learns and grows and feels like a real human being.”

Hall started as an educator 38 years ago. She has been with ACPS for 31 years. The Greenbush resident also worked as a speech and language pathologist, an elementary teacher, an assistant principal and as a principal.

In May 2012, when Bruce Benson was superintendent, his income was $139,000 — excluding benefits. Northampton Superintendent Walter R. Clemons’ salary was $110,000. At that time, Hall was assistant superintendent for administration and human resources for ACPS. Her salary was $102,702. Jessie Duncil, now principal of Chincoteague Elementary, was assistant superintendent of instruction, with an annual salary of $101,616.

In February 2014, after Benson announced his departure, Hall was appointed interim superintendent. But the job proved temporary and by July, former Superintendent Kregg Cueller, was hired for the position. He was paid $155,500 annually.

At that time, Hall had the title of assistant superintendent for administration and student learning with a salary of $119,086. Within a year, the school board approved a reorganization that gave Hall a new job, director of school improvement & federal programs, with a salary of $109,086; a drop of $10,000 in her annual pay and less than she made in 2013.

The top school officials (under the superintendent) that were chosen were Mike Tolbert as chief operations and management officer, Nancy Lewin as chief academic officer and Jason Baldwin as chief of staff. Both Lewin and Baldwin left the Shore just before the start of the 2016-17 school year and those posts remained empty with another reorganization to come.

Superintendent Chris Holland, a former Chincoteague High School principal, was given the top job in January 2015, after Cueller left. He recently bragged to the board of supervisors that he has seven administrators that worked their way up in the division to get top posts.
Man Responsible for Baby’s Death in Trouble Again

A Nassawadox man, who was convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the brutal 2010 death of his fiancée’s 11-month old son, is back in court on charges of forgery, uttering and attempted uttering, according to warrants filed in Northampton General District Court.

Brian Terrell Walker, 31, a Northampton native, was arrested for the March 10, 2017, crimes on April 5. He is free from the Eastern Shore Regional Jail on an unspecified bond.

The manslaughter case was heard in Accomack Circuit Court when Walker was 25 years old and lived in Parksley with the family of victim, Isaiah Russell. He was sentenced in accordance with a jury’s recommendation to five years in prison.

Judge Stephen Mahan also added a three-year post-release term that holds Walker to more prison time if he misbehaves after being released. The maximum term for involuntary manslaughter is 10 years.

Isaiah died from “blunt-force head injuries,” a medical examiner testified during the trial. She said the boy’s skull was fractured in three places, his brain was swollen and the encompassing membranes and his retinas hemorrhaged. In addition, bruises marked his face, head, shin, elbow and buttocks and the child’s optic nerves were bleeding.

Testimony also showed the child’s injuries occurred when the boy’s mother, Jessica Russell, was at work in a local chicken factory. Walker was on vacation from the plant and was in charge of the daytime care of the boy and his toddler sister. The defendant lived with the family. He told police he was asleep when the injuries occurred and wasn’t aware the child was hurt until the younger sister awakened him saying the boy “couldn’t breathe.”

In another case, Steven Lemar Ebron, 32, of Newport News was charged with receiving a stolen firearm and possession of a firearm by a felon. The incidents occurred when the boy’s mother, Jessica Janetti Ibarra, 27, of Main Street between Sept. 22 and 29, 2016. He was allowed to depart on existing bond. Sentencing was tentatively set for August.

A presentence report was ordered.

Eliezer Nenez Rosado, 59, of Savage Neck Drive in Eastville, pleaded guilty to two counts of grand larceny that occurred Sept. 18 and 25, 2016. A presentence report was ordered. Rosado was remanded to jail. Restitution of $336.36 was ordered to be paid to Walmart in Onley.

Two More Indicted

The names of two people were released this week as being among those indicted by an Accomack Grand Jury earlier this month.

Nakia Orlando Kellam, 41, of Spruce Street in Melfa, was indicted on a count of selling, giving or distributing cocaine on Jan. 12, 2016. Unsecured bail was set at $3,000.

John Michael Lyons, no age available, of Stockton Avenue in Greenbackville, was indicted on a misdemeanor count of possession of marijuana on April 7. Unsecured bail was set at $500. Information was given to the grand jury about both cases from Josh Marsh of the Eastern Shore Drug Task Force.

The indictments were kept quiet until Kellam and Lyons were arrested.

In Accomack General District Court, Jessica Janetti Ibarra, 27, of Main Street in Exmore, was charged with three counts of forging a public record on Feb. 5, 2017, and another identical charge on Feb. 19.

Service for “Family Man” on Saturday

Mr. William L. “Bill” Phillips, 79, a resident of Parksley, passed away peacefully into the arms of his beloved late wife of 59 years, Mary Alice Parks “Mert” Phillips, on Wednesday, April 12, 2017.

Born Jan. 26, 1938, in Muttonhunk, he was the only child of the late F. Thomas “Tom” Phillips and Louise Justice Mears. Following high school, he served his country in the U.S. Army. He worked as a poultry farmer for the former Holly Farms and also worked for the Accomack County Sheriff’s Office, retiring in 2000. Mr. Phillips was a longtime member of the Parksley Volunteer Fire Department, a member of the Central Lodge No. 300, A.F. & A.M., recently receiving his 50-year pin, and was always working on a wood project, or two, in his shop.

The phrase “family man” was meant for Bill Phillips. There was nothing more important to him than spending time with those he loved and there was nothing he wouldn’t do for them, especially when it came to his granddaughters, who were his world.

Mr. Phillips is survived by his loving sons and daughter-in-law, William Thom-

Part Two: Reporters Put Onancock on The Map at The Washington Post

This is second of a two-part series featuring Washington Post writer Emily Heil (last week) and Editor Steven Ginsberg, both of whom were raised in Onancock.

By Bill Sterling

Steven Ginsberg did not take the traditional path to become the senior politics editor for the Washington Post, a position that oversees a team of 50 staffers and includes eight editors and about 40 reporters who cover national and international politics like no other publication in the world.

Ginsberg, a 1990 graduate of Broadwater Academy, raised in Onancock, recalls he was ambivalent about his career plans in high school. “I thought about journalism as a career, but I didn’t think too far about it,” he recalls. “I guess the main thing is I never thought of anything else.”

At the University of Virginia, where he majored in government, he had a brief stint as a sports reporter for the University Journal, a college newspaper. “Even though I loved sports I found I didn’t like covering sports,” Ginsberg says. “It seemed so repetitive. Someone always won and lost, and someone scored the most points. Also, the hours are tough. You are always working when your friends are having fun.”

“When I graduated, I applied to most of the major newspapers in Virginia, but none showed any interest because I hadn’t done anything to merit it,” says Ginsberg, who will celebrate his 45th birthday in early April.

Without a job, he moved to Northern Virginia in 1994 with a college buddy. Ginsberg soon got a gig as a bartender in Georgetown. “I was terrible at it,” he recalls.

He quit that job not long after he latched on to a position as a nightside copy aide at the Washington Post. “I worked from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. Wednesday through Sunday and delivered newspapers around the newsroom and plugged in the lottery numbers. Very stressful,” says Ginsberg with more than a touch of sarcasm. It also didn’t allow for much of a social life, he adds a bit more seriously.

But Ginsberg was moving up. A year later he got a job as a dayside news aide on the business desk. His primary job was to answer phones and do administrative work, but he also was able to write stories for the local business section. Two editors, Tracy Grant and Vince Rinehart, were his early mentors. “I have been incredibly lucky to have to have some great mentors who took a real interest in me and helped advance my career,” he says.

In 1998, his career took another twist when he became a summer intern for the business section. “It may sound strange, but I had to get a summer internship to make the jump from the administrative side to the reporting side of the paper,” Ginsberg explains.

From there, he worked as a business reporter in southern Maryland for about a year and then covered local government in Stafford and Prince William counties. In 2002 and 2003 he covered the state General Assembly in Richmond and in 2006 became an editor for the Post’s Virginia desk. Ginsberg was part of the team that won a Pulitzer Prize for the paper’s coverage of the shootings at Virginia Tech.

“I never thought I would enjoy being an editor because I loved to write and tell stories other people weren’t telling,” says Ginsberg. “Then Mike Semel, who now heads our Metro section, made me an editor and taught me everything I know about it. I fell in love with editing. I see it as an ability to give people the answers to the questions they want answered, and there are always a lot more questions to be answered.”

In late 2007, Ginsberg joined the national political desk before jumping back to the local politics desk for the 2009 Virginia governor’s race. Hailed by the Washington Post as an innovator and one of the Post’s most ambitious plans, Ginsberg was named senior politics editor five years ago to coordinate coverage of politics, a subject central to the Washington Post’s mission. In his time as a political editor, the staff has won a Pulitzer Prize, two Polk awards, and the Toner Prize for Excellence in Political Reporting three times.

Ginsberg says his two main mentors since joining the political scene have been Kevin Merida, who now runs the sports and culture website, “The Undefeated,” for ESPN, and Dan Balz, whom Ginsberg calls the best political reporter in America.

Ginsberg is quick to deflect credit for the paper’s successes to others. “I am fortunate to work for a great owner like Jeff Bezos who provides tremendous resources. And we have the best editor in the country in Marty Baron.”

Baron joined the Post in 2012 from the Boston Globe, where he was portrayed in the film “Spotlight” that centered on the paper’s Pulitzer Prize reporting of the Boston Catholic sexual abuse scandal.

Frequently appearing on TV and radio news shows to discuss politics and government, Ginsberg had the opportunity to meet President Obama and twice interviewed then-candidate Donald Trump face-to-face in the recent campaign.

Ginsberg and his wife Amy Joyce, whom he met at the Post and now heads the paper’s parenting blog, also have a 9-year-old son, Sam. Their home is about six miles from the Washington Post offices.

“Living in the city is not what most people think it is,” Ginsberg says. “Our kids walk to school. We walk to Little League games. My wife is from a small town in Pennsylvania, and we both feel our neighborhood is like where we grew up.”

The Ginsberg family is looking forward to a three-week vacation this summer in Onancock, where they have rented a house and will spend time with his parents, Gary and Diane Ginsberg. His brother, David, a partner in a Falls Church law firm, is also a regular visitor to the Shore.

Ginsberg feels he was exposed to a balanced viewpoint growing up on the Shore. “I think my mother is comfortable with me saying she is somewhat liberal. And my father is more conservative. I heard them debating both sides of an issue and stayed tuned in to their conversations. And then at Broadwater I had this wonderful government teacher, Sarah Goffigon, who indulged me by listening to my arguments on issues. Another teacher, Chris Gordon, would come in after class and argue a different side. It helps me today to see both sides of an issue.”

The seeds for Ginsberg’s extraordinary career might have been set when he wrote his first real article for a local paper in 1989. “A bunch of Broadwater students went to the Soviet Union. It was an amazing trip, and I wrote a story for the paper about it. I loved doing it and loved the reaction I got from it.”

Justis threw all seven innings and struck out six. Leah Truitt, Kimberly Wert, Parker Murphy and Madison Greer each had a hit in the winning effort. Paige DiMartino recorded Nandua’s only RBI for the day.

Tuesday, the Warriors had yet another memorable game as they defeated the Chincoteague Ponies, 10-0, in their second no-hitter for the week and earning Head Coach Lynn Williams his 200th win.

Justis and Parker Murphy combined their pitching efforts in the shutout, with Justis tossing four innings with six strikeouts.

Tyra Bjorlo, Truitt, Justis, Caroline Turner, and Sara Grepes all collected two hits each for the Warriors at the plate.

Chincoteague’s Caelin Crowther shouldered the loss for the Ponies, allowing 13 hits and ten runs with two strikeouts over four innings.

The Chincoteague Ponies also topped Essex last Saturday, 7-6, before suffering their 10-0 loss to the Warriors on Tuesday. The girls’ traveled to Exmore on Wednesday to face Broadwater and dropped a 12-8 away contest to the Vikings.

Their next game is scheduled for Tuesday, April 25, against the Arcadia Firebirds.

Broadwater Academy battled Arcadia in Oak Hall on Tuesday, topping the Firebirds, 14-6.

Dylan Caison threw just under six innings to earn the win for the Vikings, surrendering six runs and three hits and striking out six. Alison Bowmann took the loss for the Firebirds over seven innings, striking out four and giving up 14 runs and eight hits.

Palmer Smith and Michaux Tankard led the Vikings’ offense, each notching two hits. Smith also led with three RBIs. Greta Bunce and Mary Blake Leland collected a hit each. Anna Sexauer earned two RBIs.

Leading the Firebirds’ at the plate were Amanda Stalgaitis, Victoria Coll, Lexy Shreaves and Rachael Mullins who all hit one apiece. Shreaves tallied two RBIs and Stalgaitis had one.

The Vikings will travel to Isle of Wight Academy April 18 and the Arcadia Firebirds will play again in Oak Hall Wednesday, April 19, against Laurel.

Broadwater Track and Field
Wins at Home

Story and Photos Submitted by Airlia Gustafson

Broadwater Academy's track and field teams shined in their first-ever home meet this past weekend against Walsingham Academy. The Viking girls' and boys' varsity teams came away winners, as did the boys' JV team. The girls' JV team tied.

A perfect sunny spring day at Broadwater Academy saw outstanding performances posted by many athletes and three school records were rewritten. The girls' discus record fell early in the meet, as Courtney Floyd tossed 78 feet and two inches and qualified for the state meet. Grade 10 student Kate Gomer, a state champion in pole vault last year, broke the school pole vault record, jumping 7'3" in front of a large and enthusiastic crowd. The girls' distance medley relay team of Mahika Patel, Carly Wardius, Kate Gomer and Sophie Watson also set a new school mark of 16:08.05.

Finn Kelly won the long jump with an outstanding early-season leap of 19'5", and also placed first in the triple jump. His long jump stands as the fourth best in the state in Broadwater's division to date. Kelly also played a key role in one of the most exciting races of the day, the varsity boys' 4x100 meter relay. Kelly started the race with a blazing first leg for the Vikings. Grade 8 Gunnar Gustafson received the handoff from classmate Michael Brickhouse about three steps behind the Walsingham runner. The partisan crowd roared as Gustafson pulled even and passed his opponent to give the Viking squad the win. Gustafson also won the pole vault and placed second in long jump and triple jump.

Grade 10 student Carly Wardius won the high jump and triple jump and placed second in long jump and pole vault, as well as running on several relays. Nikki Toms set grade 12 records in pole vault and high jump in only her second meet ever. Andrew Hart won the shot put competition, placed second in discus, and also scored in high jump, long jump and triple jump. Clay Wardius won the high jump competition.

Broadwater's middle school athletes were out in full force at the meet and also posted many outstanding marks. First-time thrower Colvin Willis broke the grade 6 shot put record. Faith Johnson won the high jump and placed second in long jump and competed in several relays. James Thomas Applegate won the long jump and took second in JV pole vault and high jump. Utilizing excellent technique, grade 7 Connor Bott won JV triple jump and pole vault. Lindsey Smith in her first track meet ever won the long jump and triple jump. Savannah Anderson placed in long jump, high jump, and triple jump. Grade 6 student Ashley Burns placed third in high jump and grade 8 Ture Gustafson placed third in long jump. William Wehner placed third in pole vault and ran in several relays.

"With this being our first ever home meet it was wonderful to see so many enthusiastic student-athletes working hard," said Broadwater's Head Track Coach Eric Hack. "It should be noted, too, that as far as I know, this is the only track meet in the state that takes place on a grass track."

Last spring the Viking girls tied Walsingham for the state championship and the Broadwater boys also took home a share of last year's boys state championship by tying Peninsula Catholic. This marked the first time in history that teams from the same school won both the boys' and girls' state track and field championships in the same year.

The Nandua boys’ varsity soccer team shutdown the Chincoteague Ponies Monday afternoon in Onley.

Nandua’s first goal was credited to Tanner Troyer just one minute and 56 seconds into the game. Victor Esteban followed with two goals of his own to make it 3-0. The Warriors continued to raise their number on the scoreboard and by the end of regulation, the score rested 9-0.

The Warrior boys will travel to Booker T. Washington High School April 17 for their next field battle and Chincoteague’s boys will host the Northampton Yellow Jackets on April 26.

On Tuesday, the Nandua Warriors girls’ varsity squad outmaneuvered the Arcadia Firebirds, 1-0, in Onley. Odem Cunningham had the lone goal for the Warriors. The Nandua girls will face the Northampton Yellow Jackets next on April 25 in Eastville.

The Northampton boys’ will travel to King’s Fork on April 20 for their next kick-off. The Lady Jackets will also play again on April 20, but against New Kent.

The Chincoteague Ponies dropped their game against Essex last Saturday, 4-0, before redeeming themselves in back-to-back wins over the Nandua Warriors on Tuesday, 10-7, and the Broadwater Vikings on Wednesday, 10-5.

During Tuesday afternoon’s district rivalry battle in Onley, the Warriors fell to the Ponies after being tied, 7-7, through six innings. Braden Watson’s three-run homer in the top of the seventh would edge Chincoteague up and over Nandua. The Warriors were unable to match the Ponies effort and ultimately fell, 10-7.

Taking the loss for the Warriors was Caleb Ferry, who tossed three and a third innings, giving up four runs and four hits and struck out three. Dustin Holloway earned the win for the Ponies, allowing only two hits and striking out four over four innings.

Gary Kelley led the Nandua bats with two hits. Waylon White earned a hit and two RBIs; Austin Atkinson, Michael McCluskey, Garrett Baylis, John Killmon and Matthew Teasley all hit one each for the Warriors.

Ryan Mason led the Ponies’ offense with three hits and two RBIs. Collin Derrickson went 2-for-3; Todd Matthews rounded out Chincoteague’s bat leaders with two hits and one RBI. Watson, VoShawn Davis and Matthew Reed each earned a hit.

The Warriors also fell to Norfolk Christian last Saturday, 7-1. They will be back in action April 20 at Bayside High School. The Ponies will face the Arcadia Firebirds Tuesday, April 25, next.

Next up for the Broadwater Vikings is an away contest Tuesday, April 18, at Isle of Wight Academy. The Northampton Yellow Jackets will return from spring break next week and travel to Holly Grove on Tuesday, April 18.

NORTHAMPTON SHERIFF’S OFFICE
TAKING BACK UNWANTED PRESCRIPTION DRUGS APRIL 29, 2017, AT 5211 THE HORNES (NORTHAMPTON SHERIFF’S OFFICE)

On APRIL 29, 2017 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the Northampton Sheriff’s Office and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will give the public its 13th opportunity in seven years to prevent pill abuse and theft by ridding their homes of potentially dangerous expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs. Bring your pills for disposal to Northampton Sheriff’s Office at 5211 The Hornes, Eastville, Virginia. (The DEA cannot accept liquids or needles or sharps, only pills or patches.) The service is free and anonymous, no questions asked.

Last September, Americans turned in 350 tons (over 702,000 pounds) of prescription drugs at more than 5,000 sites operated by the DEA and more than 3,800 of its state and local law enforcement partners. When those results are combined with what was collected in its 10 previous Take Back events, DEA and its partners have taken in over 5.5 million pounds—more than 2,750 tons—of pills.

This initiative addresses a vital public safety and public health issue. Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse, and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are alarmingly high, as are the number of accidental poisonings and overdoses due to these drugs. Studies show that a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet. In addition, Americans are now advised that their usual methods for disposing of unused medicines—flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash—both pose potential safety and health hazards.

For more information about the disposal of prescription drugs or about the April 29, 2017 Take Back Day event, go to the DEA Diversion website or contact Major Smith with Northampton Sheriff’s Office at (757) 678-0458.
Amy and Don Amadeo, of Tasley, are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Paige Elizabeth, to Brennan H. Treadwell.

The bride-to-be is a 2014 honors graduate of Nandua High School. After attending classes at Eastern Shore Community College, she was employed at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital as a C.N.A. before deciding to serve her country. Amadeo joined the U.S. Navy and graduated from boot camp at Great Lakes, Ill., in February 2016. Following graduation, she received training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, as a Master at Arms. She is currently stationed at Naval Submarine Base, King’s Bay, Ga. Paige is the granddaughter of Bob and Vickie Thornes, of Parksley; Ada Jo Amadeo, of Onley; and Irvin and Margaret Ellen Amadeo, of Harborton.

The groom-to-be is a 2015 graduate of Belle Vernon Area High School in Belle Vernon, Pa., where he was a member of the Honor Society. Treadwell fulfilled his childhood dream of serving his country by joining the U.S. Marine Corps after graduation, following in the footsteps of his great grandfather and great-uncle. After completing basic training at Paris Island, S.C., in November 2015, he was sent to Jacksonville, N.C., for ITB training and then to Chesapeake, Va., for BSG training. He is currently stationed at Marine Security Force, Naval Submarine Base, King’s Bay, Ga. He is the son of Laurie Scholl, of Fayette City, Pa., and David Treadwell of Jefferson Hills, Pa. He is the grandson of Judy and Bernie Turk (and the late Thomas Treadwell) of Vernon, Pa.; Cathy Cummings, of Altoona, Pa.; and Joe Cummings, of Alexandria, Pa.

I didn’t get the most eggs at the Eastern Shore Post’s wonderful close-up-the-shop-for-two-hours Easter egg hunt last Monday. However, this still-recovering-from-knee-replacement woman didn’t get the least eggs either. Yippee!

I also wasn’t the one who claimed to have a map of the boss’s yard where the event was held nor was I the wearer of the pink pants. But I did use a reacher-grabber-gripper to get those eggs without bending over too much. I’m still kicking but not too high yet.

The staff at the paper is so much fun these days. We work hard and play harder. Our editor and chief, Connie Morrison, is the best. And she can cook! Food is a top priority for me. She baked a spiral ham and biscuits and the rest of us brought a pot-luck dish. Another Yippee!

Connie also put money and stickers for more money and candy in the eggs before she hid them. We are truly blessed.

“You really need to Focus,” Connie told our Classifieds Queen Angie Crutchley, who only had five eggs. “Focus,” she repeated in an attempt to steer her to the Ford’s front wheel. But the woman in the pink pants who was carrying a special basket was too slow for the 19-year-old hunter who got the hint and sniffed out the hiding place.

Our Graphic Designer Kimberly Perry was the winner, who found 22 eggs and a total of $40! It made me cry. It made Angie cry too. But we were all winners.

Still, for that reason, the all-knowing-Connie had a whiner’s basket where the brats could help themselves to other treats. I’m not going to tell you who they were.

It is good to be a kid once in a while. Connie inspires us. Troy Justis, our ad manager, made scalloped potatoes, peas and carrots in roux sauce and serving-size cheese cakes. Ad rep Beth Nunnally created yummy deviled eggs. Angie made baked corn that was scrumptious. Writer Ron West brought a fancy sweet potato casserole. Sports Wrangler Krystle Bono bought cupcakes and macaroni salad and I brought homemade pound cake and fresh fruit.

“Hey Grandpa, what’s for supper? Stewed tomatoes, tongue of beef, fried up crisp on collard leaves. Deviled eggs and scalloped corn, lots of fresh fruit to make your morn. Yum! Yum!”

If you were wondering, Connie told me that was from a segment of the old TV show, “Hee Haw.”

Happy Easter! Happy Spring! Happy, Happy Everything!
