‘No Room’ for Kiptopeke Motel

By Ron West

A proposal to build a motel near the entrance to Kiptopeke State Park met with stiff opposition at Tuesday’s meeting of Northampton supervisors, who ultimately followed the public’s lead and voted to deny it.

At issue was a request by Kiptopeke Villas, LLC for a special-use permit (SUP) and zoning amendment that would change the designation of the area from Hamlet to Commercial, allow a 12-unit motel/apartment complex, and approve a mass drainfield on an adjacent lot at the intersection of Arlington and Kiptopeke drives.

Speaking for the applicant, Bill Parr noted that until the most recent zoning change, the property was zoned commercial. The estimated cost for the hotel is $750,000. Parr said that commercial development already in the Kiptopeke area includes the state park that hosts nearly 500,000 visitors annually, many of whom stay overnight at the park’s campsites and cabins. Parr said a small motel or apartment complex is not necessarily any different. He added that the county needs more commercial development.

Prior to receiving public input on the issue, Parr said the developer is willing to offer concessions by adding vegetative buffering around the proposed one-and-a-half story structure, limiting signage, and providing “dark sky” outside lighting to minimize the effect on the adjacent properties.

Property owner Terry Ramsey was the first of more than a dozen speakers to voice opposition to the request for all.

Atlantic Town Center Developers Upset with Recommendation for Denial

By Cheryl Novak

Mark Baumgartner, attorney for Chris M. Carbaugh, who would like to develop Atlantic Town Center, expressed dismay at Wednesday's meeting of Accomack supervisors that the Planning Commission had recommended denial of their conditional zoning request.

Baumgartner argued that it was inappropriate for the commission to have based its disapproval on the fact that the wastewater treatment plant for the business and residential community was not completed. He said that comments on the proposal had indicated a preference for the project facility to be moved to a different location and it was the redesign to meet public preferences that had delayed the project.

Baumgartner also maintained that because nearby residents and businesses would rather have a residential community than an agricultural operation at the location proposed for Atlantic Town Center, the Planning Commission’s recommendation was not appropriate.

Baumgartner's remarks, offered during the Public Comment segment of the meeting, received no reaction from the supervisors.

Carbaugh and Baumgartner have been trying for years to get permits to build Atlantic Town Center. Residents around Atlantic have been fighting the project, citing mostly property and ground water rights and the lack of need for the project.

In other business Wednesday, the supervisors amended the county budget to allow for acceptance of a $1,012,725 grant from the Federal Aviation Administration and a $90,000 grant from the Virginia Department of Aviation, as well as a $22,505 expenditure from the Airport Assigned Fund Balance, all for the Airport Obstruction Removal Project to clear the Accomack County Airport.

The contract for the project was awarded to J. Sanders Construction for $922,250. The company has locations throughout Virginia, but none on the Shore. Airport Manager Barbara Haxter told the board that local loggers were not interested in bidding on the project because it will interfere with their other logging commitments.

The supervisors addressed the issue of a tax refund owed to Perdue Farms, which could total as much as $650,000. The overpayment the company made in 2006-09 is the result of a recent ruling by the state tax commissioner that Perdue should be assessed as a vertically integrated manufacturer and not a processor, as it has been.

According to county officials, the money might be repaid through future tax credits. County Administrator Steve Miner said he will open a dialogue with Perdue management about structuring the refund.

Supervisor Robert Crockett told County Attorney Mark Taylor that he needed to research the issue since Tyson Foods is sure to ask for a review of its taxes.

Taylor said he will be checking it out, but the Perdue situation is the result of years of complaints and persistence by that company. “There may be much smaller classifications available to others, but not nearly of this magnitude,” Taylor assured the board.

Launch Postponed

Due to the impending arrival of Hurricane Gonzalo in Bermuda, an essential tracking site for Antares launches from Wallops Flight Facility, the launch date of Oct. 24 for the Orb-3 CRS mission to the International Space Station for NASA is no longer feasible.

Once the hurricane has passed Bermuda, a team Wallops will return to the tracking site to assess the situation and begin the process of re-enabling the site’s functionality to support the launch.

The earliest the mission will be scheduled is Oct. 27. However, depending on the impact of the storm on Bermuda’s essential infrastructure systems such as transportation, power and communications, the launch date could be moved. The rendezvous and berthing of Cygnus with the ISS remains Nov. 2.

How Should Local Leaders Spend Our Money?

By Linda Cicoira

Teachers should get paid more money, according to 91 percent of those who participated in a recent survey conducted by the Eastern Shore Post.

Sixty percent of the survey-takers said they want a new library built in Accomack; 62 percent favor a new school in Northampton.

And nearly 49 percent have been diagnosed with Lyme Disease or a family or friend has had the tick-borne illness.

About 82 percent of those who answered the email poll favor more money going for Emergency Medical Services (EMS). The top choices for spending tax dollars are education — 59 percent — and public safety and medical resources — 20 percent.

“By a long shot, education/schools should be the top priority for tax dollars,” John Hickman of Chincoteague wrote. “We are educating our future leaders.”

He also favors a new Northampton school “if needed” and a new central library. Hickman said that between $1 million and $3 million should “get us a very nicely equipped” library.

Hickman also sees a need for more EMS “than just volunteers can provide. As our wages no longer keep up with inflation, our historical volunteer emergency services workforce has to spend more time working to make ends meet and less time volunteering.”

“Oh my God, YES,” teachers should be getting more money “by a considerable amount,” Hickman continued. “For years upon years our teachers go without a cost of living wage increase. This means teachers’ pay has been going down every year to the point it is almost embarrassing. And these are the folks teaching our kids, training our future leaders … they don’t get the respect they deserve. Any new taxes in our counties should be directed directly to teacher salaries and not school administrator salaries, which are already competitive.”

Jane Bulette of Onancock chose education and healthcare as her top priorities for tax spending. She favors a new library in coordination “with a new library at Eastern Shore Community College.”

Jay Davenport of Onancock favors both school improvement and a new library with “sufficient space for pre-school children’s programs.”

“Schools and law enforcement,” are where Linda Mitchell of Pungoteague thinks tax dollars should be spent. Her bottom choices were “welfare and public library … No. I don’t think we need a book library. Only small numbers of people are using the library as an access to books. … Most information in books is available free online.”

“What we do need are computer/Internet access centers,” Mitchell continued. “Both counties are invested in Eastern Shore Broadband and could substantially (and) less expensively … set up some centers” and “some free WiFi hot spots at existing public buildings with a room with tables and chairs for people who want to bring laptops or handheld devices and use them there.”

“YES! Teachers need a salary increase!” said Diane Lauver of Temperanceville. “Most teachers out here have to work two jobs.”

Jim Kaczmarek of Parksley said his top priorities for local tax funds are EMS and “crime fighting.” The former Northampton Schools employee who lives in Accomack County is against building a new school in the southern county.

“The high school front section is from 1978 and the back section just had a $1.2 million rehab in 2008,” he wrote. “Enrollment is down. They just want a new school to restructure the system and buy another three years where the state won’t step in. Follow the time line of events, middle school closes and 6th 7th & 8th move to grade schools. Three years later 8th moves to high school, 3 years later, high school puts up fire doors to split the school up to call it a restructure. Now they need a new trick to keep the state from stepping in. They even have new portable classrooms not being used that cost taxpayers about $1 million in 2008. How soon we forget.”

Kaczmarek is also against building a new library. “NO! Too much money for too few users.” He favors more support for EMS and higher salaries for teachers with “skill level and results.”

Kristi Hilmoe of Accomac wants more pay for teachers and “available mental health” services. She said the least important things to spend on are “raises for any government positions other than teachers, and entitlements for abusers.”

Regarding a new school for Northampton, Hilmoe replied, “If they are required for safety purposes, then they should. If they are just old, then wait.” She is opposed to construction of a new library. “No, what’s wrong with the Accomac one?”

“Emergent mental health services should also be funded better,” said Hilmoe. “The Community Services building is in awful shape. (They) need to call dozens of hospitals to find an open psych bed.”

Doug Buckley of Parksley doesn’t see the need for a new library. “I sure don’t see the need for a big fancy new building. The supporters have not made a case for it nor ruled out expanding or upgrading the one we have. … The building is not the important part of a library and they seem focused on that rather than what is in it.” Buckley contends that computers are “not a library priority.”

Linda Nicola of Onancock and her mother were both diagnosed with Lyme Disease “in the early 1990s when it was still rather new. We were diagnosed late in the disease and therefore have permanent disabilities from it,” she wrote. “Doctors still don’t have a good grasp on the disease. I used to be a Lyme Disease counselor to help other people cope with symptoms, get doctors who knew the disease, educate family, etc.”

“No, neither one of us had the bulls-eye rash. It actually shows only about 60 percent of the time,” Nicola continued. “And if the rash is under the hairline or other area not easily seen, it can be missed. So don’t discount a Lyme diagnosis just because you don’t have the rash.”

Jeanne Whaley of Accomac said, “I had Lyme Disease a few years ago while living in New Jersey. I actually didn’t notice a tick bite until the rash appeared. The identifiable bull’s eye rash was followed a few days later by fever and flu-like symptoms. I was treated effectively with an antibiotic and I am now very careful to follow all the guidelines for avoiding tick bites.”

Dr. Shavonne Ruffin of Northampton is a supporter of schools and education. “Northampton County needs a middle school. It is important that children have a transition from elementary to middle school. We can see the negative effects of not having this transition based upon our students’ psychosocial development and our athletic programs. Northampton was a blue ribbon school 17 years ago and in recent years fought to keep accreditation. This appears to be directly related to not having a middle school. Our sports teams were going to state championships, being undefeated. Today, we celebrate just making a touchdown. This is because the students are not getting the foundation and fundamentals that are learned in the middle school setting. Our children are suffering because we value getting a state-of-the-art jail over our children. The children are our future and we need to invest in them.”

Tony Sacco of Capeville wants more than just a new middle school. He sees the need for “a senior center for the retired 65 and older.” Sacco also dreams of “a top four-year college … here in Northampton County; a college town to lure top students in the world.”

He also favors more support for EMS. “Northampton is a retirement community and we have … nowhere to go but to the cemetery, thanks to our supervisors.”

A story in last week’s Post should have noted that of the 626 students at Metomkin Elementary School, 268 are designated as English as a Second Language (ESL) students. The school plans to hire more teachers and interpreters to deal with the unexpected influx.

After 21 Years, Accomack Building and Zoning Director To Retire

By Linda Cicoira

Accomack Building and Zoning Director David Fluhart is planning to retire next month from the county post he has held for more than three decades.

“I will be joining the Bundick Well and Pump Company as purchasing agent immediately after I leave,” the 52-year-old Quinby resident said last week. “The same family values and support for ... employees ... I have tried to instill with my immediate staff in the county,” is followed at Bundick’s. “I am really looking forward to joining the family-owned and operated business.”

Fluhart was eligible to retire at age 50 with 30 years of service. Although he will leave his post in mid-November, his actual retirement takes effect in January. “I have more than 34 years in the Virginia Retirement System,” Fluhart added.

“The reason for the ‘gap’ between my effective retirement date and my expected last day in the office is I have accumulated unused annual/vacation leave ... I have offered to be available a few hours a week to assist in the transition, if requested,” he said.

Fluhart was appointed to the director’s post on March 1, 1993, by then County Administrator Arthur K. Fisher. Before that, he served as a county building inspector.

Fluhart’s office enforces the Virginia Building Code and Accomack County Zoning Ordinance, according to Rich Morrison, director of planning and community development. Building permits, building inspections, zoning compliance and enforcement are carried out by the department. Providing service to walk-in customers and answering phone calls is a critical department mission.

The department is also responsible for advising the county’s Board of Zoning Appeals and the Wetlands Board. It serves as the county’s floodplain manager and liaison to state and federal agencies on floodplain matters, evaluates joint permit applications for docks and bulkheads and oversees the county’s hazard mitigation grant program.

Planning Commission Supports AFD Removal Requests

By Ron West

The Northampton Planning Commission recently conducted public hearings regarding changes requested for two Agricultural-Forestrial Districts (AFDs).

John Wescoat of Church Neck asked for changes to the Hungars Glebe AFD to allow for the property to be withdrawn from AFD status as the property was already in a conservation easement and can receive financial benefits only from one program. The commissioners agreed to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that it approve the request. Related to the same AFD, the commissioners also agreed to recommend that the Board of Supervisors support the request to renew the Glebe AFD designation.

A final AFD request was made to withdraw a small portion of property from the Dalby’s AFD. The request applied only to area of the AFD that contains a house and yard. The reason given to withdraw the property from the AFD was that the owner does not live in the area and found it difficult to maintain the home. The commissioners voted to recommend that the Board of Supervisors support the request.

Public hearings regarding zoning text changes requested by the Board of Supervisors were postponed by the commissioners due to the late hour and will be on the agenda for their next session, now slated for Monday, Nov. 3.
Cheriton Volunteer Fire Company will hold a Fried Chicken Dinner Wednesday, Nov. 5, from 5 to 7 p.m.

In addition to fried chicken, the menu includes flat green beans, cole slaw, tea or coffee, and homemade desserts. The cost is $9 for adults and $5 for children under 12. Dine in or take out.

The National Park Service (NPS) is providing $49,000 for the improvement of Pitts Landing Paddle Craft Facility on the Pocomoke River in Accomack County.

The county is the partner in the project through which the existing public access boat ramp and wharf at Pitts Landing will be upgraded with the addition of an ADA accessible paddle craft launch and retrieval facility, additional parking, and ADA compliant restroom facilities. The National Park Service (NPS) Chesapeake Bay Office announced today that the NPS is providing financial assistance for eight public access projects in the Chesapeake Bay watershed.

Free Flu Shots

The Eastern Shore Health District has announced a special seasonal flu vaccination clinic for those without insurance coverage.

The drive-thru clinic will be held Saturday, Oct. 25, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Eastern Shore Community College. This free seasonal flu clinic is being held for those who do not have insurance or who have insurance that will not cover the flu vaccine. The number of flu shots available under this free program is limited and available for those 18 years and older only. They will be given on a first come, first served basis.

Cars will enter from the Parkway entrance near the Eastern Shore Chamber of Commerce building and be directed to the rear entrance of ESCC. Shot recipients will not have to exit their vehicle to receive the flu shot; they are asked to wear short sleeves.

Janet Wilson-Galloway

Janet Wilson-Galloway passed away peacefully on Tuesday, Aug. 19, 2014, at the age of 93. Her wishes were that she be cremated and interred next to the father of their children in their family cemetery near Exmore.

She was born in Woodbury, N.J., to Hillis Morgan Mathis and Elizabeth Pancoast Mathis and graduated from Woodbury High School in 1938. She has since lived in many places, including Wenonah, N.J., Abadan, Iran, Lockport, Ill., and these cities in Texas: Amarillo, The Woodlands, Sugar Land, and Missouri City. three requests. He spoke of the importance of tourism to the county and said commercial development next to a residential area is inappropriate. Ramsey argued that a motel would lower property values for nearby homes, increase traffic, and create a safety issue for pedestrians and bikers on Kiptopeke Drive.

Resident Kim Butler maintained that all growth is not a good thing and that rezoning to commercial would not fit in with the neighborhood. She suggested that the property could be used for a medical center or hospice facility.

Dick Churchill said that to be successful economically, the motel would need signage on Lankford Highway and noted that several nearby motels are struggling to succeed.

Christine Snook reiterated that the motels in the area are struggling and to add one more would just make it more difficult for the others to succeed.

Roberta Kellam noted that she visits Kiptopeke State Park for bird watching and the park is not commercial.

Following a brief discussion, the supervisors voted not to approve the rezoning request. With the vote not to rezone, the issue of approving a motel became moot as the density in a Hamlet only allows for up to three motel or apartment rooms.

In other business, a request was made by Northampton County Public Schools for the transfer of county property adjacent to Northampton High School. The property, located at the former Selma Farm subdivision, was purchased at auction by the county in 2010 for just over $100,000. The board voted 4-1 (Supervisor Granville Hogg opposed) to grant the request.

The board approved a request from the Town of Cheriton to place property at the former Webster processing facility to the east of the town within town limits. Vice Mayor Normal Spencer said the town had been seeking additional property to expand its commercial opportunities for over 10 years.

“Pack up the babies and grab the old ladies” and everyone goes to the Eastern Shore cheerleading competition. And as Neil Diamond also sang in “Brother Love’s Traveling Salvation Show,” the “room gets suddenly still and when you’d almost bet you could hear yourself sweat,” the cheerleaders emerge to thunderous applause, so loud your ears are ringing hours later.

No sporting event on the Shore packs them in like the cheerleading competition. Funds raised from this event go a long way toward buying trophies for all Eastern Shore District sports throughout the season.

Cheerleaders are the main event this night. They are like rock stars, as little tykes dressed in cheerleading attire are prevalent in the audience.

The crowd started gathering long before the 7 p.m. start and wound its way out the door and far down the sidewalk at the Nandua gymnasium Tuesday night.

Minutes after the crowd is let in, all the best seats facing the cheerleaders are taken, and soon there are very few available spectator spots on either side of the gym.

It gets hot in a hurry when that many people gather on this warm October night. It also gets extremely loud when the crowd cheers for their favorite cheerleaders.

My daughter, who was a cheerleader almost 20 years ago, used to wear a T-shirt that said, “Cheerleaders are athletes too.”

And judging by the routines presented by Nandua, Chincoteague, and Arcadia, the winner of the competition, considerable preparation and athletic skill were necessary to perform the maneuvers presented to a cheering throng.

Melissa Matthews, who coaches the Arcadia team with T.J. Smith, said August tryouts are open to boys and girls, and then the squad practices about 10 hours a week, also on weekends just prior to the competition.

Arcadia has now won nine of 10 competitions since Matthews and Smith started coaching a decade ago.

And speaking of athletic, check out that male cheerleader in the photograph below jumping for joy when learning Arcadia had won the competition.

If he is not on the basketball team, I would ask him to try out if I were the coach. I haven’t seen a vertical leap like that since the likes of David Thompson, who soared above the basket long before any of Tuesday night’s competitors were born.

Deer Hunt Set at Refuge

Eastern Shore of Virginia National Wildlife Refuge Manager Bob Leffel announces that the refuge will conduct its annual deer hunt this fall.

The archery hunt will be held from Oct. 27 through Nov. 8, excluding Sunday, Nov. 2. The firearms hunt will be held Dec. 6 through Dec. 13, excluding Sunday, Dec. 7.

Chincoteague Seeks To Remain Unbeaten

The Chincoteague football team will seek to remain unbeaten tonight with a Homecoming date against the Hampton Generals, a team the Ponies defeated 45-18 three weeks ago. A win will give the Ponies a 7-0 record and match a school record for wins in a season, with two games remaining. Chincoteague’s toughest test likely will be next week when unbeaten Fuqua visits Chincoteague. A Homecoming Picnic at the school will be held tonight from 5 to 6:30 following the Homecoming Parade.
Arcadia broke into the win column Friday night with a dominating 47-0 win over Northampton at home.

“We finally played a complete game,” said Arcadia coach Tony Nock. “We had been beating ourselves with mistakes all year. The guys decided they were tired of that and came out playing hard and got going early.”

Travon Copes led the Firebirds with three touchdowns, including an 80-yard run on the first play of the game. Arcadia recovered the onside kick and then moved quickly down the field; Contrel Brown capped the drive with a three-yard touchdown run. Logan Godwin kicked both extra points to give the Firebirds an early 14-0 lead.

Before the first quarter was over, Copes scored again on a five-yard run. Brown scored his second touchdown on a six-yard run to stake Arcadia to a 26-0 lead in the first quarter before Breonte Shrieves scored from the defensive side on a 20-yard interception return of a Jacket pass in the second quarter. Terrell Wharton added a 20-yard touchdown run to give the Firebirds a 40-0 halftime lead.

Arcadia quarterback Josh Sanns threw a 30-yard touchdown to Copes for the lone second-half score, making the final 47-0.

Copes had 169 yards rushing on only five carries. Jamal Savage added 70 yards on seven carries, and Brown had 40 yards on four carries, including two touchdowns. The Firebirds rushed for 377 yards on 26 attempts. Sanns was 2 of 4 passing for 49 yards and the one touchdown.

Defensively, Tyric Harris had 10 tackles, Quanni Payton had nine tackles and recovered a fumble. Savage added six tackles.

Eric Grinnage blocked a punt with Devon Rogers recovering. Grinnage and Rishon Townsend also combined to block a second Jacket punt.

Northampton, playing its first game since breaking a 37-game losing streak the previous week, could produce very little on offense, hurt by turnovers. Jacket coach Ty Traister said Tyler Handwerk had a solid game on defense while Frederick Williams was the leading rusher Traister said following the game, “We are still a young team learning how to win. I give Coach Nock a lot of credit having his team ready to play. We saw them feel the same joy we felt when we won last Friday. On a positive note, I think our guys know their potential and won’t settle for getting beat like that anymore.”

Northampton hosts Broadwater tonight in its Homecoming game, while Arcadia visited Washington in Princess Anne, Md. last night in a game completed after deadline.

Arcadia JV Splits

The Arcadia JV lost to Parkside 34-0 last week as Shykeem Jacobs had 12 tackles on defense for the Firebirds and Trey Ballard gained 63 yards on eight carries.

On Tuesday, Arcadia defeated Northampton 18-6 as Ballard rushed for 158 yards and had 64 yards receiving. Michael Press had a 64-yard TD run. Kerric Harmon had 16 tackles, two recovered fumbles and three sacks.

Jamal Savage rushed for 70 yards on seven carries Friday night.

The Lady Vikings won the second and third sets, 25-23 and 25-17, after dropping the opener, 25-14. Williamsburg Christian rebounded to win the final two sets 25-13 and 15-10.

“It just wasn’t our night,” said Viking coach Kim Laxton. “One of our middle hitters, Heather Custis, sprained her ankle in game two. She is still on crutches with a black-and-blue, swollen ankle.”

Kathleen Kraft led the team with 12 kills, Anna Sexauer had eight, Jenna Hare had seven kills and seven blocks and Heather Custis added six kills and nine blocks in limited action.

Kellam Addison had four kills, two blocks and an ace. Kathelyn Hill had 37 assists, three aces and two kills. Olivia Kellam had 36 digs.

Broadwater will compete in the Metro Conference tournament next week.

The Capitals handed the Red Wings a 4-2 defeat. Pat Luckenbach got a hat trick in the win, with Shawn Turner also scoring on an assist from Danny Tweedy. Chris Pascal and Brandon Stapleton scored the Wings’ goals on assists from Roger Haeussner.

Broadwater Bounces Portsmouth Christian 34-0

Tyler Major ran for four touchdowns, including an 80-yard dash, and 209 yards on 14 carries to lead Broadwater to a 34-0 win over Portsmouth Christian Saturday night on the road.

Major has 1,033 yards and 16 touchdowns in six games for Broadwater, now 3-3.

Major gave the Vikings an early 6-0 lead in the first quarter on a 19-yard run, then added runs of 22 and 80 yards in the second quarter. Broadwater quarterback Austin Murphy also had a seven-yard scoring pass to Major Morgan in the second quarter as the Vikes took a 27-0 lead to the locker room at halftime. Major added a four-yard touchdown run in the third quarter to complete the scoring.

Murphy was 6 for 12 passing for 87 yards and a touchdown. Morgan had three catches for 73 yards.

Taylor Major had 37 yards rushing to complement his twin brother.

Defensively, Jordan Long had 14 tackles, Will Sexauer had 13, Courtland Bunce had nine, and Keegan Czesak added eight.

Morgan had a quarterback sack, while R.C. Cooley intercepted a pass.

Viking coach Noble Palmer praised his kicking game, which saw Thomas Scott make 4 of 5 extra-point attempts and Czesak deliver a 58-yard punt.

“Our defense also played really well with excellent pass defense and perimeter defense,” said Palmer. “We also held our own on the line despite being outweighed considerably by Portsmouth Christian. We stopped them late in the first half near our goal line to preserve a shutout.”

Freshman Anna Sexauer had eight kills last Thursday for Broadwater.

Nandua improved its record to 4-3 with a 42-16 win over Snow Hill Friday night in Salisbury, Md. The Eagles are playing their home games this season at Sea Gull Stadium while their field is being renovated.

“It was good to see us get our groove back after the disappointing loss the week before,” said Nandua coach Chris Miles.

Tyreim Blake broke a scoreless tie with a 44-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter, but Snow Hill answered as Ian Smith capped a 16-play drive with a short touchdown run to tie the score at 6-6.

However, the Warriors struck for a quick 18 points late in the first half with a Blake 44-yard run and then an 83-yard scoring pass from Blake to Jakorah Parker to take a 24-6 halftime lead.

Blake finished the game with 189 yards rushing on 13 attempts and completed 7 of 11 passes for 160 yards. Blake has rushed for 980 yards in seven games, with an additional 480 yards passing.

Nandua upped its lead in the second half with another Blake-to-Parker touchdown pass. Anthony Smith also had a touchdown run and Trevon Cooper blocked a punt and recovered it in the end zone for a Warrior touchdown.

Defensively, Blake led the Warriors with 10 tackles, Trevor Wessells and Mahagee Wise had eight each, while Jhamir Poulson, Will Farlow and Hunter Cooper had seven each. Cooper and Wise each had a blocked punt, while Davion Sabatino had a fumble recovery.

Nandua is now ranked 14th in the 2A East rankings, with the top 16 making the playoffs and the top eight hosting first-round playoff games.

“We hope to move up in the rankings with the teams in front of us playing each other,” said Miles.

Nandua hosts Colonel Richardson tonight for its Homecoming with a 7 o’clock kickoff. Halftime activities will include crowning of the Homecoming Court, kings and queens, and awarding the best floats.
Northampton Sweeps Nandua To Take District Lead

Northampton volleyballers won a battle of Shore District unbeatens last Thursday with a 25-23, 25-21 and 25-14 sweep of Nandua in Onley.

“I feel like we are growing with every match and learning a lot about ourselves as a team,” said Northampton coach Cathy Doughty. “We are discovering how we work best together, and we are figuring out how to win against tough opponents like Nandua. Early in the season, we faced some very strong regional competition which taught us quite a bit about what we needed to work on to be competitive late in our regular season and on into the post season. I’m excited about what I’m seeing from these girls right now.”

Taylor Webb had six aces, six kills and five assists, in addition to two blocks. Kennedy Webb had five aces, six kills and eight assists. Makayla Wilson had four aces and two kills. Taylor Nadeau had four aces, two kills and a block. Angela Head had two aces, a kill, three assists and a block. Monique Ayers had an ace, a kill, three assists and a block.

Nandua was led by Caroline Harvie with eight digs and three kills, Sarah Puchalski with 11 digs, Chelsey Barker with three aces and six digs, and Amanda Roache with seven digs.

On Tuesday, Northampton swept Arcadia 26-24, 25-15 and 25-12 at home. Kennedy Webb led the Lady Jackets with 11 aces, seven kills and seven assists. Taylor Webb had seven kills and seven assists. Ayers had four aces, four assists and two digs. Head had three kills, four assists, one ace and one dig.

Nandua Tops HC

On Monday, Nandua defeated Holly Grove in four sets in a closely contested match. The Lady Warriors won the first two sets, 25-23 and 25-23, then lost the third set 25-23 before taking the fourth 25-16. Sarah Puchalski had seven aces, 16 digs and five kills. Shyanne Gordon had 11 kills, two digs and two blocks, Caroline Harvie had 30 digs, nine kills and three aces, and Paige DiMartino had four aces and four digs.

Jackets Runners Third in CC Meet

James Teeling had Northampton’s best finish as the Jackets finished third out of four teams against Mathews, the winner with 18; second-place Middlesex, 55; and King and Queen, 114.

Northampton compiled 66 points in the cross country run last week as Teeling finished 11th in 19:57 with Jose Palacia right behind him in 12th place in 19:59. Junior Gildo was 17th in 20:49 for the Jackets as Northampton finished 25th through 30th with Brian Terron (22:24), Deandre Upshure (22:29), Thomas Leffel (22:40) Alvarao Torres (22:49), Tucker Spady (23:04) and Justice Matthew (23:04) finishing in that order.

The teams meet again Tuesday for Chincoteague’s annual Spike Out Breast Cancer Night, with the JV tipping off at 5 and the varsity game to follow.
Gary Seay Wins Speckled Trout Tourney

Gary Seay won the Speckled Trout Tournament held at Chris’ Bait and Tackle at Cape Charles recently with an 8.4-pound speck. Mel Coates was second with a 7.8-speckled trout, while Seth Rux finishing third with a 7.1-pound fish.

Chris reports puppy drum are starting to show bayside off Kiptopeke State Park, along with croaker, blues, spot, flounder and sea mullet.

Sea mullets have been around the high rise. There are also flounder around the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel and fourth island as long as there is clear water.

Tautog have been at Plantation Creek, as well as the bridge-tunnel and high rise.

Speckled trout are showing both bayside and seaside.

Big reds are still available around the bridge-tunnel.

Don at Don’s Bait and Tackle Shop at Wachapreague says few flounder catches are reported on the seaside. Sea bass have moved onto inshore wrecks, but the season does not reopen until Oct. 18. The good news is that there are reports of redfish coming down the beach and a few being taken inside the inlets. Winds have made it almost impossible for offshore runs.

Bayside fishing has picked up with good numbers of small speckled trout (undersized) showing up in the creeks, with a few decent fish mixed in. Rockfish will be following the bait in and out of the creeks, but when inside can be taken shallow on top water plugs. What sand mullot are being taken are the jumbo variety.

A good bite on flounder is reported south of Cape Charles in the 25’ range over mussel beds this week, outside Cherrystone. Lots of schoolie rockfish at being seen at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

On Chincoteague, Steve’s Bait and Tackle says although the temperatures are still warmer than usual, there is a good bite off surf, with snapper bluefish, some nice kingfish and butterfly rays being caught. In the bay, anglers are doing best with kingfish near the inlet. There are still a few flounder around too, but you have to put your time in. Striped bass have started showing up mostly as a night bite.

Dear Editor:

I realize that I'm a recently married woman and this particularly is no time for any scandal, but with social media being what it is, I feel the story will get out one way or another and I'd rather take control of it from the get-go.

So here goes.

I have been getting very suggestive emails lately and I can say in all honesty that I have in no way encouraged them because I never have responded to a one of them.

And it gets worse: I'm afraid I am being harassed by more than one emailer. And when their identities are disclosed, it will bring to mind Monica Lewinski, Kay Summersby, Lucy Mercer and even Marilyn Monroe.

Yep, presidential pursuit.

My Sept. 30 message from Barack Obama pleaded, “Do this for me, Cheryl.” And though I swear I didn’t even open the email, I received a note from him later that day slugged, “Thanks, Cheryl.”

The next day, an email from “Jordan Kaplan, Democrats,” bore the subject “Do this for me - moving President Obama’s email up to the top of your inbox.”

On Oct. 3, the onslaught took a creepy turn when Vice President Joe Biden emailed me, “Barack wants to thank you in person, Cheryl.”

And then began a concerted barrage from untold battalions of Democrats pressuring me to rendezvous with the leader of the free world himself.

“We’ll fly you out to meet the President, Cheryl,” someone named Debbie Wasserman Schultz enticed. The DNC has repeatedly emailed invitations for me to meet POTUS. And even urged me to bring my family along!

Then, just when I thought things couldn’t get any weirder, I got an email from First Lady Michelle Obama. Was she annoyed with her husband’s pursuit of me? Was she threatening to “out” either one of us. No, according to the subject of her email, she wanted me to know that “Barack wants to say thanks.” Talk about perverse.

In recent days, the DNC has warned me, “You’re running out of time, Cheryl.”

I’m hoping that might mean that it’s someone else’s turn to become the focus of this intense campaign. But don’t say you weren’t warned.

By the way, my latest email from the illustrious Jordan Kaplan asks, under the subject, “Hey, can you look at this, Cheryl?” I’m more than a little afraid to.

And I just checked my email and discovered one from Tim Kaine titled “Up for Grabs.” Heaven preserve us!

Litterers Leave Telling Trail

Dear Editor:

Waste Watchers adopted Airport Road, which runs from Lankford Highway to Savageville Road on the bayside. It’s a busy thoroughfare and we like to see it looking nice and clean. As the years pass, I feel I’ve come to know the litterbugs who also drive this stretch.

For one thing, there is a LOT of drinking and driving going on if we measure by the amount of Corona Extra bottles and Colt 45 cans tossed out the window. I know drivers know it’s not a safe or legal thing to do, but boy, they do a lot of it. Why compound one thing into another — littering? Your chances of getting caught are twice as high.

And speaking of high, I also used to think that a lot of these drivers were big cigarillo smokers, but then I found out that most of these are used to roll marijuana. I’m not here to talk to travelers about what they smoke — I don’t care — but I would like them to keep the packaging to themselves. Same goes for those countless packs of Newports and Marlboro Lights they go through.

Maybe they’re getting the munchies and that accounts for all the candy wrappers they toss. Or worse, maybe it’s their children and they’ve made them think it’s OK to throw their trash out the window. And McDonald’s? Wow, we must really love our fast food, given the amount of bags and wrappers and Styrofoam containers found on the side of the road. This stuff is so harmful to wildlife and it looks like we don’t care about our home. That’s not true, is it?

Here’s a tip — keep a bag inside your car and put your trash in it. Then, when you get home or go to put in some gas, use the garbage can. It’s really not hard at all. Anyone who needs help breaking their old habit and starting a much better one can feel free to give me a call at 787-7468 or drop me an email at wastewatchers.esva@gmail.com.

After all, what are friends and neighbors for if not to help?

Inaccuracies in Supervisor’s Letter

Dear Editor:

I am writing to clarify some inaccuracies in a letter to the editor from a county supervisor last week regarding the library bond question on the ballot Nov. 4. Here are the corrections, as accurate voter information is important.

1) Stated: “Nov. 4 ballot is only Phase I; Phase II will require additional millions.”

Fact: The county is being asked to support only one payment for 70 percent of the cost of the new library; additional money (30 percent) will be raised privately in a fund-raising campaign. There is no Phase II of county aid.

2) Stated: “Other needs which provide core government services will have to wait.”

Fact: The library will require only 35 percent of the bond funds available to the county without raising taxes (county administrator and finance director's estimate). A new County Office Complex as well as Health Department upgrades and other needs being considered also can be met with the remaining funds, without having to raise taxes.

3) Stated: “The new library will require an additional $100,000 per year to operate.”

Fact: The director of the library has estimated that it will only require half that amount, if that much.

4) Stated: “The Library Board would not consider any plan other than a new library (such as building an addition on the current library).”

Fact: The Library Board not only first considered, but pursued, plans to add on to the current library, making two offers in 2009 and 2010 for five lots to the owners of the adjacent property. The owners did not wish to sell five lots separately, but all 40 lots together, making the cost prohibitive. The board remains open to this option.

5) Stated: “Accomack County does not own the current library, nor will it own a new one.”

Fact: If the library question passes on Nov. 4, the county will end up owning both the new library and the old library. The library trustees have always made it clear to the supervisors that the county will own the new one when built, and they will turn the deed to the old one over to the county as well. This is 11,500 square feet that could meet some county office space needs. If this were built from scratch, it would cost the county about $2 million.

6) Stated: “The design (of the new library) is beautiful, the cost is great.”

Fact: There is no design for the new library. An original design was for a library of the size (33,000 square feet) recommended for the Shore’s population. This was considered by many as too costly. The Library Board listened to the citizens and reduced the size (to 20,000 square feet) and the cost of the new library to 60 percent of the original. Rather than raise more private funds to have a new design developed for the smaller library now proposed, the trustees thought it more frugal to wait for the county’s commitment before proceeding further. As for the cost being great, it is estimated that the smaller library will cost the average homeowner about $12 a year, or about the cost of a paperback book these days.
The supervisor writing the letter last week was accurate in stating, “It is true; we can borrow the money without raising taxes.” And she also was correct in stating, “Elected officials need to provide all the information to the citizens.” But that information must be correct. Those supporting a new library have answered 18 Frequently Asked Questions with facts covering all of the issues raised about the Library issue on the website www.VoteYesLibrary.com under the “Get the Facts” tab. With the supervisors deciding to put the library issue on the ballot, they are asking Shore voters to let them know what we want. Please get all the facts and vote “Yes” on Nov. 4.

Remember These Points Before Voting on Library

Dear Editor:
The Nov. 4 referendum in Accomack County for a new public library is an important decision for all people in the community. While we say vote “Yes,” we respect others who will disagree.

However, keep in mind a few things.
• A library is a core function of government. It does help in the overall health, welfare and education of a community. It is a public good. People of all races, ethnicities and socioeconomic classes use the library. It helps people, whether they are from the mansion or the trailer park.
• “Yes” for the library will not increase taxes. The county budget stated that up to $10 million could be borrowed/used for county capital improvements without increasing taxes. This is largely due to the ongoing turnover or completion of earlier capital projects.
• The county supervisors are good people who do the best they can with a budget that is limited; priorities have to be established, and not everything can be funded. Many would consider a library a priority, and this needs to be told to the supervisors through your vote.
• People who are opposed to the library referendum are hoping you will not come out and vote.
• The library board has looked into other options, and these have not been found to be practicable nor economical.
• A library can help grow the community’s tax base. Sometimes people and businesses decide to relocate or invest in a community in part due to reasons like good schools and good libraries.
• A library is one of the ways people can become more informed and serves as a check and balance against the many forces in the world that will manipulate you.

Whether you support or don’t support the referendum, if you don’t vote, don’t whine.

Consider:
• “Reason and free inquiry are the only effectual agents against error.” - Thomas Jefferson.
• “Politicians treat me like a mushroom ... they feed me bull and keep me in the blind.” -Travis Tritt.

We like all people. Whether you live in the mansion or the trailer park, please consider voting “Yes” for the library referendum.

Vote No!!

Dear Editor:
I see signs placed around Accomack County encouraging people to vote “Yes” for the new library on Nov. 4. This thinking concerns me. I have a financial background and currently teach Dave Ramsey’s Financial Peace University. We teach our class members how to save, how to get totally out of debt, how to budget, and how to use a “sinking fund” for major purchases.

A sinking fund (if you are in business, you know what this is) simply means that you save your money and then purchase your item without going into debt. Depending on your age, this is pretty much what most of our parents and grandparents did.

It also concerns me when I look at the names of the individuals and businesses that are in agreement with building the library. In my opinion, it is fiscally irresponsible! The last projected cost that I am aware of is $5,000,000. The library board is asking the county for an appropriation of $3,500,000 for construction of the building, and an additional $50,000 to $70,000 every year to cover an increase in yearly operating expenses due to the size of the planned facility. The county would need to borrow $3,500,000, which would result in an annual debt payment of $257,000 for 20 years.

If you run your household or business in such a manner, you would probably go bankrupt — spending money you don’t have; but wait — I forgot this is the government. They can spend money they don’t have (just look at our national debt of over $17 trillion) because they can just raise your taxes to cover this lack of fiscal responsibility.

I think we need to ask the question: Is this new library a NEED or a WANT (something else we teach in our class). At my age, I’m not a technology freak, but most people younger than me are. They can access just about any information they need through their iPod, iPhone, etc., and read books on their Kindles. Do we really need this new library? I don’t see any lines waiting to get into our current library.

Did you know that NASA at Wallops is closing its library? They have engineers, scientists, etc. who do research — if they don’t need a library, do we? Let’s maintain what we have and not go into any more debt.

We should be reminded, and yes, be ashamed that we rate second lowest in the state in teacher salaries. If we have money to spend, let’s spend it where it counts and raise our teacher salaries so we can attract the best to Accomack County.

Remember, when you go to vote, if you vote “Yes” you are voting for an increase in taxes!

Bay’s Cleanup Worth Cost

Dear Editor:
If the bay is a priceless treasure, restoring it is worth whatever it costs. That’s often not an easy argument to make in these days of burgeoning federal debt and declining state revenues.

Turns out, however, that the most comprehensive analysis done shows that cleaning up the Chesapeake Bay will result in economic benefits across the 64,000-square-mile watershed, especially in Virginia.

As a playground, a background, a workplace and a buffer from storms and floods, the bay materially improves the lives of the 17 million folks around it.

In a new study, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation has put a price tag on all those benefits: $107 billion. Each year. To Virginia alone, the Chesapeake’s economic benefits total $41 billion, the most of any state.

“The lands and waters of the Chesapeake Bay drainage basin provide economically valuable benefits,” the study concludes, “including flood protection, water supply and filtration, food, waste treatment, climate regulation, recreation, and aesthetic value.” The scientists purposely left out obvious economic benefits like those associated with the port of Hampton Roads, under the reasoning that shipping doesn’t depend on clean water.

Economic benefits would rise substantially through a cleaner bay, which has been fouled mostly by nutrient and sediment pollution. The study found that if the states in the watershed fulfill the requirements of the 2010 Chesapeake Clean Water Blueprint, the economic benefits would increase more than $22 billion annually.

That’s the math: Spend $5 billion (or less) across the watershed for $22 billion in benefits — more than $8 billion of benefits in Virginia alone.

I never will forget growing up in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., in the ’80s and early ’90s and being told not to touch the water of the Hudson. Now when I go visit family and they let their kids play in it, I see how much can change in just one generation. I would never want to raise children here on the Shore and not be able to let them play in our bay. Let’s stay the course!
