Accomack Debates Where Your Money Should Go

By Linda Cicioira

Accomack Administrator Steve Miner presented county supervisors Wednesday a $51.2 million draft fiscal 2011-12 budget that spans 477 pages of text.

While the plan recommended by Miner and Finance Director Mike Mason would not require a tax increase, at least two local fire and rescue companies favor a 4-cent hike in the real-estate tax rate to fund more paid staff for emergency calls.

Bloxom Chief Jody Bagwell said two additional paid workers are needed to bring round-the-clock coverage to his area. The expected response time for emergencies is within 20 minutes, 90 percent of the time. Bagwell said the Bloxom rescue units took 20 minutes or less for 84 percent (553) of the 655 rescue calls in 2010. The maximum response to his company was more than 85 minutes. Bloxom had to turn 12 other calls over to other companies for service. Bagwell cited a lack of volunteers and many young members with other obligations and interests.

All the Accomack companies showed above 90 percent for fire response.

Greenbackville had the worst ratings for rescue, with 85 of 148 calls (45 percent) taking more than 20 minutes. Saxis, Melfa and Wachapreague were also below the expected response time, with 80 percent, 85 percent and 86 percent, respectively.

Rescue Chief Troy Justia of Melfa said Thursday that since June 2010, his units have been above 90 percent in 20-minute responses. He doesn’t favor 24-hour paid service at this time and said that from July to December 2010, Melfa got 431 rescue calls, with 40 of those (8 percent) taking more than 20 minutes.

Of those 40 calls, some “are just seconds to a couple of minutes” beyond the target, said Justia. “At least 10 of those calls were during the blizzard just after Christmas” when the only way to get to most of these residents was from a local farmer and his tractor.” Also included in those 40 calls, he said, were delays when waiting for law enforcement to clear the scene.

Bagwell said he favors Option 4 being discussed by emergency officials, which asks for seven more paid workers across the county and related adjustments of scheduling that would cost a total of $462,000. The option would hire 17 over three to four years.

“How do we do that relative to other needs?” Miner asked, justifying his stand to keep funds the same for those items.

At Wednesday’s meeting, Freddie Matthews of Parkely Volunteer Fire Company boasted 98 percent target response time for rescue and 100 percent for fire. But, he said, “I’m being proactive” in asking for more paid workers.

Mason said the tariff is already expected to increase by 2015 to keep up with existing rescue promises.

On Thursday, Bagwell had more to say about the issue. “I can’t believe that the county is aware of the response issue and refuses to act on it,” he said. “I have an issue with the Parkely request. Their call volume will decrease with increased staff at Bloxom. We will take over 200 calls from their lead. Another factor that has not been considered is the move of the new hospital to the Onancock area. Calls will be handled quicker and less help will be needed in the surrounding area. The volunteers save the county millions each year. It is frustrating that we can’t get the help that is needed.”

Accomack Sets Guidelines for Replacing Supervisor

By Linda Cicotra

Accomack supervisors gathered at a special meeting Monday to set a schedule for appointing a new Election District 9 representative.

Phil McCaleb, who resigned last week after recently being diagnosed with prostate cancer, urged the supervisors (in his letter of resignation) to appoint Wesley Edwards of Belle Haven. Edwards was McCaleb’s campaign manager and is an active member of the Republican Party. He also serves on the Wallops Park Land Replacement Committee and is a former Utility Cost Committee member.

In accordance with a proposal by Chairman Donald Hart, the supervisors agreed that they would accept applications through 5 p.m. Feb. 25. A meeting also was set for 5 p.m. March 3 in the Accomack General District courthouse to listen to the candidates. There they can verbally offer their qualifications and supporters can speak on their behalf.

Hart said three others have expressed an interest in the seat. They are former Supervisor Ken Tucker of Hillborough, who previously lived in Parksley and represented Election District 4; former Accomack Planning Commissioner Herb Tham of Belle Haven, who serves on Belle Haven Town Council and is a Democrat; and former Supervisor C. Renata Major of the Boston area, who was appointed after her mother Supervisor Julia Major died. Renata Major, also a Democrat, was defeated in the last election by McCaleb.

Tucker said Tuesday he is interested in the seat but doesn’t plan to run for it in the November General Election. He said if appointed, he could help the county with redistricting and the budget process and let the other three who want the position focus on the election. “I just want to help with that transition,” Tucker said.

He served as a District 4 supervisor from 1992 to 1996. Although Tucker said he has lived in District 9 for five years, he voted absentee from the Parksley district during that time including the last supervisor’s election.

“I am a Republican,” he said. “I’m not active. I’m a fiscal conservative. In the past, I have been active in the party, but not lately.”

In addition to having served on Town Council, Thom is Belle Haven’s zoning administrator. He supports Major to fill McCaleb’s unexpired term, but said he’ll take the job if she doesn’t so that everyone in the district is represented.

Major did not return a reporter’s phone call by press time Thursday.

Hart said he made arrangements to use the courtroom for the candidates’ statements because it will accommodate 125 people. He added that he “would hope” the candidates would limit their speeches to people who have specific things to say. He noted anyone who wishes to speak would be allowed and said he also would give supporters a chance to stand together to show their strength and save time.

The supervisors have 45 days or until March 28 to appoint a member to serve out the year. If they fail to do so, a circuit court judge will make the decision. An election for a permanent member will be held in November.

Hart said the schedule would allow members to vote on March 3, with a candidate possibly being sworn in on March 4. If no candidates get a majority vote, the board would have time to meet again the following week to further deliberate. A District 9 representative then could be in place for the regular session on March 16. The proposed FY 2011-12 budget must be prepared for advertising by March 9.

Hart reminded the members that a local judge no longer presides in Accomack County. When Judge Glen A. Tyler retired at the mandatory age of 70, another judge was not specifically given the charge. Judges from the same circuit, which includes Virginia Beach, now travel to the area to hold court.

Hart also appointed two supervisors to serve on a committee that will study the contract of County Attorney Mark Taylor whose contract expires in June. Supervisors Ron Wolff and Robert Crockett will make recommendations regarding the contract.

Crockett was appointed in January by the board to fill the unexpired term of Steve Millante of District 6. Crockett was the only member absent from Monday’s meeting.

Hart said Crockett was out of town and busy with plans he made for in advance of the special session.

The board appointed supervisors Wednesday to replace McCaleb to the various boards and commissions on which he served.

Charles Renner To Run for Northampton Treasurer

Charles Renner has announced that he will seek election this fall as treasurer of Northampton County. Treasurer Ilva James has announced that she will retire May 1.

A Northampton County native, Renner has lived on the Shore and has been employed in the financial sector for 34 years. After graduating from Virginia Tech with a bachelor of science degree in business administration, he worked for Cameron Brown Company, a mortgage subsidiary of First Union National Bank in Virginia Beach and Washington, D.C.

Several years later, he moved back to the Shore permanently working for SunTrust Bank and its predecessors, as a branch manager in Cheriton, a market manager in Nassawadox and, finally, as a city president, overseeing banking operations throughout the Maryland and Virginia Shore.

In the treasurer post, Renner expects to use his years of management experience and leadership to bring effective operating efficiencies to the office. He said he will focus on maximizing revenues due the county through modernized collection procedures, increased interdepartmental communications and teamwork with all county offices. Renner said he expects to work with the current experienced staff to update processes that will make the office responsive to public desires and county needs in these difficult economic times and beyond.

Charles and his wife, Sharon, have raised three daughters in Northampton County and currently reside in Franktown.

Accomack Sheriff's Office
An Onancock man was arrested last week in connection with recent burglaries and thefts in the town.

Maj. Godwin said Brandon Gregory Durrieu, 22, was arrested on Feb. 11. He was charged with two counts of burglary and two counts of grand larceny and is being held without bond in the Accomack Jail.

"A joint investigation between the Accomack County Sheriff's Office and the Onancock Police Department has resulted in the arrest... for two commercial burglaries and the theft of jewelry from a third incident," said Godwin in a prepared statement. "On Jan. 23, 2011, an extensive amount of jewelry was reported stolen from a residence on Bowditch Road near breaking and entering reports were received from the Corner Bakery and the General Store, both in the town of Onancock."

Metal thefts at four towers occurred in Accomack recently.

Maj. Todd Godwin of Accomack County Sheriff's Office said thefts occurred on Feb. 7 and 8 from the Mappsville, Oak Hall and Melia cellular towers.

"Metal theft reports have become more prevalent throughout Accomack County as well as the country recently due, in part, to the increase in the price of scrap metal," Godwin said in a prepared statement. "These metal thefts are occurring from a variety of locations to include residences, vacant properties and businesses, as well as a variety of roadside locations."

Anyone with information about the thefts is asked to call the sheriff's office at 787-1131 or 824-5666.

Sgt. Michelle Anaya of Virginia State Police confirmed that metal was also taken from a tower in Accomac.

Schools Prepare for Changes

By Ron West

The Northampton School Board conducted the second in its series of sessions for public input on the superintendent search and on transition of seventh graders to the high school.

Former educator and administrator Diane Davis cited the need for the new superintendent to become very active in the community, regardless of whether that person is local or selected from outside of the area. Additionally, that person needs to have a strong background in secondary education, as well as in the technology and career education areas, according to Davis, who stressed the need for the new superintendent to develop a strong rapport with the area. "The new superintendent needs to seek out business leaders to find out how the school's can help them as well as finding out additional strengths students need to enter the workforce," Davis said.

School Board Clerk Patty Mysko reported that 164 surveys have been completed by those wishing to comment on the superintendent search. Approximately half are affiliated with the school system. Mysko indicated that a summary of the surveys would be posted on the school system's Web site this week.

Regarding the planned transition of the seventh grade to the high school, Davis commented that she had concerns over the younger students being in close proximity to the older students. In response, School Board member Kristin Webb said her seventh-grade daughters are involved in after-school sports at the high school and had not had any issues with older students.

Board member Calvin Brickhouse said that when the middle school was in operation, students in grades 6-12 had ridden on the same buses with few issues arising.

Board Chairman Dr. Richard Drury announced that a formal decision on the transition of the seventh grader to the high school will come at the School Board meeting on March 2.

Newly released 2010 census figures for Accomack County show a drop of 13.4 percent in population, or 5,141 people since 2000. The Census Bureau said Accomack had 38,305 residents in 2000. County officials questioned those figures, saying they were too high. Accomack used 34,488 as a total population when completing redistricting work in 2001.

By Sen. Ralph Northam

On Thursday, Feb. 10, the Senate and House of Delegates passed their respective packages of amendments to the biennial budget bill. All but three of my colleagues and I voted in favor of the Senate version, which takes small but encouraging first steps toward restoring some of the cuts to programs that were enacted over the past several years. I would like to highlight a few of these here:

Education: The Senate budget package increases funding for K-12 education by $100 million next year. While we still have a long way to go to provide our students and teachers with the resources they need, I am happy that we were able to at least make a modest investment while other states are still considering deep cuts.

Health Care: Our budget also includes over $100 million to restore funding for Medicaid reimbursements to healthcare providers. This is critically important by itself, but even more so when added to a 100 percent match from the federal government. As a doctor, ensuring that everyone has access to affordable healthcare is one of my top priorities, and I believe this is a step in the right direction.

Public Safety: The Senate added nearly $19 million to help fund local police departments, keeping their state funding consistent and avoiding cuts that would have taken effect later this year. This was vital to ensuring that our laws are enforced and our communities remain safe.

Economic Development: I am also happy to announce that we have included upwards of $36 million in our budget to help spur economic development across the Commonwealth. Our support in this area will go far toward helping create jobs in Virginia. I am most excited about the 45 percent increase in funding for the Mid-Atlantic Regional Space Port on Wallops Island.

Judicial Vacancies: This has been a very important issue for people on the Eastern Shore, and I am pleased to report that the Senate budget has included nearly $5 million to fill vacant judgeships, including the circuit court seat on the Shore. The House did not include this money in its version, but I am hopeful that the final product will protect it.

I appreciate all of your calls, e-mails, and letters. Please feel free to contact my office or come visit in Richmond. My office phone number in the General Assembly building is (804) 698-7805, and my e-mail is Senator@RalphNortham.com. If I am not available, my legislative assistant, Matt Strickler will be happy to help.
Wachapreague Dredging To Begin Soon
By Ron West

A dredging project designed to improve water access to Wachapreague is planned for this spring. The town won approval for grant funding from the Virginia Port Authority to help maintain the channel leading into Wachapreague Harbor. Marinas and the tourist industry in Wachapreague support the dredging plans which will help insure smooth sailing for the large recreational fleet that sets forth every spring as well as for ocean access for the offshore charter fleet.

The need for maintenance dredging, especially on the seaside, is evident by the constant shoaling that occurs naturally, especially over the winter months when there is less boat traffic to help remove the buildup of sediment. Once the dredging begins, boaters need to proceed with caution as they enter or leave the harbor area due to the equipment and possible underwater obstructions or cables that may be attached to the dredge equipment.

Interested parties may mail comments to the Town of Wachapreague at P.O. Box 242, Wachapreague, VA 23480.

Cape Charles Harbor Receiving Facelift

By Ron West

Cape Charles Harbor continues to see additions and improvements. At last week's Cape Charles Town Council meeting, Harbormaster Smitty Dize reported that the next phase in renovations for the harbor is underway. Sections of the new floating piers have been received and are on schedule to be installed prior to the spring boating season. The new piers will be located adjacent to the boat launching facility on the north side of the harbor. The town hopes to install additional segments as funding becomes available. Dize indicated that bids would soon be sought for a bathhouse. On the recommendation of Dize, Town Council voted to support harbor regulations and fees with few changes from the 2010 boating season.

A reunion of oyster buy boats is planned for the first week of August. Buy boats were used once to procure seafood from watermen along the shores of the bay. According to Dize, approximately 15 buy boats have been refurbished around the bay, with several expected to take part in the reunion in Cape Charles Harbor.

Dize announced that the Fourth Annual Blessing of the Fleet is scheduled for April 8 and 9 to mark the opening of the 2011 fishing and crabbing season. Events will include a 5K walk/run, a horseshoe tournament, a casting contest for youth, food and music. Del. Lynwood Lewis has been designated master of ceremonies.

Code Enforcement Official Job

Brady advised Council that his office is working to get several homeowners to bring their structures in compliance with town ordinances. Should the owners not make the needed improvements, the town has the authority to hire contractors to make them, with the cost levied against the homeowner.

Town Planner Tom Bonadeo presented proposals for regulations regarding the installation of wind turbines in town. Councilman Steven Bennett suggested that the units are not compatible with the town regardless of the lot size, unit size, or district. "It would distract from the quaint and historic image of the town," he argued. Bennett said the turbines are better suited for offshore areas where they would not be seen from land. Bonadeo said that given the proposed regulations, lot sizes in the majority of the town and additional regulations for the Historic and Harbor Districts, there are only a few areas where such a unit could be installed. Following additional discussion, Council voted 5-1 (Bennett voting against) to approve zoning changes to regulate requests for wind turbine installation.

Town consultant Bob Panek updated Town Council on plans for the Mason Avenue pump station and force mains upgrade needed for the new wastewater treatment facility. He stated that approximately half of the $12 million needed for the project will be funded by an Environmental Protection Agency grant, with the remainder coming from low-interest federal stimulus bonds. Bids received for the project were above the budget allocation; thus the project has been reconfigured into two phases for re-bidding.

In a related area, Council agreed to advertise for a public hearing regarding recommendations for changes to the water and sewer fees that include a reduction in the hookup fee from $20,000 to $12,500. Among the reasons given for the reduction was higher grant funding. Included in the recommendation is a partial refund of the higher fee that had been collected for the few new hookups in the past year.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Chincoteague Town Council will hold a Public Hearing commencing at 6:00 PM on the 7th Monday in March, 2011, in the Council Chambers of the Town of Chincoteague, 6100 Community Drive, Chincoteague, Virginia, to afford interested parties the opportunity to be heard or present written comments concerning the following proposed Ordinance to vacate and relocate a property line of a recorded plat of subdivision in the Town of Chincoteague, Accomack County, Virginia.

AN ORDINANCE TO VACATE A PART OF A RECORDED PLAT OF SUBDIVISION IN THE TOWN OF CHINCOTEAGUE, ACOMMACK COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

WHEREAS, the governing body of a municipality may vacate a part of a recorded plat of a subdivision in the Town of Chincoteague and the City of Accomac, Virginia, in Flat Book 4, page 77.

WHEREAS, the same is for the public welfare, and is a proper line between two lots also owned by the Applicant, Thomas Daisey and Sara Ann Daisey.

ORDINANCE, therefore, be it enacted by the Town Council of the Town of Chincoteague, Virginia, that:

1. By a recorded plat entitled "Subdivision of O.H. and Thomas Jester, Sr." dated November 19, 1948, recorded in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Accomac County, Virginia, in Flat Book 4, page 77, showing a property line between Lots 25 and 36, and hereinafter described, between Lots 25 and 36, which land is hereby vacated.

2. A certified copy of this Ordinance be recorded in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Accomac County, Virginia.

3. That the effective date of the Ordinance shall be upon adoption by the Town Council for the Town of Chincoteague.

Provided that a certified copy of this Ordinance be recorded in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Accomac County, Virginia.

The real champion of the Super Bowl lives in the Northampton town of Exmore. Yippee! Stephanie Bradshaw may not have gone to Texas to play in the recent big game. She didn’t even wear a football uniform nor make a touchdown. But she’s the titleholder all the same.

Stephanie is the Eastern Shore Post’s winner! And she is rewarded for that big feat by seeing her picture in this column. She (with the help of her family) is the top word-getter in our National Puzzle Day 2nd Annual Contest.

Stephanie gave us 271 words that she contrived from the letters in “Super Bowl.” We’re tough and only accepted 259 of them. That was enough for her to not only win, but also to beat last year’s winners who again competed and came in third. The second place winner was George R. Roberts of Deep Creek who gave us 238 words, of which we accepted 226.

The words had to be at least three letters, no contractions, no proper nouns and no abbreviations. The words also had to be clearly written, from the English language and listed at dictionary.com. We had lots of participants and we’re told they all enjoyed the task, even though it kept some of them from sleeping.

While Stephanie came in first, she did not beat our office team! We worked hard this year and got 287 words! Yippee! There were words we did not accept from each other. In fact, there was so much debate that I don’t even have those lists anymore. We’re painfully competitive. However, there was no blood drawn and we are still speaking to one another. I just won’t share some of the words we say.

Thanks to everyone for joining in the fun.
